5.3 While it is acknowledged that the requirement for making efficient use of land appears in Policy D4(1) Part (e)2, this reference to density in a policy relating to design, suggests that this is no longer a strategic objective. While the new policy approach in Policy D4 is welcomed, the absence of an explicit reference to providing new homes at an appropriate density at an earlier stage in the Local Plan suggests that this has become a lower priority for the Local Planning Authority. It is considered that planning for housing at an appropriate density and maximising the opportunities for providing new homes in relatively unconstrained locations are key to achieving sustainable development, particularly in the context of a Borough which is heavily constrained due to the presence of widespread Green Belt designations.

The updates to the Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites reflects a more up-to-date evidence base which in some areas differs from the position set out in the previous iteration of the plan published in June 2016.

The use of a more up-to-date evidence base in itself represents a positive development. Revisiting aspects of the Land Availability Assessment and publication of a 2017 Addendum adds weight and legitimacy to the revised capacity assessments of a number of potential development sites. This additional clarity is welcomed.

The Sustainability Appraisal does not appear to have been updated to reflect some site-specific matters which were highlighted in previous representations.

Sustainability Appraisal

The Sustainability Appraisal assesses Site A42 and other proposed allocations against a range of criteria which provide an indication of how well it performs as a sustainable location for new housing. An extract of the scoring system and the assessment of Site A42 are enclosed in Appendix A and Appendix B. The site generally scores highly against the relevant criteria in this assessment. However, it is clear that some of the values which have been assigned to this are more negative than would otherwise have been the case.

The following assessment criteria have been used to assess site A42, however, when reviewing these, this particular site has been incorrectly assessed against these criteria and as such it has been assigned an unduly negative value. It is requested that these are reviewed and amended on the following basis:

- Primary School Walking Distance: – The SA records a ‘red’ value (where there would be a walking distance of 2km or more between the site and the nearest primary school), when in fact the 800m walking distance (as measured by Google Maps – see extract at Appendix C), would move this into a ‘light green’ category.
- Previously Developed Land: - The site is currently afforded a ‘red’ value in category 18, as it has not been categorised as previously developed land. However, based on the definition of previously developed land provided in the NPPF, and following pre-application discussions with the local planning authority in 2016, it is clear that this does represent previously developed land. This matter was previously highlighted in representations submitted in July 2016.

The correction of these inaccuracies in the Sustainability Assessment would result in a stronger performance against the criteria and would better reflect how the site performs against these assessment criteria. This would further reinforce the position that this is a highly sustainable location for new housing on the basis of the selected indicators.

Please see attached for context of representations in their full context and the attachments referred to above.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

The up-to-date evidence in relation to Objectively Assessed Need for housing within the Borough suggests that the annual requirement for dwelling provision (adjusted to reflect constraints and policy considerations) is 654 dwellings per annum. This has been reduced from 693 dwellings per annum in the previous iteration of the plan. There is some concern that the previous record of under-delivery in the Borough (reflected in the latest completion rates of 381 and 297 dwellings per annum in 2015/16 and 2016/17 respectively), will not be addressed by planning for a lower number of dwellings per annum. This would exacerbate the well-documented issues of housing affordability and the ability to deliver key areas of the overall strategy.

Furthermore, the use of the lower figure does not take into account the duty to plan for meeting unmet housing need in adjoining Boroughs or Districts. This is illustrated by the shortfall of 225 dwellings per annum in Woking between the level of housing being planned for (292 dwellings per annum), and the OAN for the Borough. It is therefore considered that the position set out in submissions to the current Waverley Local Plan (Part 1) Examination by the Home Builders Federation (HBF), that more land needs to be released in Waverley and Guildford in order to accommodate the unmet need in Woking.

While the general upward revision of the capacity of key development sites in Guildford is supported, we are concerned that planning for a lower level of dwelling provision in the Borough than was previously (as recently as June 2016), considered a suitable basis for strategic planning, would cause the document as a whole to be considered unsound. It is therefore considered that the Council should revert to the target rate of dwelling provision set out in the Strategy and Sites Local Plan (2016), which equated to a rate of 693 dwellings per annum. Rather than seeking to allocate additional land, further critical examination of the capacity of sites considered suitable for development would be able to account for a substantial increase in dwelling provision.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017 / Question 6: Any other comments?
Overall Dwelling Provision

The reduced scale of dwelling provision and the revisions to the rate of delivery of new homes in the Borough (with higher rates anticipated later in the plan period), are concerning, particularly given the acknowledged shortfall in the rate of dwelling provision in recent past.

While it is acknowledged that this is designed to account for the provision of infrastructure in advance of new housing on larger sites coming forward, this does not afford recognition to the role of unconstrained sites which can provide housing in the initial years of the new Local Plan. The reliance on a higher rate of dwelling provision in later years rather than an annualised average of 654 dwellings per annum does not incentivise new residential development in the immediate future when it is most needed, not only to provide for established housing needs, but to address the substantial shortfall in dwelling provision in recent years against a much lower target. The extent of this shortfall is well established (hence the need to account for 20% buffer when monitoring delivery against a Five Year Housing Land Supply. Table 1 below highlights this over a 10 year period using figures obtained from Annual Monitoring Reports/Authorities Monitoring Reports.

<td>I object to Policy A43 Land at Garlic Arch. This is a new site and was not included in the Regulation 18 draft and has not been consulted on previously. It is Green Belt permanently protected by the NPPF which prevents the merging of settlements. There are no exceptional circumstances since it is covered by and ancient woodland. The proposed industrial site if singularly not required since the latest Employment Land Needs Assessment 2015 (ENLA) shows a reduction of 80 per cent in requirement needs of employment floor space from the previous draft plan. A new four way interchange on to the A3 at Burnt Common to serve this development would create gridlock. Have you ever tried crossing the road especially in the rush hour nigh impossible. This is a ridiculous idea and really needs to be looked at very carefully. A full transparency should be made available and looked into very carefully, otherwise grid lock will be the result. I object to policy A44. Although you may say this is a small development the added traffic would add to the gridlock situation which would arise from all these developments. Also the subsoil on this site contains land fill waste and is currently vented and suitable for building.

Policy P2: Green Belt is the main policy addressing Green Belt matters. A significant amount of the proposed policy is devoted to regurgitating national planning policy. This is not necessary and indeed unless all paragraphs are quoted word for word, the meaning as set out in the NPPF then becomes altered, without justification.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

Please see report prepared by Boyer on behalf of Trenfold Property Limited and Countryside Properties UK Limited for further details.

Green Belt Assessment

First, the GBCS considers that a land parcel either contributes or not to a specific Green Belt purpose (i.e. with the parcel scoring either 1 or 0) without providing any quantification or the degree of that contribution (for example the extent to which a land parcel may make towards a particular Green Belt purpose).

1.13 Second, as a result of this first limitation, the methodology of the GBCS does not allow for any detailed form of ranking to assess the relative contribution each land parcel makes towards the purposes of including land within the Green Belt. The GBCS did not therefore carry out any form of comparative assessment between the identified PDAs/MDPAs.

1.14 Notwithstanding this, the GBCS does identify a number of small PDAs that are considered not to significantly compromise the land parcel score as a whole. These have included sites that have subsequently been proposed as site allocations or safeguarded sites within the previous draft Local Plan (2014) (site references 74-76). Our client’s site was previously identified as safeguarded land (site reference 120).

1.15 Boyer has adopted a scoring methodology to address these issues and quantify the contribution made by each PDA/MPDA towards the purposes of including land within the Green Belt. The aim is to build upon the methodology of the GBCS by enabling a comparison between potential sites already identified through the Local Plan process.

1.16 This approach, together with the sustainability methodology adopted within the GBCS, has been applied to the 11 PDAs/MPDAs surrounding Send, Send Marsh & Burntcommon and Ripley.

1.17 This assessment concludes that the site, at best, makes only a very limited contribution to the purposes of including land within the Green Belt. When compared with the PDAs/MPDAs assessed, it is ranked joint top (i.e. contributes least to the Green Belt) along with land south of Burntcommon. It is considered therefore that its release from the Green Belt would not have any adverse impact on the purpose and function of the Green Belt in this part of the Borough and as such there are no overriding constraints to prevent early delivery of the site.

Previously Developed Land

1.18 The broad approach to removing major previously developed sites from the Green Belt accords with national planning policy and is supported. However, the evidence base to support Guildford’s assumptions about the sites considered to be previously developed appears to be somewhat lacking. There are no details as to the methodology or reasoned justification that has been applied to demonstrate that a site should be considered as previously developed land.

Settlement boundary of villages

1.22 The approach of the Council to respond to the changes in national policy in respect of the Green Belt designation and to protect these areas using development management policies in accordance with the NPPF are supported.

1.23 The addition of ‘Policy D4: Development in urban areas and inset villages’ in the latest draft of the Local Plan which seeks to “promote the efficient use of land” whilst ensuring that “this does not negatively impact upon the quality of the local environment” is also supported.
1.24 Land at Polesden Lane and Send Marsh Road, Send Marsh is bordered on three sides by established housing and defensible boundaries including a footpath to the west (footpath number 46) and a second footpath to the north of the site (footpath number 45). It therefore lies within the effective framework of Send Marsh Village although it does not fall within the proposed settlement boundary as defined by the draft Local Plan.

1.25 Given the evidence presented in previous sections relating specifically to our client’s site at Polesden Lane, Send Marsh with regards to its contribution to the Green Belt and its previously developed land status, the location of the settlement boundary should be redrawn around the entire site.

1.13 Since the previous 2016 Regulation 19 consultation Guildford Borough Council have updated and expanded their evidence base for the Local Plan. A summary of the key alterations and additions are set out below:

- A new document entitled the ‘West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) Guildford Addendum’ has been produced;
- The Employment Land Needs Assessment (ELNA) has been updated;
- A Retail and Leisure Needs Study Addendum has been produced. This supplements the Retail and Leisure Study update of 2014;
- The Travellers Accommodation Assessment (TAA) has been updated;
- A Water Quality Assessment report has been produced;
- The Sustainability Appraisal (SA) and Habitats Regulation Assessment (HRA) have been updated;
- A new Land Availability Assessment (LAA) Addendum has been produced;
- An Open Space, Sports and Recreation Assessment has been produced;
- An Assessment of Sites for Amenity Value has been prepared;
- An Addendum to the Strategic Highway Assessment Report has been prepared;
- The Guildford Borough Transport Strategy has been updated; and
- A Borough, Economy and Infrastructure EAB Report Sustainable Movement Corridor – Update has been produced.

1.14 In addition the series of topic papers produced as part of the evidence base for the emerging Local Plan has also been updated. There are now a total of 11 topic papers associated with the 2017 version of the emerging Local Plan.

1.15 The most significant update to the evidence base has been the preparation and publication of the ‘West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) Guildford Addendum’. The significance is that the findings of this report have had the most far-reaching implications on the 2017 version of the emerging Local Plan.

1.16 Specifically the SHMA Addendum, which is intended to supplement the West Surrey SHMA previously published, reduces the Objectively Assessed Need (OAN) for Guildford from 693 homes per year to 654 homes per year.

1.17 As a consequence of this reduction a number of the other evidence base documents and topic papers have been revised alongside draft policies within the emerging Local Plan, proposed site allocations and the policies maps.

1.18 The SHMA Addendum is stated to have taken into account the latest population and household projections, the latest post-Brexit economic projections and the latest 2015 midyear population estimate.
This section considers the main implications of the key changes proposed of relevance to the promotion of Land at Polesden Lane and Send Marsh Road. The key changes are considered under the following topics:
- Implications of the SHMA Guildford Addendum Report 2017;
- Implications for addressing the Duty to Co-operate; and
- Implications for Housing Delivery and Five Year Housing Land Supply;

SHMA Guildford Addendum Report 2017

2.2 As set out in Section 2 of this report one of the most significant influences on the 2017 version of the emerging Local Plan has been the addition of the ‘West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA): Guildford Addendum Report 2017’ to the evidence base.

2.3 The Council notes in paragraph 2.9 of their Topic Paper on Housing Delivery (June 2017) that this document “sits alongside and supplements the West Surrey SHMA. It takes account of the latest population and household projections, the latest post-Brexit economic projections and the latest 2015 mid-year population estimate.”

2.4 As a result of this Addendum Report the Objectively Assessed Need (OAN) for Guildford has been revised from 693 homes per year to 654 homes per year. The Plan period has also been revised from 2013 – 2033 to 2015 – 2034.

2.5 Guildford Borough Council has sought to use this as justification to reduce the total number of homes proposed to be delivered in the Guildford Borough from 13,860 homes in the 2016 version of the emerging Local Plan to 12,426 homes in the 2017 version of the Local Plan.

2.6 However Paragraph 47 of the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) requires Local Planning Authorities to “boost significantly the supply of housing”.

2.7 It is apparent from the findings of the Addendum Report in respect of demographic and affordability assessments that the evidence does not support the proposed reduction in the OAN.

2.8 In particular the Addendum Report highlights that “the expected population growth and housing need rise slightly, with a growth of 22,000 persons expected (15.1%)”. Taking account of the longer term migration trends housing need is noted to be between 521 and 584 dwellings per annum (dpa). The Addendum Report utilises the mid-point of 552 dpa. This represents a significant increase from the demographic need of 517 dpa set out in the 2015 West Surrey SHMA. In addition this is only the mid-point assessment and therefore there is no certainty that the full need will be met by using this figure rather than the highest demographic projection of 584 dpa.

2.9 With regards to affordable housing the Addendum Report also illustrates that need has increased from 478 dpa to 517 dpa. In addition “the latest data shows lower quartile house prices…are 11.5 times earnings in the Borough…and points to affordability pressures within the local market”. Paragraph 5.32 also acknowledges that “house price growth has accelerated in the Borough since mid-2013”.

2.10 As acknowledged in paragraph 8.14 of the Addendum Report “the evidence conclusively supports an upward adjustment to improve affordability, taking account of the market signals and affordable housing needs evidence”.

2.11 It is therefore apparent that there is a clear and increasing need for housing within the Borough. The demographic and affordability findings of the Addendum Report therefore do not support the proposed reduction in OAN incorporated into the 2017 version of the emerging Local Plan.

2.12 We do not therefore support the lower OAN figure utilised in the 2017 Proposed Submission version of the Local Plan. As well as being based on an evidence base which has been prepared contrary to national policy the most recent demographic and affordability findings clearly illustrate a requirement for uplift in housing figures not a reduction. This amendment to the Local Plan is therefore considered to be unjustified and unsound.

Woking

2.21 As acknowledged by Guildford Borough Council in paragraph 4.6 of the Housing Delivery Topic Paper Woking have a substantial unmet need estimated by Guildford Council to be in the region of 3,150 homes.
2.22 However, Guildford Borough Council set out in both the Housing Delivery and Duty to Co-Operate Topic Papers that they “do not consider that we can suitably accommodate any unmet need arising from Woking”.

2.23 This is an unjustified statement from the Council particularly given that the previous Regulation 19 Local Plan from 2016 proposed higher housing numbers which the Council considered at the time were acceptable and sustainable.

2.24 Regardless of the failure to provide sound justification for the reduction in housing numbers if the Council now considers that it no longer requires the amount of housing delivery previously proposed then the remainder of this housing supply should be allocated to meeting Woking’s unmet needs.

2.25 A reduction to the OAN should not necessarily equate to a reduction in the amount of housing to be delivered. Even if Guildford Borough Council were able to justify a reduced OAN for Guildford, the fact that their previous version of the Local Plan demonstrated a higher delivery of housing numbers was possible, demonstrates they are able to contribute at least this number of houses to meeting their duty to co-operate, in this case through meeting Woking’s unmet housing requirements.

2.26 The Council set out in their Housing Delivery Topic Paper the need for flexibility within their own Local Plan to ensure sufficient delivery of housing. Furthermore they also highlight that they have carried out an assessment of the sites removed from the Local Plan since the 2016 public consultation as options for meeting unmet need from Woking (Paragraphs 4.17 to 4.28).

However, this assessment is highly limited and inadequate. It fails to recognise the significance of meeting the unmet housing needs within the HMA and instead assesses sites in an insular manner considering only the benefits or harm to Guildford.

2.28 This assessment also only considers the sites which have been discounted from the 2016 version of the Local Plan and fails to consider the ability of Guildford Borough to meet the unmet needs of Woking on a holistic basis as part of their site selection process.

2.29 Indeed the Inspector of the emerging Waverley Local Plan noted in the recent Examination in Public that it was appropriate for both Waverley and Guildford to accommodate the unmet need from Woking. In particular he recommended that both Waverley and Guildford Council accommodate the equivalent of 150 homes for Woking each year.

2.30 He also expressed his surprise that Guildford had removed a number of draft allocations from the Plan but would still not be meeting any unmet need from Woking.

2.31 Specific reference was made to previously proposed Green Belt releases which Guildford Council consider there are no longer exceptional circumstances to justify. However, the Inspector expressed his view that meeting unmet housing need should be treated as a high priority. Indeed it should certainly be considered as a significant benefit to Green Belt release within the Guildford Borough.

2.32 However, the Council demonstrates no evidence of assessing their draft site allocations against the potential to meet the unmet needs of Woking. Instead the preparation of the Local Plan has concentrated solely on the advantages and disadvantages to the Guildford Borough in isolation.

2.33 The ‘Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites (2017)’ therefore does not currently satisfactorily demonstrate that it has been prepared in a positive manner. The Council should seek to address this matter before the emerging Local Plan proceeds to Examination.

Housing Delivery and Five Year Housing Land Supply
2.34 Paragraph 47 of the NPPF requires Local Planning Authorities to “identify and update annually a supply of specific deliverable sites sufficient to provide five years worth of housing against their housing requirements”. In addition “where there has been a record of persistent under delivery of housing, local planning authorities should increase the buffer to 20% (moved forward from later in the plan period) to provide a realistic prospect of achieving the planned supply”.

2.35 Where a local planning authority is unable to demonstrate a five year supply of deliverable housing sites then “relevant policies for the supply of housing should not be considered upto-date” in accordance with paragraph 49 of the NPPF.

2.36 As acknowledged by the Council in their Housing Delivery Topic Paper the decision to rely substantially on strategic sites to deliver housing during the proposed Plan Period means that their existing backlog, created by historic poor delivery levels, is unlikely to “be capable of being met in the first five years of the plan”.

2.37 The strategy adopted by Guildford Borough Council in the emerging Local Plan therefore fails to address the existing backlog of housing need early in the Plan period but instead delays the delivery of this essential housing until much later in the Plan period.

2.38 Indeed the updated Housing Trajectory published in the Land Availability Assessment (LAA) Addendum 2017 which forms part of the evidence base for the emerging Local Plan demonstrates that housing delivery will not exceed the cumulative target until 2025/2026. Given that the Plan period commences in 2015 this represents a decade of housing delivery before Guildford Borough addresses the backlog.

2.39 This clearly demonstrates that the strategy proposed by Guildford Borough Council in regards to housing delivery results in too much housing delivery being planned towards the end of the Plan period owing to “the reliance on a number of strategic sites which by their very nature take longer to deliver” (Paragraph 4.189, Housing Delivery Topic Paper).

2.40 This is re-iterated in Paragraph 4.11 of the Housing Delivery Topic Paper which highlights the “uncertainties related to the delivery of certain key infrastructure” and that “a number of our strategic sites are dependent on the delivery of Highways England’s A3 Guildford scheme”.

2.41 Concerns about this approach are set out in detail in our previous representations. In particular the reliance on strategic sites which require the delivery of significant infrastructure in order to come forward. This may have a significant impact on the housing delivery trajectory of the Council who would have limited opportunities to address any issues given the late stage in the Plan period. The risk of the Council being unable to demonstrate a five year housing land supply during the course of the Plan period is therefore much higher.

2.42 The Council should therefore reconsider their approach to site allocation and incorporate a greater range of sites into their proposed allocations. In particular the Council should allocate a greater number of smaller sites (as advocated in our previous representations) to address the substantial backlog and requirement for additional housing in the Borough.

2.43 Land at Polesden Lane and Send Marsh Road could deliver approximately 70 dwellings of both market and affordable housing within the first five years of the Plan period. This will contribute towards meeting the extensive needs which exist within this area as well as within the Borough as a whole at the beginning of the Plan period.

2.44 We have demonstrated through our previous submissions that the existing Green Belt designation associated with this land should be removed. We have also demonstrated that there are no practical constraints to the immediate delivery of this site. Land at Polesden Lane and Send Marsh Road could therefore make a valuable contribution to addressing the lack of housing delivery at the beginning of the Plan period.

2.45 This approach would also reduce the risk of the policies set out in the emerging Local Plan being found out of date in accordance with policy 49 of the NPPF owing to a lack of five year housing land supply.

2.46 In particular between 2019/20 and 2023/24 at least 3,719 dwellings will need to be delivered based on the trajectory proposed in draft Policy S2 and in order to address the backlog of at least 1,319 dwellings expected to have accumulated from historically low delivery rates. (Based on figures taken from the Housing Trajectory in the LAA Addendum 2017). Applying a 20% buffer to this figure to take into account the persistent under delivery of the Council results in a requirement to deliver at least 4,463 new homes in this initial period of the Plan.
2.47 However the Housing Trajectory in the 2017 LAA Addendum identifies only 3,582 homes which can be delivered during this period. As such there is a shortage of 881 new homes in this initial period in order to address the historic backlog and the emerging housing requirements of the Borough even with a revised OAN of 654.

2.48 On this basis the Council would therefore fail to be able to demonstrate a five year housing land supply at the time the Local Plan was to be adopted.

2.49 Given that the Council currently calculates its own five year housing land supply to be 2.36 years the proposed housing strategy put forward in the emerging Local Plan is clearly not effective or justified in its approach.

2.50 The Local Plan would fail to significantly boost the supply of housing within the Borough and would fail to address the historically poor delivery rates and associated backlog of the Council.

2.51 In order to ensure that the Local Plan is found sound at Examination we would therefore strongly recommend that the Council revises its housing trajectory to incorporate a greater number of smaller sites which can deliver in the earlier stages of the Plan period thereby ensuring that the Housing Trajectory is robust and achievable.

2.52 This would accord with paragraph 035 of the NPPG which states that “Local planning authorities should aim to deal with any undersupply within the first 5 years of the plan period”.

2.53 As set out in these representations Land at Polesden Lane and Send Marsh Road is an unconstrained site in a sustainable location which is available immediately for development.

Housing Delivery & Five Year Housing Land Supply

4.11 As set out in Section 3 of this report the over reliance of the Local Plan on strategic sites expected to deliver housing at the very late stages of the Plan period significantly increases the risk of the Council to be unable to demonstrate a five year housing land supply.

4.12 Indeed based on the information set out in the most recent LAA it would appear that the Council will be unable to demonstrate a five year housing land supply at the point at which the Local Plan is intended to be adopted.

4.13 This is largely as a result of the Council’s inability to address their historic backlog of housing resulting from many years of persistent under delivery in the early plan period.

4.14 The Council have sought to mask this issue by setting significantly lower annual housing target figures in the early Plan period (450 new homes vs an OAN of 654) which subsequently increase significantly to 850 new homes in 2033/34.

4.15 However, it is clearly apparent that the proposed housing delivery strategy set out in the emerging Guildford Local Plan fails to significantly boost the supply of housing or address the historic backlog of the Council early in the Plan period.

4.16 The housing delivery strategy for the Borough should therefore be revised to incorporate a greater number of smaller sites which can be delivered much earlier in the Plan period and provide greater security in respect of the delivery of housing.

4.17 Land at Polesden Lane and Send Marsh Road is an example of a smaller scale site which could deliver these requirements and significantly contribute towards addressing the failings of the current housing delivery strategy.

Flood Risk

4.23 Despite our previous representations and updates made to the Sustainability Appraisal in June 2017 Land at Polesden Lane and Send Marsh Road is still incorrectly given a red ranking against flood risk.

4.24 The Council have been provided with evidence to demonstrate that the site is not at risk of flooding and this ranking is therefore incorrect.
4.25 In order to minimise any potential for legal challenge to the Local Plan process, we once again re-iterate that the sustainability appraisal should be revised to take into account the matters raised above and demonstrate how all of the reasonable alternatives have been considered. This is necessary to ensure the soundness of the Plan.

Summary

4.26 In accordance with paragraph 182 of the NPPF in order for a Local Plan to be found sound at examination the Local Planning Authority must demonstrate that it is:
- Positively prepared;
- Justified;
- Effective; and
- Consistent with national policy.

4.27 As demonstrated in these representations the evidence base upon which the 2017 version of the Local Plan is based is not consistent with national policy. In particular the SHMA Addendum Report entirely ignores the HMA within which Guildford lies.

4.28 The proposed revisions to the OAN set out in the 2017 Regulation 19 version of the Local Plan and the amendments proposed to the Green Belt boundaries as a result are not therefore considered to be justified.

4.29 As a result of relying upon this flawed evidence base and the decision to reduce the proposed OAN in the latest version of the Local Plan it cannot be considered to be effective. Indeed it fails to address the increasing need for housing in the Borough and meet the NPPF requirement to “significantly boost the supply of housing”. It also fails to address the existing backlog of housing development early in the Plan period and does not demonstrate a five year housing land supply at the date the Plan would be adopted.

4.30 Finally the Plan cannot be said to be positively prepared given that the SHMA Addendum Report has been prepared in isolation and fails to address the unmet requirements of the neighbouring authority of Woking.

4.31 These matters should be addressed by the Council before the emerging Local Plan proceeds to Examination.

4.32 As demonstrated above Land at Polesden Lane and Send Marsh Road could significantly assist the Council in addressing the shortcomings of the proposed submission version of the Local Plan. The site can deliver additional housing in the early years of the Plan period in a highly sustainable location.

4.33 Contrary to the conclusions of the Council this can be achieved on a previously developed site without any significant adverse impact to the Green Belt and on land that lies within Flood Zone 1. It would also deliver a new justifiable and defensible boundary to the Green Belt.

4.34 Trenfold Property Limited and Countryside Properties (UK) Limited are keen to work in a positive and collaborative manner with Guildford Borough Council to identify the most appropriate facilities for this location and contribute towards the delivery of new housing in the Borough on an unconstrained site which is capable of providing new housing immediately.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1.1 This statement has been produced on behalf of Trenfold Property Limited and Countryside Properties (UK) Limited (Countryside) in response to the ‘Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites (2017)’. Countryside is the contractual purchaser for this site and is able to deliver residential development at the site early on in the plan period. A site location plan is attached at Appendix One.

1.2 Land at Polesden Lane and Send Marsh Road is approximately 2.6ha in size and currently comprises scrub grassland together with spoil and hardstanding associated with the previous uses of the site.

1.3 The site is enclosed on three sides by existing residential development. The site is broadly level and featureless with no significant vegetation within the site. The site benefits from vehicular access from Danesfield suitable to serve the proposed development.

1.4 The western boundary of the site comprises of substantial existing mature vegetation which provides a clear definition to the edge of the site and also a significant level of screening.

1.5 These representations provide our formal response to the changes made by the Council between the 2016 and 2017 versions of the emerging Local Plan and its associated evidence base.

1.6 The representations are structured as follows:
- A summary of key changes made between the 2016 and 2017 versions of the Local Plan;
- Implications of the key changes made to the Local Plan since 2016;
- An assessment of the revised housing numbers proposed in the 2017 version of the Local Plan;
- Consideration of the amended Green Belt boundaries now proposed in the 2017 version of the Local Plan; and
- An overview of our conclusions.

Introduction

1.7 Guildford Borough Council undertook a Regulation 19 public consultation on their emerging Local Plan in June and July 2016.

1.8 It is understood that the Council received approximately 32,000 representations in response to this consultation period which the Council subsequently processed and published in February 2017.

1.9 Following this period of public consultation the Council has made a number of alterations to the Local Plan. Several of these are significant in nature. As a consequence of these amendments the Council is now undertaking an additional period of public consultation.

1.10 This additional Regulation 19 public consultation which commenced on 9th June 2017 is targeted in nature. As such all representations received in respect of the previous 2016 Regulation 19 consultation will still be submitted as part of the Local Plan examination.

1.11 However, in addition to this any representations received in relation to this additional Regulation 19 consultation will also be submitted to the Planning Inspectorate for consideration. This is provided that any additional representations relate to parts of the emerging Local Plan or evidence base which have been amended since the previous 2016 Regulation 19 consultation.

1.12 The following section of these representations therefore provides an overview of the key significant amendments made since the previous Regulation 19 public consultation in 2016. This will inform the matters which can be addressed as part of the targeted consultation currently being undertaken by the Council.

LAND AT POLESDEN LANE AND SEND MARSH
Green Belt Boundary Amendments

3.1 As set out in Section 2 of these representations one of the significant amendments made to the emerging Local Plan since the 2016 consultation is the revision of a number of Green Belt boundaries.

3.2 In a number of instances these revisions relate to the amendments made to site allocations within the Local Plan and reflect the alterations to the OAN proposed mainly as a result of the SHMA Addendum Report.

3.3 However, with regards to Land at Polesden Lane and Send Marsh Road the Green Belt boundary has been revised irrespective of any of these matters.

3.4 The proposed revision to the Green Belt boundary relating to Land at Polesden Lane and Send Marsh Road is illustrated in Amendment 6 of the ‘Send Marsh / Burnt Common’ policies maps.

3.5 The ‘Summary of key changes to the Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites (2017)’ notes that the reason for this amendment is to “ensure the Green Belt follows a defensible boundary”.

3.6 However as set out in Paragraph 85 of the NPPF when reviewing Green Belt boundaries local planning authorities “should not include land which it is unnecessary to keep permanently open”.

3.7 We have demonstrated in our previous representations that the removal of this site from the Green Belt would not have any adverse impact on the purpose or function of the Green Belt in this part of the Borough.

3.8 The Council have failed to address these representations and have failed to demonstrate any sufficient justification for retaining Land at Polesden Lane and Send Marsh Road within the Green Belt.

3.9 Our previous representations make reference to the Planning Advisory Service updated guidance on the preparation of Green Belt Assessments published in February 2015 titled, ‘Planning on the Doorstep: The Big Issues – Green Belt’. On the basis of both the five Green Belt purposes set out at paragraph 80 of the NPPF and the PAS guidance, a boundary should in no way inform or contribute to an assessment as to whether a land parcel meets the Green Belt purposes or otherwise.

3.10 An assessment of the contribution a land parcel makes to meeting the Green Belt purposes should firstly be carried out. Secondly and as necessary, subsequent consideration should be given to where any revised boundary should be located. The boundary assessment should in no way be confused with assessing the contribution a parcel of land makes to the Green Belt purposes.

3.11 Given the conclusions reached in our Green Belt Assessment and the evidence now presented by the Council regarding the boundary of the Green Belt, it appears that Guildford Borough Council has used the location of a boundary to inform their assessment of the site.

3.12 It is therefore considered that Guildford’s approach regarding the Green Belt boundary around our clients’ site has therefore not been justified, and is not consistent with national policy and is therefore not sound.

3.13 In light of the substantial requirement for housing delivery sites as established in Section 3 of these representations, we re-assert that this site should be removed from the Green Belt and be allocated for new residential development through the emerging Local Plan.

3.14 Paragraph 4.39 of the Housing Delivery Topic Paper supports this approach noting that “to not amend boundaries would lead to a significant undersupply of homes compared to the identified needs”.

3.15 The Council do acknowledge in their Housing Delivery Topic paper (Paragraph 4.85) that “if major previously developed sites are of sufficient scale and do not possess an open character, it is not considered necessary for them to remain within the Green Belt”.

3.16 However, our previously submitted representations have demonstrated that the site is previously developed land and should therefore be removed from the Green Belt. The Council have nevertheless also failed to respond to these submissions.

3.17 With regards to Green Belt boundaries the NPPF requires local planning authorities to “satisfy themselves that Green Belt boundaries will not need to be altered” and should be defined “clearly, using physical features that are readily recognisable and likely to be permanent”.

3.18 Whilst it is acknowledged that not altering the Green Belt boundary in this location would ensure a defensible boundary the overall assessment of the site (as set out above) is not robust.

3.19 As clearly established by our Green Belt Assessment, the site makes at best, only a limited contribution to Green Belt purposes. As a subsequent and secondary point, the boundary issue would then be considered.

3.20 As we have previously highlighted a defensible boundary for the Green Belt can be established as a result of the removal of the site from the Green Belt owing to the existing site boundaries and substantial vegetation which would provide a clear and permanent boundary in compliance with the NPPF.

3.21 In light of the characteristics of the site and the Council’s recognition that there is a need for Green Belt release to meet the proposed housing target, we consider that in order for the plan to be found sound, the site should be removed from the Green Belt and allocated for new residential development through the emerging Local Plan.

Flood Risk

3.22 The Housing Delivery Topic Paper prepared as part of the 2017 public consultation into the Local Plan notes that “the Proposed Submission Local Plan has given due regard to national flood risk policy, and has not allocated land for housing development that does not accord with the flood risk compatibility table, or pass the sequential test”.

3.23 We have previously highlighted in our earlier representations that our client’s site has been incorrectly given a red ranking against flood risk in the site options appraisal. The Council have been provided with evidence to demonstrate that the site is not at risk of flooding and this ranking is therefore incorrect.

3.24 As illustrated in the flood risk map overlay provided in Appendix 2 and the location plans provided in Appendix 3 all of the proposed residential development can be provided on land which lies within the current Environment Agency Flood Zone 1. As such the site should score a green ranking against flooding and not a red ranking.

3.25 If this inconsistency is corrected then Land at Polesden Lane and Send Marsh Road performs strongly against the Council’s assessment criteria as set out in the sustainability appraisal.

3.26 Despite our representations the Sustainability Appraisal on the Guildford Borough Local Plan which was updated in June 2017 has not incorporated our comments.

3.27 In order to minimise any potential for legal challenge to the Local Plan process, we once again re-iterate that the sustainability appraisal should be revised to take into account the matters raised above and demonstrate how all of the reasonable alternatives have been considered. This is necessary to ensure the soundness of the Plan.

3.28 In addition Countryside has also commissioned a Fluvial Flood Study Report provided in Appendix 3.

3.29 This work addresses the fact that the Environment Agency had previously lacked suitable flood levels for the area in order to inform a Flood Risk Assessment for the site.

3.30 The Report provided in Appendix 3 incorporates hydraulic modelling of the watercourses within the vicinity of the site to determine flood levels and the resulting flood extents.

3.31 The results demonstrate that the site would be entirely situated out of any floodplain up to a 1 in 1000 year return period.
3.32 The site would therefore be entirely positioned within Flood Zone 1 subject to the Environment Agency approving the model.

4.1 These representations have been prepared in response to the Regulation 19 public consultation in respect of the ‘Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites (2017)’.

4.2 The representations respond directly to the changes made between the 2016 and 2017 versions of the emerging Local Plan and in respect of the new and updated evidence base as required by the targeted consultation.

4.3 Our clients continue to support the commitment of the Council to progress their Local Plan however it is apparent that there are a number of outstanding issues which need to be addressed in order for the Local Plan to be found sound at examination. These points are summarised below.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Local Plan Policies
1.19 As a result of the new and updated evidence base set out above there have been a number of alterations made to the emerging policies set out within the Local Plan.

1.20 A full summary of all of the amendments are set out in the ‘Summary of key changes to the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites (2017)’ document prepared by the Council.

1.21 However, generally these can be categorised as follows:
- Additional wording to reflect the NPPF, NPPG, or recent legislation;
- Additional or revised wording to provide clarification or further explanation of a policy’s intent;
- Additional or revised wording to reflect the consultation responses of statutory consultees (e.g. Environment Agency, Historic England, Natural England);
- Amendment to reflect an alteration proposed to a site allocation, Green Belt boundary or settlement boundary;
- Amendment to reflect or make reference to new or updated evidence;
- Deletion of text considered superfluous or unnecessary;
Representations in response to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan | Land at Polesden Lane and Send Marsh Road
- Correction of typographical errors.

1.22 Of the amendments made to the Local Plan the most significant are the alteration to the proposed plan period which is now 2015

1.23 The 2017 version of the Local Plan now seeks to deliver only 12,426 additional homes rather than 13,860 homes as proposed in the 2016 version of the Local Plan (a reduction of 1,434 homes).
1.24 This is reflected in draft Policy S2 which has now also been revised to illustrate a revised annual housing target. A summary of the proposed amendments to the annual housing target are set out in the table below.

1.25 It should be noted that as a result of the proposed plan period between the 2016 and 2017 versions of the Local Plan being revised there is no annual housing target for 2033/34 in the 2016 version or 2018/19 in the 2017 version.

1.26 This is because the plan period ended in 2033 in the 2016 version and the 2017 version of the plan is not anticipated to be adopted until 2019. As such, Guildford Borough Council is taking the approach that, the annual housing target does not commence until 2019/2020 following the proposed adoption of the plan.

1.27 The differences between the total amount of housing proposed to be delivered between the 2016 and 2017 versions of the plans are explained below.

1.28 It can be seen that in the first five years following the adoption of the Local Plan (2019 – 2024) 750 fewer homes are proposed to be delivered as part of the 2017 version of the Local Plan.

1.29 The annual housing target in emerging Policy S2 does not total the number of dwellings proposed to be delivered overall by the spatial vision in either the 2016 or 2017 version of the Local Plan.

1.30 This is owing to the fact that the annual housing target does not relate to the entire Plan period. In the 2017 version of the Local Plan for example the overall housing target is 12,426 however the annual housing target numbers only equal 9,810. This is as a result of the Plan period for the 2017 version of the Local Plan being 2015 – 2034 but the annual housing target only commencing in 2019/2020.

1.31 The 2,616 difference between the overall housing target of 12,426 and the total of the annual housing target (9,810) therefore relates to the pre-adoption period of 2015 – 2019. This is demonstrated in the Housing Trajectory set out in the 2017 LAA Addendum. A summary of this is provided in the table below.

[Table]

1.32 The new OAN figure of 654 as proposed in the SHMA Addendum and 2017 version of the Local Plan is therefore utilised across these four years as the annual target. This however results in a projected backlog of 974 houses prior to the adoption of the emerging Local Plan owing to poor housing delivery rates.

Site Allocations

1.33 The 2017 version of the emerging Local Plan makes a number of significant amendments to the site allocations previously set out in the 2016 version of the Local Plan. These amendments include the removal of six site allocations and the insertion of two new site allocations.

1.34 Specific details of the amendments made to each site allocation can be found in the ‘Summary of key changes to the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites (2017)’ published by the Council.

1.35 However, several of the amendments relate to the capacity or proposed uses associated with site allocations identified in the 2016 version of the emerging Local Plan.

1.36 This includes an additional 550 homes being proposed at site allocation A29 (Land to the south and east of Ash and Tongham) and the removal of the industrial element from site allocation A43 (which has been re-located to new site allocation A58).

Policies Maps

1.37 As part of the Regulation 19 public consultation in 2016 approximately 40 policies maps were published to spatially illustrate the proposed planning policies and site allocations set out in the emerging Local Plan.
1.38 In light of the amendments made to the evidence base, strategic policies and site allocations in the 2017 version of the emerging Local Plan which have been set out above more than one third of the policies maps in Appendix H have been subject to amendment.

1.39 The extent of amendments proposed to each map varies considerably however, the alterations can be generally categorised as follows:

- Correction of an identified error in the previous policies maps;
- Removal or amendment to a site allocation or new designation of a site;
- Green Belt boundary amendments; or
- Amendments to a settlement boundary.

1.40 Specific details of the amendments made to each policy map can be found in the ‘Summary of key changes to the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites (2017)’ published by the Council.

1.41 With regards to the Green Belt boundary amendment at Land at Polesden Lane and Send Marsh Road the alteration proposed would in effect revert to the existing Green Belt boundary.

1.42 As such the revisions to the Green Belt boundary originally proposed under the Regulation 19 consultation held in 2016 are no longer intended to be incorporated.

1.43 Under the current proposals as set out in the policies maps which accompany the targeted Regulation 19 consultation Land at Polesden Lane and Send Marsh Road would therefore not be removed from the Green Belt.

4.4 As set out in Section 2 of this report one of the most significant influences on the 2017 version of the emerging Local Plan has been the addition of the ‘West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA): Guildford Addendum Report 2017’ to the evidence base.

4.5 As a result of this Addendum Report the Objectively Assessed Need (OAN) for Guildford has been revised from 693 homes per year to 654 homes per year.

4.6 However, the Addendum Report demonstrates that there is a clear and increasing need for housing within the Borough. Indeed the demographic and affordability findings of the Addendum Report do not support the proposed reduction in OAN incorporated into the 2017 version of the emerging Local Plan.

4.7 We do not therefore support the lower OAN figure utilised in the 2017 Proposed Submission version of the Local Plan. This amendment to the Local Plan is therefore considered to be unjustified.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents: 170724 Representations.pdf (6.9 MB)

2.14 As set out in paragraph 182 of the NPPF Local Planning Authorities are required to demonstrate that they have positively prepared their Local Plan. This should include seeking to meet “unmet requirements from neighbouring authorities where it is reasonable to do so and consistent with achieving sustainable development”.

2.15 Paragraph 181 of the NPPF also notes that Local Planning Authorities “will be expected to demonstrate evidence of having effectively cooperated to plan for issues with crossboundary impacts”.

2.16 Furthermore, they must also be “sure that their Local Plan meets the full, objectively assessed needs for market and affordable housing in the housing market area”.

2.17 Paragraph 4.36 of the Duty to Co-operate Topic Paper prepared by the Council notes that Guildford Borough Council alongside Woking and Waverley Council have jointly signed up to a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU). “This includes an agreement to prepare an up-to-date joint SHMA together with a commitment to review whether this needed updating every three years”. In addition the MoU also included a “commitment to continuing to work jointly on other relevant cross boundary matters”.

2.18 The decision of Guildford Borough Council to prepare an Addendum to the joint West Surrey SHMA (2015) is clearly contrary to the MoU and the commitment to “work jointly”. The Addendum Report prepared by Guildford fails to take into account the wider HMA within which both Woking and Waverley Council lie.

2.19 It is clearly apparent from the nature of the Addendum Report prepared that Guildford Borough Council has therefore failed to meet the requirements of paragraph 47 of the NPPF. In that they have failed to consider the wider housing market area (HMA). The Addendum Report is therefore not considered to be consistent with national policy. 2.20 Accordingly, Guildford Borough Council cannot be considered to have demonstrated that they have worked effectively or collaboratively with their neighbouring authorities.

4.8 As also outlined in Section 3 of these representations Guildford Borough Council have a duty to co-operate and must be able to demonstrate this as part of the independent examination of their Local Plan.

4.9 Woking Borough Council lies within the same HMA as Guildford Borough Council and has a significant unmet need. In spite of this Guildford Borough Council are currently proposing to assist Woking with none of this unmet need.

4.10 The ‘Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites (2017)’ therefore does not currently satisfactorily demonstrate that it has been prepared in a positive manner. The Council should seek to address this matter before the emerging Local Plan proceeds to Examination.

Policy S2 - Planning for the Borough - Our Spatial Development Strategy

The spatial strategy rests heavily on a small number of strategic sites to deliver the longer term housing supply over 6-10 and 11-15 years. However, if there is a delay in delivering these strategic sites, or they prove not to be viable, then the supply of housing will be significantly interrupted. Smaller sites should be identified near to the large strategic sites to improve delivery and avoid under-supply.

We consider the current spatial distribution of housing is over-reliant on major strategic sites and that some additional smaller sites in the locations identified would improve delivery and avoid under-supply in the event that the strategic sites do not come forward on time, or, are proved to be not viable.

We believe a site for residential development should be located at North Wyke Farm, Guildford Road, Normandy, Surrey, GU3 2AN. This site could include some provision for retail units as part of a mixed uses scheme that would benefit the local community.

The site was included in the GBC SHLAA in December 2012, but subsequently excluded from later proposals. However, GBC has now included a site for 1,100 residential units on the opposite side of the road, which provides confirmation that the location of the North Wyke Farm site is appropriate for residential development.

We would like the opportunity to present suitable evidence at the examination to support the inclusion of North Wyke Farm as a residential or mixed uses site within the Guildford Local Plan.

I am writing to object to the 2016 Draft Local Plan. Burpham already struggles with traffic issues on a normal day and by increasing the number of houses and cars, the area won't be able to cope. Also the local schools are over subscribed at the moment so will new schools be built or increased in size to accommodate the increased children. What is the point of a green belt if not to protect the environment and wildlife if you build on it and destroy it. The green areas are what make Guildford so attractive. Also burpham has no south access to the A3 so there will be even more traffic trying to get through. Let's keep Guildford it own town and not merge it with all the surrounding ones.

Subject: Proposed Submission Local Plan Consultation (June 2016)

I write on behalf of our client in relation to “Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites,” published for consultation on 6th June 2016. Our client is the landowner of “Land at Hornhatch Farm, Chilworth.”

Background

The site known as “Land at Hornhatch Farm, Chilworth” was proposed for removal from the Green Belt and allocation as a potential development site in the “Draft Guildford Borough Local Plan: Strategy and Sites” (July 2014) [site allocation no. 68]. This was following consideration of the contribution of the site to the main purposes of the Green Belt; its location adjoining an inset settlement; the need for defensible boundaries; and deliverability considerations.

This potential development site has since been removed in the “Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan” (June 2016) [“the proposed submission local plan”].

Case for Retention in Forthcoming Local Plan

Our client objects to the removal of former site allocation 68 from the proposed submission local plan for the reasons set out below.

Guildford Borough is currently not meeting its’ housing requirements. The 2014-15 Annual Monitoring Report sets out on page 9 that Guildford had a 1.4-year supply of housing. It further states on page 11:

“We are not currently able to demonstrate a five year supply of deliverable housing land without amendments to Green Belt boundaries and use of countryside land (against objectively assessed housing need of 693 homes a year).”

This is again acknowledged in paragraph 4 of the decision letter for appeal reference APP/Y3615/W/15/3132375, which states:

“The Council indicate that it cannot demonstrate a five year supply of housing land.”

West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (2015) identifies that there is a need for a mix of house sizes across the housing market area as identified in Table 8.

In respect of the strategy put forward in the proposed submission local plan to deliver housing, the Council are placing undue reliance on Policy A35: “Land at former Wisley airfield, Ockham.” This site is proposed for allocation for the delivery of 2,000 homes. This one site is proposed to contribute up to 14% of the housing required over the plan period.

Our client considers that significant uncertainties exist in respect of the delivery of the Wisley airfield site and that this strategy is therefore unsound.

In addition, a planning application for the site proposed in Policy A7: “Land and buildings at Guildford railway station, Guildford” (planning application reference: 14/P/02168) was refused on 30th June 2016. This potential allocation includes redevelopment for approximately 350 homes. Our client considers that uncertainty exists over the delivery of this and other potential previously-developed sites thereby meaning the proposed number of homes to be delivered in the plan as set out in Policy S2 is unlikely to be met.

Further consideration should therefore be given to the delivery of smaller, sustainable sites, such as “Land at Hornhatch Farm.”

Lack of Justification for Removal of Site
“Land at Hornhatch Farm” was included as a potential development site in the “Draft Guildford Borough Local Plan: Strategy and Sites” (July 2014). The reasons given for its omission from the proposed submission local plan are:

“Our spatial strategy and site allocations have been considered through the Sustainability Appraisal and this site no longer accords with the proposed spatial strategy in the Local Plan. The site was identified in the Green Belt and Countryside Study but is located within high sensitivity Green Belt.”

Our client considers that the justification for the site’s exclusion is based on subjective qualitative methodology used to assess the Green Belt, which has only been published for consultation at a late stage in the plan-making process. The forthcoming plan has therefore not been prepared in the light of a robust evidence base.

Sustainability

Allocation of “Land at Hornhatch Farm” would form a sustainable extension to Chilworth. The site was previously assessed in the 2014 “Draft Guildford Borough Local Plan: Strategy and Sites” as suitable for residential development within one to five years. The site is located in Environment Agency Flood Zone 1 (low risk of fluvial flooding) and is within 5 to 7km of the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA) and therefore is beyond the zone of influence of this SPA.

Green Belt Considerations

Paragraph 89 of the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) states that local planning authorities with Green Belts in their area should establish Green Belt boundaries in their Local Plans which set the framework for Green Belt and settlement policy. It also sets out that authorities should consider Green Belt boundaries having regard to their intended permanence in the long term, so that they should be capable of enduring beyond the plan period.

Our client considers that there is a clear case for removal of the site from the Green Belt and its retention as a site allocation for residential development. The site would have clearly defined boundaries as required by paragraph 85 of the NPPF. Our client notes that additions to the Green Belt are proposed to be made elsewhere in Guildford Borough. This approach is supported.

Deliverability

The site is within single ownership, is available now and development would be achievable in the short to medium term.

Conclusions

Land known as “Land at Hornhatch Farm” should be retained as an allocation for residential development in the Guildford Borough Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites.

Guildford Borough is not currently meeting housing delivery requirements and the strategy put forward in Policy S2 is unsound due to an overreliance on particular site allocations, such as Policy A35: “Land at former Wisley airfield, Ockham.”

A lack of justification has been provided for the removal of “Land at Hornhatch Farm” from the spatial strategy and there has been a lack of proper consultation on the “Green Belt Sensitivity Map.”

Allocation of the site for residential use would have the benefit of bringing forward a deliverable sustainable extension to Chilworth that would contribute to providing much-need housing in Guildford Borough.

I trust that this letter is clear but please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any questions or queries.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Policy H2 requires affordable housing to be provided on sites providing five or more dwellings. This is considered to be contrary to national planning policy guidance issued by the government. In 2014 the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government announced that there would not be a requirement to provide a contribution to affordable housing for development of 10 dwellings or fewer. This announcement was subject to judicial review, however in May 2016 a Court of Appeal judgement restored the policy which means that affordable housing cannot be sought on sites of 10 or fewer dwellings. It is considered that Policy H2 should be updated to reflect the Court of Appeal judgement and the latest government guidance.

Access to essential facilities – NO MENTION IN WRITTEN POLICIES.

Vague statements within Infrastructure Polices section.

The small grocery store at the southern end of the village may close later this year as the shop owner is retiring. There are no plans to keep this in place and will go the way of the Post Office we lost from there next door recently.

Even if commercial outlets such as these would remain, there has always been very limited parking outside this store and such congestion as there has been in the past would get far worse.

People using East Horsley’s shops and Public Library in 2016 experience more and more difficulty in parking their cars at most times of the day. The proposed large increase in population of West and East Horsley will make parking and movement into and through the village considerably more difficult and time consuming.

Schools – the word ‘schools’ is mentioned in Definitions under Policy I1 Infrastructure and Delivery.

There is a continuing lack of state primary school places in the village. The Raleigh school which serves both East and West Horsley is full every year and this has been the situation for many years. Secondary school places are limited in number at the Howard of Effingham School and other secondary schools involve a much longer journey of time and distance from the village to reach them. This alone is not environmentally acceptable, especially in the current climate where we are encouraged to be more “green”.

Glenesk and Cranmore private schools are well supported by many families living in Guildford and other villages up to 14 miles away. Each of these private schools during term time, receives high volumes of traffic going to and from each school at each end of the school day, on Ockham Road North and the A246 respectively.

Medical facilities – possible extension to Kingston Avenue Medical Centre mentioned in Infrastructure Delivery Plan (IDP)
Kingston Avenue Medical Centre, serving all of East and West Horsley and areas beyond, is always extremely busy and residents experience difficulty in making appointments. The planned population increase (in excess of Government ONS forecasts) for the Borough will require a major extension of the Royal Surrey Hospital to cope.

Roads and Transport Infrastructure – these words are mentioned in Definitions under Policy I1 Infrastructure and Delivery.

No detail for West Horsley has been found in any of the Local Plan documents, including the Infrastructure Delivery Plan.

Whilst Horsley station has frequent trains to London and Guildford 7 days a week, the station car park is normally full on weekdays. An increase in village population will increase pressure on station parking and traffic movements to / from Horsley station to drop off/ collect travellers to London and school children going to Guildford and Leatherhead.

Traffic generation from the proposed new housing estates will be considerable. Most households in rural areas as a necessity have 2 cars, many having 3. Journey times on local roads will increase significantly.

Finally:

Waste water Infrastructure – these words receive a mention in Reasoned Justification under Policy I1.

No detail for West Horsley has been found in any of the Local Plan documents, including the Infrastructure Delivery Plan.

There are known sewage overflow problems in the Ockham Road North / Green Lane area. Thames Water has advised Guildford Borough that the area’s wastewater network is unlikely to be able to support the demand anticipated from all the proposed developments.

The foul drainage system from West Horsley to the treatment works north of Ripley, will need to be upgraded to cope. Thames Water advise a 2 to 3 years lead-in period to install the necessary waste water network and treatment capacity after planning permission for a development is granted.

It is blatantly obvious that the proposed development on the scale suggested is unreasonable, impractical and unacceptable to all that will be affected – directly through the villages and further afield.

I ask that the appropriate and responsible authorities seek all opportunities to developing brown field sites – through the Guildford Borough Council area, before even considering such drastic and environmentally damaging options which seem to have been ill-thought out.

Policy i3: Sustainable Transport for new developments.

Developers will be expected to propose and secure travel Plans for their developments and contribute to transport arrangements for the able and disabled.

I can’t think of a single developer who would get even remotely close to achieving this, when it will be at odds with their profit potential. Development history has taught us that scant regards is taken for the community when it comes to development and profit making.

I wish to register objections to the Draft Local Plan on the following:

Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategies and Sites June 2016, with regards to the proposed development in East and West Horsley as follows:

Policy P2: Green Belt and the Countryside / Policy P1: Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB)

I and many if not the majority of residents of West Horsley are totally opposed to the village's removal from the Green Belt by insetting and extending the 2003 Local Plan Settlement Area boundaries.

There are no exceptional circumstances or other justification is made for the new Green Belt boundaries that will result from the proposed insetting of the two parts of the village from the Metropolitan Green Belt.

West Horsley's defined Settlement Area boundaries (ref 2003 Local Plan) DO NOT need to be extended. West Horsley Parish is one of a rich and varied mix of well-established low housing density settlements with a considerable number of historic buildings. Positioned on the north side of the North Downs, partly in the Surrey Hills AONB, it attracts a considerable number of recreational visitors. Evidence of this is specific with walkers and cyclists, reliving the 2012 Olympic Cycle race and subsequent annual races which is now a feature through this and other local villages.

The Key Evidence document 'Guildford Borough Economic Strategy 2013-2031 makes no case for locating large numbers of homes in West and East Horsley or neighbouring villages.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Policies S1 Presumption in favour of Sustainable Development, S2 Borough Wide Strategy, H1 Homes for all, H2 Affordable Homes.

Policy S2 states that provision will be made for 13,800 new homes over the Plan Period 2013 to 2033. The number of homes is too high and unsustainable in Guildford’s villages.

The Site Allocations list totals 12,698. Village expansion is unsustainable. With only one small shop, no post office, a very limited weekday only bus service through the village, it is clearly unsustainable for the proposed high volumes of new housing development.

The development of 385 homes on the 4 proposed sites are at much higher densities than currently exist in the village settlement and will be totally out of character with the existing mix of different housing styles and layout of the village. The homes building proposals are unsustainable in terms of schooling, drainage, roads capacity, shops, parking in East Horsley (shops and station) and public transport.

The need for so many houses to be built in West Horsley over the first 5 years of the Plan period 2018 to 2033 is totally unproven. The West Horsley Parish Council and Surrey Community Action Housing Survey: May 2014, identified a limited need for some 20 affordable homes for local people who want to remain in the village, i.e. for young people and for elderly people who wish downsize to a smaller home.

I object to the removal of green belt planning restrictions on the land proposed for development in Normandy (A46) as most of the key criteria for green belt status apply to this area.

I object to the proposals to add 1100 new homes and a new school in the Normandy area as the road network in Normandy and the surrounding areas (where I live) will not be able to sustain the volume of traffic that this housing development plus additional school journeys will bring. There are no highway improvements that can conceivably be made to these country lanes that would convert them to the A-class roads needed to serve the proposed development and additional traffic going to the school. The traffic pressures on Glaziers Lane, Westwood lane, Wanborough Hill, the B3000 and the A31 have built up tremendously over the last few years and there are frequent long queues on Wanborough Hill and the B3000 during rush hour periods and it also now happening at other times during the working day. The roads in this area are not adequate to cope with current traffic volumes now, let alone the impacts of proposed significant additional developments at Normandy (A46), Ash & Tongham (A29) and Ash Green plus others just downstream off the A3 at Blackwell Farm (A26) and...
Onslow Village A11, A15 & A16) which would also influence traffic knock on impacts. I retired in 2010 and could leave and return to our house in Wanborough at any time of day without encountering significant queues apart from during well defined short rush hours whereas now I regularly have to queue on Wanborough Hill and the B3000 at almost any time of day.

I believe the West Surrey Housing SHMA used by Guildford Borough Council as a fundamental rationale for the removal of Green Belt status from Normandy, Flexford and various other local areas now proposed for development was significantly overestimated and has not been subjected to sufficient rigorous checks about its accuracy.

In addition events have now moved on and the current consensus of independent economic forecasters is that the short to medium term UK's (and hence South East's) growth forecast has significantly reduced from previous forecasts due to the likely impacts of Brexit uncertainties on the economy. These reductions of likely growth trends as well as probable changes to population movements have not been factored into the local planning process yet and both these factors are likely to reduce some of the demand for additional new housing.

I object to the removal of green belt planning restrictions on the land proposed for development in several areas as most of the key criteria for green belt status still apply for those areas. Green belt status and in the case of Blackwell Farm AONB status were envisaged to protect these areas for all future generations to experience and enjoy the rural spaces.

I object to the proposals to add significant new housing developments in existing rural green belt areas in the light of an already chaotic road transport network within the A3 / A31 corridor areas without any obvious solutions being on the horizon to relieve congested roads already unable to cope at times with current volumes of traffic let alone additional volume impacts from further significant new housing developments.

It is noted that a Memorandum of Understanding is to be prepared between the three authorities with the aim that OAHN is met across the HMA. However it is unclear how this will guarantee that every effort is made to address OAHN in full.

Hart District Council therefore suggests that some flexibility is needed in the Guildford Plan to address this uncertainty and ensure that OAHN across the HMA is met. This flexibility could be in the form of a Review Clause inserted into the Plan which would be triggered in the event that between them, Woking and Waverley do not address their OAHNs in full.

We anticipate making a similar representation to Waverley Borough Council assuming they publish their Regulation 19 Plan meeting only their housing needs.

1. Housing Numbers

The housing numbers proposed are too high. It does not take any account of the constraints that apply locally. It is based on a Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which the full council required to be amended by the then Lead Councilor for Planning and the Head of Planning. No amendment has taken place; those individuals are no longer in their posts. A new, revised, SHMA on a joint basis with Woking and Waverley has not yet been published and is not part of the evidence base. How can anyone comment on the proposed plan when the fundamental housing number is still so uncertain?

1. Brownfield Sites are Available

There is brownfield land available in the town centre which is being earmarked for commercial development rather than for housing. This is enough to meet our real needs for affordable local homes. There are enough vacant commercial sites to cope with genuine business need, and we have enough retail capacity already, so urban brownfield/derelict land should be used for housing.

Flaws in the Draft Local Plan

A number of flaws and omissions are evident in the draft LP.

- No joint SHMA with neighbouring boroughs has been produced, as required
- There is no Strategic Environmental Assessment included, as required
- No sustainability assessment is presented for any of the sites
- No infrastructure document is present
- The evidence base is shot through with many factual and calculation errors
- A number of assumptions used in the evidence base are unsupported by evidence
- The results of calculations are included, without the underlying workings provided
- Settlement boundaries have been arbitrarily extended, without any meaningful explanation

Our road leads to the area around the site off Green Lane in West Horsley which is at risk of development per your plan and this area is a major flood risk, with raw sewage pouring into the roads, on the occasion of the last major flood at Christmas 2013. We are very concerned and object to this area being developed.

In conclusion, I ask GBC to revise the housing number, and to amend the Local Plan to utilise brownfield/previously used land rather than green field sites – of which there are significant amounts of the former within the Borough.

4. Flood Risk & Congestion

Our drains, our water supply, our medical facilities, state primary school, and our roads cannot cope with the proposed number of new homes. Building this number of homes will lead to flood risk here and downstream (along the Wey and Thames). The planned development on Green Belt is therefore unsustainable.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

We wish to register objections to the Draft Local Plan. Our reasons are as follows:

1. Green Belt

Our Green Belt is precious. It is what protects London from urban sprawl; it preserves air quality; it prevents flooding; it is the city’s playground. It is for us to conserve and protect it. There are 5 legal purposes for Green Belt, and it meets them all:

- To check the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas
- To prevent neighbouring towns merging into one another
- To assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment
- To preserve the setting and special character of historic towns
- To assist in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land.

I am writing with my comments on the draft Local Plan for Guildford under Regulation 19. These mainly concern Policy P2 and Effingham where I live.

I very much support the main thrust of the plan and, in particular, support the concept of “insetting”. I believe that a limited amount of new build is desirable but that this should not be to the detriment of the Green Belt. I understand that according to the NPPF, that where boundaries are changed in the Green Belt, they should not include land which it is necessary to keep permanently open and should be defined using physical features that are readily recognisable and likely to be permanent.

I was therefore rather baffled to find that Manor House Lane had been excluded from “insetting” in the latest plan. My understanding is that it had been recommended for inclusion for insetting in the Green Belt and Countryside Study, 2014 and in the EAB Draft. The reasons I think that it should be included are:

? “Insetting” should be designed to protect the Green Belt from development spreading into it, but it should include as much of the village’s centre as possible so that it defines a small, continuous residential area.

? Manor House Lane is very much a part of the perceived settlement area of the village of Effingham as noted in the Green Belt and Countryside Study, 2014. To be excluded suggests we are a peripheral group of houses outside the village, which is not the case, as we are a continuous part of the village perceived settlement area from Guildford Road/A246.

? The more logical boundary for “insetting” would be to include Manor House Lane as it is a clear continuation of the settlement on Guildford Road with no natural permanent boundary separating it from it. The houses in Manor House Lane have clear physical boundaries on the other three sides. It is defined by rows of mature trees on two sides (one to the west bordering King George V and one to the south bordering Manor House School) and by the road with a row of mature trees on the eastern side to Little Bookham. These are clear boundaries of physical features that are readily recognisable and likely to be permanent as required under the NPPF and noted in the Green Belt and Countryside Study.

? Manor House Lane seems to have been excluded from the proposed inset area when it was decided to exclude the King George V playing fields. These are well used, and enjoyed playing fields, which it is sensible to exclude from the inset area although they are protected from development by the trust establishing them. However, this should not exclude Manor House Lane from being inset as it has its own separate, physical boundaries as noted above and thus does not affect the openness of the Green Belt around it.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We wish to respond to Guildford Borough Council’s consultation on changes to the Local Plan.

We would like to support the removal of site A46 (1100 homes and school) on land to the south of Normandy and north of Flexford, and the removal of site A47 (50 homes to the east of the Paddocks, Flexford). If these ever went ahead, there would be total overload on:

- Roads - extra traffic
- Waste water - drainage would not be able to cope, causing flooding - which has already happened in the past many times
- Electricity
- Health care would also be drastically overloaded

This area is Green Belt, which should not be tampered with.

We want to strongly object to the removal from the Green Belt of certain homes in Guildford Road, Glazier’s Lane, Flexford, Walden Cottages, Palm House Nursery, and Whittles Drive traveller sites.

If the Green Belt status was removed, development may progress at a much higher rate. These areas contribute to keeping the Green Belt areas more open and beautiful.

Although we do not agree with all the extra homes proposed in a 10-mile radius of Normandy, if these do go ahead, then Guildford Borough Council should plan ahead and ensure that suitable changes are made to the infrastructure: for instance a road bridge and footbridge should definitely be built at Ash Station (LRN21) as traffic jams are already a frequent occurrence.

We would like all these points we have made to be taken into consideration, and acted upon.

I agree that the Local Plan should focus on providing more affordable accommodation in Guildford and at least 40% of new build should be affordable. I think limited use of greenfield/green belt land is justified for the provision of affordable housing, and the sites proposed look reasonable.

I think that people who want to work in Guildford, e.g. At the hospital, should be able to afford to live in Guildford. I worry that increasing house prices will mean more commuters and less community. I also worry that it will lead to an even older population profile, and reduce the incentives for young talent to start or stay here.

We have been receiving flyers from the save the hogs back campaign encouraging us to object to the local plan, but no obvious way of showing our support for the plan. We agree that increasing affordable housing in Guildford is a priority and will benefit the whole community. If necessary, this might mean having to relax the protection of some of the beautiful land around Guildford. Whilst we value, love and enjoy the green areas around Guildford and think that planning has an important role in maintaining this, we understand there is a balance between this and the housing needs of the local population and think the plan strikes the balance well.

We agree with the reduction of the site size threshold and increase in the % of affordable housing required, and strongly agree with the removal of the "subject to viability" clause for developers.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy A44 in Send Hill on the basis that: There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.

I object to policy A44 in Send Hill on the basis that: The proposed development is not sustainable because of poor infrastructure. Send Hill is a single track country road and too narrow to provide sufficient access to the site for travellers or accommodate the potential new levels of traffic the proposed development would bring.

I object to policy A44 in Send Hill on the basis that: A Wasteland Solutions environmental report on Send Hill dated March 2004 gave evidence of past ponding of water in the excavated area. Further development would disturb the water table and increase risk of flooding to surrounding properties.

I object to policy A44 in Send Hill on the basis that: The site was used as a GBC registered landfill site and shown on the 1963-8 Ordnance Survey maps as “refuse and slag heap”. It is therefore unsuitable for such a development on health reasons.

I object to policy A44 in Send Hill on the basis that: On the 1971 Ordnance Survey the site is shown as a “refuse tip” prior to when proper licensing/registration was required. The date of the landfill works predates the 1999 EU Landfill Directive regulations. I therefore believe that there is a danger that any disturbance would be health hazard due to the unknown materials.

I object to policy A44 in Send Hill on the basis that: GBC has installed gas monitoring wells on site since July 2000. One well has documented recording of methane gas discharge.

I object to policy A44 in Send Hill on the basis that: A Southern County Searches (Sitescope Ltd) report E.2978.SN_HCP dated 5th January 2005-Identifies the proposed site as GBC recorded landfill site Ref GU/11/LLC with type of waste not identified. The date of the landfill works predates the 1999 EU Landfill Directive regulations. I therefore believe that there is a danger that any disturbance would be health hazard due to the unknown materials.

I object to policy A44 in Send Hill on the basis that: A Southern County Searches (Sitescope Ltd) report E.2978.SN_HCP dated 5th January 2005-Identifies proposed site GBC recorded landfill site Ref GU/12 with type of waste identified as “unrestricted”. This causes concern as to what it does contain and the dangers if disturbed.

I object to policy A44 in Send Hill on the basis that: An Envirosearch Report RS1100201_1_1 dated 17th February 2004 and historical map data and information from GBC has identified the site as landfill and has “areas of potentially contaminative industrial activities” and “potential risk from landfill gas migrations”. Development of this site would be a health hazard.

I object to policy A44 in Send Hill on the basis that: The site is unsuitable for a traveller site as it is away from the Village centre and approximately one mile from the shops and the nearest bus stops.

I object to policy A44 in Send Hill on the basis that: The road Send Hill at the entrance to this site is 2.3 metres wide, very narrow and additionally unsuitable for long vehicles and on the opposite side of this narrow road is the multi-denominational Send Cemetery.

I object to policy A44 in Send Hill on the basis that: Existing road and parking infrastructure is already inadequate or under pressure and would worsen with the planned development, reducing quality of life.

I object to policy A44 in Send Hill on the basis that: Existing health infrastructure is already inadequate or under pressure and would worsen with the planned development.
I object to policy A44 in Send Hill on the basis that: This area has been extensively used for sand and gravel extraction and has since been filled with refuse and is therefore unlikely to be suitable for building. The lane is designated SSSI and monitored by The Surrey Wildlife Trust. The roads serving this area are extremely narrow lanes without footpaths and people attempting to walk from here to the Send village shops would be at risk.

I object to policy A44 in Send Hill on the basis that: The drainage and sewerage systems in this area of the village of Send are ancient and frequently cause problems as documented by Thames Water Plc. More housing and road users being added would simply increase the problems further.

I object to policy A44 in Send Hill on the basis that: All proposals to build on the Green Belt at Send and elsewhere in the borough because all the development that is really needed can be accommodated in Guildford’s urban Brownfield areas much closer to existing transport hubs.

I object to policy A44 in Send Hill on the basis that: The proposal to include 2 Travellers Pitches is completely inappropriate due to the narrow width single track country road providing insufficient access to the site.

I object to policy A44 in Send Hill on the basis that: The government’s most recent policy for traveller sites was published in August 2015 and sets out the best approaches for planning for traveller sites. Since the Borough’s current Traveller Accommodation Assessment was published significantly before the 2015 guidance, it should be considered out of date. The dated nature of the 2012 assessment is recognised in the June 2016 Sustainability Appraisal, which states on page 94 that the Council have decided to over-allocate traveller sites in light of the dated evidence base.

I object to policy A44 in Send Hill on the basis that: This site is allocated for 40 homes and 2 Traveller pitches. Send Hill is a very narrow road; two cars have difficulty passing one another in places. An additional 40 homes would significantly increase the chances of two cars meeting, resulting in congestion and access issues with little scope to widen the road.

I object to policy A44 in Send Hill on the basis that: Send Hill does not have any pavements for the majority of its length and would be difficult to walk along, especially for those with push chairs or mobility problems.

I object to policy A44 in Send Hill on the basis that: The proposed development is not sustainable because of poor infrastructure. Send Hill is a single track country road and too narrow to provide sufficient access to the site for travellers or accommodate the potential new levels of traffic the proposed development would bring.

I object to policy A44 in Send Hill on the basis that: The road Send Hill at the entrance to this site and the approach from Potters Lane is very narrow. Any alternation to improve visibility as acknowledged in the revised GBC Local Plan is not practical due physical limitations at the junction of Send Hill and Potter Lane. Without this alteration the approach road is unsuitable for the increased traffic including long vehicles that will result from developing this site.

I object to policy A44 as building further houses at Send Hill would exasperate the problem of inadequate access due to increased traffic volume. Send Hill is far too narrow to take any more traffic. The junction with Potters Lane is already very hazardous for vehicles emerging into Potters Lane. Any alternation to improve visibility as acknowledged in the GBC Local Plan is not practical due physical limitations at the junction of Send Hill and Potter Lane.

I object to policy A44 as it is in direct conflict to Local Plan policy H1. This policy states that “Gypsy, Traveller or Traveling Show-people accommodation should be provided on development sites of 500 homes or more whilst there remain an identified need”. Site A44 has only been allocated 40 houses and so has therefore been disproportionately allocated 2 pitches.

I object to policy A44 as it is in direct conflict to Local Plan policy H1. This policy states that “Gypsy, Traveller or Traveling Show-people accommodation should be provided on development sites of 500 homes or more whilst there remain an identified need”. The GBC Traveller Accommodation Assessment does not justify an identified need.

2. The use of Green belt land for development is unsustainable and unnecessary.
3. Insufficient emphasis has been placed on cycling and walking strategies throughout the borough.
4. No reference has been made to the provision of student accommodation on University of Surrey campus - for which they have permission and have failed to build. This would relieve pressure on housing in the town.
5. Insufficient thought has been given to higher density accommodation on brownfield sites in the town.
6. The plan is illogical in saying there is a need to relieve traffic congestion but suggesting 65,000 sqm of retail space is needed - generating significant traffic movements. This space could be used for housing which generates less traffic.

Re: Strong Objection to Blackwell Farm development A26

Dear Sir, Madam,

Beechcroft Drive is located close to the proposed development on Blackwell Farm and we have an intimate knowledge of the proposed area and its surroundings. As a Residents Association, we have come to the conclusion that we strongly object the development, based in summary on the following points:

1) The traffic associated with 1800 houses simply cannot be supported by the local road network and will lead to:
   a. Larger congestion around the Royal Surrey County Hospital - ultimately threatening accessibility for emergency services.
   b. Traffic trying to avoid cathedral roundabout will be diverting to Onslow Village and Park Barn – thus affecting safety, pollution levels, and liveability for residents in a much larger area.
   c. Further gridlocking of A31, A3 and Farnham Road on daily basis, leading to reduced accessibility of Guildford from the South and West as a whole, with all economic and social implications. Adapting local roads, the A31, A3 and cathedral roundabout to cope with this traffic will be extremely expensive and arguably make the A26 (Blackwell Farm) development financially unviable. This is supported by the Technical Note by the Traffic Consultant RGP as presented by Compton PC.

2) Furthermore, infrastructure should be improved prior to any construction; this includes enhancing hospital capacity – which is not planned at the moment - and secondary school capacity. Both are known to be under pressure at the moment.

3) The Blackwell Farm area is very visible from the Hog’s Back and as such will destroy the views from the Hog’s Back ridge - a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty. Removing greenbelt and AONB has detrimental impact on setting of the town, availability for future generations and removal of valuable farming land - which is very scare already in the South-East, seems inappropriate.

4) The ancient woodlands (last remainder of Medieval royal deer park of Henry II) play an essential part in the local eco-system of the larger Hog’s Back area. The railway line and building to the North, and the proposed large scale developments in the West, would mean that migration to and from this essential habitat is limited to the South. The proposed road from the Blackwell Farm to the A31 effectively completes the isolation and cuts natural migration patterns to the woodlands completely. From ecological point, this removes (one of) the largest forests west of Guildford from the greenbelt and places it within the urban area (Figure 1):

5) We further support the Guildford Residents Association in its observation (Report Neil McDonald) that the housing needs as per the local plan are overestimated, and as such development plans are over designed (even excluding consequences of Brexit)

6) The Blackwell Farm site includes 6 Travellers pitches, which we believe should be sited in more sustainable locations (not within greenbelt). In addition, counting them towards the developer’s quota of affordable housing is a ludicrous method to try to fulfil the obligation of providing affordable housing. We therefore object to them, as well as the rest of the large-scale development being included within site A26.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

As Beechcroft Drive is the nearest residential street to the proposed development on Blackwell Farm and we have an intimate knowledge of the proposed area and its surroundings. As Residents Association, we have come to the conclusion to strongly object the development, based in summary on the following points:

1) The change of accepting vehicular access and from the site to Egerton Road, preferably via Gill Avenue does not regard the safety and impedes access to the Hospital’s A&E unit and cause increased rat running through Onslow Village and Park Barn.

2) Though much welcomed, the Park Barn train station will not be sufficient to avoid significant traffic increase due to Blackwell farm development. In addition, the planning of Park Barn does not include essential cycling access in its design.

3) An independent traffic study commissioned by Compton Parish Council has shown that this new junction would result in more queuing on the Hog’s Back and on the A3 during the morning peak-hour, and as a result the villages of Puttenham, Compton and Artington would see a surge in traffic numbers as Guildford-bound drivers seek out the fastest route and divert along the B3000 and B3100.

4) The added clause in P1 “In accordance with national planning policy, there will be a presumption against major development in the AONB except in exceptional circumstances and where it can be demonstrated to be in the public interest, is much welcomed. However, holding A26 and the damage to the AONB against that very clause we remain unconvinced that a) exceptional circumstances exist (as growth figures are not extreme and arguably over-estimated) and b) that the construction is in the public interest (taking into account the considerable resistance against this scheme).

Correction of error in urban boundary – ancient woodlands

The previous revision included corrections in urban boundaries. However, one error near site A26 was overlooked and we use this consultation to bring it to your attention.

[Image]

In the proposed plan, the forest comprising of Strawberry Grove and Manor Corpse have been added to Guildford Urban area. We are convinced this is an error or oversight, otherwise we strongly object:

- Taking any area out of the green belt and adding into the urban area is strongly contested, and only to take place under exceptional circumstances (see Policy P1). Removing forested area from the Greenbelt and adding into urban area is clearly not justifiable and as such can only be considered an error and need to be corrected
- The possible argument that it is all part of the same Parcel, does not make sense, as urban boundaries are made disregarding the parcel boundaries – see the suggested urban boundary around the much debated road from site A26 to the...
A31.
- Removing ancient woodlands and including it in the urban area is mistaken on both sides 1) rural area and green belt is reduced and 2) land is added to the urban area that has no development option now or in the future and as such cannot and should be considered urban.

As such, we strongly recommend you to correct this error to the following outline:

The proposal to build housing around the Cathedral has a number of implications that will be detrimental to the existing and new residents of the town.

Firstly, the road access to the site is all through small local roads. This will create increased traffic at a number of small junctions and bring more cars into an already congested area of Guildford. I can see no reason why the site should not be accessed from the Cathedral's own access road. Access via the Cathedral would mean that residents' trips to and from the A3 would not need to travel down Rigdemount, Madrid Road or Arlesford Road. At a minimum, if the development does go ahead, then the construction traffic should be via the Cathedral.

Secondly, this area is prone to localised flooding after moderate rain storms. Water often flows down Rigdemount and into residents' gardens and driveways. Replacing water-absorbing grass and woodland with water-repellent tarmac will only exacerbate this problem.

Thirdly, the space around the Cathedral is one of the few areas of green space in central Guildford, it is used as a recreation area by families and allows views to and from the Cathedral. All of this will be lost if development goes ahead.

Finally, whilst this plan does not detail the type of housing for the site, those presented by Linden homes and the Cathedral are totally out of proportion to the area and will have a major impact on the privacy and

I am concerned to see the current use of the land described as being open space and residential properties; the land is currently designated as a Protected Open Space. The small number of residential properties constructed for Cathedral staff has not altered this, and should not be used as a precedent to permit the excessive development proposed for the site. There are a number of reasons why the site cannot support 100 properties:

1. The open space around the Cathedral is enjoyed by a variety of local residents, as well as being one of the few open spaces for children to play in around this area. To lose the designation of protected open space would be a great blow for the community surrounding the Cathedral.

2. The land was purchased and given to the cathedral to stop the incursion of residential development up to the Cathedral and preserve the land around the cathedral as green open space. To lose the designation of protected open space would allow precisely the evil that the benefactor sought to prevent.

3. There is no indication that local infrastructure will be improved to cope with the demands of so many new residents. Schools and doctors' surgeries in the area are already over subscribed, and trains are at (or over) capacity at peak times.

4. Traffic is already a very significant problem in this area of Guildford. On weekday mornings Madrid Road/Guildford Park Road gridlocks from Ridgemount heading into town, and is at a standstill in the other direction from the Oval towards the A3. To have the additional cars from 100 properties travelling down Ridgemount and Alresford Road would exacerbate this problem. Those roads are also used as shared surfaces with pedestrians due to their narrow nature.

5. Much focus has been on the listed nature of the Cathedral, and the impact of 100 properties on that building. To develop the site to the extent proposed would be detrimental to the Cathedral's standing, as it would impact the views both from and towards the Cathedral. In addition, the scope of the proposed development is out of keeping with the semi-rural nature of the neighbouring roads, and would have a very negative impact on the surrounding area.

6. The cathedral site contains numerous underground springs, and drainage on the site is already poor. Ridgemount and the neighbouring road suffer from flooding after even minor periods of rain. Paving over a large amount of the site, and adding the burden of additional residential properties, will make this problem worse.

7. The requirement for new housing in the area will decrease following the restrictions on immigration that the government is set to introduce, and the predicted migration of jobs to Europe. We have already seen demand for housing drop and most economists predict that this will continue.

Although the reduction in proposed housing from the earlier version of the local plan is welcome, I would ask that the redesignation of this site to be withdrawn. I would be grateful for a receipt to show that these comments will be considered.

Yours

Naomi and Richard Vary

Instead of massive development at one or more sites in Guildford, why not create small pockets of development in all villages across the Borough? This would obviate the need for large scale infrastructure development, would breathe life into moribund communities and allow, through a mix of marketing, affordable and social housing, more people to live in the Borough.

I fundamentally OBJECT to the Local Plan as proposed, especially the impact it would have on Normandy and its surround, based as it is on a false assumption about school need, and being driven as it is by developer aspirations not local need. As previously mentioned, a broad package of small development across the Borough would be far better, even if economies of scale could not be achieved by developers.

I object to the SHMA that is presented by Guildford Borough Council. It is in my opinion, unsound and the detail to be able to fully scrutinise this document is not available, to myself. I have no visibility over the model or formula used to calculate the numbers in the SHMA and as such have no confidence in it. The fact that GBC has got the contractual leverage and ability to force GL Hearn and its sub contractor Justin Gardner Consulting to release these, but does not, and that GBC has failed on several accounts to scrutinise the SHMA within the council, makes me believe this document has been written with 'Policy On' inputs whilst this document should have been prepared in a 'Policy off' mode as required by the NPPF. As the SHMA, in my opinion, forms the back bone of the Local Plan by providing an OAN to then hang all other policies from, without having confidence in the SHMA I have no confidence in the OAN and hence the rest of the Local Plan and consider it all to be unsound.

The specific reasons why I find the SHMA unsound can be found in the attached document written by Cllr David Reeve, which I fully endorse.

I object to the local plan (Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2017) in its current amended form, my submission should be taken into account as the proposing housing target has changed to 12,426 and my submission is a comment on this altered figure and the confidence the public have on this newly proposed figure. The proposed housing target is based on assumptions that have not been made public and includes flaws that have not been corrected in the modified SHMA.

The 12,426 proposed housing target figure (with an annual rate of 654 new homes per year) is a significant uplift compared to the current 2003 local plan that is in effect now (which has an annual housing target figure of 322 new homes per year). As the proposed housing target figure is over double the 2003 current target figure, it is imperative the local plan justifies this uplift in significant and accurate detail, to give the local population confidence in the proposed plan.

However the proposed local plan and recent amendments fall short of this by a significant margin. Guildford Borough Council outsourced the formulation of the Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) to GL Hearn. GL Hearn produced a SHMA that detailed key findings and figures, however the exact manner of how these figures were formulated and calculated were not disclosed. When relevant FOI requests were made to Guildford Borough Council on how these figures were calculated, the council responded that these calculations could not be disclosed due to commercial sensitivities. As a member of the public I have had to take on face value that the figures produced in the SHMA are accurate and are robust. This is not transparent governance and this is not fair to the public, we are being asked to consult on a local plan that we can not scrutinise in detail. The proposed housing target figure is a key bedrock to the rest of the local plan as it effects how much land in the borough needs to be set aside for development and not to be able to scrutinise this figure in detail means I have no confidence in this figure and the local plan as a whole.

As the exact nature on how the figures reported in the SHMAs are calculated and protected behind 'commercial sensitivity' clauses are they not able to be scrutinised by FOI requests. I recently asked Guildford borough council if they had fact checked or scrutinised the recent 2017 SHMA documents themselves. At first they misinterpreted my request and after a formal review of my FOI requested GBC responded (the first response is attached as a word document and the internal review response is added to the end of this submission as an appended email);

Extract from response;

"Planning Services have reviewed your comments of 26th June and respond as follows:

- Edge Analytics (demographic company) were commissioned to review both the Guildford SHMA and an earlier version of the West Surrey SHMA. This provided the Council with reassurance regarding the robustness of the methodology employed by GL Hearn in preparing subsequent iterations of the SHMA.
- The Council commissioned Edge Analytics to review the Guildford SHMA and Waverley Borough Council commissioned them to review an earlier version of the West Surrey SHMA. Both these reports were analysed by officers to validate the robustness of the findings and understand any concerns raised or recommendations for additional work.
- The Council does not possess a copy of the demographic model used to prepare the SHMA nor does the Council have an alternative model through which to run a comparative analysis of figures. The Council utilised a specialist company (Edge Analytics) to critically review the work. Both these reports by Edge Analytics were made available to you in the response on 26th June 2017."

Although not clear at first read through, the above (in parallel with the attached initial response from the council) is an admission by the council that GBC have not fact checked or scrutinised the figures in the recent local plan submission, provided to them by GL Hearn. Edge Analytics scrutinised the 2014 SHMA, not the 2015, 2016, 2017 SHMAs (or recent amendments)! After Edge analytics had reviewed the 2014 SHMA significant errors were still found within the 2014 SHMA data and it was publically believed to be not fit for purpose. How the council believes a flawed SHMA produced by GL Hearn can be robust in its methodology after a failed review process by Edge Analytics is beyond belief. If the 2014 SHMA was so wrong how on earth can the public have any confidence that GL Hearn can produce a reliable 2017 SHMA especially as it has not been reviewed by anyone within the council or contracted by the council!

This response from the council proves the Council has not conducted any recent reviews on the provided figures in the most recent proposed local plan with amended figures. Seeing as the calculations behind these figures are protected by 'commercial sensitivities' the public has to have confidence that the figures have been scrutinised to a reliable level, which in this case it has not. As the amended proposed housing target figure is such an important figure to the rest of the local plan this makes the whole proposed Local Plan unsound and as such the whole amended plan should be rejected.

We strongly object to policy's A46, A47 and A49 in the Draft Local Plan June 2016

1. Taylor Wimpey has been proposing this development for at least 3 years. Their early submissions proposed 600, then 700, then 1100 houses. This is entirely developer led and has no basis in empirical logic. Taylor Wimpey has funded all the reviews of flooding, transport and structural proposals and this lacks objectivity.
2. Safeguarded land according to NPPF should not be developed within the term of the plan in which it is allocated. Therefore this land even if it was safeguarded should remain undeveloped for a period of between 10-15yrs the term of the new plan.
3. The insetting of Normandy/Flexford (Removal from the Green Belt) is unlawful. The Green Belt is to stop urban sprawl, by insetting it allows urban sprawl.
4. The A46 site was proposed for safeguarding. It was not actually safeguarded. Safeguarding is a category of land for long term development and is available to the council should it be needed. Land has to be formerly safeguarded in a plan and as part of it. This was not the case and the land remains as sensitive green belt land.
5. There is no case in law which supports the argument that a school trumps green belt status. This is entirely objective on the part of planning policy.
6. The argument that Normandy/Flexford do not contribute to the openness of the green belt is incorrect. There is no foundation for this statement. It is entirely based on the need to inset the village.
7. Transport improvements are very vague and will be from developer profit. 3 Million has been earmarked to improve the Aldershot Road, Wanborough Hill and A31 access. This is way below what will be required and the road system is utterly unable to cope with this proposal.
8. A46 has been designated as not a flood risk. It is a flood plain as can be seen from the vegetation that grows there, willow trees, reeds, etc. and floods on a regular basis.
9. Boundaries under NPPF definition need to be examined. They need to be natural, permanent and defensible. The island boundary at Palm Nurseries is none of these.
10. The process is flawed and there is no adherence to NPPF legislative proposals.

Conclusion this is unlawful.

Any development on these plots would have a detrimental affect on habitats and wildlife that use these areas of land and in some cases could contribute to the national and local decline of a number of these species. This would be a great loss not only to all the residents who live in the Parish, but also visitors who come and enjoy the natural beauty of the countryside by walking, riding and cycling along many bridleways, public rights of way and permissive footpaths.

These are some of the wildlife recorded.

Hedgehog, Stoat, Weasel, Wood mouse, Field vole, Bank vole, Water vole, Dormouse, Badger, Fox, Roe deer, Rabbit, Barn owl, The red kite, Little owl, Tawny owl, Fieldfare, Redwing, Song thrush, Mistle thrush, Skylark, Linnet, Goldfinch, Reed bunting, Yellowhammer. Green woodpecker, Great spotted woodpecker, Nuthatch, Buzzard, Sparrowhawk, Grey heron, Common

Not forgetting the Stag beetle, Banded demoiselle damselfly, Beautiful demoiselle, damselfly.

It should be noted that the area mentioned A47 is an SNCI. The Flax Pond and stream at Little Flexford have records of Water voles (a very rare and protected species, and great crested newts also a European Protected Species.

would just like to stress how important it is that the land used for allotments is not disturbed whilst any development takes place.

After reading the Proposed Submission Local Plan I was surprised to see that allotments in general are not included in the description of blue and green infrastructure under Policy I4. Allotments meet the needs of relaxation, exercise, recreation, visual amenity, wildlife habitat and agriculture just as much, if not more, the parks, open spaces, private gardens, agricultural fields and woodland listed so should certainly be included.

To give you an example, last week I visited the allotments early in the morning only to find a hedgehog on my plot. This is the first hedgehog I have seen living wild during my 36 years. This illustrates the need to avoid disruption to the wildlife on the adjacent site.

It is also essential that the access to the lower end of the site, off Westway, remains the same as it currently is. The allotment land slopes sharply down to this access point and this is really the only suitable access point for most of the site by vehicle. It is regularly needed by tenants transporting heavy items, such as garden tools or plants, to their allotments and would be essential for an emergency services vehicle in the case of accident. A number of then tenants are elderly would struggle without the use of this access.

Allotments also contribute greatly to the local community, in an age where many people no longer interact with their neighbours they provide a way of meeting local people with shared interests. They encourage healthy eating and regular exercise as well improving mental health.
Looking at the size of the site for the proposed new homes I wouldn’t expect each of the 38 houses to have its own green outdoor space so the allotments would therefore be a benefit to new residents, both visually and as potential allotment tenants

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I am writing regarding Policy A21: Land at Westborough allotments, Guildford, part of the Proposed Submission Local Plan.

I support the policy to protect this open space and ensure it is in no way subject to any development.

In particular I would like to emphasise the importance that the lower vehicular access to the allotments, via Westway, is retained. The allotment site has a steep slope running from the Woodside Road entrance down to the West Way access point. This makes the Westway access point the only suitable entrance for the majority of tenants and any emergency services vehicles should an accident occur. A number of the allotment tenants are elderly and rely on this access to transport materials to their plot via car. If this access was altered there would be a real risk that medical attention would be severely delayed in an emergency and current and potential tenants would be put off keeping a plot.

I also believe the allotments should be included in the description of blue and green infrastructure under Policy I4. Allotments meet the needs of relaxation, exercise, recreation, visual amenity, wildlife habitat and agriculture just as much, if not more, the parks, open spaces, private gardens, agricultural fields and woodland listed so should certainly be included. I have only had my plot since April but have already seen a great deal of wildlife at the site, including seeing a hedgehog from just a couple of feet away, the first one I have seen living wild in my 36 years. I am already reasonably fit and healthy but in the four months I have had my plot I have been much more active and am eating a wider variety of fruits and vegetables. I live on Barrack Road and know a few of my neighbours, but there is not much of a community so it has been really nice to meet fellow plot holders at the allotments who share similar interests and feel part of a welcoming and supportive community.

I have been very impressed by the time many of the plot holders devote to supporting other tenants as well as running an educational programme for the neighbouring school. The current housing difficulties mean that many families cannot afford accommodation with access to their own outdoor space, therefore it is essential that spaces like allotments, where schools and families can actually interact with the land are retained. Looking at the site of the area next to the allotments where the proposed 38 homes are to be situated I would be surprised if there was room for a dedicated garden for each. The allotments will provide them with visually attractive surroundings and potentially an outdoor space if they were to apply for an allotment. The allotments are a very peaceful area and help to reduce traffic noise which is particularly welcome with the A3 being so close.

In summary the allotments should be recognised for contribution to the local infrastructure, both as a green space and as an essential part of the local community. The allotments have existed here since before the First World War and should not be affected by any type of development. They are a valuable resource and any alterations which do not preserve their current state would be a loss to future generations.

I am writing regarding Policy I4: Green and blue infrastructure.

I would like to suggest that allotments be specifically included in the list of green and blue infrastructure. Allotments meet the needs of relaxation, exercise, recreation, visual amenity, wildlife habitat and agriculture just as much, if not more, than the parks, open spaces, private gardens, agricultural fields and woodland listed so should certainly be included. I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that Send Hill I a single track country road and too narrow to provide sufficient access to the site or accommodate the potential new levels of traffic the proposed development would bring.

I object to the proposal in the local plan on the grounds that the proposed number of housing potentially could result in extra cars in Send Hill which is already suffering from congestion particularly at school run time.

I object to the proposal in local plan on the grounds that the 1963-8 Ordnance Survey maps of the proposed site mark it as "refuse and slag heap". It is therefore unsuitable for such a development on health reasons.

I object to the proposal in local plan on the grounds that the 1971 Ordnance Survey maps of proposed site mark as "refuse tip" prior to when proper licensing/registration was required. The date of the landfill works predates the 1999 EU Landfill Directive regulations. I therefore believe that there is a danger that any disturbance would be a heath hazard due to the unknown materials.

The local plan is not sound for 3 reasons:

13000 plus home in 20 year is too great a burden to be put on the local area.

The loss of green belt land is not acceptable. The whittling away of this land is a variance with a policy to maintain the green belt and as such is not in the best interests of the borough or the country

The transport infrastructure plan is vague in the extreme. There is no clarity about what will be done, only vague indications. This borough is already at crisis point with respect to transport and the provision of 13000 new homes at or close to the A3 will lead to severe congestion that will affect the ability to deliver on the commercial aspects of the plan. In short the plan is fatally flawed and will not work.

There is a presumption in the plan that this will improve the quality of life of the local population. Given that the plan will lead to local overcrowding, a lack of adequate health care or education provision, a dilution of local facilities (particularly for children) and most especially a complete breakdown in the transport infrastructure not only of the borough but the surrounding areas, this cannot happen.

The area will be blighted by this plan, and the likely increase in people desiring to locate businesses in the area will not happen, because those businesses will locate in areas with a working transport net and where they can attract the right staff.

If implemented this plan will condemn both the Borough and the county to being part of the greater London conurbation, and the individual character of the county and this town will be lost forever. Those proposing this should recognise the damage they are about to inflict on their local community.

I have already made comments which object to the local plan in various ways. I am advised that these will only register as objections if I use the word 'object' in them. Please be advised that all my comments indicate that I strongly object to the building of a large number of homes in the borough. I strongly object to the lack of a defined plan for infrastructure as it means that the consequences of the local plan are not addressed, and I strongly object to the lack of transparency in the evidence base for the local plan.

I have grave concerns about policy "A26 Blackwell Farm" and the infrastructure plans for primary vehicular access via a signalised junction of the A31 and Down Place. The A31 is blighted by several miles of tail-backs during rush-hour where it feeds on to the A3. Living on the Hogs Back it can take over 30mins to access the A3 or Guildford centre. Without first addressing the problems of the A31 access to the A3, creating a controlled junction as traffic filters down into Guildford centre will further exacerbate congestion.

I read in the policy documents that further housing development will be considered once problems with the A3 have been eased. Will not a proportion of traffic from the proposed 1800 new homes be also using the A3. As a daily user of the A3 through I feel it is the area's biggest problem. The council must address the issue of traffic flow onto and along the A3 through Guildford before allowing more development.

Objection to the destruction of Normandy and Flexford

To whom it may concern

Please find attached a letter that I have submitted in response to the proposal of GBC building in the green belt area of Normandy and Flexford. As stated in this letter, after investigation there is no exceptional need for these houses or a new school in our village. I ask that you advocate on behalf of our residents, so our community is not ruined by local developers driven by their own personal needs and not that of our community.

Dear Councillors

I am responding to the proposal of Guildford Borough Council (GBC) building on the green belt area in Normandy and Flexford, area 46 (A46). I strongly object to the plans for development of 1100 new houses and a new secondary school in this area. I will highlight the reasons I am against these proposed plans to build, and the negative impact they will have on the community, infrastructure, environment, and public health of the villagers.

The Community

Many residents who live in the proposed development site in Normandy and Flexford are middle age, or senior citizens. Most have lived in this area all of there lives or those who have moved into this area have done so because they chose to be within a small population and uncrowded area. People in my community have opted to live without traffic and noise of towns, and have chosen to have a rural, quiet, quality of life. This being a greenfield site and classed as an area of outstanding beauty (AONB) is part of the attraction in which people came to live this urban area in the first place. The safeguards to upkeep British countryside and uphold protecting village communities was part of the government's promise. Normandy and Flexford have being classed as a high sensitivity area as noted in 2014 draft local plan. David Cameroon also stated regarding such areas, "the government will protect green fields, and consult local residents in planning of green belt areas".However despite this statement, the community have not been informed or made aware that our community has been downgraded to a new strategic site for development approved by GBC.

This May, by chance, residents heard second hand that the development of Taylor Wimpey for 1100 houses and secondary school was being considered, and on the 6th June, shockingly the GBC approved this draft plan with a six week consultation period.

The fore mention population, myself and family included are stunned and angry at this action and feel there is neither a need or requirement for new houses or a new secondary school in a community with mainly retired or senior aged residents.

Government states that new schools are built when there is an exceptional need and pupils are in 95% capacity, but local schools in Normandy area are under subscribed( one school max 60% capacity). As stated in the Provision for Education in Surrey annual report in December 2015, no new schools were needed in the area and were not included in the recent 10 year plan. So why is a new secondary school planned with no exceptional need? This developer driven school appears to be an unnecessary waste of open space and a way of justifying building of the non-required 1100 houses. Destroying precious rural land when the government has stated that brownfield sites would be used before damaging greenfield sites appears to be happening in the case of A46.

The Infrastructure and Environment

The Oxford dictionary's definition of a lane is "A narrow road especially in a rural area". A narrow road or a lane has limited structure for regular heavy traffic such as Westwood lane and Glaziers lane. Westwood lane has a low bridge connected to Wanborough railway station, and driving under it is narrow, with only space for one vehicle at a time to pass through. How would traffic for the school run a and associated traffic cope on a road design for rural traffic.

Many local residents like myself and husband, enjoy a place to walk, cycle and horse ride in safe environment, this obviously will not be the case. In the last 20 years the traffic has increased on Westwood lane and Glaziers lane, There are frequent accidents on the junction of Green lane East and Westwood Lane, and locals have noticed the increase of speeding traffic. We do not have lighting on our roads to accommodate a school, and to improve visibility for safer roads, in doing so, would illuminate many of the residential homes. However in permitting more lit areas, it will reduce the privacy in current homes opposite proposed site areas.

I have also seen traffic backed up for hours on the Hog's Back trying to exit the top of Westwood lane and also to enter it. If more houses were built, the increase movement of traffic will not only be less safer for pedestrians, it will be detrimental to the quality of roads and also increase the need for road works and resurfacing improvements. At the moment with heavy rain in the village, the roads flood, driving can be precarious, and drainage is difficult. With an increase of people in the proposed new 1100 new houses, the roads would not be able to cope. The noise would greatly increase, and air pollution have an negative effect on people, animals and wildlife.

If new residents from the proposed new houses with children move to our area, they will find limited facilities, no stores, shops. If families decide to use our small village local train station in Wanborough, the schedule is infrequent and limited. Extra cars parking here would increase congestion at this site, as there are few parking spaces in the small cul-de-sac opposite the station. A drive to shops in local village of Ash Vale or Guildford would also increase the burden of traffic on the roads.

As I said, Normandy is a rural village, with limited infrastructure, our small country doctors practice which is already over stretched with current residents will be oversubscribed if it was to include people in the new proposed 1100 houses. Normandy as stated before is a AONB, it has several deer, rabbits, badgers, and various wildlife. Due to the peaceful surroundings, it also attracts birds, bats and snakes. There is a diverse selection of flora and fauna. If the new houses and school are developed in this area the traffic increases on the two lanes (Westwood and Glaziers) in A46 will have a detrimental effect on enticing and retaining wildlife into the area.

Public Health

As mentioned before the Increased of air pollution will have an negative an effect both humans and animals, as will the additional of increase noise.

As a resident of 20 years in Normandy and living on this proposed development site, I feel vulnerable and intimidated by the thought of "bully boy approach" of GBC approving of development on land that was never intended be built on. Promises to consult residents have not been adhered to, and the well being and input of current home owners have not been considered.

Please do not allow destructive opportunistic development in the guise of needs of local people go ahead. Forward thinking planners of GBC and developers would be better off engaging with the community so they can gain a realistic awareness of the lack demand for implementing A46.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
2. I cannot understand why the developer has included the provision of a new secondary school. No evidence of need for school places in this location has been provided and the local County Councillor has discovered that there is spare capacity at existing schools. The argument therefore seems very cynical and creates a circular argument - we need the school so we need the houses and vice versa.

3. Although there is a train station adjacent to the site the transport infrastructure is inadequate for the traffic which will be generated by the construction phase and once complete. The Aldershot road and access up Wanborough hill to the A31 (Hogs Back) are routes which are already congested in peak hours and any additional traffic will cause significant problems.

4. The increased population from this development would add to the pressure on local wildlife. Domestic cats are already a problem for the local bird population along with the disturbance of dogs being exercised on the Ash Ranges area. The small areas provided in the development will be inadequate for the numbers pets which will be resident in the proposed development. I believe the area I referred to as Ash Ranges is technically the Thames Basin Special Protection Area.

I hope that GBC will now remove this site from the draft local plan. There are better sites within Surrey for this type of development although developers probably make good returns from this type of site.

I do not consider the sites and strategy is sound. I do not believe Guildford and the surrounding villages need any more loss of green field sites, in fact I would argue that some of the existing developments should never have happened. In my view Fairlands estate should not have been built, because it has created a seemingly overwhelming need amongst planners to infill the green space between Fairlands and the rest of Guildford with more development. This pattern has happened around the large sainsburys at burpham, and is happening around the royal surrey hospital/university. What starts as a remote development gets infilled and the conurbation expands. We have to decide on a point where we say Guildford is big enough, I believe we have already passed that point. You only have to try driving around Guildford at rush hour to realize that. Unfortunately I don't foresee us bulldozing large areas of housing and returning it to countryside. I like the semi rural nature of the villages surrounding Guildford I don't want them made bigger and eventually absorbed into one big town. I believe the Green belt should be kept and adhered to.

Another aspect of the strategy I don't agree with is the inclusion of traveller pitches alongside virtually every development. I object for the following reasons. Site A29 is too vast and is too numerous in individual fields to be designated as a single site with no detail as to housing allocation and most is more aesthetically pleasing than areas already protected. Given the amount of information in the plan as a whole, is way too much for the general public to take in and understand in 6 weeks, the lack of thought and consideration for such a radical change to what is a semi rural area is disgraceful. When consideration is given to development already passed this will add over 2000 houses to an area already stretched for health provision and suffering gridlock at peak times, the bridge replacing the level crossing may not even happen, according to the representative at the drop in presentation, unless all the sites in the area are developed. The 1000+ houses and school in normandy can only make it worse. Since there is zero provision for additional industry and commerce as well as retail the plan actually promotes commuter and shopping journeys which seems ridiculous. The premise for the plan is that Guildford needs more housing yet this plan puts the bulk of that housing as far away from the town centre as possible. A more honest statement would be London needs another commutable suburb. To the North of Ash Green Road is actually Ash Green as proven by the map in use, this should therefore have been included in the Ash Green map and the green buffer clearly shown. The provision of additional/replacement green belt means little when its development can be assigned.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

The changes to the plan have created even more contradictions to what it hopes to achieve and what it proposes. It says that it proposes to reduce the need to travel and energy consumption and then increases the number of sites in policy A29 and the number of homes allocated to 1750+ in an area where there is insufficient wealth creation at the very edge of the borough to employ the existing population let alone these proposed new residents, thereby creating even more commuter journeys. Ash and Tongham is being considered as a town when by definition they are not since a town is a place where people not only live but also work which is patently, not the case. Ash, Tongham, Ash Vale and Ash Green should still be afforded their individual identities and would have had, if the green buffer area which is now so important between Ash, Tongham and Aldershot, had been applied to them in the recent past. The green,Tranquil buffer (4.3.34) actually sits aside 4 lanes of fast moving traffic (except at peak times when the traffic is anything but).

The increase in the number of sites in policy A29 added to A28 means an increase of new homes in excess of 1800 new homes, all on green field sites in villages already known to be the second largest urban conurbation in Guildford borough. This increase is only surpassed by the proposed Wisley allocation of 2000. It does appear that other villages within the borough are not having to give up so much of their pleasant environment as Ash, Tongham and surrounds have done in the past and now again in this ammended plan, not that I have any wish to see this "chase for growth and push the debt on the next generation" attitude inflicted on anybody else.

The site allocation of policy A29 now includes areas of Ash Green to the north, south and east of Ash Green road and South of Foreman Road which the plan purports to protect without any consideration for a green buffer apparently so important elsewhere.

The amended plan purports to protect sites of historic interest yet policy A29 is in direct conflict with this given its impact on Ash Manor.
The admission that the local infrastructure doesn't meet the needs of many of its residents and is considered poor by many (para 4.6.1) will not be addressed by infrastructure improvements for only those in these new developments (policy Id1). Thereby diminishing further the living standards of the existing residents due to the blight of new development as admitted in policy Id1.

The site apportioned in policy A29 for the new road bridge to relieve congestion caused by the Ash station level crossing has been deleted and is not identified elsewhere which suggests no priority for such an important infrastructure necessity now, regardless of future development.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

• I object to the plan on the grounds that it is based on unsound and questionable evidence in several areas:
  ◦ The Strategic Housing Market Assessment 2015 (SHMA) uses an estimate of number of houses needed to population growth which overstates the number of houses needed. Further, a larger proportion of any house building can be set on brownfield sites.

Guildford Borough Council's own Transport Assessment was not even available when the councillors voted on the Plan on 24 May - it was published on 6 June.

I object to the overall impact upon Send on the grounds that the local infrastructure impact will be massively detrimental, and would strain its capabilities and capacity to beyond breaking point. The main road through Send (A247) is already overloaded for considerable durations during morning and evening rush hours: there is extremely limited capacity for additional volume. The area is already highly prone to flooding - significant loss of open land (to tarmac, concrete and buildings) and of trees will exacerbate the flooding risk and occurrences. There are specific infrastructure impact implications which are covered in the individual points below.

• I object to Policy A43 which covers 30ha of land at Garlick's Arch, Burnt Common on multiple grounds:
  ◦ Again, this site is a new entry in the Plan and was NOT included in the Regulation 18 draft or previous consultations.
  ◦ There is no need for an additional 400 houses on top of the 13,860 already proposed for the borough.
  ◦ The proposed industrial development of 7000 sq m is not required: the latest Employment Land Needs Assessment 2015 (ELNA) shows an 80% reduction in required employment floor space from the previous draft plan. If such space should indeed be required, it should be located at sites already serving this purpose, such as Slyfield.

The site contains ancient woodland, an already too rare occurrence in these environs for which the loss would be significant.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
• I object to Policy A44 which covers development on land west of Winds Ridge and Send Hill on several grounds:
  ◦ This site is a new entry in the Plan and was NOT included in the Regulation 18 draft or previous consultations.
  ◦ A significant part of the site has documented unsafe historical landfill waste on which the impact of building is unknown and could easily be detrimental to the health of new and existing residents.
  ◦ Send Hill is unsuited to a traffic increase, especially for large vehicles such as associated with Travellers Pitches. The portion leading from the Send cemetery to Potters Lane is single track and both winding (so poor advance visibility) and steep. There would a dramatic increase in vehicles meeting other vehicles headed in the other direction with no easy or safe place to pass each other. Significant incidents of the 'road rage' type would likely occur.

The junction of Send Hill with Potters Lane is already dangerous and an accident black-spot. We have personal experience of this: turning right out of Send Hill has a high risk of moving into the path of vehicles travelling south along Potters Lane, as they cannot be seen until the right turn procedure is already committed.

Overall, I object to the way in which Guildford Borough Council have not followed the correct process in creating the draft local plan. Major changes (such as a major new road junction on the A3, and an increase in proposed house building from 185 to 485) require full consultation under Regulation 18; in contrast, GBC have attempted to hide these changes within Regulation 19.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I live in Send Marsh and the proposed local plan will directly affect the quality of life in this area. In my particular area, Manor Road, we have already been subjected to so-called developers who purchased a large field behind us from the company CEMEX and as part of an apparent land-bank scheme sold 20+ plots to people who may or may not have realised that the land was Green Belt. The result of that of course was that the land is no longer managed (as it had been previously by a local farmer) and it is just a mass of very long grass, dandelions, buttercups and rag wort. Despite the attempts of the developer and the new owners of plots to frustrate the residents of Manor Road and others who live adjacent to the field, we managed to secure a prescriptive right around the perimeter of the field for the use of the local community, dog walkers etc. The developer was promising a grand residential estate – on Green Belt, with no sewage, road facilities or other infrastructure – and of course because of the current law there is no planning permission to build on the field. This field is included in the local plan. I OBJECT to the inclusion of this field in the local plan as an area of potential development.
because it will fly in the face of the current law protecting the Green Belt (which the current government pledged to protect); it would create untold traffic chaos for Send Marsh Road and the roads around Send Marsh Green; building the infrastructure and facilities needed to provide for further homes would cause extensive disruption and damage to local amenities such that life here would become intolerable.

In relation to the local plan overall:

1. I OBJECT to the removal of Send Village from the green belt. As I understand it the the Green Belt was intended to be permanent (National Planning Policy Framework) unless there are special circumstances in a particular area to deviate from that principle. There are no special circumstances justifying ripping up the Green Belt around Send. Send has an ancient history; it is in the Domesday Book and should be entitled to protection from the destruction of its village character. Why do people choose to live in Send, Send Marsh, Ripley, Clandon and other similar villages in Surrey? It is because of the quality of life afforded by the beauty and tranquillity of the Green Belt, which if built upon and built upon will be lost forever. We have a duty to protect it for future generations. Local government and central government have a duty to protect the Green Belt and honour their election promises. Removing Send from the Green Belt, and indeed Ripley and Clandon, would inevitably lead to the creation of a large conurbation linking these villages directly, in physical terms, to Guildford and Woking and thus destroying the villages in the process.

1. I OBJECT to the proposed building of 45 houses at Clockbarn Nursery because there is inadequate access and traffic volume would increase to an unmanageable level. Tannery Lane is a narrow and twisty country road and could not accommodate a large increase in traffic. The junction with the main road is hazardous and would become more so with increased traffic. The recent planning go-ahead for apartments at the Tannery and the marina by the Wey Navigation will already create added traffic volume. Allowing more development will multiply that to a level with which the area could not cope.

1. I OBJECT to building 400 houses and 7000 square metres of industrial space at Garlick’s Arch opposite Send Marsh Road. Slyfield is already an industrial site and could easily accommodate the further space proposed. I am not persuaded that sufficient consideration has been given to brownfield sites for any further development. Garlick’s Arch is covered in ancient woodland, which would suffer as a result of development. Send Marsh Road is already a busy road, particularly in school term time as it is effectively a rat run which becomes gridlocked in the mornings. This proposal in the Local Plan will exacerbate the traffic problem to an unacceptable level. Algorithms and mathematical equations used to predict housing needs in the future are all very well, but predictions may or may not come true. Nobody except the consultants who did the calculations know the methodology used to arrive at their prediction. What exact considerations did they take into account? For example, what about Brexit? Everyone predicted the UK would remain in the EU but the opposite happened. Now that we have embarked on this disastrous road to Brexit what of the European companies based in Guildford, for example. Are they going to remain? Are European students still going to flock to Surrey University? Major Tim Peake, the British astronaut, recently expressed serious concern about the future of science in the UK after Brexit. Surrey University is a leading university in science and technology, particularly space science. If science declines, if foreign investment declines and companies leave the UK and foreign students no longer come to Surrey to study surely the housing and employment needs will be greatly reduced.

1. I OBJECT to the development of 40 houses and 2 travellers’ pitches at Send Hill. The narrow country road is inadequate for access. I understand the site contains unsafe landfill waste. Further it is a valued local amenity area which further development will spoil.

1. I OBJECT to a new interchange with the A3 at Burnt Common. This proposal by definition would mean that Send would become the traffic conduit to and from the A3, the M25, Guildford and Woking. Send Road, already bearing heavy traffic at peak times would become gridlocked. And if proposals for 2000 homes at Wisley Airfield, 2000 homes at Burpham and 1850 at Blackwell Farm were to get the go-ahead the problems of traffic, noise pollution and air pollution would be increased to wholly unacceptable levels.
To conclude: My objections are not based on NIMBYism but on genuine concern for the rural heritage of this area. There are things, even in this so-called modern world, worth preserving and the Green Belt is right at the top of the list. Destroying the Green Belt by allowing this Local Plan to go forward with its current proposals for development would, in my view, be a wholly retrograde step, which once carried out, would be irreversible. Surely development for future housing and employment needs can be achieved without the wholesale destruction of the Green Belt surrounding the Surrey villages of Guildford Borough.

Green Belt, Policy 2 at paragraph 4.3.15

Send Business Park now taken out of the Green Belt altogether

I object to the proposal to inset Send Business Park from the Green Belt because:

- It is a historic, time evolved development in an area of natural countryside adjacent to the beautiful Wey Navigation. A beautiful area demonstrating the past growth of Send.
- The access road from either Send or Ripley/Send Marsh is completely unsuitable for a higher volume of traffic. (Single track)
- The existing development blends with the nature of the Green Belt.

Land at Burnt Common, London Road, Policy A58.

Now a new allocation for a minimum of 7,000 sq m of industrial or warehousing

I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common because:

- The word "minimum" is a change from the previous "maximum" in the 2016 plan this gives no restriction to the overall size of the site whereas surely the purpose of the plan is to define the extent.
• There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt.
• The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock. The existing road (B2215) is already daily blocked by lorries using the site. The additional traffic will further block the surrounding single track and other surrounding minor roads. The existing A247 and B2215 roundabout already causes gridlock at peak times.
• The current Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand not an excessively oversized destroying the Green Belt.

I am very concerned about the proposed development in Normandy. Firstly, at present there is no need for another secondary school in the area. Both the nearest schools, Ash Manor and King’s College, are not oversubscribed so the only necessity to build a new school would be to accommodate the potential residents of the new undesired development.

This highlights the fact that this is a developer led campaign whose plans to build the school is what has been described as the ‘trump card’ when it comes to pushing developments through planning. It is a cause for concern that the planning policy is being dominated by a developer who does not have to take responsibility for the aftermath of this project. Their prime considerations will always be the profits such a scheme will generate with little thought of any other factors.

A further concern is how the roads of the area will cope. I accept that there is a station in the locality but even now many people choose to drive into Guildford rather than catch the train. At present it takes me an average time of 25 minutes to reach the school where I work despite it only being 3.5 miles away. By 7.45 both the A3 and the A31 are at a standstill and remain that way until beyond 9 o’clock. The Aldershot road is also snarled up at this time. The roads in this area cannot withstand the traffic that will be generated by this development.

Additionally, it can be assumed that many of the potential households will own dogs. The exercise of so many more pets will put intolerable pressure on the wildlife of the Thames Basin which harbours many rare species as well as the remaining green belt areas in Normandy.

Furthermore, this land is good agricultural land that is currently being used for crops and livestock which begs the question why it has been designated as an exceptional circumstance for removing from the green belt protection. Not only that but this land is waterlogged throughout most of the year and I cannot imagine that the existing drainage will cope with any impact this development will bring.

I hope you will take all these concerns into consideration.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
1. I do not believe this section to be legally compliant without consideration of the impact of the A3 widening and all additional infrastructure implied. This plan is essentially incomplete and does not include all the mitigations required in the form of additional roads or their impact. Also
   ◦ The plan does not include any analysis of how the junction with the A31 is to be designed, what that impact of signalising will be in terms of backing traffic up onto the A3.
   ◦ The plan requires that a link road is made between the A31 and Egerton road, which will be essential to relieve load on the A31 junction and provide alternative access to Guildford centre, the hospital and services, but provides no plan for how to do this and no analysis of whether this can be made sufficient to mitigate traffic impacts
2. I do not believe this section to be sound
   ◦ I object to such a large development (1800 homes) encroaching into countryside and destroying rural views from the Hogs Back Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB). To maintain the character of an AONB it is not sufficient simply to avoid development on the site itself. What makes it an AONB are the uninterrupted views both north and south.
   ◦ I object to this plan for Blackwell Farm being proposed separately to the A3 widening scheme. The viability of the plan depends upon sufficient A3 capacity being delivered and the whole environmental and traffic impact must be considered together. It must be very likely that the A3 widening is not built, or is only built after many years or in a different way to that envisaged. The Guildford Borough Transport Strategy 2016 acknowledges that the topography is very challenging
   ◦ However I also object to the widening of the A3 that is implied and required by the Blackwell Farm development. The noise levels and pollution from the current A3 are already very substantial for residents of Onslow Village. Much of the Arboretum is spoilt by the level of existing noise. The New Local Plan contains no details on how to mitigate the additional noise and pollution caused by widening and is not sound in this respect
   ◦ I object to the plan for adding a signalised junction serving the Blackwell Farm development on the A31. The location of this junction will cause traffic to back up on to the A3 and therefore cause tailbacks all through Guildford southbound, which are already very large. The A31 slip road from the A3 can only be enlarged by rebuilding the bridge over the A3 which is not part of this plan. Therefore the plan does not manage the impact of this junction.
   ◦ The location of the new A31 junction does not appear to allow traffic easily to turn right southbound. There is no coherent plan for this junction
   ◦ I object to the likely impact of the Blackwell Farm development in encouraging rat-running through Onslow Village, which is already highly congested in rush hour due to this practise. The A3 congestion caused is likely to cause people to seek alternative routes to the A31 and that means going through the Village.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I do not believe this section to be legally compliant as it does not take into account the widening of the A3 which is required to make it viable.

I do not think this part of the plan is sound as

- the impact of the loss of views from the Hog's back is not assessed, in that this damages its character as an AONB
- it will generate additional need for transport capacity that is cannot meet
- it requires a link to be established between the A31 and Egerton Road but does not give any details as to how this can be achieved
- the new A31 junction design will cause traffic to back up to the A3 and traffic to be displaced into Onslow Village. Signalisation will cause significant delays to traffic
- additional traffic generated by 1800 homes will put a major strain on a single point of exit
- location of the junction does not make sense in terms of the local topography for westbound traffic to enter the new development
- no contingency for the A3 widening not being completed is made
- no impact assessment for the A3 widening is included

In general terms:

1. I object to such a large development (1800 homes) encroaching into countryside and destroying rural views from the Hogs Back Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB). To maintain the character of an AONB it is not sufficient simply to avoid development on the site itself. What makes it an AONB are the uninterrupted views both north and south.

The plan is not sound as it does not consider the full impact on residents of Onslow Village of the combination of the Blackwell Farm development and the A3 widening.

It is also not sound as it does not consider the impact of the Blackwell farm development on the character of the Hog's Back Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty. It is also not sound because it makes insufficient, inadequate and inappropriate provision for traffic and will worsen the A3 issues identified in the Guildford Borough Transport Strategy 2016.

I object to the removal of Horsley from the green belt as this will be detrimental to residents' quality of life. Open spaces are important for health and well being. It is unacceptable for our villages to become part of the urban sprawl.

I object to the plan due to the lack of infrastructure in this area. Our schools are already over subscribed, the medical centre does not appear to have any more capacity (rooms for medical staff, parking etc) and our roads are already inadequate - they are narrow in places, with poor drainage and poor surfaces. The traffic is also heavy at peak times. The area already floods at times and more development will just make that worse.

I object to and disagree with the numbers of houses needed. I believe the approval of sensible very small scale developments and renovation of existing unused properties would be adequate for the needs of the village.

I believe the plans to build over 1000 houses and a school in such a small village is far too ambitious for such a small community. The key reasons are that the land in question is largely in the green belt (a precious commodity that must be guarded), the surrounding roads and village infrastructure cannot possibly support such major growth in our village, and there would be a significant and very sudden change to the nature of Normandy and Flexford. I am not against development, and those small housing developments which have taken place in the nearly 30 years we have lived here have been delivered effectively and without a major jarring impact on either community or infrastructures. Building on land that has come available - to fill in when a pub has closed, or a small church has been taken down, or after the rebuild of the village hall - have meant that probably in the region of 40 new homes have been added and welcomed into our community. However, this level of development will fundamentally change our home, and will completely overwhelm our roads, our surgery, our churches and change a tranquil rural neighbourhood into a bustling suburban space. It is insensitive and unnecessary.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I have seen the recent plans for expansion of housing in East Horsley and surrounding areas, and have serious objections over the proposed plans. I struggle to accept that all the proposed areas in this draft plan would not severely negatively impact our village, its community and facilities.

I moved into this area because I wished to move into a village community. I do not wish for it to now become a town. The local amenities are only just enough to support the current village community - I have deep concerns about the lack of amenities being proposed to support such a large increase in housing, being schools, roads, drainage, trains, parking, to name a few. Even if these were to be improved to cater for a larger population, it will change the whole essence of living the village.

The land adjacent to my house (Weston Lea, area 1275) is currently used by our children's primary school, The Raleigh, for sports. Are we to assume the facilities for the local primary school are to be decreased to make way for more housing?! I would have thought it wiser to try to increase the school facilities, not the opposite!

In addition, I believe the land is currently left free to allow itself for being used as a flood plain. If housing is allowed in this area, I would need confirmation that any flood damage would be insured for and compensated for by the council, if it in any way impacted my house.

In summary I object to the following key issues:

1) Schooling - the current primary school is already over subscribed - I cannot see sufficient measures to support the increase in number of children that will need schooling in this area. This is also true of secondary schools - the Howard of Effingham School is also at capacity.

2) Flood risk - the flooding and surface water levels in this area are already of serious concern, and more housing will obviously seriously exacerbate this problem. I do not see sufficient measures are being proposed to address this.

3) Medical Facilities - again, already at capacity for this village - what measures are being taken to increase this facility?

4) Transport, roads, parking - the train service from Horsley would need to vastly improve, longer trains, more frequent trains, more parking for commuters. With a possible 6000 additional cars frequenting the local roads, the impact on roads and parking will be tremendous. The parking for the local shops, medial centre, & village hall will be over stretched. The roads are already in such poor condition that the increase in traffic will only make this worse. It looks from the plans in the SCC report that "further thought may be required to managing traffic" - this is an absolute necessity, not an afterthought!

I hope you can consider these objections, and come to the logical conclusion that this Draft Plan is insufficiently prepared, and cannot realistically be condoned, as it will have a huge negative impact on the local area in both short and longer term.

Objections to Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016)

I object very strongly to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016).

I wish to register strong objection to this proposed submission Local Plan primarily because it removes the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, together with sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43). Removing the protection of the Green Belt is likely to result in unnecessary urban sprawl between Woking and Guildford. I believe there are no special circumstances which justify these villages being removed from the Green Belt.

I also object to the Local Plan because I believe that the proposed additional 13,860 new houses is not sustainable. The local communities of Ripley, Send and Clandon don’t need these houses and the Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) sites have no infrastructure, no railway stations and inadequate bus services. This development would result in large numbers of extra cars and car journeys in these areas. This, coupled with the narrow rural roads and no pavements is likely to make the lives of many local residents a misery.

I object to the development at Garlick’s Arch which would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have operated successfully there for some considerable time employing local people.

The proposed Local Plan lacks provision for satisfactory improvements to infrastructure for the sites (Policy 11). Local services and utilities are already near to, or at, capacity and there is no provision to improve Clinics and other key public services to cope with the huge increase in houses.

I object to the Local Plan because of the substantial increase in traffic that is likely on the trunk roads i.e. A3/M25. I understand that Highways England have no plans to even start to consider improving the A3 before 2020.

For these reasons, I believe that the developments at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), should not take place.

I'm commenting from outside the immediate area affected by the Local Plan because I feel strongly that these proposed developments will not only result in considerably increased overcrowding of the commuter services into London, which are already close to capacity during peak hours, but also to the loss of quality open areas, with public access, in this part of Surrey.

I wish these objections to be fully taken into consideration and urge you to amend the Local Plan accordingly.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I wish to object in the strongest possible terms to planning site allocation A46. The reasons for my objection to this specific allocation are that I know this site well as I live in very close proximity to it and the arguments put forward to the development by Guildford Borough Council are erroneous. I am sure that you will have received a good number of objections to this application, as the grounds for the application are erroneous in many ways, but I wish to add my comments that the application is absolutely wrong in stating that an additional school is required in the area. I am involved in local education (albeit at higher level, but I am knowledgeable with regard to secondary education) and I know for a fact that local schools are currently facing an UNDERSUBSCRIPTION for several years into the future. An additional school in the area of application A46 is absolutely not required.

I also wish to object most strongly on the grounds of sustainability and sensitivity. I am aware that Guildford Borough Council is currently supporting work at the University of Surrey's Centre for Environmental Strategy (CES) (which is an internationally acclaimed centre of excellence in sustainable development) and that this proposal (Application A46) is in direct conflict with the findings, so far, of this work. To precis a substantial volume of work (by professionals who are much more capable than I) in sustainable, energy/social/transport development, the development needs to grow organically, not be developed by the plans of a developer (which A46 is clearly is).

I understand and support the need for development of affordable housing, to support the needs of a developing Guildford. However, Guildford Borough Council is, in Application A46, proposing an unsustainable encroachment on the green belt, driven by an ill-considered plan by a developer. Guildford Borough Council, by proposing Application A46, is losing the opportunity to develop a sustainable and sensitive development that could benefit the local community and deliver a good number of affordable houses if planned sensitively and in keeping with the local environment and geography (which is subject to flooding).

There are several other factors which render this Application inadmissible, including that it fails to meet the National Planning Policy Framework, it is a threat to the Thames Basin Heath Special Protection Area and the local traffic infrastructure cannot cope with the current traffic density. The latter point is a current issue of contention in that traffic through Normandy is already taxing the capacity of the road infrastructure. The proposed application A46, proposing 1100 new homes, will completely overwhelm the road system, which CANNOT be improved due to the critical limitations of the bridges on Westwood Lane (road goes under railway) and Glaziers Lane (road goes over railway). A consideration of funding for improving these bridges has been included in Application A46, but this is woefully and very considerably inadequate. As a professional engineer I am conversant with the cost of bridge improvement and I know that the value considered for such improvement in Application A46 is only a tiny fraction of the sum that would be needed to enhance the throughput of either/both of these bridges.

In short, the proposal in Application A46 is not sustainable, goes against the requirements of sensitivity and cannot be cost effective. If actioned it will degrade the lives of current inhabitants of Normandy and will create poor living conditions for any eventual residents of the development. It will degrade the green belt, which will never be able to be recovered. It goes against the findings of world class research currently funded by Guildford Borough Council at the University of Surrey. I object most strongly to this development.

Prof Bryn James

Objections to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Local Plan (June 2016) and to the continued inclusion in the plan of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA), now known as Three Farms Meadows (TFM) – Allocation A35 - for the phased development of a new settlement of up to 2100 dwellings

I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

- I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored. I urge the council to look more imaginatively at use of brownfield land. For example, much land currently used as retail is likely to become vacant in the years to come.
- I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.
- I object to the building of any homes in this Green Belt area which has a lovely rural character. I live in the London/Surrey borders and often come out here walking. I am a keen birdwatcher and nearby Ockham heath has valuable, protected wildlife such as nightjars. I have been on evening walks on Ockham heath to see nightjars with the Surrey Wildlife Trust. A forward-thinking council would be working with Surrey Wildlife Trust not just to protect surroundings areas from development, but to expand Ockham heath and turn the ‘airfield’ back to heathland as it once was. Already a huge amount of this internationally valuable habitat for wildlife has been lost. An estimated 80% of all the UK's lowland heathland has been destroyed (source: RSPB). This is valuable for wildlife but walking in this lovely area also improves my quality of life, physically and mentally. Surrey needs to protect its countryside as an asset not build new homes in completely inappropriate places. I am also a regular visitor to the Black Swan as our cherished country pub. With this development it would be a ‘country pub’ no longer.
- I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans.
- I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).
- I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs. It is wholly inappropriate, thought up by a faceless developer who I understand is acting through a Cayman Islands company, removed from public scrutiny. The developer should be ashamed of this way of acting, hiding from the public, which shows that pure profit is their motive. It is greed and the pursuit of short-term profit. If this development is permitted we will only realise the damage that has done after it is too late and the special rural character of this part of Surrey (just about clinging on after the A3 and M25 have been driven through) has been destroyed.
- I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:
  1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. This is simply not credible. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars.
2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads. This has pollution and climate change impacts. Surely the council has a duty to site major new developments in areas served by public transport?

3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements

4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them)

5. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity.

- I object strongly to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCl). An estimated 80% of all the UK's lowland heathland has been lost (source: RSPB). Surrey has much of what remains. Ockham/Wisley heaths have already been cut in two by the A3 and M25. It would be extraordinarily destructive to build a huge new housing development next to what remains. The council should be working to enhance what is left. A forward-thinking council would be working with Surrey Wildlife Trust to convert the old airfield back to heathland as it once was.

- I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

- I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

- I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, - now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.

Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

In summary, it is wholly inappropriate to build this size of development on this greenfield, green belt site. I am surprised that this site remains in the strategic plan. To an outsider, it appears to be yet another case of a greedy developer (in this case acting through a Cayman Islands company away from public scrutiny and through cowardly anonymity) bending a council’s ear to persuade the council that short-term financial gain should be placed ahead of a sensible, sustainable future for this area that will preserve its character and enhance the life of residents and regular visitors such as myself. I urge the council not just to remove this site but to work with organisations such as Surrey Wildlife Trust and the RSPB to prevent more damage to Surrey heathland and work to restore what has already been destroyed.

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

As a Surrey resident keen to protect the rural character of a dwindling portion of our county, I am dismayed that the council is proposing to support development in so many Green Belt areas and on sites that are wholly inappropriate for large housing developments. The Green Belt and countryside study seems to take as a fait accompli that much of the green belt should be built on without proper consideration of alternatives. In my view, and I attach much of the blame for this not to the council but to unscrupulous developers using dubious tactics in the pursuit of financial gain (such as the use of Caymans Island companies - Wisley airfield) the council has failed properly to consider how brownfield sites could be developed. It has failed to look ahead and realise that many out of town shopping centres will close in coming years as people continue to do more shopping online. It has failed to realise that the rural character of areas like Ripley, Send and Ockham are an asset to the county that will be destroyed by the developments it appears to be prepared to sanction. The council has failed also to take account of its responsibilities to protect wildlife. Surrey has a large proportion of the UK's remaining lowland heathland, 80% of which has already been lost. The council should be working to preserve this, not destroy it. Yet I see little consideration of this in the documents I have seen. This plan does not present a vision of a sustainable future that will preserve the quality of life of Surrey residents.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

No, I do not consider the plan to be sound. It appears to be a statement of desperation to meet wholly unrealistic imposed from central government that are wholly unsuited to the Guildford area. I am a Surrey resident who is a frequent visitor for leisure and recreational purposes to many of the areas that will be affected by this plan I walk on Ockham and Wisley heaths and enjoy the scenery and wildlife, I go birdwatching on Papercourt meadows and on Bookham Common, I go for country walks around Send, Ripley, Wisley and Ockham. I have been on Surrey Wildlife Trust evening walks on Ockham heath. With my family we visit Ripley, Wisley and Ockham for shopping, eating and drinking and regularly frequent many of the National Trust properties such as Hatchlands and country pubs such as the Queens Head in East Clandon and the Black Swan in Ockham and restaurants and pubs in Ripley. I therefore spend a lot of money in this area and support local businesses and employment. To me this area has a special rural character that must be preserved when so much in Surrey has been lost. I want my children to enjoy this too.

I am staggered by the scale of many of these proposed housing developments on what are wholly inappropriate rural and Green Belt sites. Even a small number of these developments would completely destroy the character of these villages and surrounding countryside. I am talking particularly about the proposed developments for Ripley, Send, West Horsley, Clandon Ockham and Wisley. The Green Belt and Countryside Study seems to take as a fait accompli that much of the green belt should be built on without proper consideration of alternatives. The draft plan fails properly to consider how brownfield sites could be developed. It fails to realise that the rural character of areas like Ripley, Send and Ockham are an asset to the county that will be destroyed by the developments it is prepared to sanction. The council is failing also to take account of its responsibilities to protect wildlife. Surrey has a large proportion of the UK's remaining lowland heathland, 80% of which has already been lost. The council should be working to preserve this, not destroy it, and to restore what has been destroyed. It should be seeking to place housing developments in areas with strong train and bus links: yet 2000 homes could be built at Wisley far from train stations and bus routes. This matters for the quality of life of residents and visitors, not for wildlife. On the fringes of London there is huge demand for quality, attractive green space that benefits humans and wildlife.

In particular, I urge the Council to remove the following sites from the strategic plan as wholly inappropriate in scale and siting given the Green Belt and rural character of the following areas which I visit regularly:

- Site A35 - the former Wisley airfield. To put this development here would be a wanton and inexcusable act of destruction, unjustifiable on social, economic or environmental grounds.
- Sites A37, A38, A39, A40, A41, A42 and A43

Yet this draft plan does not present a vision of a sustainable future that will preserve the quality of life of Guildford residents or visitors. It appears a forced exercise to comply with national targets, spurred by greedy developers working for short term financial gain. I urge the borough council to stand above this and amend the plan to remove Green Belt and rural areas from development that we would all come to regret. This plan is not a forward-looking, sustainable vision but a blueprint for local desecration driven by national targets that fail to take heed of what matters on the ground to local people. I am disappointed that the council does not appear to recognise that the rural character of Send, Ripley, Horsley, Clandon and Ockham is special, worth protecting and important to many local residents and visitors. There are also important wildlife sites in these areas that would be adversely impacted by this developments that would be nails in the coffin for Surrey countryside. But it is not too late to make important amendments. I urge the council to have the courage to stand up for what is right, resist pressure from Westminster and make significant amendments to remove many of these rural housing developments from the draft plan. This is essential to protect our future quality of life and to protect the Surrey countryside and wildlife.

The maps have different ratios, which can be rather misleading in terms of comparing one with another.

The map for Compton suggests that the dotted pink line is the boundary line for the village when in fact this is just the village settlement area. The wider village includes Priorsfield Road and The Avenue and Down Lane and parts of New Pond Road and the Hog's Back and Blackwell Farm, all of which are missing. Common land should ideally be marked up. Blackwell Farm is currently shown on a map called 'Guildford Urban' which of course does not exist and hence this could be misleading.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We object to the inclusion of Blackwell Farm in this Local Plan, for the following reasons:

- The southern slopes of the Hog's back are AONB and views in and out of that area should be protected and this is not possible if the development goes ahead.
- Blackwell Farm has recently been assessed by an independent expert as being of AONB quality and we anticipate that it will be included within the Surrey Hills AONB as part of the forthcoming boundary review.
- The South Downs is National Park and there has been a call for the North Downs to be considered in the same light. This would make Blackwell Farm a great asset to Guildford and a tourist attraction (particularly as it is home to one of the few Model Farms in the South East) and would fit in well with the rural ventures such as Greyfriars Vineyard, Mane Chance horse sanctuary and Watts Gallery, all of which are in close proximity.
- Blackwell Farm is very effective in fulfilling the functions of Green Belt.
- Blackwell Farm land which has been categorised as the best and most versatile (Grades 2 and 3a) and there is strong demand for local food production.
- More people objected to the inclusion of this strategic site than to any other strategic site, its inclusion is not supported.
- The 4-way access to the site on the A31 (Hog’s Back) is highly unlikely to be viable, and would harm to the AONB for miles (due to the need for lighting and its elevated position). The suggestion that rat running could be deterred through the use of automatic number plate is unrealistic. What about visitors and deliveries and changes of vehicle? Likewise, a barrier would cause chaos and possibly increase the volume of traffic wishing to use the A31. If no restrictions were put into place, the route will become a rat run, then there is nothing from stopping traffic on the A31 from using it if it is indicated as the shortest route. If the A3 were congested traffic could also come off at the Compton roundabout and take this route via Down Lane, which would add to congestion in this busy village and would negatively impact the tranquil lane, which is the home of Watts Gallery and Chapel. See annex 4.
Maps, tables and results from assessments such as traffic impact all refer to the Blackwell Farm site as in "Guildford urban area" and refer to non-existent boundaries as if they are current. There is nothing urban about this area of countryside as the independent landscape assessment reveals.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( No ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )

We object to policy A26 Blackwell Farm There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints. Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Blackwell Farm performs all five functions of green belt, and fulfils purposes 1, 3 and 5 very strongly. Purpose 1 - "checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas". There is huge pressure to develop on the western edge of Guildford; the University of Surrey has stated publicly that its key objective is to develop the whole of its landholdings, stretching west to Flexford Farm. This, combined with the indefensible boundary being proposed (a hedgerow rather than the existing belt of ancient woodland), will put more of the green belt and the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) at risk of future development. Purpose 3 "assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment" - the proposed movement of the green belt boundary on the west of Guildford to allow for development of the University in 2004 resulted in the encroachment on countryside and the loss of working farmland (including some Grade 2) at Manor Farm. The proposed future change in the boundary would result in further encroachment and the loss of farmland including further Grade 2. The proposed road development with access road from the A31 would also effectively cut off farm access to the south of the development area leading to further urban influence on this countryside. The University’s stated key objective is to develop land, which includes Chalkpit and Wildfield farms leading to the risk of further boundary change and further encroachment in future years. Purpose 5 - “assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land”Whilst all green belt assists towards this purpose, the ownership of this land by the University of Surrey with its extensive landholdings within the urban boundary (including land it leases to the Hospital and Holiday Inn, the Surrey Research Park, Hazel Farm as well as two large campuses) means that the location of Blackwell Farm within the green belt plays an even greater and direct role in encouraging the more efficient usage of urban land. Stopping development on Blackwell Farm would result in the University of Surrey investing in, and regenerating, land in its ownership and delivering its commitments following the 2003 boundary review (including 270 homes for key workers, 3,125 student residences and releasing further accommodation at Hazel Farm). The University has 17 hectares of surface car parking that could be built over with offices and flats. This is a more sustainable option than building over open farmland (largely grade 2 and 3a) within the green belt. The Blackwell Farm development would result in harm to the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), harm to an Area of Great Landscape Value (AGLV), and harm to the setting to the AONB. (Blackwell Farm forms the views into and out of the Hogs Back ridge). The NPPF is clear that AONBs should be afforded the highest level of protection in relation to landscape and scenic beauty. All development proposals within and adjacent to the AONB must conserve or enhance its special qualities. The NPPF also makes it clear that applications for major development in the AONB will be refused unless exceptional circumstances are demonstrated and the development is proven to be in the public’s interest. Guildford Borough Council has not shown that the proposed housing development or the extension of the Research Park, or the proposed link road from the A31 to Gill Avenue, is in the wider public interest. Indeed, the increased traffic through the already congested Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which would result from the development, would impede emergency vehicles travelling to the Hospital and this would be very much against public interest. GBC’s Policy P1 states that, “The Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) will be conserved and enhanced to maximise its special landscape qualities and protect it from inappropriate development. All proposals will be considered against whether they conserve and/or enhance the setting and views of the AONB”. I question how the proposal to carve a new two-lane carriageway through the AONB fits this policy, or meets para 115 of the NPPF? Finally, nearly the whole site has been identified as a “candidate area” for AONB status in the Landscape Evaluation Study commissioned by Compton, Worplesdon and Wanborough parish councils. Therefore, the entire site should be treated as though it is within the AONB during this local planning process. The access to the proposed Blackwell Farm site will put additional peak hour pressure on two of Guildford’s worst congestion “hot spots”: the A31 (Hog’s Back) and the Tesco Roundabout on Gill Avenue. See annex 3. GBC’s proposal to create a new major route into Guildford from the west at, or close to, the Down Place private driveway, and to make this the main access to the planned Blackwell Farm development, does not appear to have been thought through. There are queues stretching back from the Farnham Road Bridge as far as the Down Place driveway entrance most weekday mornings and any traffic generated by the new development would not be able to clear the junction. In order to accommodate the volume of traffic using the new junction (generated by residents of the new housing estate, employees at the Surrey Research Park, Hospital and University, and visitors to the new school/supermarket), there would almost certainly need to be a roundabout (rather than the proposed traffic-light controlled junction) and GBC has ruled out a roundabout on grounds of landscape impact and traffic. The secondary access to the site at Gill Avenue also presents problems, and as GBC states in its Transport Assessment (14.9.5), changes planned for the Tesco roundabout will not mitigate against the increased level of traffic through the junction as a result of the Blackwell Farm development, and this in turn will impact on the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which serves the Royal Surrey County Hospital. I question whether it is responsible to allow a development that would impede emergency access to an A&E department and a major incident unit. The traffic impact resulting from the development of Blackwell Farm on the strategic road network would not appear to be properly assessed but it would be alleviated in part (but not completely) by widening the A3. However, timing and funding for this work is unclear so there would be many years of traffic chaos before any widening took place (if indeed it does). More significantly, the widening of the A3 would create noise and environmental impact on the neighbouring residential areas of Onslow Village and Beechcroft Drive and a six-lane highway would cause greater severance between Guildford and Blackwell Farm and areas to the west. The NPPF states in Section 6 para 47 that local authorities should “identify a supply of specific, developable sites or broad locations for growth, for years 6-10 and, where possible, for years 11-15”. It further adds, “To be considered developable, sites should be in a suitable location for housing development and there should be a reasonable prospect that the site is available and could be viably developed at the point envisaged.” I consider that the proposed access arrangements to Blackwell Farm are wholly inadequate for a development of this scale and thus the site cannot be “viably developed”. See annex 4

POLICY A55

We object to the removal of land from Greenbelt for the provision of two traveler pitches on Puttenham Heath Road to ‘enable delivery’. The area warrants Green belt status and should remain in Green Belt. Removal is a big step towards the eventual development of permanent accommodation, which would result in loss of the two pitches.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We object to Policy D2 Sustainable design, construction and energy. Sustainability should be an overarching ambition, conditioning the whole local plan and running through it, as claimed in the NPPF, “like a golden thread”. It should be set out clearly in Policy S1, and not presented as a minor detail in Policy D2. This policy amounts to “greenwashing”, expounding aspirational environmental targets while ignoring the plan to build dormitory towns across the Green Belt that are environmentally and socially unsustainable. These settlements will bring vastly increased car use and will lead to unacceptable traffic congestion, overstretched social infrastructure, and more greenhouse gas emissions, noise and light pollution. This policy should not be just about saving energy but about preserving the borough’s stock of natural capital, especially the countryside, from attempts to manipulate the housing market. This policy’s emphasis on Combined Cooling Heating and Power and communal heating networks is difficult to understand, since no such networks are available locally.

There is also no mention of future proofing homes for older people so that they may maintain independent living within the home. The implementation of technology that will permit telecare or telemedicine is perfectly achievable given the high level of broadband in Surrey.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
We object to policy D3 Historic Environment. This policy clashes with the strongly pro-development agenda of the rest of the plan and fails to address the contradiction. History is unamenable to improvement, so the policy should commit the Council firmly to protecting and preserving our heritage assets from development. Instead, the specific policy pledge to “support development” that might “enhance” heritage assets leaves wide scope for abuse in the form of destructive commercialisation and financial leveraging of relevant sites. This policy is based on the premise that Guildford’s heritage is inherently in decay. We feel that the historic environment support and may not necessarily fully pay its way. The policy wording in the blue box leaves many loopholes. Development close to historical assets is harmful and should be expressly prohibited. This policy fails to meet the requirements of NPPF paragraphs 126 and 131-133.

We would also encourage input from historians and those with specialist knowledge for provision of ‘key evidence’.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We object to policy D4 Development in urban areas and inset villages. The NPPF does not include a definition of ‘insetting’ in its glossary and the definition used by GBC (Where a village is excluded from the Green Belt boundary. Currently the villages of Guildford are washed over by the Green Belt and form part of it) does not explain the rationale behind the choice of villages removed or ‘inset? It is unclear what exceptional circumstances could warrant the removal of Greenbelt from 15 villages in one sweep? These have not been outlined. The policy lacks clarity and transparency.

This policy that does not address the opportunity for building in the urban area. The plan envisages that 40% of homes built will be “affordable”, but this does not provide any accommodation for low-paid workers, for example, those on the minimum wage, who cannot afford to buy so-called “affordable” homes or pay an “affordable” rent. There is a need for some expansion in social housing, especially in urban areas, where there is a greater concentration of low-paid workers such as those employed in the retail, warehousing and distribution sectors (all of which this plan aspires to expand). The number of homes planned in the urban area is much too low. There is a need for regeneration in many urban areas, particularly Guildford Town Centre but this is ignored in favour of building homes on green-field sites instead. This will not address urban housing needs. It is also unsustainable, since building outside the town does disproportionate harm to road traffic, air quality and overstretched infrastructure. The plan envisages a large expansion of the retail sector, but this is hard to justify.

The landscape character assessment suggested that Blackwell Farm be included in the AONB review, yet GBC excluded it.

A residential Guide from 2004 would be out of date wouldn't it? Technology has come on leaps and bounds since this time.

Blackwell Farm is listed as SW Urban, when it is open and beautiful countryside? This is mis-leading.

We object to policy E2 location for new employment floor space. We object to the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm and I do not believe there are exceptional circumstances to justify incursion into this permanent and high quality area of Green Belt. The Surrey Research Park currently extends to 65,000 sq m. There is already granted consent to expand to a further 9,000 sq m (14%) The past trend of expansion of Office/R & D is 0.43% pa over the period from 2004 to 2012 based on ELNA 2015 derived from VoA analysis. The ELNA 2015 calculated annual floor space demand is 0.7%. The data point for our analysis is today in 2016 so we have 17 years to go to the end of the plan period. The necessary growth in floor space over the plan period is therefore 17 years x 0.7% = 11.9%. There is currently 14% expansion space already available. The proposal by GBC to expand the 65,000 sq m by 9,000 sq m (existing allocation) with an additional 35,000 sq m amounts to an increase of 67% of the Research Park which is not required. The Research Park is currently developed at a density of 25% plot ratio. The majority of existing buildings are 2 stories giving a developed floor space plot ratio of 12.5%. The existing Research Park has the opportunity to markedly increase its density without infringing any Green Belt land nearby. Any density increase would be cost effective for the use of all existing infrastructure and would also have the potential to match the existing densities of existing academic buildings on the university campus which are three to four times higher. Together with the existing expansion of 14% through existing consents and the opportunity to increase its density the Research Park has ample capacity to expand to embrace new demand for B1b uses linked to the university. A preferred location for increased B1a and B1b space would be in the Town Centre close to housing and a convenient transport hub.

We object to policy E4 Surrey research Park.

We support the maintenance of research, development and design activities, in any science, including social science, that is complementary to the activities of the University of Surrey at the Surrey Research Park. We object however to the completely unnecessary expansion of the Research Park into a larger Business Park. We believe that the planning policy going forward for the Surrey Research Park should be to maintain and enhance the integrity of its research base allowing for the economic value add to the local economy of knowledge and technology transfer from the University. We believe that B1b (should be the primary use class for the Research Park and that applications for B1a should be resisted due to the danger of dilution of the core purpose and reputation of the park. We object to the inclusion of B1c uses which is inappropriate and unnecessary.
Research parks based on the early UK technology transfer exemplars of the Cambridge and Oxford need careful monitoring, nurturing and protection to ensure the integrity and quality of the park is maintained and the park continues to be a destination for innovation and enterprise. There is a danger for research parks to be overwhelmed by short sighted development opportunities being taken by park managers provided by standard office activities and administrative functions which in time turn them into standard business parks which can be found anywhere in the country. Their relative low density and attractiveness make them targets for “any other” office user Research parks that lose their way stop being the location of choice for new innovative enterprises. We hope the Surrey Research Park in Guildford remains focussed on a broad spectrum of scientific research including computer science, bio-chemistry, design, space-science, eco-science, health science, software development, laser technology, media-science, artificial intelligence, robotics and super-manufacturing.

Monitoring indicators should include new start-ups and new patents created Facilities should be provided whereby new small businesses can secure premises under subsidised licence fee arrangements with no onerous rent or lease commitments We support the idea of a variety of sizes of unit including some small units (between 15 – 80 sq m) bearing in mind one workstation is 10 sq m Consideration should be given to the concept of shared “enterprise hubs” where individuals can take pay as you go workstations in shared spaces similar to touch down business centres similar to the “enterprise village” concept.

We object to the policy of any new extension of the research park more than the existing 14% already provided for within the park or within the footprint of the park The Surrey Research Park currently extends to 65,000 sq m There is already granted consent to expand to a further 9,000 sq m (14%) This space has been available for 10 years and is still to find a taker The past trend of expansion of Office/R &D is 0.43% pa over the period from 2004 to 2012 based on ELNA 2015 derived from VoA analysis The ELNA 2015 calculated annual floor space demand is 0.7% The data point for our analysis is today in 2016 so we have 17 years to go to the end of the plan period. The necessary growth in floor space over the plan period is therefore 17 years x 0.7 = 12% which is less than the current expansion space of 14%. The research park is developed at a plot ratio of 25%. This could be increased to 50% within the same footprint of the existing park without damage to its amenity. The actual current land use for development in the park is in fact only 12.5% because most buildings are 2-storey.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We object to policy E6 the leisure and visitor experience. We believe that the importance of a visitor attraction hub could be much better articulated. Guildford has great potential to become a “must see” destination for tourists and visitors. Surrounded by the natural beauty of the Surrey Hills, it is already distinguished as an historic county town. The historic part of the town should be exploited to the full creating a real sense of vibrancy and atmosphere. This should be linked to the attractions of the Museum, the Castle, the Wey and the historic High Street including its views of the Hogs Back. The economic impact would create big advantages for both the leisure and the niche speciality retail sectors in the town. Given the local and wider catchment of the town Guildford should strive for high quality definition making it a great centre for people to live in and visit. Guildford the historic “Gateway to the Surrey Hills” has far more potential than Guildford just any other stereotypical centre found anywhere around London. Re-branding walks, such as a new “Pilgrims Trail” similar to the Patriots trail in Boston USA with marked yellow footsteps leading from the station to the River and up through the historic heart of the town.

There is a need to make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms. There is a need to help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Watts Gallery or Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a SouthWest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently bypass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

We do not consider that the target of 1,172 homes in the town centre takes account of the need and demand for housing or the opportunities that brownfield sites present for increasing the residential development in the core of the town which will in itself help to sustain the retail core by increased economic impact. What the town centre needs in terms of urban regeneration and to attain a thriving night time economy is more residential development. The Town Centre policy needs to maximise the potential for residential development on brownfield and include as an absolute minimum the 2,551 units proposed in by Allies and Morrison for the town centre included in the masterplan 2015. The reality is that the Town Centre and other areas of brownfield in the borough has the capacity to provide significantly more than this.

The omission of the Town Centre Master Plan impacts the soundness of the entire plan as the town is the most sustainable place in the Borough yet it is omitted? Changes to make Guildford more pedestrian friendly by reducing road capacity will impact surrounding areas, yet this has not been built into any Highways Assessments, which already reveal that development will cause congestion.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

We object to policy H1 Homes for all.

Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set any rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions. The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated. We support higher density development but not high-rise development (ie over 10 floors) in the urban area close to transport hubs to facilitate modal shift e.g. 20 minutes’ walk of Guildford railway station. Student accommodation should provide for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. We do not understand what appears to be “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and underused surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back. Surrey University has 17 ha of car parks that could provide all the student accommodation required above it, with parking beneath. Guildford borough already has a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Overprovision is inappropriate given other constraints.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
We object to policy H2 Affordable homes. “Affordable” homes, under national definitions, means homes that are sold or rented at 80% of market value. Even if 70% of these are rented as proposed, the level of market prices in the South-East means (even post-Brexit) that these homes will remain well beyond most people’s means and that starter homes will not become available for local people. In addition, the viability clause (4.2.40) means that in practice the policy could be unenforceable. Private financial viability has no place in a public policy and should be removed. Building more homes in Guildford cannot increase real affordability given the overhang of the London market.

Even after the 20% reduction, these 'affordable' homes (using average prices and wages for the area) will be ten times the average salary! Given the level of infrastructure that has been earmarked for delivery by developers the affordable housing is unlike to be built at the levels put forward and may not be produced at all.

The term 'affordable' is also misleading in areas such as Guildford.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
We object

This policy says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix”, this can include “market” housing – i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means expensive executive homes. This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions. The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We object to policy I1 Infrastructure and deliveryMost of the borough’s infrastructure is straining to accommodate current needs and organic growth, yet this plan’s commitment to building housing estates across the Guildford countryside will mean either major infrastructure investment that massively under-funded or an implosion as transport, educational, medical, energy, water and communications services become simultaneously overloaded. The plan targets greenfield sites – requiring heavy infrastructure investment – in order to generate CIL income necessary to meet an infrastructure shortfall that is already serious. The current draft CIL scale also encourages development on greenfield sites rather than brownfield and will reduce or negate developer's obligation to sell a percentage of homes at 20% below market value. The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing infrastructure needs in this area is inadequate, identifying only the tip of an iceberg of existing congestion. Compton Village is already close to tipping point, yet it will see a significant increase in traffic volume, will be completely congested and yet no plans exist to mitigate the problem. The schemes referred to in this policy barely solve existing congestion and are inadequate when development takes place. The full impact on local road networks has not been fully considered. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that involve demolishing property and road-widening in residential areas to solve the resultant congestion. The A3 improvements are not guaranteed to take place but they are being used to justify removing large areas from the Green Belt before detailed traffic assessments have taken place. These detailed investigations are being deferred until the planning application stage and will be left to developers to prepare. If a site then proves to be unsustainable its Green Belt protection will have been lost for no reason and unsuitable development will take place by a more insidious process. Compton Village will actually incur increased traffic flow as a consequence of A3 widening according to the study, yet as was pointed out above, no solutions are in place to improve the situation. Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritising greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself.

Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognising this as a key issue, the plan makes too many assumptions, not least being the verbal promise that development will not take place without infrastructure preceeding it. It is not clear how this will happen and is not in the Plan, as it should be, if it is achievable. The highways network is under stress at peak times in many parts of the borough. Queuing is the daily experience of drivers going to and from work. The local plan recognises the problems in para 2.14. Much of the road network is single-carriageway, and junctions act as constraints. The key evidence on future traffic conditions is provided in the Strategic Highway Assessment Report (SHAR) which summarises the results of the tests carried out by Surrey County Council at the request of GBC. Five scenarios were examined using SCC’s strategic traffic model. Scenario 1 contains all developments and planning permissions from 2009 to date. As such it corresponds to today’s circumstances, and describes the current unsatisfactory traffic conditions in peak periods. Scenario 5 represents the position at the end of the plan period, including all development and highways schemes in the local plan. The results of the analysis show that there will be widespread congestion in the morning peak hour across the network. The key strategic routes, the A3 through Guildford NE bound, and the M25 between Junctions 10 and 11, are shown to be at or over capacity. The summary network statistics presented in the SHAR, while useful, require some interpretation because the analysis of vehicle-hours is derived from link speeds only, and does not reflect junction delays and queues. The tables that show the ratio of flow to capacity and level of service are especially helpful to gaining an understanding of the conditions on the network in the forecast. Where the forecast traffic volume is above or close to capacity, flow becomes unstable and there is congestion. The SHA results provide evidence that, in 2031, congestion will be worse than it is today on much of the network. It is the case that the traffic modelling does not take into account the potential for increased use of other modes, but the trip rates used for developments already have built in the typical level of use of other modes, and services will be required to meet that need. It is also the case that the model does not allow for park and ride, which would improve matters in the town centre, as discussed below. In order to gain an insight into conditions across the network, it is necessary to combine information from several tables in the SHAR. Table 4.5 shows that the M25 and A3 will be at capacity in Scenario 5. The other roads that will have poor levels of service include those in Table 4.5 but also those in 4.12 (except the A3) and those in Tables 4.3 and 4.4 with levels of service D and E that will not be given some relief by improvement of the A3 in Scenario 5. Paras 4.10.3, 4 and 5 point out that there will be increased congestion. Given that the starting point is unsatisfactory, there can be no expectation that the schemes in the Infrastructure Development Plan will provide an overall improvement. There will be some local benefits, such as the Ash rail bridge for example, but in general conditions will be as bad and in many places, such as Compton Village, worse. So the statement in the SHAR para 4.2.5 that ‘the combined mitigation as reflected in Scenario 5 indicates that at the strategic level it accommodates the additional PSLP demand’ needs qualifying – ‘at the cost of a lot of queuing’ and makes no mention of the impact this will have on pollution, which is already a known problem at the A3 end of Compton. The cumulative effect of the additional traffic generated by the developments in the local plan will be to increase congestion, even with the proposed highway schemes in place. More detailed analysis of the junctions and queuing is required. So we question the conclusion that the developments would have “an acceptable impact on the capacity of the highway networks in terms of the policy test set in paragraph 32 of NPPF”. Appendix 3 of the Transport Topic Paper shows the phasing of housing development and transport infrastructure. The major scheme being considered for the A3 between the A31 and the A320 is scheduled for delivery in the period 2023/24 to 2027/28. The strategic developments at Blackwell Farm and Gosden Hill Farm are shown as being phased in from 2021/22 onwards. The Garlick’s Arch development is shown as starting in 2019/20. Therefore, there will be a period in which the existing A3 has to cope with the additional demand arising from those developments before extra capacity is provided. The following comments regarding the strategic sites are taken from the SHAR: Blackwell Farm – there will be congestion at the A31 junction, and the problems at the Tesco junction, and the Egerton road/Gill Avenue junction (para 4.9.5). Traffic is likely to access the Surrey research park and the RSCH through the development (para 4.7.3) (see annex 4) Gosden Hill Farm – there will be an increase in traffic through Burpham. There will be pressure on the A3100/B2234 roundabout (paras 4.7.6, 4.7.7 and 4.7.8). Wisley – traffic will increase on minor roads to gain access to the A3 (N and S bound) and other routes (para 4.7.11). The development will add more traffic to the A3. The Burnt Common slips help alleviate the traffic through Ripley according to the model, but queuing on the A3 could mean this does not happen (para 4.7.14). Normandy/Flexford – the report has little to say about the impact of this large development. The increase in flow on Westwood Lane is noted (para 4.5.7). Tables 4.10 and 4.11 show junction delay reducing at the Westwood Lane, B3000 junction, but an increasing at the Puttenham Hill/Millbrook junction. Ash – development in Ash is not specifically addressed, but there are major increases in traffic on a number of roads. The new rail bridge will bring relief (but traffic will move to the next junction). Slyfield – there are no remarks relating to SARF, and as there are no additional trips shown in and out of the Slyfield residential zone in Tables 3.3 and 3.4, it is possible that this development has been omitted. There is a significant increase in trips to and from the Slyfield industrial zone, which will impact on the A320 and Clay Lane. Town Centre – the report has very little to say about the town centre. It is evident that the model is forecasting severe congestion on the approaches to the town centre, such as the A281, the A31 Farnham Road, and Woodbridge Road for example. No mitigation measures are planned. And in the Transport Strategy, GBC states that the intention is to adopt Allies & Morrison’s Scenario 2 which would have the effect of significantly reducing the capacity of the town centre road.
system. The implications have not been examined, but traffic using the A281 from Waverley, for example, would be affected.

The B3000 will be severely affected by development schemes and will not benefit from road improvements. It is essential that the impact of all change to road networks are looked at in conjunction with one another for any survey to be meaningful. The local plan does not state an objective for congestion. The two strategic objectives that are included for infrastructure refer to supporting sustainable development and delivering a balanced system. However, in para 2.15 there is an aspiration expressed about opportunities ‘to improve the performance of the road networks through transport infrastructure and service improvements’, which taken with the previous paragraph includes reducing congestion. The evidence so far shows that this will not happen. The mitigation proposed is not sufficient to overcome the problems that will be caused by the level of growth in the local plan. Congestion will worsen. The network will lack resilience and be vulnerable to disruption due to incidents. Minor roads will have to cope with a lot more traffic, for which they are unsuitable.

We object to policy I3 Sustainable transport for new developments This is aspirational, the modal shift aim being worthwhile, but the realities are quite different. The policy fails in its essential job of guiding planning decisions since it assumes development of any kind can be supported by sustainable transport. The sustainability of the dormitory settlements which the Council want to build across the countryside depends on a general “modal shift” from private car use to walking, cycling and public transport. This is unrealistic. The proposed sites are often miles away from the nearest railway station. Bus services even in the largest villages are almost non-existent – just one bus to and from Guildford each day in the Horsleys and none at weekends. Other areas have lost their bus service or it has been cut and many villages have a service which is infrequent. Since bus services depend on profitability, they cannot be expanded and the Council are not proposing to subsidise new ones. Rural buses are slow and lack predictability due to the congested roads. Most rural roads in the borough are narrow, winding, hilly, potholed, muddy and unlit. Many flood badly and have no footpaths. The desired modal shift would require a comprehensive co-ordination of bus and train timetables with services every few minutes, seven days a week, to stops within walking distance of every home in the borough. This kind of integrated public transport system has been achieved in Switzerland, for instance, but only at huge public cost and thanks to a political consensus supporting state ownership of trains, buses and the post office, which delivers rural passengers as well as mail. There is absolutely no chance of this in the UK. The vast majority of the borough’s residents are not, in practice, able to cycle. This includes children, the elderly, commuters who have to look smart, the infirm, the unfit and people carrying goods or shopping of any kind. Dependence on walking and cycling discriminates against these groups, which include some of the most vulnerable members of the community. It is socially unjust. One in two working people in Guildford commute for up to 3 hours a day. They will not leave their cars for even part of their journey if it means longer travel times. Park-and-rides are a welcome part of the transport mix but are too slow for commuters and others on a tight schedule. For an adult couple going shopping it is still cheaper to park in town. We like the idea of water buses but have concerns over the reality. The Wey is narrow and, with a river speed limit of 4mph, boats are too slow for anything but recreation. Except on the tideway, not even the Thames has such services. The addition of two new stations appears attractive but will slow down train journeys, which are already slower than at any time since the 1930s. Knock-on effects on localities where the new stations are built have not been worked out or presented. Ie.

Who is the ‘sustainable corridor’ for if the vast majority of people are to live outside the town and are unable to walk or cycle to Guildford because of all the factors already mentioned, including lack of pavements and safe cycle routes? If more people lived in the town then this might be justifiable but as it is, it is unclear who will really benefit from it?

We object to policy P1 Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding National Beauty. This policy weakens existing protection when it should strengthen it. It is dependent on the Surrey Hills Management Plan. The latter welcomes housing development. Even major (undefined) development in the AONB would be permitted if exceptional (undefined) circumstances could be demonstrated. Many of our concerns stem from the loose wording of the Policy, which in some places renders the policy ineffective, for example: “All proposals will be considered against whether they...” “All development proposals within and adjacent to the AONB will be expected to conserve or enhance its special qualities.” Terms such as “considered” and “expected” are not strong enough in prohibiting development proposals that do not conserve and enhance the AONB, and it is likely that developers will be able to use this loose wording to their advantage. Of particular concern is the paragraph 3, which begins: “Whilst the AONB designation does not preclude specific types of development in the Surrey Hills and proposals will be assessed on their individual merits...” This whole opening clause is unnecessary and almost invites development proposals. We believe that it should be deleted, and the sentence should begin: “There is a presumption against major development in the AONB in accordance with NPPF."

We are also concerned that the AONB criteria listed in the policy are not the most important ones in determining whether a planning application should be approved. Aside from the one outlined in the first bullet point (which relates to the AONB setting) none of these criteria is concerned with the key characteristics of AONB, ie landscape character, scenic beauty, important views, tranquility etc. Whether or not a development supports the rural economy or provides public access are of far less national importance than preserving the quality of the landscape itself. We believe that the AONB Policy in the Draft Plan 2014 provided greater protection to the AONB, and would like to see the following sentences reinserted: “The national significance the AONB will be afforded the highest level of protection and only proposals which can be sensitively amalgamated into the area and which complement and enhance the character of the AONB will be considered” “Proposals within the AGLV which would have a negative impact upon views into and out of the AONB and which do not respect the setting, will not be acceptable.” In accordance with the most up to date Minerals and Waste Plan, safeguarding of applicable land within the AONB and/or AGLV may be necessary and deemed appropriate. Finally, we would like to see a clause which gives protection to the candidate areas for AONB status in the forthcoming Surrey Hills AONB Boundary Review.

This should include Blackwell Farm which was recently reviewed by an Independent consultant (annex 1) and deemed worthy of inclusion as a candidate. I consider that all land that has been assessed as meeting the latest Natural England criteria for AONBs should be subject to the same level of protection as an AONB, not just land that has been designated AGLV.

the cornerstone of all local planning policy. It is precious beyond the short-term demands of the present Government’s policy or a 15-year local plan. As noted under Policy S1 above, it is a solemn legacy to future generations – an asset and amenity that belongs as much to Londoners and the whole nation as to the people who live in it. Once gone it is gone forever.

Policy P2 completely fails to appreciate the importance and permanence of the Metropolitan Green Belt and the fact that it serves a valuable purpose and it needs to be permanently protected. It was established in a local act of parliament in Guildford under the London Home Counties (Green Belt) Act 1938 and subsequently in the 1944 Greater London Plan to contain the outward sprawl of London. The boundaries of the Green Belt through Guildford Borough were later defined in the 1987 Local Plan, forming part of a 19-24km concentric belt around London. The Green Belt is intended to check the unrestricted sprawl of built up areas; to prevent neighbouring towns from merging into one another; to safeguard the countryside from encroachment; to preserve the setting and special character of historic towns; and to assist with urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and urban land. The principles of the Green Belt designation were outlined within Planning Policy Guidance 2: Green Belts (PPG2) and are found within the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF). The Metropolitan Green Belt is an example of good planning and the envy of planners throughout the world. Policy P2 omits any assessment of the Green Belt’s value. The Green Belt is not just empty space but is an inhabited, working environment that safeguards a certain stock of natural capital. Building on it involves high opportunity costs, including an irreversible loss of:

1. Agricultural production. 2. Rural leisure and tourism amenities. 3. Water catchment. 4. Flood control. 5. Biodiversity. 6. Natural heritage. 7. A carbon sink for air pollution. 8. Room for public facilities such as parks and burial grounds. 9. Profitable film locations (e.g. Shere). 10. Future economic potential such as mineral extraction (even fracking). 11. Natural beauty, landmarks, open space, rural views and sight lines. 12. Benefits to public health and wellbeing, physical and psychological (as well expressed in the NPPF). As a matter of law and national and local policy, these assets should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultations. It is quite incorrect to argue, that the plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. In reality the figure is nearer 7% when insetting, infilling and settlement boundary extensions are included. More importantly, there is no “acceptable” percentage (in the NPPF or anywhere else) of Green Belt that may be sold. We believe this policy is based on a flawed Green Belt and Countryside Study that, according to one Conservative Councillor, was irregularly commissioned by Council officers without the authority of Councillors.

We object to the removal of over 400 hectares of Green Belt land in and around Blackwell Farm to facilitate further development of Surrey Research Park and for 1800 homes. Over 60 hectares were removed from Green Belt 12 years ago for the same developer (Surrey University) who has yet to fulfill their planning obligations. This valuable land has been squandered with over 17 acres of surface car parking and as one of the key features of Green Belt is its ‘permanence’ this second request for yet more Green Belt land to be released in such a short space of time, with all the outstanding issues that remain makes this all the more objectionable.

Furthermore we object on grounds of the impact this development will have in terms of congestion on our highways, these issues have been highlighted under 'infrastructure'.

We object to the subjectivity of the Green Belt assessment and the inclusion of highly valued areas for development.

We object to the addition of Green Belt to prevent coalescence when areas such as Normandy and Flexford are being merged by development and so are the Horsleys. An area that has a higher landscape value (Blackwell Farm) on the same stretch of land (Hog's Buck) is proposed for removal and so the criteria and decision made over Green Belt removal and addition make no sense. We would otherwise support the additional Green Belt but only if there is parity between the various areas of Guildford.

Exceptional circumstances must be outlined and none have. We are also aware of planning permission that has been given locally within Green Belt where the developer or agent states 'there are exceptional circumstances' yet these are not outlined and approval is given? Policies must be in line with the NPPF and exceptional circumstances but be 'exceptional' which means by definition, 5 strategic sites with the vast majority on Green Belt cannot be 'exceptional'?

We object to the inclusion of Greenbelt sites where exceptional circumstances have not been given. Housing need alone has in case law, been overturned and the housing need is highly questionable. We question the soundness of 66% of almost 14,000 homes being proposed on Greenbelt land and whether any circumstances could warrant this.

We object to policy P4. Flood risk and water source protection zones. Urban development on existing hardstanding would not create additional flood risk, especially where there is scope for improved flood resistance measures to be included in the design. Sites such as Woodbridge Meadows Industrial Estate and the Arriva bus depot, on the River Wey bank, are potential high-value brownfield sites that would not be available for housing if this policy is implemented. It is not the footprint of existing buildings that should limit future development, but the extent of existing hardstanding. Tarmac and concrete do not act as functional floodplain, and some land with hard standing close to the river, within the town centre and within easy walking distance of the railway station, provides an excellent opportunity for real urban regeneration that could protect the surrounding countryside.

We strongly believe that this policy should not be used as a convenient excuse not to build on the extensive area of brownfield sites between the station and Ladymead. Any new development in this area could easily be built above flood resistant ground floor parking in areas that are identified as high flood risk. This area has been built over successfully over the last 50 years.

We do not support building directly on flood plain as the land is effectively a soak away, but intelligent architecture has been dealing with this problem for many decades in other parts of the UK and the globe.

We object to policy S2 the Borough Wide Strategy and the commitment to build 13,860 homes based on the Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) 2015 prepared by GL Hearn. The OAN “objectively assessed need” figure in the SHMA of 693 homes a year is far too high. We are surprised and concerned that GBC has adopted the OAN of 13,860 homes as the housing target without any application of constraints as required under the National Planning Policy Framework and the National Planning Policy Guidance. The scale of the housing number proposed inevitably increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

Other local planning authorities appear to take a more balanced view in their approach to planning. The Woking Core Strategy 2012 applies a constraint of 50% from the 594 new homes identified in their own SHMA. “It should be noted that local evidence (Strategic Housing Market Assessment - SHMA) highlights a need for an additional 499 new affordable homes every year in the Borough and a total of 594 new homes every year when taking into account demand. Given the level of environmental constraints present in the Borough, it is considered that the provision of an average of 292 dwellings per annum represents a reasonable level of housing growth for Woking and is deliverable.” Historically GBC has correctly applied constraints on housing numbers to protect the Green Belt. The Surrey Structure Plan 1994 advocated a general slowing down in the rates of development “because of the environmental constraints which exist in the County, including Green Belt”. This slowing down was reflected in the requirement that Guildford Borough should accommodate a net increase of 3,800 dwellings between 1991 and 2006. This was a lower rate of development than in previous years. It is interesting to note that the Structure Plan at that time expected sufficient land to arise within the urban areas to accommodate this requirement. However it would appear that today GBC has effectively ignored the real potential of the urban area to provide for housing. At the same time GBC has adopted a radically different approach to the policy of the Council over the last 20/30 years and are now ignoring government policy in relation to the Green Belt.

A detailed and comprehensive professional review of the SHMA dated June 2016 by NMSS an independent expert firm dealing with housing and demographics procured by Guildford Residents Association (GRA) has concluded that the OAN figure should be revised down from 693 homes per annum to 510 homes per annum. The 41 page report by NMSS (annex 5) which can be found on the GRA website entitled “A Review of the West Surrey SHMA as it relates to the Objectively Assessed Housing Needs of Guildford”. It was a real community effort. It was paid for by over separate 20 Guildford Residents Associations and Local Parish Councils none of whom were convinced that the SHMA report procured and presented by GBC was accurate or transparent or accessible in a meaningful way. So they clubbed together and collected contributions from many hundreds of Guildford residents to try to find out the truth of the housing need figure presented in the Local Plan. The NMSS report includes detailed analysis and financial modelling and was prepared by Neil McDonald. He is an independent adviser and commentator on housing demographics. He works with local authorities and others on the estimation of housing need and related issues. He was a civil servant and policy adviser to Ministers for over 30 years, the last 10 advising on housing and planning issues within the Department of Communities and Local Government. His 7 years as a Director at DCLG included a posting as Director, Planning Policy and a period as Chief Executive of the National Housing and Planning Advice Unit. NMSS found that the SHMA used in the Local Plan incorrectly adds extra homes to its basic demographic projection to allow for improving affordability of housing, increased student numbers and economic growth. The report found that none of these additions were justified based on the evidence presented within the SHMA. The report concluded amongst other matters that: The affordability of housing in Guildford is no worse than in other Surrey districts and boosting supply beyond the demographic OAN would not result in a noticeable improvement in affordability but simply in more people moving to the area. There are reasons for believing that the SHMA’s estimate of the number of homes needed for students may be too high and that an adequate provision for students is already included in the demographic OAN. The report advises that the Council should commission a separate student housing need figure for Guildford given the disturbing effect of students on our overall OAN. It envisages that, once this exercise is undertaken, improved accuracy means the overall OAN would be likely to reduce still further. The SHMA seeks to estimate the number of homes needed to support employment growth using employment rate assumptions that are inconsistent with the employment forecasts. This produces misleading results. An analysis of the Cambridge Econometrics and Oxford Economics forecasts using employment or economic activity rate assumptions consistent with the forecasts suggests that in neither case is there a need to provide more housing than suggested by the demographic analysis. Indeed, in both cases a smaller population growth (and hence fewer homes) could support the jobs growth that is forecast. A further independent report was procured in 2016 by the Campaign for the Protection of Rural England CPRE from Richard Bate of Green Balance, an independent consultancy with expertise in demographic and housing matters to carry out a review of the GL
The report by Green Balance runs to 37 pages (annex 6) and its findings are that the OAN for homes in Guildford should be reduced from 693 per annum to 481 because:

1. the vacancy rate figures should be taken from local government annual records rather than from the 2011 Census. This would reduce vacancy rates to 2.9% in Guildford.

2. there should be no increase for affordability above basic demographic change.

3. there should be no increase for Student housing and it was considered unrealistic that the University should be allowed to exert such substantial pressure on the domestic housing market.

4. the use of employment-led forecasts should be abandoned using purely household projections instead which are more reliable as a form of prediction. Two completely independent expert reports are surprisingly consistent in their findings. In broad terms a figure of approximately 500 homes per annum would appear to be a correct estimate of OAN for Guildford. However, this is before constraints are applied to arrive at an acceptable housing target. The SHMA is based on pre-Brexit projections for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards. It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld by GBC and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable. The figure of 13,860 new homes is unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinised by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. Both the National Planning Policy Framework and National Planning Policy Guidance provide a clear policy direction that the overall housing target should be reduced by a variety of constraints to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors. I have corrected this omission below. Infrastructure policies should be planned at the same time as Local Plans but in this case they have effectively been left out and are not sufficiently developed. The Framework also makes clear that, once established, Green Belt boundaries should only be altered in exceptional circumstances, through the preparation or review of the Local Plan. Unmet housing need (including for traveller sites) is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt and other harm to constitute the “very special circumstances” justifying inappropriate development on a site within the Green Belt.

Ministerial guidance in relation to building on the Green Belt is clear: 1. “the single issue of unmet need - is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt and other harm to constitute the “very special circumstances” justifying inappropriate development in the Green Belt” - Nick Boles to Sir Paul Beresford MP 7th February 2014. 2. “we were always very clear that we would maintain key protections for the countryside, and, in particular, for the Green Belt. The Framework makes it clear that a Green Belt boundary may be altered only in exceptional circumstances and reiterates the importance and permanence of the Green Belt” – Nick Boles to Sir Michael Pitt, Planning Inspectorate 3rd March 2014. 3. “Planning Guidance, updated in March 2014, also states that unmet housing need is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt. to constitute the very special circumstances justifying inappropriate development within the Green Belt” – Nick Boles to Sir Paul Beresford MP 18th June 2014
70% of the sites put forward in the Local Plan are in the Green Belt which flies in the face of current government planning policy. The National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF), National Planning Policy Guidance and case law make it clear that Green Belt is an absolute constraint on housing supply. Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to adjust boundaries. Other constraints under the NPPF include assessments of sustainability, strategic flood risk assessment, physical constraints on land use and infrastructure constraints (this can include road congestion, schools, drains, power supply and medical requirements). Constraints should be applied to the Objectively Assessed Housing Need (OAN). However, this itself is overstated and should be reduced from 693 per annum to 500.

In view of the comments above it would appear logical to apply constraints in line with government policy to a corrected OAN, of approximately 50% to account for the fact that 89% of the borough is in the permanent Green Belt and development is not supported by adequate major infrastructure. This reduction is in line with the constraints percentage of 50% applied by Woking Borough Council. This would result in a more acceptable and practically achievable HOUSING TARGET of 250 homes per annum which over a 20-year period would be 5,000 homes. All of these homes could be built in the existing urban brownfield areas of the borough and would in part satisfy the 20,000 objections made by residents to the 2014 draft plan and also relieve the additional problems of inadequate infrastructure. It would also mean that there is currently 8.5 years supply of housing (2131/250) which is made up of existing permissions granted (1,518) and completions made (613) during 2013/2015. (Monitoring Report by GBC 2015) The Brexit vote may have strengthened government policy further. Theresa May, the new prime minister, announced on 11 July that she is personally committed to protecting the Green Belt once she takes office. Whilst I have many significant objections to the GBC Local Plan I applaud the policy statement by GBC in their Monitoring Report, “We will continue to monitor the use of previously developed land, and continue to identify as many opportunities as possible for redevelopment of previously developed land.” We believe it will be to the benefit of all residents if GBC can apply themselves vigorously to this endeavour in order to protect the Green Belt.

Document:  Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 1: The evidence base and submission documents

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

Key parts of the evidence are still missing, flawed or based on withheld assumptions. The Strategic Housing Market Assessment overstates need, the Green Belt and Countryside Study uses a flawed approach, and the Transport Assessment is too late and incomplete to be relied upon to inform the Plan.

The Plan excludes the Town Centre Master Plan, which plays a pivotal role and fails to address the results of infrastructure difficulties, or use these and Greenbelt to constrain the level of development.

The Employment Land Needs Assessment

We object
This document omits many important points that are to be addressed at a future stage. The information is, however, very relevant and necessary and without it the document is weak on evidence. The overview given does not assess the capacity of existing supply to accommodate future growth. The paper acknowledges that almost 9% of commercial premises are empty and this somewhat flies in the face of arguments to vastly increase the volume until the reasons are understood. Around 30% of businesses are considering leaving Guildford (congestion being cited as a reason). There are also issues with planning permissions being granted to convert office space to residential, whilst at the same time it is argued that more offices are needed? The contradictions appear to indicate that policies related to this need firming up and that the evidence is incomplete.

We disagree with 40% of land in the town centre being given over to retail as there is no evidence that Guildford will 'buck the national trend' in terms of declining high-street sales, as has been suggested by Cllr Furniss. Guildford urban area ranks no 1 in terms of being the most sustainable location in the borough and, as housing is a priority, there should be more than 1,172 residences in the town centre.

We object to Policy E4 (expansion of the Surrey Research Park into the Blackwell Farm) The existing Research Park has been built at a very low density (25% plot ratio), which is very low for an urban extension. The majority of existing buildings are 2 storeys giving a developed floor space plot ratio of only 12.5%.

The existing Research Park has acres of surface car parking, which provides it with the opportunity to markedly increase its density without infringing any Green Belt land nearby. Any density increase would be cost effective for the use of all existing infrastructure and would also have the potential to match the existing density of the neighbouring academic buildings on the university campus at Manor Park, which is five times higher.

Together with the existing expansion of 14% through existing consents and the opportunity to increase its density, the Research Park has ample capacity to expand to embrace new demand for B1b uses linked to the university, without utilising additional land.

Infrastructure

We object

The infrastructure schedule makes reference to 'improvements' without saying what they are. It includes a junction at the Guildford end of the A31, and another junction at Tongham. No evidence or traffic modelling data is available to demonstrate whether these 'improvements' will indeed improve anything at all given the additional traffic that will be generated by the new developments included in the plan. The Highways Assessment indicates that, even with these 'improvements', the level of congestion on the A3, A31, the B3000 and A25 will leave these roads over capacity and congested.

Constraints should be applied to the housing need/number as a full application of the overinflated number will have a severe detrimental impact on our road network. Smaller housing estates may be more difficult financially, but they would have less impact on infrastructure and could be considered where infrastructure already exists. The borough has many acres of surface car parking which, if replaced by multi-storey versions, and combined with current Brownfield sites, would free up enough land to build housing where it is wanted and needed and not on valuable Green Belt. There would be no need to build high-rise style development in Guildford town, which we don't support, but we do believe that buildings of 6-10 storeys (with underground parking) would be in keeping in some urban areas (where they don’t impinge on important vistas). [Some existing buildings already reach 5-7 levels in height].

The traffic maps omit the area south of Guildford borough completely and the lack of detail about impact on the B3000, a strategic route, is highly questionable, particularly as there are no solutions in place to deal with the impact. We are particularly concerned that, after the main highways routes of M25, A25, and the A320, the B3000 will incur the greatest increase in flow as this road is already close to capacity, with tailbacks at peak times. The road is no longer fit for purpose and modelling shows that developments planned, and the introduction of a new westerly route through Blackwell Farm, will severely worsen the situation, whether major work takes place on the A3, or not.

The Highway Assessment
We OBJECT

The strategic highway assessment requires a great deal more work and hence we OBJECT to the inclusion of this as evidence.

The B3000 runs through Compton, a small village with many listed buildings, most of which are very close to the road. The road already carries in excess of 5 million vehicles a year with average flow rates exceeding most A roads. It is the only settlement area in the borough where pollution levels exceed EU regulations and it is close to capacity now, with tailbacks at peak times, which add to the pollution problem. [see legal section]

The study is highly misleading. It refers to a figure of zero additional traffic from scenario 3, which includes the traffic from the strategic sites, one of which is partly in Compton. The assessment does not make it clear that the modelling is extremely limited and only includes impact on developments within the immediate area. Blackwell Farm is excluded from Area 107 (part of Compton) as false boundaries have been set. We believe that the impact from the strategic sites will be far-reaching and will most certainly impact Compton and beyond. Each village needs to be able to see the impact that development will have.

The Highways Assessment concentrates on peak time traffic only and gives no indication of overall volume increases or traffic type using specific routes outside peak hours. Understanding of the overall increase is important, as there is a bridge on the B3000 between Artington and Compton, which has a width restriction and may also require a weight restriction as it needs replacing within the next 2 years and no funding has been set aside for this. Instead Network Rail, SCC, GBC and Waverley BC continue to battle over responsibility for, and scope of, the project.

It appears that traffic data has been collected at different times of the year and over varying time scales in order to provide averages. This method of data collection can underestimate measurements by at least 30%.

Furthermore, we have been told that the person responsible for ratifying traffic data at Surrey County Council (SCC) has been off sick for over a year and that, whilst the daily data boxes continue to collect data, that data has not been collected or analysed for 2015. The data put forward for Compton's B3000 was based on a 3-week period in January and, as this was not representative, we understand it was removed. That said, the year-on-year data is for different periods and different times, varying from a few weeks in winter to longer periods over many months. We would like a more robust approach to traffic data collation.

The cumulative effect of the additional traffic generated by the developments in the proposed submission Local Plan will be to increase congestion, even with the proposed highway improvement schemes in place. More detailed analysis of the junctions and queuing is required. We question the conclusion that the developments would have An acceptable impact on the capacity of the highway networks in terms of the policy test set in paragraph 32 of NPPF. We do not believe that the impact on the B3000 will be acceptable, as it is already operating beyond capacity, and this situation will be made much worse following the mitigation proposed for the A3.

The Highways Assessment is limited to 30 results. Roads have been omitted from the report and it is unclear whether findings for the B3000 (also referred to as The Street B3000) are in fact from the Street or the roundabout from which there is a feeder road to Godalming via Priorsfield Road.

The table comparing scenarios and the impact on traffic is difficult to decipher. Scenario 1 includes current planning permissions plus Waverley's strategic sites. This shows an increase of just 9 vehicles per hour at peak times on the B3000. The next scenario 2 is the same, but includes GBC's strategic sites. Given that there is a strategic site in Compton of 1,800 homes and another of 1,000 at Normandy, the expectation would be for the volume to be not only higher, but considerably higher. The result is however, ZERO. We understand that this is because the impact measured is only from the immediate area and, as Blackwell Farm has been removed from the village for modelling terms, this does not give a realistic result. The omission of the Town Centre Master Plan and its impact on the roads further diminishes the integrity of this Highways Assessment.

Even without the full impact being understood, it is clear from the scale of development on the west of Guildford (1,800 homes at Blackwell Farm, 1,000 homes at Normandy, 1,300 homes at Ash, 3,800 homes in the Aldershot urban area, 1,200 homes at Borden) that the increase in traffic on the B3000 and other main routes would be severe.
The Highways Assessment shows that as a result of the proposals put forward in this draft of the Local Plan the B3000 will suffer the highest increase in flow rates at peak times (after the M25, A320 and A25. It also reveals that traffic flows would increase if the A3 was widened, as the A3 would then attract more traffic via the B3000. Despite this, there are no solutions planned to mitigate the situation and we are therefore strongly objecting to the level of development and in particular strategic development at Blackwell Farm as outlined in the Local Plan.

The proposal to introduce a new route to Guildford town centre from the west via Blackwell Farm has been ill thought out. The volume of traffic that will use this new ‘rat run’ through the new development and the university campus/business park, has been underestimated. There will be problems for traffic wishing to exit the new development in both directions during peak hours - traffic is frequently queueing for miles along the A31, and the Tesco roundabout is one of the worst bottlenecks in Guildford. The knock-on effect on the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction would impede emergency vehicles getting to and from the hospital.

The 4-way junction on the A31 has no detail at all and the concern is that permission in principle will be given to the site in the hope that these problems are surmountable. If they are insurmountable, which we believe they are, then enormous amounts of Green Belt land within the setting of the Surrey Hills AONB will have been sacrificed for nothing. The 4-way junction, if it goes ahead, is likely to be huge and, due to its elevated position, will cause significant harm to the AONB in terms of landscape and light pollution.

The Highways Assessment has many limitations, not least being the absence of the Town Centre Master Plan, which includes potential road closure and re-routing. Compton is likely to be very much affected by any reduction in road capacity in the town centre and it is important that we are presented with the whole the picture.

The Assessment acknowledges that not all impacts of proposed Blackwell Farm development have been modelled and that, due to the emphasis on the A31 and the A3, not all roads were included.

The report concludes that the improvements to the A3 are necessary to maintain adequate flow rates on the strategic network. Further work is needed to determine what impact any widening or junction improvements will have on local roads, and what will be done to mitigate against the increased flows through Compton, particularly given that a section of the B3000 though the Village is anticipated to become an Air Quality Management Area. GBC has resisted requests by members of the PC to have the northern end of The Street made an AQMA, but readings of nitrous oxide in this area are well above EU legal limits.

Note Annex 3 - Independent traffic report by RGP - attached.

There is little information about the tunnel but the map indicates that one access / egress point will be in Compton near the A3, although no land has been safeguarded for this purpose. This is likely to have the same impact as the improvements to the A3, i.e. increased traffic (and pollution) through Compton.

The Spatial Hierarchy

The spatial hierarchy, which outlines Guildford's preferred strategy, does not match up with the proposed plan. The hierarchy places Brownfield sites (including those on Green Belt) as a priority, but the Plan has 66% of development on Greenbelt and only 34% on Brownfield. The hierarchy lists Guildford town and urban areas as a priority followed by inset villages and identified Green Belt villages. A relatively small percentage of housing is allocated for Guildford town (the most sustainable location) and Green Belt areas, such as Blackwell Farm, with high sensitivity have been classified as within the 'Guildford urban area' when they are in fact in the open countryside. We are told that only 1.6% of the 89% Green Belt has been earmarked for removal and that the 6% removed via insetting doesn't count as these villages are already developed. If this is the case, why list them in 4.1.16 of policy s2 - Spatial Strategy?

4.18 The preferred options cannot accommodate all that Guildford 'needs'. This is untrue. Two specialist consultants have independently critiqued the OAN and both question the level of uplift and the use of ONS data without full correction for changes and anomalies. They refer to 'double accounting' as the uplift is introduced at several stages and the assumptions that result in the final OAN are not explained. See comments on Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA).

Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA)
We Object

The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.

A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the SHMA method should be changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects of students on the figures.

The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to:

- failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
- issues with the way it considers students and affordability, and
- flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.

It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

Two additional reviews of the SHMA reach similar conclusions, one having been produced by CPRE and the other by Cllr. David Reeve.

The Land Assessment

We object

The exclusion of sites of 5 dwellings or fewer from the list might make administration easier, but the addition of these sites plus windfalls and outstanding (but current) permissions gives rise to a higher number of dwellings than is actually needed. There is therefore no justification for release of all the Green Belt put forward.

The criteria used to include or exclude sites because of this study lack consistency, with many sites excluded as 'unsuitable' with no further explanation offered (many of which were in the urban area of Ash). The assessment lacks objectivity and detail.

Green Belt & Countryside Study

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Study does not value appropriately the “fundamental aim” of Metropolitan Green Belt or look strategically at options for developing in major settlement areas beyond the Green Belt. It is pointless for London to apply constraints to protect its Green Belt if areas within it, such as Guildford, choose to ignore this option. It is the same Green Belt and serves the same purposes, all of which are acutely valuable.

The way Green Belt is parcelled up and scored is invalid: serving 2 Green Belt functions well is as legitimate as serving 3 to 5 functions less effectively. The Green Belt sensitivity analysis is not a valid basis for informing decisions. This method also omits purpose one, on the basis that all Green Belt sites encourage regeneration of urban sites. This should not be excluded for it is valid and could even be argued to be particularly valid in areas close to the town. Boundaries used for Blackwell Farm were neither permanent nor defensible.

Proposed removal from the Green Belt of a number of relatively small sites where development of an exceptional nature has taken place, plus adjoining land, has lost sight of the scale at which Green Belt is effective.

Assessment of which villages to take out of the Green Belt does not adequately consider that villages contribute to the openness of the Green Belt, as seen from surrounding AONB.

A key principle of Green Belt is its permanence. The University Consultants stated this 13 years ago when seeking permission to take Manor Farm out of the Green Belt to create Manor Park. They reassured residents that the boundary would not be frequently moved and that Blackwell Farm would be opened up to the public for “informal recreation”. The same Consultant has now repeated this promise in putting forward the University plans to develop on Blackwell Farm, saying that the new boundary would be permanent for at least 25 years!

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 2: Legal compliance

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

The Plan preparation process has had inadequate regard for national policy, which attaches “great importance” to the “openness” and “permanence” of Green Belt. The test of “exceptional circumstances” that might justify allocating Green Belt land for development in a Local Plan has not been rigorously and transparently applied at a strategic level.

The Sustainability Appraisal seems to have lost sight of the concept of Sustainable Development as described in the National Planning Policy Framework to the extent that we question whether it complies with the requirement.

The report states that there are no pollution issues in Guildford. This is not true. The A3 end of the B3000 exceeds Eu regulations and this should be flagged in the 2015/16 air quality report which the Council has yet to publish.

We object

The 2015/2016 air quality management report has not yet been published and this will/should include an area at the A3 end of Compton, which exceeds the recommended max NO2 reading. One year results for NOx are 48.728 with high's of 68 using National bias adjustment.

Cllr Furniss indicated that the location of the test tubes may have made them invalid, but measurements show that they were positioned correctly and monitored for over a year by GBC environment officers, who have now added additional monitoring devices (See Annex 1 – Correspondence between Cllr Curtis and Cllr Furniss). This area qualifies as an air quality management area (AQMA) and it is disingenuous to omit this from the report or to use an old report on the basis that the 2015 report is not yet published, as the problem is known and recognised by the environment department within GBC.

The traffic survey shows increases in overall flow at the B3000 monitoring point, of values between 5.6% and 16.5%. This would severely impact flow, which is not in line with National Policy as further congestion would exacerbate the current air quality issues as the A3 end of the Street.

We do not believe that a regulation 19 consultation is appropriate. Whilst few changes have been made, additional sites have been included without opportunity for regulation 18-consultation input.
The video used and paid for by GBC and taxpayers is biased towards development, and hence raises questions over the validity and legality of such marketing campaigns. All the individuals featured in the video, with the exception of one nurse have previously spoken in the Council Chamber in favour of house building/building on Blackwell Farm; and there is not a single voice representing protection of the Countryside or outstanding landscapes.

Document:  Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire):  (No)

We object

The plan is not so much positively prepared as avariciously prepared. We do not consider that it is reasonable to take on unmet need from neighbouring authorities, which have given greater protection to their Green Belt if it means our own is compromised on the scale being put forward.

We believe that constraints should be applied to the housing target, which we understand equates to the objectively assessed need (OAN) as no reasonable constraints have been applied. The constraints that could and should be applied are Greenbelt and considerable infrastructure issues. The solutions suggested to accommodate the inordinate levels of growth are both inadequate and costly and the net result will be serious debt for many years if not generations.

It was recommended by landscape consultant Alison Farmer Associates that the area known, as Blackwell Farm should be considered in the AONB boundary review, yet it was omitted in Surrey CC’s landscape evaluation. This meant the Parish Councils of Worplesdon, Compton and Wanborough had to fund an independent review to ascertain whether the area was a contender for AONB classification. The survey was carried out by in May 2016 by Land Management Services Ltd, which concluded that most of the 265 hectare farm was of a landscape and scenic quality that merited inclusion within Natural England’s revised Surrey Hills AONB boundary.

It raises serious question about the soundness of the evidence base when Surrey CC says that it only has to account for evidence submitted and not for that omitted? The area within the proposed development site at Blackwell Farm should now be considered by Surrey Hills as part of the AONB boundary review and land to the west should remain undeveloped, as it is important to the setting of the AONB.

The plan is not justified. Residents groups have suggested other strategies but these have not been tested or considered against the current trajectory, which has remained largely unchanged since day one.

Many aspects of the Plan were strongly objected to in 2014 and not only have these points been ignored, they have in fact been embellished or made worse. I refer to the points that GBC referred to in their own summary, which stated that most people objected to the scale of development and the harm to the Green Belt. At that time there were 4 strategic sites and now there are 5. At that time approx 50% of development was in Green Belt and now it is 66% with only 34% on previously developed sites. 58% of development is on just 5 sites.

A more realistic appraisal of the town centre with more multi-storey car park development and less retail would make way for a greater percentage of housing in the town centre, which is after all the most sustainable and sought after area. Additionally, greater pressure must be placed on the University to house more students at Manor Park in order to free up affordable rented accommodation in the town for key workers.

There is a conflict of interest when the developer (University) drags its feet over the provision of promised student accommodation (thereby putting pressure on the housing market) whilst at the same time seeking permission to build 1,800 new homes to help Guildford's need? The University is at least five years behind with programme of building student residences and staff housing. It is widely agreed among residents groups that the University must fulfil all of its current building plans and substantially increase the proportion of students on campus. If the University built the outstanding units, the housing need would reduce substantially yet much of this is omitted from the outstanding permissions list?

GBC has approached development without applying constraints that are applicable such as Green Belt and infrastructure. It is wholly inappropriate to build a Plan without constraints when there is widespread opposition to this approach. Furthermore, there are serious doubts over the validity of the objectively assessed housing need. Housing need underpins the entire plan, and we are being asked to accept the figure of 693 on trust. Without an understanding of the methodology behind the OAN, the public cannot 'buy into' this figure, especially as it has been illustrated by two reputable professionals that there have been errors such as 'double accounting', which has resulted in uplift. Both consultants have concluded that a more accurate figure would be around 500 new homes pa and the most recent one, which was done in pre Brexit-June 2016 acknowledges that due to the high number of International students here in Guildford a student SHMA would better inform this plan. Both consultants feel that the current SHMA is flawed and that the OAN of 693 is too high. These reviews will be submitted by CPRE and the GRA and we support the findings of both.

Putting 58% of development on 5 sites, which are within the Green Belt, or largely within the Green Belt, is not consistent with national policy. The definition of 'exceptional' is forming an exception or rare instance; unusual; extraordinary. What possible exceptional circumstances can justify 3 sites of approx 2,000 each and two of 1000 each, on Greenbelt. This makes a mockery of the term ‘exceptional’?

The plan has a maximum number and a hefty buffer. It has underestimated windfalls and overestimated need. It is likely therefore that if one of the major sites fails to come through, the Plan could still succeed in terms of numbers, but would fail in terms of impact on infrastructure and reliance on aspirational, but distant 'yet to be discussed' schemes such as railway stations, making the plan undeliverable. If more people are not given the opportunity to live in Guildford town, the night time economy cannot grow and if the gamble to use 40% of the land for retail fails, shops will close and we will have created a leafy green ghost town, whilst the villages outside the town will have changed beyond all recognition as the impact of urban sprawl takes its toll.

The plan puts many eggs into 5 baskets with 58% of all development on just 5 sites. If these are not deliverable, the plan will fail. This strategy has been roundly criticised by Inspectors in other parts of the country.

Taking on such a high OAN without scrutinising it and then taking land out of Green Belt to fulfil it, and using developer funding to secure infrastructure (which reduces significantly the proportion of affordable housing delivered) is destructive and risky.

It is inconceivable that 5 sites between 1,100 and 2,000+ each can be built on Green Belt land without affecting the purposes of the Green Belt.

AONB should be given the highest protection. Despite being put forward for AONB review Blackwell Farm was omitted and an independent consultant had to be commissioned by local parish councils. The findings showed that the area met Natural England’s latest criteria for AONB and should not therefore be developed but should instead be properly recognised.
The proposal at Blackwell Farm has been reduced from 2100 to 1800 to take account the impact on future AONB or for views in and out of the existing and future AONB from public areas as determined by planning policy. It is feared that if this site were approved and if access could be made possible without causing serious problems to the surrounding road network, that the AONB in this location would undoubtedly be destroyed.

GBC argues that it is necessary to remove more than 1.6% of its 89% Green Belt and to remove more than 6% of its Green Belt from villages (by way of insetting) in order to meet its need, yet at the same time the Council advocates making an additional area Green Belt? The area of land being put forward for inclusion within the Green belt is on the same ridge as two areas of Green Belt it wishes to remove (Normandy & Blackwell Farm). This approach lacks consistency.

Cllrs Paul Spooner and Matt Furniss have stated clearly that there will be no development without supporting infrastructure and that the infrastructure must come before, or alongside, development. It is difficult to see how this will materialise as developers’ CIL contributions (which will fund infrastructure) are paid from profits made from the development. This statement appears to be unenforceable and could offer false reassurance to residents who may support the Plan on this basis.

Developers are being asked to fund large amounts of infrastructure. They will offset this against any agreement for affordable housing and it is highly possible that affordable housing will not be built or that only a small proportion will be built. This was one of the key drivers and is factored into the housing need, yet may not be delivered. Where is the general analysis to see what level of affordable housing might actually be delivered given the level of infrastructure needed to implement this level of development on new sites?

The omission of the Town Centre Master Plan (on the basis that this has different timescales) invalidates two key components of the Plan - the Infrastructure and Highways assessments. The suggested road closures in the town centre and the resulting re-routing of traffic should be factored into the highways assessment, but they are currently omitted. The consequences of this could render the whole Plan undeliverable and I don’t believe the Plan can be approved without factoring in the Town Centre Master Plan.

GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA), which CPRE and GRA consider unsound. The methodology for the uplift and assumptions made have not been made available and thus the openness and transparency required for public understanding as outlined in the NPPF has not been adhered to.

We understand that Highways England will not start to consider its intentions as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018. It is difficult to see how plans can be approved without the inclusion of this information.

Network Rail has not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow, nor have we been told where the station car park would be situated nor how the railway bridge between Merrow and Burpham would be re-constructed to take the additional traffic. Likewise, there are no detailed plans for the railway station at Park Barn and Network Rail has not confirmed the status of either. These schemes must have a sounder footing to be included in the Plan if they are to be used to justify large developments nearby.

The access to, and from, Blackwell Farm (via the A31) has not been thought through. There proposed new route will likely be used as a rat run to the A3/Guildford, but this will put pressure on a congestion hot spot, and result in increased traffic at the Compton turn-off and Down Lane (home to Watts Gallery). It is also recognised that congestion at the Tesco roundabout will be made worse and this area is already subject to considerable problems. Additional traffic via the business park from Blackwell Farm will add to congestion at the Egerton roundabout and impede access for emergency services to the hospital.

The proposal at Blackwell Farm has been reduced from 2100 to 1800 to take account of the AONB, but this does not account for views in and out of the AONB from public areas.

The greenbelt sensitivity study is not objective. The reference to Blackwell Farm as 'South West Guildford Urban' is totally misleading as it is unadulterated countryside that fulfills all the purposes of Green Belt. We consider this Study, which was the subject of much criticism in the last plan, to be flawed, yet it remains in this Plan. We ask why?
The damage caused to the Green Belt by the addition of Blackwell Farm would outweigh benefits gained from development, as there is ample space and lapsed planning permission on the existing Manor Park land for development for student accommodation, which would free up affordable rented accommodation in the town.

The proposal for Garlic Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any consultation under Regulation 18.

No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Guildford citizens.

No land has been safeguarded for a tunnel, which would show a real intent.

This consultation included 'significant changes' according to GBC, although most residents would strongly dispute this. Some key reports were added and 6 weeks was not long enough to properly digest the information and impart this to residents. Many additional questions had to be asked and many points required clarification, which essentially meant adequate information, was not made available until two thirds of the way through the consultation.

The level of objection at the 2014 consultation was considerable - these objections have NOT been dealt with, but have been carried through to a regulation 19 consultation, undeterred. This is not in the spirit of Localism or the NPPF.

Cooperation is a two-way street. Guildford objected to Waverley's plans for Dunsfold on the grounds of increased traffic and in the same submission referred to positive consideration of unfulfilled OAN. Guildford also refers to its duty to consider Woking's unfulfilled housing. Guildford does not have land to spare to assist Waverley or Woking without taking vast amounts of land out of Green belt, which is protected by the NPPF. Greed is not 'an exceptional circumstance' and if both Woking and Waverley (and indeed London as it is the Metropolitan Green Belt) prefer to protect their Green Belt then the question must be asked as to why Guildford is happy to relinquish its Green Belt land, especially in the face of strong public opposition.

Many also question the choice of just Woking and Waverley as partners in the SHMA as there are considerable links with Aldershot and Farnborough in Rushmoor, which have very different needs and their inclusion could have provided a better balance.

Blackwell Farm strategic site is partly within the Parish of Compton and a representative from the Parish Council would wish to attend the examination.

The village of Compton will be severely affected by traffic and congestion if plans go ahead and hence we would also like to be present for discussions relating to infrastructure and highways.

Comment - Localism

The Plan is supposed to be informed by residents and by parish councils and residents' groups and their input used to formulate the Local Plan, not for it simply to be presented to them and objections and subsequent input ignored. Despite a great deal of effort from these groups and many like-minded responses, the Plan has not taken their concerns on board. The Plan has barely changed since day one and residents feel their views have been ignored and that the consultations have not been genuine. To add insult to injury, some of the key points raised have actually been exacerbated or made worse, such as the scale of development and harm to the Green Belt and issues over infrastructure.

The NPPF is open to interpretation, but it is our belief that GBC has chosen to interpret it in a way that lacks objectivity in an effort to appease developers in order to avoid costly court cases at a later stage. GBC has cited cases where development has been granted in an effort to justify this pro-development stance but has failed to balance this against the many sites where development has been refused.

To gain true public reaction, material presented has to be factual and unbiased and written without jargon and acronyms. This has not been the case. A degree of 'double speak' has led to absurdities such as 'affordable housing' which is over £300,000 i.e. ten times the average salary; 'safeguarding' which does not mean protection of land as most people would think, but rather potential future development and 'insetting' which means removal? It is recognised that these terms are not locally derived but all the same they are confusing for members of the public.

'About ancient woodlands, of course they are very attractive things, but they are ancient and trees don't last forever, so can we be practical about ancient woodlands and consider their value or their life, I should say, their life'

May 11th - Cllr Ellwood announced that he couldn't understand what all the fuss was about pollution as his Mother had lived (presumably unaffected by it) under the flight path at Heathrow?

Whilst people have been encouraged to take part in consultation, objectors have been subjected to name calling and public humiliation. There are too many examples to list and so I am listing the most recent. http://www.guildford-dragon.com/2016/07/10/letter-not-surprised-mr-patons-comparison/#comment-157440

The Local Plan has divided communities and highlighted weaknesses and alliances, which have resulted in a breakdown of trust between residents and those whose job it is to implement the Plan.

The Plan has been roundly criticized and objected to and yet it is presented to us once again. Many feel the consultations to date have been worthless and feel they have already made their points, which were ignored and will not therefore be making them again as they fail to see the point?

It simply is not possible to address infrastructure shortfalls by building in the hope that developers contributions will cover the costs as the level of development needed negates any benefits gained and in many cases, the situation is made worse.

Central government funding is needed to address current problems so that funding from development can be used to implement additional infrastructure needed to make new sites viable without damaging their surroundings. It must be accepted that geography and lack of previous investment leave some areas with less opportunity to do this than others.

Brownfield

Yes, we need a new Local Plan for our borough in order to provide a development strategy within which we can accommodate our local housing, economic and environmental needs. But first we must make good use of our urban brownfield before we consider building in the Green Belt or countryside. Paragraph 80 of the NPPF clearly states that Green Belt serves a key purpose, “to assist in urban regeneration, by encouraging the recycling of derelict land and other urban land”. In order to comply with central planning policy we need a brownfield strategy that states clearly. “We are committed to a brownfield first initiative whereby all applications on previously developed land are given fast track priority and every facility to promote development for residential purposes and employment purposes in order to satisfy the needs of local people. In parallel a low CIL incentive should be given for all residential development on brownfield land. In response to the detailed objections received in the Regulation 18 process of the 2014 Local Plan and also in accordance with government policy a Guildford brownfield land register should be urgently compiled showing address, ownership, occupier, current use and detailed planning brief. Perhaps someone could be appointed at GBC with a clear briefing to deliver brownfield targets of housing and employment space. GBC needs to accelerate the residential redevelopment at Woodbridge Meadows, Walnut Tree Close and the Station within the next 5 years. GBC needs to examine the residential development opportunity of the 25.7 acres of car parks in GBC ownership. We do not consider that the target of 1,172 homes in the town centre takes account of the need and demand for housing or the opportunities that brownfield sites present for increasing the residential development in the core of the town which will in itself help to sustain the retail core by increased economic impact. The Town Centre policy needs to maximise the potential for residential development on brownfield and include as an absolute minimum the 2,551 units proposed in by Allies and Morrison for the town centre included in the masterplan 2015 which has recently been adopted by GBC. The reality is that the Town Centre has the capacity for significantly more homes.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )

Policy A26: Blackwell Farm

1. The Save Hogs Back response to the June 2016 Pre-Submission Consultation (Regulation 19) provided a comprehensive set of reasons why the Blackwell Farm strategic development allocation was so unacceptable that the Council should not proceed with it. Apart from the serious environmental damage it would do, we questioned whether it was practicable. The June 2017 Consultation indicates both the determination of the Council to press ahead with this extraordinarily inappropriate scheme and also that it is trying to deny the implausibility of the development proceeding, if at all, without appalling consequences. Modest amendments have been made to various policies in the Plan, but collectively they demonstrate that after another 12 months of searching the Council has still found no solutions to the problems we identified.

2. The unresolved problems centre on access and egress. Although pitched as an urban extension to Guildford (in the Spatial Vision, in Policy A26 and in paragraphs 4.1.8 and 4.6.24), Blackwell Farm has proved impractical to integrate into the town despite its physical proximity. There are many facets to this, the main ones being:
   - the Blackwell Farm development cannot proceed without the capacity of the A3 trunk road being increased to bolster the strategic route in and out of Guildford, and the possibility of this happening is unknown;
   - movement between the development area and Guildford, which is already extremely congested, would be substantially more impeded by the development;
   - alternative means of access to the development area would have both significant practical problems and significant adverse consequences for the highway network;
   - the ‘Sustainable Movement Corridor’ to tackle that congestion is most unlikely to be effective on the scale necessary to resolve access issues and will fail in its key role of reducing congestion;
   - the combined effect of the Blackwell Farm development and the A3 widening through Guildford (itself needed in part because of Blackwell Farm) would be to raise substantially the Nitrogen Dioxide levels in Compton on the B3000 still further above legal limits at the most polluted point in the Borough.

In each case the Proposed Submission Local Plan has wholly failed to show that the Blackwell Farm development is practicable. We examine these in more detail below, after showing that the pressure on the road network in the vicinity of Blackwell Farm will be discernibly greater than forecast only one year ago.

Traffic generation in relation to road capacity

3. Mouchel have pointed out, in advice submitted by Highways England in response to the Proposed Local Plan 2016, that there are significant limitations in the evidence presented in the Strategic Highways Assessment Report (SHAR) accompanying the Proposed Submission Plan in June 2016 which affect Blackwell Farm:

- the traffic generation model used in the Local Plan allows no merge delay at junctions: this is clearly not the case at present and is not claimed by GBC to be the case even after new road infrastructure has been built. As Mouchel point out, the effect of the model is to make the A3 and A31 particularly attractive roads because they are assumed to be readily accessible and to draw traffic towards them, whereas in reality there will be less ready access and greater use of the local road network;
- the model uses average peak period traffic movement figures across the three hour period 07.00-10.00, which will tend to understate movements in the true peak hour (circa 08.00-09.00). That will have a significant impact on congestion during periods when the network is most heavily used and, in the vicinity of Blackwell Farm, overloaded.

4. The SHAR indicated that the total vehicle generation anticipated by the Blackwell Farm development would be 717 vehicles leaving in the weekday average morning peak hour (Table 3.3, zone 576). How these vehicles would get out of Blackwell Farm has not only made no progress but deteriorated. There are some indications of this in the County Council as Highways Authority and Highways England responsible for the A3), the prospect of adequate network

8. In the 12 months since the 2016 Proposed Submission Consultation by the Borough Council (working with Surrey County Council as Highways Authority and Highways England responsible for the A3), the prospect of adequate network road access to Blackwell Farm has not only made no progress but deteriorated. There are some indications of this in the alterations in the June 2017 Proposed Submission:
– the proposed link with the A31 has been downgraded from its ‘primary’ status and by default the link with Guildford is now presented as of equal significance (Policy A26 Infrastructure Requirements item 1); there are various reasons for this, explored below, but fundamentally the Council has been unable to find a way of making the link with the A31 work as it wanted;

– a major new secondary school with six form entry must now be provided on the Blackwell Farm site, which was previously sited elsewhere (Policy A26 Allocation item 9): a school of this size (circa 900 students comprising 180 students in each year group for five school years) would generate a very substantial amount of additional traffic, bringing in about 600 students daily from outside Blackwell Farm, much of it attracted from Guildford, but there have been no changes at all to the proposed capacity of the road network to accommodate this, which can only mean still worse congestion on Egerton Road and the surrounding network than inevitable anyway;

– proposals in principle are now included for limiting the road users on the new route linking to the A31 (Policy A26 Infrastructure Requirements item 3), but these are deliberately left vague as the Council has been unable to find a way of achieving this despite trying to do so for the last year;

– the developer of Blackwell Farm (ultimately University of Surrey) must contribute to funding improvements to the local road network necessitated by the scheme, but this must now have “regard to the Sustainable Movement Corridor Supplementary Planning Document”: as this SPD has not yet been published even in draft, the policy change demonstrates a remarkable lack of clarity about the role of the SMC in relation to Blackwell Farm (where it will go, how it will be built, who pays for it and how it links into the wider network) and creates an open-ended commitment which could affect the viability and deliverability of Blackwell Farm;

– the new Policy A59 has given a clearer specification of the need for a new railway station at Park Barn near the northern end of Blackwell Farm, with access from both the north and south sides: the access from the south will generate additional traffic affecting the roads to Blackwell Farm, especially in peak periods, which has been neglected in the calculation of traffic generation and the modelling of its distribution to the road network, again placing additional stress on already massively overloaded roads in peak periods.

These changes are additional to the increased traffic on Egerton Road and the surrounding network arising in any event from development planned or under construction at Manor Park and at the existing Research Park.

Traffic on the A3

9. Guildford Borough Council has adopted conflicting positions regarding its intentions for traffic on the A3 through Guildford.

10. The Council has endorsed a study commissioned in 2014 from Arup Guildford Town and Approaches Movement Study, a vision statement on transport in Guildford to 2050. This is the basis for the Sustainable Movement Corridor now promoted through the Local Plan by the Council (see paragraphs 51-53 below). However, the Arup study was clear that the purpose of the A3 should be to concentrate through-Guildford movements on this road, assisted by inhibiting its use for local movements. The study recommended: “Interventions in this strategy that reduce roadspace in the town centre should serve to deter through traffic in the town; they should also reduce short journeys on the A3 within the town (for example, trips from the Surrey Research Park to the town centre via the A3) that will free up capacity for longer distance trips on the A3 trunk road”.

11. The Arup study was clear that there should be no capacity increase on the A3 trunk road through the town: “In the appraisal of interventions undertaken for this study, all potential interventions that increased road capacity, including A3 interventions (widening, northern bypass, tunnel) and additional road links in the town centre, resulted in increased traffic levels in the long term over and above business-as-usual changes (i.e. in 2031 compared to the 2031 Business-As-Usual). Vehicle mileage increased by up to 2% across the borough and highway delay increased by up to 16%, with associated deterioration in air quality, noise impacts, land use impacts and Save Hogs Back & Compton PC 5 by Green Balance severance. These interventions are therefore not included in the strategy as they do not strongly support the multi-faceted headline vision for sustainable mobility in the town of Guildford identified to guide the development of the strategy.”

12. However, this study is increasingly being compromised. Arup’s limitation on using the A3 is wholly at odds with the approach which Guildford BC is taking in practice. The Council has decided that the Blackwell Farm development cannot proceed without substantially increased capacity on the A3. The last sentence of the 2017 Local Plan’s ‘Spatial Vision’ states: “The delivery of housing in the later stages of the plan period is dependent upon major improvement to the A3 through Guildford”. This is due to existing major peak hour congestion on the A3 (Local Plan paragraph 2.14a). The June 2016 Strategic Highway Assessment Report concluded that “the results of this assessment indicate that should the [DfT’s] Road Investment Strategy schemes [which include major A3 capacity increases through Guildford] not be forthcoming then the residual cumulative impact of the Proposed Submission Local Plan on the highway network could be considered severe…. To avoid this occurring in such circumstances of the RIS schemes not being forthcoming, then the quantum and location of development as proposed may have to be amended” (page 63, emphasis added). This was confirmed in the 2017 Addendum for the revised Proposed Submission Local Plan (Conclusion, page 2).

13. The Local Plan therefore aspires to a very substantial increase in the capacity of the A3, not least to facilitate car-borne travel to and from the major developments planned at Blackwell Farm (and Gosden Hill Farm). The Spatial Vision states: “The Department for Transport’s Road Investment Strategy includes schemes for the A3 Guildford and the M25 Junction 10/A3 Wisley interchange. Early, targeted improvement schemes to deliver road safety and some congestion relief on the A3 in Guildford will be delivered within the plan period.”

Paragraph 4.6.14 specifically explains the intention of Policy ID2 ‘Supporting the DfT’s “Road Investment Strategy”’ as including the identified:

“Scheme with construction anticipated to commence in Road Period 2 (2020/21 to 2024/25):
- A3 Guildford – improving the A3 in Guildford from the A320 to the Hogs Back junction with the A31, with associated safety improvements.”

14. In the last twelve months, the likelihood of any of this happening has been slipping away. The Local Plan has now been altered with the deletion from paragraph 4.6.18 of the option of a tunnel under Guildford, so that a road widening scheme is now the most likely option (even if a tunnel remains the Borough Council’s preferred option – see Topic Paper: Transport paragraph 5.101). Exactly what is intended is still hugely unclear: the Infrastructure Schedule for this project in Appendix 3 shows that what is proposed is so vague that it may cost anything between £100m and £250m (project SRN5). Only a brief examination of the A3 through Guildford will in any event show just how difficult, costly and enormously environmentally damaging would be any attempt to add significant extra capacity in each direction to the A3.

15. Also deleted is paragraph 4.6.17 which had stated “Guildford Borough Council and Highways England are in the process of agreeing a Statement of Common Ground which sets out assumptions regarding both the performance and safety outcomes that the RIS schemes can be expected to realise”. This is said to be because an SoCG is likely to be agreed closer to the Examination (Topic Paper: Transport paragraph 5.14), but we would not be surprised if Highways England is unable to make the commitment the Borough Council seeks.

16. Highways England itself is doubtful about how much can be achieved on the A3 and by when. Its response to the Proposed Submission LP on 18 July 2016 stated: “There is still a level of uncertainty on precisely what improvements on the A3 can be delivered and the quantum of growth any potential improvements will facilitate during the Local Plan period.” A Technical Note supporting that submission, prepared by Mouchel, was more precise:

“It should be noted that the A3 RIS 2 scheme is not a committed scheme and no funding has been allocated at present. The details of the RIS 2 A3 Guildford scheme itself are not yet known and so the modelling and testing of an A3 scheme at this stage is considered premature. As such Highways England's view is that this scheme cannot be relied upon by Local Plans to form mitigation for the development proposals.”

17. So far as we are aware, this remains the position in July 2017. The response subsequently advised that the inadequate evidence base meant that the Plan was considered unsound.

18. Guildford BC found this response hugely inconvenient and persuaded Highways England to withdraw this statement after a meeting on 1 September 2016. Highways England’s letter on 5 October 2016 doing this stated instead (with our emphasis added):

“You will be aware that Highways England is currently developing options for a potential scheme on the A3 in Guildford, capable of being delivered in the next roads period (2020-2025), subject to the normal value for money being applied. The scheme proposes widening the existing carriageway to provide additional capacity and safety improvements between the A31 Farnham Road and the A3/A320 Stoke Road. The design of such a scheme is complex and needs to consider a number of potential options, a process which takes time to complete. We will continue close working with Guildford Borough Council and Surrey County Council to progress the development of the potential scheme.

We note that the delivery of housing in the later stages of the plan period is dependent upon a major improvement to the A3 through Guildford. It is essential that the Local Plan provides the planning policy framework to ensure development does not come forward in advance of critical infrastructure. As a result of clarification received at our recent meeting, it is now understood how the Local Plan intends to do this. Therefore we wish to formally withdraw our representation to this policy.”

19. While Highways England is urging caution, Guildford’s Local Plan continues to make highly questionable assumptions. On timing, Appendix C claims that the A3 capacity increase will be ‘delivered’ between 2023 and 2027. This conflicts with paragraph 4.6.14 of the Plan (above) which expects construction to begin three years earlier. Delivery in 2023-27 is itself barely consistent with the Council’s own Topic Paper: Transport at paragraph 5.88, which reports that “Highways England has advised that, if a scheme is approved with funding agreed, construction is unlikely to be start[ed] until 2024 at the earliest, with construction taking 2½ years.” This would mean that the capacity would only become available in 2027 at the earliest, in effect postponing by some years the Plan’s aspiration for A3 widening.

20. On funding, there is no clarity where the money for A3 widening would come from, even if it did surprisingly pass the value-for-money test. The proposed submission Local Plan has been amended from one year ago in the Infrastructure Schedule in Appendix C to give the impression that developers are now expected to foot more of the bill, further adversely affecting the viability and deliverability of Blackwell Farm. The change states the funding source will be ‘Highways England and developer funded’ instead of ‘Highways England and developer contributions’.

21. Finally, the exorbitantly expensive, damaging and disruptive widening of the A3 cannot be expected to achieve its objective of alleviating traffic flows sufficiently to accommodate effectively traffic from Blackwell Farm. Congestion will, remarkably, be worse with the A3 widened than without it. The SHAR reports in paragraphs 4.8.4-6:

“4.8.4 Table 4.1b shows in the PM peak that while the network performs better in Scenario 5 [i.e. with the A3 widening in place] compared with Scenario 3, it is still worse than in Scenario 1 with vehicle hours higher and vehicle speeds lower by 12% and 2% respectively.

4.8.5 As noted above in Section 4.5, the capacity increases on the M25 and A3 result in some high flow increases as trips re-route to make use of the improvements. In turn, this affects roads approaching the A3, such as the A320, A31, A25 and B3000. These also see high flow increases with some, such as the A320, experiencing a significant deterioration in the Level of Service.

4.8.6 It should be noted that despite these improvements, Figure 4.7 shows the A3 is still operating overcapacity with resulting impacts on congestion.”

22. The Borough Council’s own evidence in both the SHAR and Arup report is that widening the A3 will increase congestion in the town rather than relieve it, with associated deterioration in air quality, noise impacts, land use impacts and severance. Blackwell Farm would damage the whole of Guildford. The likelihood of the A3 capacity being increased is less now than it was one year ago. So far as we can see, the ‘do nothing’ option for the A3 remains squarely on the table and is an increasingly likely outcome.

23. In summary, the evidence on the A3 consolidated during the last year shows that it is currently simply not known:
– if a suitable widening scheme can be designed and if so how much it would cost;
– whether the scheme would meet ‘value for money’ tests;
– whether the money for it could be found;
– whether the A3 capacity could be increased in time to assist the development of Blackwell Farm during the Plan period, as the earliest provision date would be 2027 (and probably later).
Finally, even if built, the widening of the A3 would generate congestion in Guildford rather than relieve it and would itself be even more over-capacity than it is now. The Borough Council’s reliance on the A3 capacity improvement is foolhardy in the extreme. Not proceeding with the Blackwell Farm development would be a far superior option.

24. The Council recognises that the Blackwell Farm development cannot proceed until the A3 has been widened, but realises that this cannot be achieved until, at best, near the end of the Plan period. As a result of the lack of progress in agreeing A3 capacity increases, the rate of provision of houses in Policy S2, which was back-end loaded in the 2016 Proposed Submission, is now in the 2017 Proposed Submission still more heavily skewed towards the end of the plan period. The 2019-20 provision has been dropped from 500 to 450, while the annual provision in the last three years of the Plan has been raised from 790 to 850. There is insufficient evidence to show that 850 dwellings per annum could be constructed and sold in the Borough in those last three years: the numbers reflect not how the housing market works, but the contortions which the Council has gone through to square its housing provision numbers with the aspirational timetable for the widening of the A3. A far superior option in both housing and transport terms would be to abandon both the Blackwell Farm development and the A3 widening (which in part is justified by Blackwell Farm as well as facilitating it).

Junction with the A31

25. The principle of a new signalised junction on the A31 to facilitate access to Blackwell Farm is project LRN3 in the Infrastructure Schedule. The Plan accompanying Policy A26 Blackwell Farm is unchanged from June 2016. It continues to show a road access at a widened junction of Down Place with the A31, passing over the A31 slip road onto the A3 northbound. Our response to the June 2016 Consultation demonstrated, in a commissioned report from transport specialists, that the proposed signalised junction at Down Place with the A31 would be most unlikely to function effectively. Furthermore, Surrey County Council’s Strategic Highway Assessment Report June 2016 shows that the new junction would cause all users on average a 35 second delay compared with no junction (Table 4.11). In the last twelve months the Borough Council has been forced by a Freedom of Information request to release a sketch map provided by the University of Surrey showing the latest proposals for this access. This involves a junction slightly west of the site originally intended but shows no distance measurements. Also it shows an extra westbound lane for traffic on the A31 over-bridge but no bridge widening. There appears to be no proposal to co-ordinate this junction with improvements to the Down Lane junction on the opposite side of the A31 slightly to the east, even though the creation of the Down Place access could ordinarily be expected to generate significant additional use of Down Lane.

26. The lack of transparency by the Council is significant: unless demonstrated otherwise, we consider that the proposed access at Down Place is likely to remain impractical for the following reasons.
– There does not appear to be sufficient road width for the proposed junction.
– A signalled junction is likely to be over-capacity at peak periods.
– Travellers leaving Blackwell Farm this way in the morning peak will suffer major tailbacks due to the overloaded A31 eastbound inhibiting left turns (the peak flow direction).
– Widening of the A3 over-bridge may well still be necessary at vast cost.
– Only a very environmentally damaging roundabout in the AONB on the top of the Hog’s Back (previously opposed by Borough Councillors) could be sure of accommodating likely flows.

Access road between the A31 and Blackwell Farm
27. Project LRN4 in the Infrastructure Schedule is an access road at Blackwell Farm with a through link to Egerton Road. The Plan continues to give the misleading impression that “The design of the improved Down Place access road or a new adjacent parallel access road will be sympathetic to its setting variously within the AONB and AGLV” (Infrastructure Requirements item 2). A significant road connecting to the A31 could not possibly be achieved by an ‘improved Down Place access road’, the route of which is narrow, lined by mature trees on both sides, and includes a significant sharp bend, while any alternative could not possibly be sympathetic to the AONB and AGLV. The construction of an access road through an AONB to a new urban extension would be major development in its own right. This could only be justified in AONB policy terms if there were exceptional circumstances. There are none of these and none are claimed or demonstrated.

28. The principal difficulty which has arisen in the last year regarding the new link road is that the Council has been unable to find a workable solution for the local road network. The Council wants residents of Blackwell Farm and employees at the Research Park to be able to enter and leave either in the Guildford direction or the A31 direction, but it does not want most other drivers to use the same roads if they don’t really need to be there. There appear to be two intentions: to constraining drivers who are just passing through – so as to avoid rat-running (especially necessary if a direct through route can be found south of Manor Copse) – and to avoid attracting drivers who currently use Egerton Road. In both cases the intention is to avoid causing adverse network effects if drivers divert onto the new link, e.g. rat-runners overloading Egerton Road still further, or the new access prompting more traffic on the A31.

29. Policy A26 in the June 2017 Proposed Submission Local Plan sets out its solution: to provide a new route “between the A31 Farnham Road and Egerton Road” for “employees and emergency vehicles” (only) to the Surrey Research Park, the University of Surrey’s Manor Park campus and the Royal Surrey County Hospital. We address in this section the practicality of selecting users for the public highway. However, the matter is also linked to the separate issue of how to link Blackwell Farm into Egerton Road, the main road into Guildford (see paragraphs 47-50).

30. We have tried for the last year to obtain from Guildford BC and the County Highways Authority an understanding of exactly how users of the proposed new road network would be restricted to those people deemed suitable, with everyone else barred. No credible explanation has been provided. The matter is completely ignored in the Borough Council’s Topic Paper: Transport (June 2017) and Strategic Highway Assessment Report Addendum (June 2017), and is restated but not explained in Guildford Borough Transport Strategy 2017 (June 2017). This is an issue which cannot be brushed under the carpet because it lies at the heart of the credibility of the link to the A31.

31. The local authorities have been thinking about the issues raised but failed to find an answer after another year of investigating. Surrey County Council has indicated that its preferred option is the use of Automatic Number Plate Recognition (ANPR) coupled with a permit system. However, there is a general right of public access on the public highway without the State snooping on who uses it by means of cameras, so the legality and practicality of any control system remains to be resolved. For this method to function, therefore, we anticipate that cameras would have to monitor passage on private roads, raising the prospect that Blackwell Farm might not be fully accessible on the public road network. It remains unclear what would happen to drivers whose number plates were not ‘authorised’ to use the road, or how they could be discouraged from arriving in the first place. If there was a system of fines for unauthorised use of the road link, this would require the co-operation of public authorities in perpetuity (which would need to have ongoing funding from the development). With private roads, control of the network would be lost to a private interest whose priorities might not always be the same as those of a public authority. Rights of access to the private roads could at any time be changed by the landowner by reference to which vehicles were allowed passage, when, at what cost, or in other ways. We would expect an urban extension to Guildford reliant on access and egress by private roads to be fundamentally unacceptable.

32. It is unclear whether Guildford BC appreciates the impracticability of the proposed differentiation between acceptable and banned users of the road. There will be thousands of ‘legitimate’ drivers resident in the Blackwell Farm housing development. There will be many hundreds of employees in the Research Park and its proposed extension. There will be hundreds of staff on the Manor Park campus and at the Hospital. Identifying these individuals and, specifically, the cars they will be driving would be a nightmare, made worse by staff turnover and churn in the occupancy of the housing development. Legitimate individuals may have good cause to use alternative cars. The newly introduced secondary school would be largely (two thirds) for the benefit of non-residents of the Blackwell Farm development, so large numbers of drivers can be expected to arrive from elsewhere using the link road, and would need to be registered. Many others will claim legitimate cause for registration on the ANPR system, such as staff at the Nuffield Hospital as well as the County Hospital, employees of shops and services in the area, taxi drivers and so on. The system of registration would become very large and unwieldy, requiring continual (and rapid) update, at real cost. A reliable and effective appeal system would be needed, but the frustrations of both registered and especially non-registered users of the road are still entirely foreseeable.

33. As the transport consultant to Compton and Worplesdon Parish Council notes, the inevitable complexity of an ANPR process raises a series of questions related to site deliverability such as:
   i) Will the developer provide for the financial enforcement costs of the link road restrictions in perpetuity? Is this included within the £20million cost for LRN4?
   ii) Will Surrey Police provide the enforcement of the ANPR in perpetuity?
   iii) How will all of the people who will be granted access to use the road be differentiated from through traffic?

34. Answers to these questions and resolving other practical concerns are fundamental to the successful deliverability of the vehicular link road and the urban extension as a whole. The road must not attract unwanted road users, but must still achieve the aim of serving all of the desired users. So far the Council has offered no commentary at all on how these awkward issues might be resolved, or on how the use of private roads to achieve a public purpose can be made to function without unacceptable risks of unilateral action by the landowner.

35. The outcome seems to us clearly inevitable if a link road is built. It will not be workable. Instead of a costly system of registration, fines, appeals, etc., the greater likelihood is that the foreseeable cacophony of opposition to a system which appears indiscriminate, unfair and ineffective will cause the system of ANPR and registration to be abandoned in a short order of time. All the disadvantages of the link road to the wider network would then be realised.

Impact of the link road on air quality in Compton

36. New information on air quality has become available since the consultation on the Proposed Submission Local Plan in 2016. In particular, Guildford Borough Council has issued an admirably brief and clear 2016 Air Quality Annual Status Report, September 2016. This shows that a specific area of the B3000 road through the village of Compton (in whose parish Blackwell Farm partially lies) has one air quality monitoring position which consistently reveals concentrations of Nitrogen Dioxide (NO2) well in excess of the legal limit adjacent to a dwelling (and the highest figure in the Borough). This is the only location in the Borough where this combination arises. (There were two other places with lesser exceedance of the legal limit, but one was located well away from dwellings and the other was unreliable having only 33% data capture rather than the 75% required.) Other monitoring positions nearby in Compton had NO2 pollution approaching the legal limit.

37. There is no doubt whatever about the cause of the pollution problem: through traffic passing through the village. Large numbers of cars pass through and lorries on the relatively narrow road can cause additional congestion. Further monitoring and modelling is taking place to ascertain whether any further action is required, notably using Advanced Dispersion Modelling Software (since June 2016). The Guildford Borough Transport Strategy 2017 reports that in respect of Compton “The Council is considering whether to declare an Air Quality Management Area and, working with Surrey County Council, will use the results of an ongoing study looking at the pattern of daily exposure to design and implement appropriate mitigating measures” (page 19). The Council has proposed no means of achieving in the short term a permanent reduction in traffic volumes through Compton. On the face of it, an AQMA may well therefore already be needed: under its legal duties the Council must designate one if it is unlikely that the objective values (i.e. less than 40g/μm3) will be met in a given timescale, and the Council must then prepare an Air Quality Action Plan (AQAP) with the aim of achieving value objectives.

38. The vehicle count through Compton will rise alarmingly if the Blackwell Farm development and the associated A3 widening are built, inevitably necessitating an AQMA and with little or no prospect of an AQAP being effective. For vehicle impacts, the SHAR treats development of Blackwell Farm and accesses to it as a two-stage process: ‘Scenario 3’ involves the construction of key highway schemes providing access to large development sites (incl. Blackwell Farm) and local highway schemes, while ‘Scenario 5’ involves the widening of the A3 at Guildford (A320 Stoke interchange junction to A31 Hog’s Back junction). The traffic consequences of each are modelled separately. In practice, as established in paragraph 12 above, there is common ground between the Borough Council, County Council and Highways England that the Blackwell Farm development cannot proceed until the A3 has been widened, so in practice the highways impacts of the site access road and A3 widening are additional if Blackwell Farm is to proceed.
39. The SHAR shows in Figure 4.3 for the morning peak hour that 275 vehicles will leave the A31 at Down Place (for Blackwell Farm, the Surrey Research Park and County Hospital). Paragraph 4.7.5 suggests that these are trips which primarily have their origin in the west, (though the likelihood is that many of them will have actually their origin in the south: traffic from Godalming and Farncombe, for example, could access the A31 at the Puttenham junction and then head for the Research Park or Hospital while avoiding Guildford.) In short, a proportion of the 275 vehicles using the Down Place junction under Scenario 3 will have passed through Compton. Unfortunately, the network effects diagram shown in Figure 4.3 does not extend southwards to Compton to identify an indicative number.

40. The SHAR then indicates the impact of Scenario 5 compared with Scenario 3. This is reported for Compton in Table 4.5, showing that the B3000 through Compton will have one of the highest absolute increases in flow arising from the widening of the A3, with an additional 145 vehicles per hour in the morning peak, representing a further 16% increase in traffic through Compton. The Table notes that both under Scenario 3 (even without the A3 widening) and under Scenario 5 the Level Of Service on the road would be category E: ‘Unstable flow operating at capacity’. The outcome could be even worse: the SHAR notes at paragraph 4.7.5 that potentially the number of drivers attracted to use the new Down Place to Blackwell Farm link could be somewhat higher as the model cannot accurately reflect the queuing that occurs on the nearside lane of the A31 as it approaches the merge with the A3. If so, the numbers passing through Compton could be expected to increase proportionately.

41. The evidence is clear that the combined effect of the Local Plan’s proposals for the Down Place link road to Blackwell Farm and the A3 will greatly increase traffic through Compton which in turn will have an inevitable and appalling impact on air quality (which already exceeds legal limits at one location). Despite this, the Council is in denial about the air quality impacts of its Proposed Submission Local Plan 2017. Aecom have prepared for the Borough Council an Air Quality Review of Guildford Borough proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites “June 2017”, but this completely fails to appreciate the relationship between the Blackwell Farm development, the proposed road infrastructure developments and air quality at Compton. It provides a series of unwise statements:

(i) “it is predicted that if little development takes place within the area and vehicles emissions are reduced by technological advances these objective exceedance should reduce to below the objective in to the future, without additional measures being required locally” (section 2.3). The reference to little development in the area is absurd: a major urban extension is proposed in the Parish. The suggestion that technological advances in emissions will solve the problem is fanciful in anything other than the long term, whereas there is an immediate need for action to reduce vehicle passage through Compton.

(ii) “The assessment identified a risk of exceedance if traffic flows, primarily on the B3000, increased. The area was not declared as an AQMA as the assessment noted that emissions from traffic were expected to decrease into the future which should lead to a decrease in NO2 concentrations measured in the area” (section 4.1). This finding is simply wrong: Table 4.5 of the SHAR anticipates a 16% increase in traffic in Compton from the A3 widening, not counting any increase generated along the Down Place link road.

(iii) A review of Policy A26 Blackwell Farm (section 5.2.2.1) recognises that “A large development such as this is likely to have an impact on local air quality as there are likely to be large changes to traffic flows on nearby roads and thus impacts on pollutant concentrations”, but failed to realise the consequences for Compton, even though this is nearby and clearly the place with the worst NO2 pollution recording in the Borough (which should obviously be one of the first places to examine for air quality consequences).

(iv) A review of the air quality impact of the Local Plan on Compton (section 5.2.4) similarly fails to appreciate the evidence. This states in full: “There is one large land allocation within the parish of Compton, A26 Blackwell Farm, discussed above. The additional traffic flows predicted to be generated by this development are not predicted to have a significant adverse effect on air quality in the area of the village of Compton. There are no other large allocations local to Compton Village. As a result the implementation of the GBC Draft Local Plan should have little effect on future traffic flows through the area and thus negligible impact on local air quality.”

(v) Rather than address the air quality consequences of Blackwell Farm at the Local Plan stage, when decisions can still affect air quality in Compton, Aecom choose to defer any consideration of the issue until a time when little can be done about it. On four occasions in the Executive Summary the issue is recommended as a matter which can be dealt with ‘through the planning application process’. Once allocations of land are made for development, strategic reasons for resisting them (e.g. on air quality grounds) are typically overruled as matters which should have been resolved at the plan-making stage. Leaving air pollution consequences of proposed development until the planning application stage is an exercise in trying to sweep the issue under the carpet.

42. Aecom’s recommendations in section 5.4 recognise that “The increase in traffic flows associated with the implementation of the Draft Local Plan are predicted to be in the region of 12,500-17,000 vehicles per day on the Guildford Bypass [A3]”, but seem to assume – extraordinarily – that no extra vehicles will pass through Compton (despite the evidence in the SHAR). In our view, the Aecom report and its recommendations represent a significant failure to respond to clear evidence of the air quality damage that the Blackwell Farm development as a whole and the associated A3 widening would inflict upon Compton, about which little could then be done in the short term. We wholly disagree with its approach, which could threaten life-expectancy in Compton.

43. It is hardly surprising that air quality is barely mentioned in the Sustainability Appraisal and treated as a minor issue, as Aecom also prepared this for the Borough Council: paragraph 10.7.1 final indent merely recommends that ‘detailed modelling’ is undertaken close to where very large increases in traffic flows are expected. Paragraph 10.7.7 concludes “Proposed changes to the spatial strategy have little or no implications for health, whilst proposed changes to site specific policy (particularly regarding air quality; see discussion above), responding to the Air Quality Review (2017), are supportive of good health.” Again key decisions are to be left until too late until the planning application stage, with both the SA (at paragraph 10.7.1) and the Air Quality Review (at page 5) recommending that ‘potential air quality issues’ should be added to the list of ‘key considerations’ at the end of the main urban development allocation policies, including Policy A26 Blackwell Farm. This has been taken up by the Borough Council. However, the SA fails to address the key issue that needs resolution now: how to stop additional traffic being attracted through Compton or reduce it.

Connection to Guildford

Linking the Research Park Extension to the road network

44. The expansion of the Surrey Research Park and the creation of the Blackwell Farm estate are treated as part of the same development in Policy A26. In access terms it is more sensible to consider them separately. The Research Park proposal is for an Extension of 10-11ha, which would be to the north-west of the current Research Park. Access would be straightforward from Guildford: via Egerton Road and Gill Avenue, via the roundabout serving the Research Park by the Occam Road/Priestley Road loop, and by making an extension to Stephenson Way. A road serving the Extension could be taken through the mature hedgerow separating the existing Research Park from Blackwell Farm at a point close to and parallel to the railway line. Stephenson Way has been constructed to allow further extension of the roadway in this location (also giving access to some of the last remaining large vacant sites on the current Research Park). Proposals for the Sustainable Movement Corridor in the June 2016 ‘Progress update’ as part of the evidence base for the Proposed Submission Local Plan at that time were consistent with this. They showed in Figure 5 a schematic route for the SMC. This is reproduced on page 16 of the Guildford Borough Transport Strategy 2017. At its western end this turns north from Gill Avenue, apparently to follow Occam Road and Priestley Road, before making a westward thrust into the Research Park extension area (though whether north or south of Surrey Satellite Technology is difficult to say from the scale of the plan provided).
So far as the Research Park Extension is concerned, that would seem to be an understandable direction in which to take the Sustainable Movement Corridor.

45. However, this arrangement would introduce development into Green Belt and the setting of the AONB at Blackwell Farm, breach the excellent existing screening of development from the west, add substantial additional traffic to the heavily congested Egerton Road, and in all likelihood be opposed by existing users of the Research Park who would be unlikely to want a significant thoroughfare in their midst. We therefore consider this proposal unacceptable. We note, too, that the proposed SMC may now stop short of the Research Park Extension (at the roundabout on Gill Avenue at the top of the hill), as indicated in the Sustainable Movement Corridor – Update 20 February 2017 in Figure 4. How or whether the SMC would link into Blackwell Farm or the Research Park Extension has become a mystery.

46. We do not accept that the sensibilities of existing staff in the current Research Park should dictate the most appropriate access route to a Research Park Extension. However, if the intention (and this is unstated in the Local Plan) is that the Research Park Extension could only proceed if a new road link was made to it from the A31, to avoid access only through the existing Research Park, there would be even less justification for the development going ahead. Not only would the scheme still intrude into Green Belt and the setting of the AONB at Blackwell Farm. It would also be partly responsible for requiring major development of a road in the AONB and so could only be justified in ‘exceptional circumstances’ (which it has neither claimed nor demonstrated). Given that the Extension would now be physically separate from the existing Research Park, it would be unable to claim Blackwell Farm as an essential location. So far as we can see, the Extension does not need to be in this location at all, and a more fundamental review of its future location would be in order. That would also help avoid traffic growth on Egerton Road.

Linking Blackwell Farm to Egerton Road and the Tesco roundabout

47. How the Borough Council and the County Highways Authority propose to link the Blackwell Farm development into Egerton Road preferably via Gill Avenue, in accordance with the Proposed Submission Local Plan 2017 Policy A26, remains unclear. It is important to appreciate that, after another year of investigation, the Council is no closer to finding a workable means of channelling traffic out of Blackwell Farm towards Guildford or back into it, let alone linking this access with the proposed new access to the A31. One option has recently been lost by the construction of the substantial School of Veterinary Medicine on the line of one possible access road. We consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan to be derelict in its duty to demonstrate how such a major urban development on the edge of Guildford can in reality be linked into the fabric of the town. The Borough Council is plainly having great difficulty finding a suitable access route. We strongly recommend that the Local Plan should not be submitted for Examination unless this route can be clearly identified first.

Impact of Blackwell Farm and the Research Park development on the local road network

48. Egerton Road is one of the worst congestion hotspots in Guildford and the wider area. Egerton Road provides the main access to the Surrey Royal County Hospital and a superstore, and the only access to Surrey University’s Manor Park student village, Surrey Sports Park and the entirety of Surrey Research Park. The demand for access to all these Save Hogs Back & Compton PC 16 by Green Balance destinations is growing, notably with building programmes at Manor Park and the Research Park. The high level of existing congestion will therefore get worse, even before Blackwell Farm is contemplated. Egerton Road is accessed principally from Guildford to the east but its capacity is fundamentally constrained by the pinch-point of the A3 underpass, which is a single-carriageway road capable of providing for two lanes of cars each way (but not wider vehicles). Overloading of the roundabouts at either end of the underpass, which both have links to the A3 and other destinations, also act as pinch-points for traffic from numerous sources and cause traffic to back up onto the roads into them (even onto the A3). The likely additional traffic generation at the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue crossroads, immediately west of the Tesco Roundabout, was noted in paragraph 6 above.
49. The concept of adding the major Blackwell Farm estate and a 10-11ha Research Park extension, both accessed from Egerton Road, without any significant vehicle capacity increase on Egerton Road itself, seems astonishing to the point of being hardly believable. The Strategic Highway Assessment Report June 2016 accompanying the Proposed Submission Local Plan a year ago states of the Blackwell Farm development: “in Scenario 2, without either new highway schemes or specific access arrangements, trips from Blackwell Farm load onto the A31. But with the access arrangements modelled together with an access road through the development to the Surrey Research Park, this assessment indicates that significant pressure could be placed on Gill Avenue, the Hospital junction and other parts of the network in that area” (paragraph 4.5.4). Paragraph 4.9.5 of the SHAR specifically identifies that “the additional access to and from the Blackwell Farm development via Gill Avenue results in a significant increase in trips on this part of the network. This is, in turn, impacting on junctions for which there are no schemes proposed at the moment, highlighting where additional improvements may be necessary. An example of this is the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction adjacent to the Royal Surrey County Hospital.”

50. In addition to this, in the last twelve months, the Proposed Submission Local Plan 2017 has upgraded the importance of Egerton Road to the purpose of providing access to Blackwell Farm, compared with the 2016 Plan, in that the alternative proposed access to Blackwell Farm via the A31 is no longer designated as the ‘primary’ access and Egerton Road is no longer designated the ‘secondary’ access. They now have equal status. Whereas this properly reflects the implausibility of an acceptable link to the A31, no change whatever has been proposed to Egerton Road to accommodate such extra traffic as may now be expected to take this route (which is unspecified). In our view, the additional traffic congestion impacts on an already overloaded local network are so foreseeably dire that we strongly recommend the Blackwell Farm development should not be taken forward.

Sustainable Movement Corridor

51. Back in 2014 Arup prepared a report Guildford Town and Approaches Movement Study for the Borough Council, a vision statement on transport in Guildford to 2050, which included a very broad indicative route at a scale that was difficult to apply on the ground. This has been endorsed by the Council. The purpose was to facilitate sustainable movement, strongly emphasising public transport, walking, cycling and demand management at the expense of travel by private car. The centrepiece of the scheme was a corridor segregated to be available to fast buses (and possibly trams), cyclists and pedestrians, linking the key existing areas of the town that are drivers of growth. There would be new bridges over the railway (in the town centre) and over the River Wey (across the floodplain near Stoke Lock). The estimated total cost was broadly £75-100 million though clearly not costed in detail. Cars would be banned from the Corridor which, because it would be based on using existing roads, some of them major roads, would represent a highly significant reallocation of space away from cars to buses, cycles and walkers, with consequent impediments to car usage. Car parking charges would be increased, 20mph zones introduced, some roads be closed to through traffic and others pedestrianised. The Proposed Submission Local Plan supports this kind of corridor but, strikingly, none of these intentions and assumptions is made clear in the 2016 or 2017 Consultations.

52. The 2016 Consultation proposed a Sustainable Movement Corridor, included in the Plan at the last moment (Spatial Vision, Policy I3 and paragraph 4.6.24). Various land allocation policies required co-ordination with the Corridor. Paragraph 4.6.24 explained that the Sustainable Movement Corridor would link major developments to Park-and-Rides, including Blackwell Farm (at its western end), and stated that the Corridor would be ‘largely on existing roads’. ‘Route sections’ were listed in the Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C) with six itemised segments with some broad cost figures suggested (£80-90m in total). No route for the Corridor was included in the Plan, but instead the evidence base included a Progress Update on the Sustainable Movement Corridor scheme (GBC, June 2016). This showed a revised figurative route and possible road layouts at some key junctions and sections. It showed variations from the Arup study, notably with: a spur to Slyfield based on the existing A320 rather than a river crossing further east and also a lengthy new corridor up the A3100 to Gosden Hill Farm. The Arup Corridor would be downgraded in many lengths to shared roadspace with existing traffic (i.e. normal roads) but with bus priority measures. A land bridge over the A3 to provide a connection to the Research Park was downgraded to using the existing Egerton Road underpass: the recommendation was “to consider further the potential for tidal bus lane on Egerton Road as it passes under the A3 trunk road, with signalised control at either end controlling its use by buses, whilst retaining two working lanes of general traffic. It would be anticipated that the tidal bus lane would be used westbound in the morning peak period and eastbound in the evening peak period.” Changes to the Tesco roundabout would also be needed. Development would begin in the town centre and be phased later for other sections (to 2033).
53. The 2017 Consultation has made little progress on the Sustainable Movement Corridor. Policy ID3 now mentions a Supplementary Planning Document on the topic, but there is no sign of this even in first draft despite the passage of another year. This is an unacceptably inadequate basis upon which to plan for major urban development at Blackwell Farm. However, a further report Sustainable Movement Corridor – Update published in February 2017 does for the first time include a published small-scale street map on which the Sustainable Movement Corridor (SMC) is superimposed and clearer proposals for an initial western section. However, the Council clearly have insufficient confidence in this to include it in the Local Plan. The 2017 Update shows changes from the 2016 Update, notably with an additional crossing of the railway beside Yorkie’s Bridge and an additional north-south corridor along Woodbridge Road and Onslow Street between the A25 and the gyratory.

54. The Sustainable Movement Corridor will measure its effectiveness by a substantial degree of modal shift away from cars and towards sustainable transport modes. The starting point for analysis is that the Strategic Highway Assessment Report 2016 assumes no modal shift to sustainable modes, and so is a ‘worst case’ in respect of cars (paragraph 4.1.8). Paragraph 4.6.28 of the Proposed Submission Local Plan 2017 now states that “the site allocations and proposals in this Plan – including the significant programme of schemes to provide and improve opportunities to use active modes, bus and rail – are intended to result in a modest modal shift over the period to 2034”. However, the Council has accepted that this is unlikely to be enormously effective: the same sentence continues “we forecast that there will also be an absolute increase in overall traffic volumes.” Instead the paragraph proposes to ‘increase highway capacity’. This is a downgrading from the intentions just a year ago, when paragraph 4.1.8 of the SHAR stated “The impact of these sustainable transport schemes is expected to be significant”. What, therefore, is the Council’s objective?

55. The key section of the SMC for Blackwell Farm is the western section. At the key pinch-point of the A3 underpass, the Sustainable Movement Corridor can only function if the existing four lanes for vehicles are reduced to three, with one of these lanes taken up as a bus lane based on tidal flow routing. Space for other vehicles would be halved. The Proposed Submission Local Plan 2017 together with the main transport documents supporting it (the Guildford Borough Transport Strategy 2017 and Topic Paper: Transport, June 2017) are silent on whether this will be implemented, but as it is a key feature of the SMC, which could not function without it, we assume that this is what is proposed. Furthermore, the Tesco roundabout diagram in the 2017 Update document shows no roadspace at all reallocated to the Corridor west of this point.

56. The Council does not appear to have modelled the network consequences of creating the western section of the SMC (or any other section). With the Blackwell Farm development completed, the SHAR forecasts (Figure 4.3) that, in the morning peak hour, there would be 837 movements westbound and 636 movements eastbound along Egerton Road through the underpass (one vehicle about every 4 seconds and 6 seconds respectively). The underpass is highly unlikely to have the capacity to accept this level of traffic on a single lane each way. That would still be the case after modest modal shift had reduced the vehicle counts somewhat. It seems to us unrealistic to believe that all traffic inhibited by denial of road space will divert to sustainable modes. The more likely effect is that the SMC will simply add greatly to the predicted overcapacity on Egerton Road, with knock-on effects through the network. The principal effect of the SMC in the Blackwell Farm area is therefore likely to be to make traffic congestion worse rather than better if the development is built.

57. The footpath and cycleway on the north side of Egerton Road, segregated from traffic but not from each other, would be maintained under the proposals in the 2017 Update, though the current design is cramped and mostly unattractive. The footpath and cycleway cease east of the Tesco roundabout, so walkers and cyclists have to fend for themselves when crossing the Ashenden Road arm of the Tesco roundabout. No improvement even to this basic problem is proposed in the Plan. The Plan needs to be clearer about what if anything it is actually proposing in order to encourage walking and cycling to and from the Blackwell Farm development.

58. If the modal shift fails to happen, the level of congestion in Guildford will become significantly worse. Modal shift is the only means by which the Council can find any practical means of moving additional people at scale into and out of Blackwell Farm (and the associated 10-11ha expansion of the Research Park). Even so, given the existing very high levels of congestion and over-capacity on Egerton Road and Gill Avenue, especially in peak periods, there is no certainty that there will be sufficient roadspace for vehicles, people and goods to reach the Blackwell Farm development even after the Sustainable Movement Corridor has taken a proportion of travellers (itself taking up roadspace).

59. The Council has not demonstrated a credible strategy for actually achieving modal shift in practice, notably by removing both roadspace for cars and destination car parking spaces. Modal shift is not mentioned in Policy A26, despite its imperative importance to the delivery of Blackwell Farm. The strong impression given by the Plan is that the SMC has been greatly downgraded from the original proposals by Arup to which the Council subscribed, and is therefore unlikely to deliver the modal shift which is essential for the development proposals in the Plan to be feasible. It seems to us that the likelihood is that the Sustainable Movement Corridor in the Blackwell Farm area will be massively inadequate. As the Council’s heart does not appear to be in modal shift, we consider that the Blackwell Farm proposal will be undeliverable and we recommend that the proposed allocation in Policy A26 is withdrawn.

60. The purpose of the SMC can only be achieved by upsetting car drivers. However, the Plan strongly emphasises accommodating traffic generation from proposed development with figures apparently incorporating: no modal shift at all;
a sustained aspiration for a major increase in capacity on the A3; and continued investment in local road capacity improvements. We conclude that the Sustainable Movement Corridor has already been compromised, will fail to make discernible impacts on existing congestion, and will therefore not have anything like enough impact on travel patterns to accommodate the people and goods movements arising from 1,800 houses at Blackwell Farm. We recommend that the Local Plan should not be submitted for Examination without deletion of the Blackwell Farm proposal in Policy A26.

Funding the transport infrastructure necessary for Blackwell Farm

61. We pointed out in our submission a year ago that the scale of financial support expected from the developers of the Blackwell Farm site for the delivery of road infrastructure alone was far above the amounts normally expected. In the last year the obligations upon them have increased. The Proposed Submission Local Plan has now been amended in the Infrastructure Schedule in Appendix C. Proposals affecting the A3 were noted in paragraph 20 above, to which Blackwell Farm developers will be a party. Other new financial commitments specific to Blackwell Farm are:
– Project BT6 ‘Significant bus network serving the Blackwell Farm site and key destinations including the existing western suburbs of Guildford and the town centre to be provided’ is a new requirement in 2017, which must be entirely funded and delivered by the developer, at a price which is still to be confirmed, and therefore an open-ended commitment at present;
– Project LRN5 ‘Interventions to address potential highway performance issues resulting from development at Blackwell Farm site’, which must be entirely funded by the developer, has seen its cost increase from £5m to £10m;
– The developer rather than Surrey County Council will now be responsible for the delivery of Project LRN3 ‘New signalised junction from Blackwell Farm site to A31 Farnham Road (to principally serve Blackwell Farm site)’, which is likely to increase financial obligations on the developer;
– The developer rather than Surrey County Council will now be responsible for the delivery of Project LRN4 ‘Access road at Blackwell Farm site with through link to Egerton Road (to principally serve Blackwell Farm site)’, which is likely to increase financial obligations on the developer;
– The developer rather than Surrey County Council will now be responsible for the delivery of Project LRN5 ‘Interventions to address potential highway performance issues resulting from development at Blackwell Farm site’, which is likely to increase financial obligations on the developer;
– A “Necessary and proportionate contribution to delivering Guildford West (Park Barn) railway station” towards the estimated £10m cost of Project NR2 will still be required from the Blackwell Farm developer (the only named developer required to contribute) in accordance with Policy A26 Infrastructure Requirement (7): this assumes greater importance now that the station merits its own Policy A59 (see paragraphs 63-64 below); – The funding arrangements for SMC1 Sustainable Movement Corridor: West have been amended slightly. The change states the funding source will be ‘Developer funded and Local Growth Fund’ instead of ‘Developer contributions and Local Growth Fund’, suggesting that the developers will have to fund somewhat more than previously expected. The Blackwell Farm development will be the principal contributor to this section of the SMC.

62. Transport consultants advising Compton and Worplesdon Parish Councils calculate that the transport infrastructure alone for the Blackwell Farm development will cost about £60million, most of it up-front. This is around £35,000 per dwelling. There will be other major costs which the developer will be required to fund, including new primary and secondary schools and affordable housing (none of which were included in our previous costings), all of which can be very expensive, and numerous other mitigation costs from such a major development. There is, therefore, a real risk that the proposed development will not be viable and deliverable. If still included, the Local Plan would need to ensure that the Blackwell Farm development complies with paragraph 173 of the NPPF on this point. In reality, in the absence of other funding sources to provide money which the developers may be unable or unwilling to provide, the Blackwell Farm scheme would have to fail and be deleted from the Plan.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
Save Hogs Back supports this railway station in principle, irrespective of the Blackwell Farm development. It is important to appreciate that its contribution within the Local Plan period will be limited, probably not being operational until at least 2029. The Topic Paper: Transport explains at paragraph 5.31 that Guildford West (Park Barn) railway station is likely to be brought forward only in 2024-2029 because “August 2024 corresponds with the anticipated start date of the South Western franchise period subsequent to the recently awarded franchise for the 2017-2024 period. Delivery from or subsequent to 2024 allows for the servicing of the new rail stations to be included within that new South Western franchise covering the period from 2024”. On this basis, progress with the construction of a station is feasible but far from assured. In particular, although the Plan recognises the need to deliver the project by working with Network Rail, there is no indication in the Plan that Network Rail has identified the technical feasibility and cost of the project or formally committed to it. It may simply not be in a position to deliver this project.

The new railway station will create a new destination for traffic. On the south side of the railway line, behind the hospitals, there will be a requirement for disabled parking together with access for buses, taxis and passenger drop-off. This will add to the congestion on local roads, notably Egerton Road. However, the anticipated vehicle activity associated with the new station has not been included in the traffic model for the area, and this needs to be rectified urgently. This is yet another contributor to excess congestion on Egerton Road if the Blackwell Farm development were to proceed.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
65. Save Hogs Back welcomes the proposed changes to Policy P1. In particular we support the more positive approach to sustaining AONB qualities and the greater attention given to protecting the setting of the AONB in paragraphs (3) and (5). We also particularly welcome the retention of the AGLV designation in the manner set out in paragraph (5).

66. We also welcome the updated clarification of the status of Areas of Great Landscape Value in paragraph 4.3.8 of the Reasoned Justification.

67. Unfortunately, the policy (particularly as amended) is not always applied through the Plan as a whole. The strategic allocation of land for housing in Policy A26 at Blackwell Farm is in direct conflict with Policy P1 as amended and is the most significant proposed release of a greenfield site that has major adverse impacts on the AONB. A small part of the allocation is also included within the AGLV. The Blackwell Farm site allocation conflicts with Policy P1 and should be removed from the Plan.

68. The proposal in Policy A26 would in summary involve:

– constructing major development in the form of a significant new access road to the Blackwell Farm development and the extended Research Park, by crossing the AONB down the steep northern face of the Hog’s Back, causing immense damage to the AONB (and increasing the impact of the development on those passing through the AONB);
– major development in the immediate setting of the AONB, in an area which (apart from some University expansion) has been relatively little-damaged to date;

Save Hogs Back & Compton PC 22 by Green Balance
– taking land for major development which ought to be included within the AONB and has a real prospect of being so included following the Surrey Hills AONB boundary review to be carried out by Natural England (paragraph 4.3.8 of the Plan refers): an independent landscape consultancy working for Compton and Worplesdon Parish Councils applied the AONB boundary evaluation methodology in detail, recommending that Down Place and much of Blackwell Farm should also be designated as AONB.

More information on the impact of Policy A26 on the AONB was set out in section 3 of our submission in 2016.

69. We consider that the monitoring arrangements for Policy P1 are unwise as they are limited to the outcomes of appeals, over which the authority has no control. The measure is also pointless: we doubt that the Council is really saying that it would change its policy on protecting a nationally important landscape if a few Inspectors made different judgements (how many, how often?) about the application of the policy in particular cases.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

70. The Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites June 2017 is unsound for the following reasons, which are additional to those we reported in July 2016:

(1) The Plan is not consistent with national policy, in the following respect:
– Policies ID2 and A26 particularly would cause substantial deterioration in air quality in Compton, where air quality monitoring shows that NO2 pollution is already (and has persistently been) in breach of legal limits, by attracting additional... vehicular traffic through the village to access both the A3 and Blackwell Farm/Surrey Research Park via a new road link from the A31: this is in breach of NPPF paragraph 109 policy for “preventing both new and existing development from contributing to… unacceptable levels of… air… pollution”.

(2) The Plan will not be effective, in the following respects:

– Policy ID2 is unlikely to be deliverable within the Plan period in respect of widening the A3 through Guildford, which is a precondition for implementing Policy A26. Even if it was, it would not meet its own objective of providing appropriate access to the strategic road network to accommodate future planned growth in the form of the Blackwell Farm development.
– Policy A26 will not be effective because the volume of traffic the proposed Blackwell Farm development would generate on Egerton Road (even if a link road to the A31 is also in place) would cause levels of congestion so high that the network flow would break down in this area, and the Plan proposes no remedy for this.
– Policy A26 will not be effective because the Plan has failed to identify a means of access from Blackwell Farm onto Egerton Road (Infrastructure Requirement (1)), even though this access has been upgraded in the Plan and is no longer ‘secondary’ to the link to the A31; the 1:10,000 plan accompanying the Policy shows no link at all into Guildford.
– Policy A26 will not be effective because Infrastructure Requirement (3) for a controlled road link through the Blackwell Farm development to limit the users of the road will not be implementable in practice.

Save Hogs Back & Compton PC 23 by Green Balance
– Policy A26 will not be effective because the additional road capacity needed to serve the newly proposed secondary school (Allocation item (9)) within the development has not been provided in the Plan and the road network in the area is already modelled to be well over-capacity when Blackwell Farm is developed.
– Policy ID3(3) on developments having regard to the Sustainable Movement Corridor will not be effective in its western section, because either the modal shift will not be pursued vigorously enough to make a significant difference (which appears to be the Local Plan’s preferred strategy), or, if applied with determination (such as by reducing private vehicle lanes in the A3 underpass from four lanes to two) could not be expected by itself to change driver behaviour significantly; in either case the result would be greater congestion on the local road network than it could take after the development of Blackwell Farm.

(3) The Plan is not justified, in the following respects:

– Policy S2 relies on the completion of the widening of the A3 in sufficient time for the proposed numbers of dwellings to be constructed before the end of the Plan period, but this cannot be a justified proposal because there is no certainty at all that the A3 widening will be completed by 2027, if ever; given the difficulty of finding alternative locations likely not to be dependent on capacity increases on the A3, the most appropriate strategy would be to abandon Policy A26.
– Policy A26 would cause the generation of so much traffic (both by itself and by the construction of the A3 without which Policy A26 cannot be implemented) that the local road network could not possibly cope with it, and documents supporting the Plan acknowledge that local roads would be put seriously over-capacity: such an arrangement cannot reasonably be the most appropriate strategy and the Plan is therefore not justified.

I object to A43 and A43A,

This planning is not needed, building additional slip roads to the A3 would be a horrendous destruction of Ripley village. The traffic is already difficult and you are encouraging more cars, more pollution and more traffic. This village would no longer be a village.

You can not build on the Greenbelt you even have policy's stating your protection of the Greenbelt and yet you think it is okay to suddenly put forward planning?

This site has PROTECTED woodland, antient woodland with tress for the 16th century.

Please give up on this plan and go and build on brown site areas, we do not need additional houses, our schools, doctors, roads are already too busy

Listen to the current residents of these villages and work along side them not against them please.

The scale of the A25 development is far too great and would require significant infrastructure improvements for it to be viable. I believe it would require it's own junction with the A3, doctors, rail station, dentist, primary and secondary school etc. It is likely to present significant impact to the residents of Burpham and Merrow due to it's close proximity to each of these communities. In addition, the development threatens the rural nature of this area.

A35 seems to make more sense as one of the larger housing schemes given that the site is formerly commercial and is derelict. I also feel that this area would benefit more from the investment in terms of new schools, commercial areas, etc.
and would not create such a congested and sprawling community so close to Guildford as would be created by developing A25.

The local community is firmly opposed to the erection of a burial grounds of any kind within the proposed A23 estate. The fact that a crematorium of such scale will be as close to our houses has erupted negatively within our neighbours. This is due to several reasons:

1) Extreme proximity to the urban areas
2) Very congested road for such development
3) Environmental impact
4) Health impact
5) Cost impact
6) Existing housing value impact

In fact is hard to see where the benefits of such enterprise could bring to our community.

This kind of estate should be claimed within very isolated areas or at least with less obvious proximity to very dense populated areas.

The QEP association and other neighbours are going to dispute this specific plan projected up to the last consequences

I object to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

North facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities, which do need to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic. E.g. all traffic from London/M25 to Woking would go through Burnt Common, Send and Old Woking. This is not sustainable as this cannot be improved and the roads are not able to withstand this level of traffic.

I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

There is too much traffic in our villages already and this plan will cause more congestion in Ripley, Send and Clandon, with no plan to improve that.

The rural roads in this area are narrow, in poor condition and have no footpaths. 5000 more houses means dangerous and unsustainable traffic. It is a well-known cycle route and an increase in road traffic will impact significantly on the safety of cyclists using this route which is already lacking adequate cycle pathways. A significant amount of through traffic is already funnelled through Ripley, Send and Clandon and this will add to congestion problems. Road traffic and congestion will increase with resultant damage to environmental quality.

The Plan does not identify adequate infrastructure improvements to support the huge scale of development, especially at Garlick’s Arch (A43) which has no infrastructure projects in the Infrastructure Schedule to support it. I object to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

I object to removing Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, together with sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and the resulting urban sprawl. There are no exceptional circumstances for these villages and sites being removed, as required by the National Planning Policy.

I object to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

The Plan does not take adequate account of flood risk as required by National Planning Policy.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is classified by the Environment Agency as being in a higher risk than the Council’s own assessment. This area has flooded many times in recent years and therefore the Council’s assessment is not good enough to be included in the plan.

I object to the Local Plan as the development proposed is not sustainable (Policy S1)

13,860 new houses proposed is not sustainable – it will damage local communities by over development, especially Ripley, Send and Clandon. The local communities don’t need these houses. Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) have no railway stations and inadequate bus services, and as highlighted 86% of household in the borough already own at least one car with a significant proportion owning more than one, so almost every adult will have to have a car. The Plan has nothing to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch.

The development should be in urban areas where there is sustainable transport

I object to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

GBC’s proposal for 13,860 new houses without any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The Plan is unbalanced across the borough; there’s too much development in the north east of the borough (Wisley [A35], Ripley/Send [A43] and Clandon [A25]). 36% of all the Plan’s new housing is proposed in this area, which has only 11% of the existing housing.

5,036 houses are proposed between the M25 and Burpham (about 5 miles) which will obviously lead to a merging urbanisation of identities the villages which compromises the overall character of the area.

Having carefully considered the GUILDFORD NEW PLANNING DOCUMENTS I would like to STRONGLY OBJECT to the plans as set out.

My greatest concern is the erosion of Greenbelt policy. The very reason we choose to live and raise our families here is in major part due to the connection that the Surrey Hills has with the countryside, green spaces, controlled population density and outdoor leisure activities.

The value of this protection is enormous. We can attempt to attach tangible value to it, but the reality is that it even as we add up the value of all it offers we cannot calculate the intangible value of preserving these bands of green in an ever growing, every more populous and overcrowded land.

It is my STRONG OPINION that Greenbelt should be held sacrosanct. The point of providing this protection is to ensure it is absolute and for all time.

I am not objecting to reasonable planning or appropriate development in the Borough. However, taking villages like Horsley out of the Greenbelt fundamentally alters the character and protections that we hold dear in the places we’ve chosen to live. It seems far more logical to drive more careful thought in the planning and location of urban developments then creating less careful thought for developers who have NO VESTED INTEREST in the community to build on greenfield sites simply because its cheaper and more profitable. It is a complete outrage really.

I particularly protest at the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt, and at “infilling” 12 Green Belt villages. I STRONGLY OBJECT TO THE FACT THAT settlement boundaries are to be hugely extended in many villages and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are “leggy” in outline, reflecting the effect of ribbon development (often along just one side of existing roads) permitted between the Wars. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and in and of itself invalidates the plan as a whole.

I believe this policy is based on a flawed Green Belt and Countryside Study that was irregularly commissioned by Council officers without the authority of Councillors. To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is just NOT TRUE given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF. IMPORTANTLY, this policy is disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development requirement.

Our family, friends, community contacts and fellow residents are all in agreement that this needs to be OPPOSED AT ALL COSTS. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

The policy states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” Simply put this is a serious misrepresentation of the facts. If it forms any basis for this policy change, the change is inherently flawed.

I would like to raise strong objection to the proposed plan A22. Keens Park residents are outraged and very worried about the plan to include more houses in an area which already struggles with poor and deteriorated road infrastructure and lack of playground for local children. Aldershot Road and Worplesdon Road surrounding our community experience already very heavy traffic during rush hours. Northern part of the Worplesdon Road is very busy and narrow and dangerous for both cars and pedestrians. Keens Park area has very limited parking space, roads are very narrow and will not be able to cope with additional 140 homes. Also, in the current development there is no single playground. The only playground in this area is located in Queen Elisabeth Park, and in order to go there children need to cross dangerous round-about, or walk along very busy Worplesdon Road on a very narrow sidewalk. Finally, that playground even doesn't include basic equipment to play for under 3 year olds, apart from swings.

Should the houses be build, it is imperative to plan for:

- robust enhancement of local roads (Keens Lane, Worplesdon Rd)
- include significant recreation space for local residents including playground
Residents in northern Guildford (Stoughton/QEP/Keens Park) are outraged by the proposal to erect a burial area with a crematorium in the Salt Box Lane in a shocking proximity to our community. The studies of negative impact of crematoriums in local health is well documented in scientific literature. The area is full of young families and therefore we would like to raise a strong objection to the proposed plan.

I am very concerned about the proposal of a new burial ground (especially a crematorium) in area A23 on the north of Salt Box Road, very close to a largely populated area, especially the Queen Elizabeth Park.

It's very well known and scientifically documented that this would release a lot of mercury and toxins in the air, so a crematorium should never be built in/close to a residential area. If deemed necessary, a crematorium should be built in a remote location, far from houses and families.

In addition, I do not agree with the 'objectively assessed need' of 693 new homes a year. For example, this does not consider student housing separately. In addition demographic and economic models supporting the figure should be freely available. Otherwise the process is not accountable. I also think the medium term economic growth assumptions should be reviewed post the Brexit vote as these are likely to be lower at least over the next 5-10 years. In addition it would be reasonable to expect inflows due to international migration to be lower. I do not believe there there is sufficient evidence to support the need for expansion that underlies the whole plan.

I do not think that the infrastructure development proposals are sufficiently robust to support the plan. To say that the development will not go ahead until infrastructure is in place is unenforceable and unaccountable. I just don't believe or trust this assertion. You only need to consider the unresolved issues such as another river crossing, a central and integrated bus facility. GRA's comments all apply here in my view absence of a clear and workable plan for an integrated bus interchange and incorporating plans for the demand and capacity of rail services are tow good examples. The plan also needs to provide more convincing data and assumptions on town centre traffic, buses and parking. The nature of Guildford's geography contained by the river and the railway means that the road system is particularly susceptible to congestion.

I fundamentally disagree with a plan that seeks to expand the size of the town by a quarter and therefore register my objection to it.

I oppose unjustified green belt development. I also think that allowing Green Belt development to pay for transport schemes is a flawed policy, given that it will be the development itself that gives rise to the need for more transport. I disagree with the methodology for parcelling and scoring potential green belt developments - using the number of functions as a scoring method is too narrow and doesn't allow for value judgement over the relative merits. In addition, I don't think the test of 'exceptional circumstances' for Green Belt development has been applied properly.

I do not support the increased development of the Green Belt, as it exists in and around Surrey, to this level in proposed in the Plan documents. Specifically but not only, I object to the following areas of development (generally and not specifically);

Ockham / Wisley Airfield - I object to the imposition of a new village development of this scale and the corroborating assumptions. This is based on a number of factors, including but not restricted to transport, amenity, retail, schooling, environmental, density, local roads, impact on current services and villages. The local roads are insufficient to cope with increased residential and delivery traffic - the assumption that the population will travel by bike hire scheme to use the local trains is laughable - the impact on demand for local services and clubs deleterious to current provision (current residents are on waiting lists - what happens when 4-5000 more people land...?) - this will be the start of the in-fill of the land between all the villages (Ockham, Horsleys, Effingham) with a loss of amenity, environment, local character and the increase in pollution, waste, traffic, nuisance, inconvenience, urbanisation and irretrievable loss of Green Belt...
Development in The Horsleys - I object to the significant number and increased provision of sites for medium / large scale housing projects in and around The Horsleys. There is insufficient capacity to absorb new developments in the area and it should not be acceptable for mass housing to be imposed in an area where public opinion is against it. The Horsleys are not a large metropolitan area, they do not have the services of a town or Cranleigh-size village and nor do they want them; by continuing to encourage concentration and development in and around these villages, the Council is agglomerating Effingham, The Horsleys, Bookham. Fetcham, Ockham into an homogenous residential area attached to Leatherhead, destroying the character of the Green Belt and passing the point of no return, by which time any control or restrictions on development are futile and the area becomes a suburban ribbon from London and Leatherhead / Guildford.

I am opposed to the Local Plan.

I object to the 2016 Draft a local Plan for the following reasons.

Who are these ridiculous people who make these decisions. Are they lacking in common sense.

Guildford town centre and the existing traffics routes are vastly over subscribed. These new measures would make it impossible to shop there.
The road structure through Burpham is a narrow rd of one lane in either direction.

The local hospital is also oversubscribed already without adding more capacity.

School and local GP services are inadequate already.

Development of this capacity in such a small area would bring unsatisfactory living standards to the area, as people live on top of one another, possibly generating a raised crime rate.

Sly fields depot is under pressure dealing with the refuse generated now. How much more refuse will be generated by all these extra dwelling.

Where will the people living in these homes find employment. The area isn't suitable for industry and further business buildings who will be able to afford to rent them.

Industry being at an all time low in this country anyway.

We already have a railway site at merrow pk which has been closed for years when opening it would benefit the existing population when merrow pk est Weylea farm and bowyer farms estates were built. It was t feasible because of the lack of infrastructure To deal with it then. So why add to it know.

The existing park and ride is undersubscribed already so why add another site.

With existing population increased by the university why would we need 2000 thousand homes with it inmates swelling it even further.

Finally we would have to take turns to shop in Guildford and use the roads on rota basis. How much unused business capacity is there already in Guildford.

The sports centre is also oversubscribed where would all the extra children go.

How many children would this exercise add to the area existing and to be born.

13. The specific policies about which RPC are concerned are addressed in turn below.
   Housing Need Calculation

14. RPC object to the approach taken to the assessment and calculation of the housing requirement in the plan.

15. The PSLP seeks to meet OAN by delivering 693 pa during the plan period, an overall figure of 13,860 in the plan period with delivery of housing numbers increasing from 500 per annum in 2018-19 to 790 p.a. in 2032/331.

16. The justification for this is explained in the Sustainability Appraisal June 2016 at para 6.2.10:

   “Guildford Borough Council is committed to delivering its OAN figure, having established that there is no potential to justifiably ‘under-deliver’ and rely on neighbouring authorities to meet the shortfall (under the Duty to Cooperate). Whilst Guildford Borough is heavily constrained environmentally, it does not stand-out as relatively constrained in the sub-regional context. This conclusion is reached on the basis of Duty to Cooperate discussions, past SA work (notably spatial strategy alternatives appraisal in 2013/14 – see discussion above), an understanding of precedents being set elsewhere, and other sources of evidence. It is evidently the case that under-supplying in Guildford would lead to a range of socio-economic problems, given that Woking is already under-supplying within the HMA.21 There is an argument for under-supplying to be preferable from an environmental perspective; however, this argument is far from clear cut given an assumption that unmet needs would have to be met elsewhere within the HMA (i.e. within Waverley, which is heavily constrained) or elsewhere within the heavily constrained sub-region. For these outline reasons options that would involve planning for a level of growth significantly below that necessary to meet OAN are considered unreasonable at the current time.”

This site which has long been included in the Green Belt has been excluded in the PSLP.

RPC accepts the principle of insetting this site as to do so would be consistent with paragraph 85 of the NPPF.

However, RPC objects to the inclusion of The Spinney in the area to be inset and submits that the Plan should be modified to as to exclude this area which is adjacent to HMP Send. No exceptional circumstances or change of circumstances have arisen which would justify the insetting of this part of the site, so as to remove its Green Belt protection. RPC consider that the open and undeveloped character of this area distinguishes it from the Prison site and justifies its retention in the Green Belt.

116. RPC has had the opportunity to see the Report of Richard Harwood Q.C. prepared for Wisley Action Group. RPC wishes to adopt the views expressed in the Report and accordingly agrees that the allocation is unsound. This report is attached, for reference.

117. Accordingly, RPC objects to the allocation of Land at Wisley Airfield and recommends that the Plan should be modified and the allocation for housing should be deleted in its entirety.

RPC objects to the insetting of Send and Burnt Common in general, but particularly objects to the extension of the settlement to exclude the Garlick’s Arch site from the Green Belt and to allocate the land for built development. In the case of Site A43 and Site A43a, Send Marsh/Burnt Common, the insetting of the Garlick’s Arch allocation appears to have no other justification than the very late substitution of the Garlick’s Arch site at the Executive Meeting on 24th May 2016 itself.

The site continues to serve a number of the Green Belt purposes and is an important green buffer to the A3 and of ecological and landscape importance.

There is nothing stated in the reasoned justification in the Plan to indicate that any exceptional circumstances exist to justify the allocation and the insetting of the Green Belt boundary.

It does not appear to have been identified by the process of criteria-based assessment of site through which other sites were identified for allocation and there is no explanation for the substitution of the original A43 allocation “land around Burnt Common Warehouse” which was much more appropriate, given its largely previously developed character.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Policy A43 “Garlick’s Arch”
62. This site is currently open rural greenfield land within the Green Belt. It has been allocated, at the last moment, for 400 homes and up to 7000 sq m of either B1(c) light industrial or a mix of B1(c), B2 Industrial and/or B8 storage and distribution. The emergence of this site only in the Regulation 19 draft of the PSLP means that the principle of the allocation of site has not been subject to the earlier consultations and this is the only opportunity to influence the Plan before its submission to the Secretary of State. This is particularly regrettable and prejudicial given that the proposal of this site as a site for 400 new dwellings, and the provision of slip roads to A3 via policy A43A only emerged through the decision of the Council’s Executive on 11 May 2016. This meeting was held without proper notice or any opportunity for consultation to make an unexplained substitution for the site given the same policy number, on previously developed land west known as Land around Burnt Common warehouse, London Road, Send, allocated for approximately 100 homes and 7000 sq m of B class industrial uses.

63. The ministerial foreword to the NPPF by minister Greg Clark states: “because planning policy itself has become so elaborate and forbidding – the preserve of specialists, rather than people in communities. This National Planning Policy Framework changes that. By replacing over a thousand pages of national policy with around fifty, written simply and clearly, we are allowing people and communities back into planning.” [emphasis added]

64. The NPPF makes it clear that:
“69 The planning system can play an important role in facilitating social interaction and creating healthy, inclusive communities. Local planning authorities should create a shared vision with communities of the residential environment and facilities they wish to see. To support this, local planning authorities should aim to involve all sections of the community in the development of Local Plans and in planning decisions, and should facilitate neighbourhood planning.”

65. Those words sound more than a little hollow in the context of this decision, which has not gone through the exhaustive process of sieving and consulting on site allocation proposals. It is plain that the late introduction of this important and damaging proposal took place in direct breach of the approach in NPPF which seeks to involve and consult communities about proposals that affect them.

66. The site was identified in the Pegasus Report Vol 5 in 2013 as site B14, together with site B13 as part of a possible – “major village expansion” . This was rejected and not taken forward in the 2014 draft Local Plan, although the previously developed site “Land around Burnt Common warehouse “…. B13 was originally allocated as A43. RPC did not object to that allocation.

67. However, the deletion of the original A43 site and its substitution with the Garlick’s Arch site is unacceptable for a number of reasons.
68. The site was assessed in the Guildford Borough Land Availability Assessment (LAA) February 2016, but as far as the RPC has been able to establish, this is the only recent assessment of the site.

69. The assessment in the LAA is woefully inadequate. The site is in an unsustainable location, poorly served by public transport, with little or no access to services and community facilities and with a noise environment dominated by traffic noise from the A3. The site does not appear to have been considered as part of the SEA/ Sustainability Assessment and it is not clear why the additional 300 dwellings are required in this location.

70. There has been no assessment of ecological impacts either in terms of species or habitats. Yet the site is well known for the presence of red kites, sparrowhawks. Bats (several species), Owls (several species) badgers, deer, foxes, and many species of invertebrates.

71. It is not clear whether, given its late inclusion, statutory consultees such as Natural England were consulted over its inclusion. The public were not consulted.

72. A site of this scale and nature should have been proposed through the local plan process so as to ensure proper consultation. It was not considered in any earlier draft of the Local Plan. Its sudden inclusion remains a complete mystery to RPC.

73. The site is largely open rural countryside of both landscape and ecological importance providing a green buffer between the heavily trafficked A3 and the settlement of Burnt Common.

74. The site fully satisfies retention within the Green Belt and serves a number of Green Belt functions and makes an important contribution to local openness.
75. The site is fundamentally unsuitable for housing development and the compromised nature of the site, by constraints such as the presence of high volumes of traffic in close proximity and the large high voltage pylons which cross the site longitudinally, as well as areas of ancient woodland mean that development would either result in substantial harm to the ancient woodland, species and habitat, lead to unacceptable living conditions or would not make best use of land. There is no masterplan to show how the scale of development envisaged would be accommodated.

76. Previous development, with much more limited housing development (up to 25 units) (Planning Reference 14/P/00219 February 2014) on this site has been refused because of the adverse effect on the Green Belt and the rural character of the site. If 25 dwelling units comprised harm to the rural and open character of the site, 400 units must be the cause of very much more substantial harm. In addition, Planning Ref 16/P/00783 Oldlands Field Yard (Outline) 9 dwelling houses April 2016 was also refused on 07/06/2016 because of the impact on the openness of the Green Belt, the significant effect on the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (TBHSPA) and the loss of rural economy.

Non sustainable location

77. The site does not represent sustainable development for several reasons.

78. Firstly the site does not provide a sustainable location, both in respect of access to transport, services and other facilities.

79. Poor access to public transport would mean high dependency on the private motor car for residents’ access to schools, shops, medical facilities, doctors’ surgeries, and all the requirements of day to day living. The size of the site at 400 units would not be capable of sustaining facilities on-site and there are no cycle routes or segregated cycling or walking areas. Clandon Station is 2 miles distance with limited parking, no cycle path and a footpath that changes sides repeatedly. The only bus service is an infrequent rural bus service. No sustainable transport assessment has informed the allocation.

80. The industrial use of the site would also be likely to generate additional traffic and use by car for those employed at the site. There is no evidence of demand for 7000 sq m of new B class uses on such a site.

81. Secondly, in terms of harm to the environment the development of the site would be likely to cause a number of substantial impacts, including harm to ecology, landscape and damage to, or loss of ancient woodland.

82. The late introduction of this allocation means that it has not formed a part of the 2016 Sustainability Assessment and no separate environmental impact assessment has been carried out in respect of the development of the site.

83. The impacts of ecology of the development of 400 units on the site have simply not been assessed and are unknown.

84. No ecological study or assessment appears to have been made.

85. Significant parts of the site are Ancient Woodland and protected by Tree Preservation Orders. Ancient woodland and veteran trees are widely recognised for their importance to biodiversity and as host for protected species.

86. The site is within 400m of the Thames Basin Heath SPA.
87. There is local knowledge of several species of owls, several species of bats, badgers, deer, foxes, red kites, sparrow hawks, invertebrates resorting to the site. It is considered likely that protected mammals, bats and birds are breeding within the site.
Poor living conditions

88. Thirdly, the site is likely to suffer from poor living conditions; in particular noise and air quality impacts from proximity to the A3 and the creation of the new junction with the A3 trunk road under allocation A43a. It is understood that a study is being carried out for the neighbourhood plan, but that exercise has not been completed and did not inform the allocation.

Pylons

89. The site is traversed by large high voltage electricity pylons, which will require a safeguarded zone beneath them where residential development cannot take place. In addition there is mention of the possibility of re-siting these pylons however it remains unclear about the cost implications or who will be funding this.

Flood risk

90. The assessment of flood risk is flawed. Large parts of the central part of the site are high risk (Zones 2&3) and flood annually. The haste with which the site has been allocated means no proper flood risk assessment has been made. Neither the extent, frequency and potential for mitigation or its effect on the developable area have not been considered. Such an assessment should be made before, not after, allocation.

Loss of agricultural land

91. The land is assessed as Grade 2 agricultural land. The agricultural use of the land will be lost if the site is developed for 400 units and 7000sq m of industrial. Loss of the best or most versatile land to development should be avoided.

Deliverability

92. Deliverability is essential to soundness. Astonishingly, no assessment has been made of the potential of the site to deliver the 400 units having regard to the proximity of the A3 and the weight and volume of traffic. The LAA is silent on this matter, not even making a note of the issue.

93. There is no assessment of the viability of development on this site or its deliverability given the range of significant constraints.

94. There is no explanation as to why a potentially suitable site (i.e Land Around Burnt Common Warehouse( B13, the previous 2014 Plan’s A43) was dropped and replaced by this fundamentally unsuitable site for the development of substantial new housing.

Conclusions

95. The allocation of Garlick’s Arch is fundamentally unacceptable in a number of respects and would not constitute sustainable development, contrary to the NPPF. The allocation has not been informed by evidence of its environmental impacts or its suitability for development and this aspect of the SPLP is plainly not sound. RPC objects to this allocation and recommends a modification to the Plan in that the allocation should be deleted in its entirety.
Policy A43a Land for new north facing slip roads to/from A3 at Send Marsh/Burnt Common Areas of land on both sides of the A3 are identified for future highway work in providing slip roads for the A3. The provision of land for slip roads to the A3 in allocation A43a is largely to provide enhanced highway access so as to serve inappropriate large scale housing development elsewhere in the Send/Ripley area; in particular, the sites at A25 Gosden Hill Farm and Site A35 at former Wisley Airfield currently served by the inadequate rural network and including 400 units proposed on the Garlicks Arch site.

96. The slip roads A43a are not in any Highways Programme and their delivery is very uncertain. Highways England have no provision to look at the A3 in any area until at least 2020/2022 and therefore it is unknown whether these slipways will ever be developed. Infrastructure should be in place before development commences.

97. There does not appear to have been any report to the Executive Committee to support this allocation and the LAA 2016 is hopelessly inadequate as an assessment of the environmental impact on the site or as an assessment of its suitability for the development proposed. RPC are concerned that it appears that Members were compelled to make the decision to allocate the site with very little information and without any proper assessment of the constraints of the site or any evidence of its deliverability.

Conclusions

98. RPC objects to this allocation and recommends that the Plan should be modified so that the site should be excluded from the allocations and from development and its current Green Belt status should be retained.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

99. This site is allocated for 18 Homes (C3) and 200 m of retail or service uses (A1-A5).

100. The site is within the Ripley Conservation Area, adjoins listed buildings including the Grade 2* Talbot Inn which falls within the top 6% of listed buildings.

101. There does not appear to have been any assessment of the impact of the proposed development on the significance of designated heritage assets, including the effect on the setting of the listed buildings adjoining and the effect on the character and appearance of the conservation area and its setting. The duties under section 66 and 72 of the Listed Buildings Act 1990 need to be considered at this stage as the plan making process is part of the planning functions which engage such duties.
102. The proposals also involve redrawing the Green Belt boundary to exclude the site and to include it within the Ripley village inset area.

103. There is nothing to suggest that the decision to allocate the land and exclude it from the GB was based on any assessment of its Green Belt functions. The rear of the site is still entirely open, being down to paddock and it plainly still serves most of the GB purposes, including the protection of historic settlements villages. The type of development which would occur with access from part of the core of the historic centre of the village would be to create modern cul-de-sac development which is wholly inconsistent with the historic character of the location. The frontage of the site (currently a car sales yards and showroom) and possibly part of the area to the rear which is previously developed land could be redeveloped for a much smaller housing scheme, but without the need to take the open greenfield land to the south.

104. The loss of the small industrial units to the rear should be reconsidered. Such facilities are increasingly rare and valuable within rural settlements and are often lost to more lucrative housing development.

105. There are no exceptional circumstances for to justify the redrawing of the Green Belt as proposed and the development would be inconsistent with the NPPF.

Conclusions

106. RPC objects to the allocation as currently proposed and recommends that the PSLP should be modified to exclude from allocation the open land to the south and east of the site that are included in the allocation and the Green Belt status of the land should be retained.

107. RPC further recommends that the light industrial uses in the Barn buildings to the rear of the site should be recognised in the plan and to be protected from redevelopment, not least by removal from the allocation.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

108. This site is currently occupied for a traveller caravan site.

109. It is proposed that it should be allocated for 4 traveller pitches. This would be a material intensification of the use. The site is open countryside within the Green Belt and the development would be inappropriate development in this location. The creation of further traveller pitches (almost certainly leading to 8 caravans on the site, four of which would probably be static mobile homes) would seriously affect the rural character of this area and in a way that could not be mitigated successfully in this open location. The site is principally seen from or across the Playing Field.

110. The PSLP should be modified to delete this allocation entirely. Planning permission for the use of the land as a caravan site for 2 static caravans and 3 touring caravans was refused in February 2010. An Enforcement Notice (EN), requiring the cessation of the use of the land as a caravan site, was issued in March 2010. Appeals against the refusal of planning permission and the EN were dismissed in September 2010 following a Hearing with the period for compliance with the EN increased to 12 months. A High Court challenge to the refusal of planning permission was dismissed by Mr Justice Hickinbottom on 10 April 2013. Following this, the EN came into effect. This included a requirement to clear the site by 10 June 2014. This has not been complied with and the EN remains extant.

111. A temporary three year permission was issued following an appeal under section 78 of the Town and Country Planning Act against the refusal of planning permission in April 2015. The Inspector found that the existing development (a single family use) is out of keeping with its surroundings and detracts from the character of the area, detracts from the setting of the Conservation Area which is a heritage asset, reduces the openness of the surrounding countryside and degrades the rural character of the land that provides a buffer around the Conservation Area which maintains its rural setting.

112. The temporary permission was granted having regard to the personal circumstances of the occupiers of the site and their children but, in particular the Council’s case that it would find alternative sites elsewhere within the three year period of a temporary consent.

113. Instead, despite having contested the current use in two planning appeals and a High Court challenge and contrary to their submissions at the EN and section 78 appeals, the Council now appear to be intending to make the site permanent and to expand it from a single temporary pitch to four permanent pitches; a complete volte face.

114. The scale of damage to Green Belt, landscape character and heritage assets caused by single pitch would be unacceptably exacerbated by increasing intensity of use caused by 4 permanent pitches.

Conclusions

115. RPC objects to this allocation in principle on the basis that it is not sustainable development; its environmental, landscape and heritage impacts are unacceptable, as has been found in two previous planning appeals. It is therefore recommended that the Plan should be modified by the allocation being deleted in its entirety.

Loss Of Rural Economy

59. RPC considers that Oldlands Field Yard which forms part of the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) and also the barns behind the Talbot (A45) are all excellent examples of successful rural economy sites. There are many very well established and successful businesses housed at these two locations which will be lost.

60. RPC is concerned at the absence of policy protection in the Plan for existing well established local light industry and employment uses to higher value residential development. This is particularly significant in rural areas, where the relationship between small scale industry operated by local people is a long term process which, once lost may take very long periods to recover. Many such industries and employment uses are often forced to re-locate to the urban area where they may not be viable. The local connection, once lost is often irreplaceable.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

34. RPC is very well aware of (and supports) the need to provide new affordable housing to serve existing and growing rural communities but the creation of isolated new or extended settlements of principally market housing as the basis for generating supply of affordable housing is misconceived and it is noted that, in any case, it does not remotely amount to sufficient affordable housing to meet local need. Guildford Borough has some of the highest costs of housing in the country, so that 80% of market value still remains unaffordable to many workers in the area.

35. Affordable housing in rural areas should be provided in or close to the settlements that it is going to serve, rather than as ad hoc adjuncts to larger new market housing developments. Such new development has historically been absorbed largely in or on the edge of rural settlements. Extensive and substantial new market housing areas in unsustainable locations causes irreversible harm to rural character, congestion and danger on rural road network and damage to social cohesion.

36. RPC considers that new housing, both market and affordable should be achieved close to and within major urban areas, principally in Guildford itself where high density housing can be provided on previously developed land close to services, shops and employment. Such an approach would be consistent with the principles of sustainable development in the NPPF. The current distribution strategy proposals are directly contrary to the principles of sustainable development in the NPPF.

Infrastructure problems are not limited to highways. New homes need schools, health, and other services which are not available in the local area. If these facilities are provided in the rural area, the intensification of activity will contribute to urbanisation of the rural area.

33. The full consequences of this approach is likely to include:

- Erosion of the Green Belt, harm to the landscape and historic character of some of the most attractive historic villages
- Large numbers of houses in places poorly serviced by public transport and local services, employment and retail facilities; resulting in
- Substantial increases in car borne commuting; resulting in
- Increased pressure on the existing unsuitable highway network, particularly the smaller unsuitable rural roads which will serve new or expanded settlements in the countryside north of Guildford, including Ripley, Send and Clandon, Ockham and East/West Horsleys
- Inappropriate highway works to increase junction capacities or to provide improved visibility splays; resulting in
- Loss of rural character and
- The creation of larger isolated communities with few services and harm to community cohesion.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Traffic and Transport

29. There is no realistic proposal in the Plan for the provision of enhanced public transport, which could lead to significant modal shift. By the nature of the rural road network, the resulting substantial increase in road traffic would be likely to cause either (a) increased traffic on inappropriate rural roads; and/or (b) pressure to expand highway capacity with resulting urbanisation of the rural area.

30. The impact of these large scale principally housing developments (A43 Garlick’s Arch, A25 Gosden Hill, A35 Land at Wisley Airfield and A36-A41 Horsleys) on the roads around Ripley are likely to lead to unacceptable levels of traffic that cannot be mitigated due to the nature of the country lanes around Ripley and the listed buildings within the conservation area of Ripley.
31. They are also likely to add significantly to traffic on the already congested A3. Highways England have stated that the A3 north of Guildford to M25 is already at capacity in both directions in the peak hour. This problem will be exacerbated by the substantial new housing proposed for the rural area north of Guildford.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

A disproportionate part of the new housing provision is to be allocated to settlements and adjoining areas in the Green Belt, particularly in the Send/Lovelace Wards of the District.

27. RPC object to other Allocation Policies including:
A25 Gosden Hill Farm
A35 Land at former Wisley Airfield, Ockham
A36 Hotel Guildford Road East Horsley
A37 Land at Bell and Colvill, West Horsley
A38 Land at West Horsley
A39 Land near Horsley Station, West Horsley
A40 Land to the north of West Horsley
A41 Land to the south of West Horsley

28. These proposals together amount to a total of 4533 homes (approximately 35% of the total new housing provision for the whole Borough) within a 3 mile radius of Ripley. As such they are likely to indirectly and directly affect Ripley with the likelihood of traffic and infrastructure problems.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
The approach adopted by the GBC in the Local plan is to exclude land in and surrounding rural settlements from the protection of Green Belt designation by “insetting” of land some of which continues to serve the Green Belt purposes and contributes to the openness of the Green Belt.

40. The approach appears to have taken place as a significant general shift in policy, rather than on the basis of an assessment, in each case, of the extent to which the land in question still serves GB functions.

41. The “exceptional circumstances” required to justify amendment of GB boundaries are not identified.

42. The exclusion of these areas is not in accordance with the guidance in the NPPF. Unless this policy is modified the Plan cannot be “sound” and the criteria in Section 20 of the 2004 Act are not met.

43. RPC objects to the proposed insetting of rural villages so as to exclude them from the Green Belt protection.

44. There are no exceptional circumstances which justify such an approach and it does not follow or accord with the guidance in the NPPF set out above.

45. This Report is particularly concerned at the following insetting: (1) the insetting of Ripley Village; (2) the Send Marsh/ Burnt Common insetting.

46. There is no change of circumstances or exceptional circumstances which justify the insetting.

47. While RPC objects to the general approach to insetting in principle, it also objects to alignment of the boundary of the insetting, which has been drawn too widely and without proper or any regard to the character of the land to be excluded from the Green Belt or the extent to which it continues to fulfil Green Belt purposes.

48. RPC objects in particular to the insetting of land to the rear of the Talbot and the allocation A45. (above) The land to the rear of the built development behind the Talbot beyond the light industrial buildings is open land and forms a valued part of the rural setting of the village.

49. RPC takes the view that the insetting of Ripley Village has been far too widely drawn. The NPPF para 86 states: “If it is necessary to prevent development in a village primarily because of the important contribution which the open character of the village makes to the openness of the Green Belt, the village should be included in the Green Belt. If, however, the character of the village needs to be protected for other reasons, other means should be used, such as conservation area or normal development management policies, and the village should be excluded from the Green Belt.”

50. Whilst acknowledging that much of the Village of Ripley is in a widely drawn conservation area RPC consider that the open character of the village does make an important contribution to the openness of the Green Belt which justifies retention of its existing Green Belt status.

51. Accordingly RPC objects to the insetting of Ripley from the Green Belt, both in principle and in detail. The Plan is not “sound” in this respect and RPC recommends that the Plan should be modified to retain the village entirely in the Green Belt. If this objection is rejected, and the village is to be inset, the boundary should be drawn more tightly into the existing village built envelope and the paddock are to the rear of The Talbot excluded. Send Marsh and Burnt Common (See page 361 of the PSLP).
52. RPC objects to the insetting of Send and Burnt Common in general, but particularly objects to the extension of the settlement to exclude the Garlick’s Arch site from the Green Belt and to allocate the land for built development. In the case of Site A43 and Site A43a, Send Marsh/Burnt Common, the insetting of the Garlick’s Arch allocation appears to have no other justification than the very late substitution of the Garlick’s Arch site at the Executive Meeting on 24th May 2016 itself.

53. The site continues to serve a number of the Green Belt purposes and is an important green buffer to the A3 and of ecological and landscape importance.

54. There is nothing stated in the reasoned justification in the Plan to indicate that any exceptional circumstances exist to justify the allocation and the insetting of the Green Belt boundary.

55. It does not appear to have been identified by the process of criteria-based assessment of site through which other sites were identified for allocation and there is no explanation for the substitution of the original A43 allocation “land around Burnt Common Warehouse” which was much more appropriate, given its largely previously developed character.

56. This site which has long been included in the Green Belt has been excluded in the PSLP.

57. RPC accepts the principle of insetting this site as to do so would be consistent with paragraph 85 of the NPPF.

58. However, RPC objects to the inclusion of The Spinney in the area to be inset and submits that the Plan should be modified to as to exclude this area which is adjacent to HMP Send. No exceptional circumstances or change of circumstances have arisen which would justify the insetting of this part of the site, so as to remove its Green Belt protection. RPC consider that the open and undeveloped character of this area distinguishes it from the Prison site and justifies its retention in the Green Belt.

Loss Of Rural Economy

59. RPC considers that Oldlands Field Yard which forms part of the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) and also the barns behind the Talbot (A45) are all excellent examples of successful rural economy sites. There are many very well established and successful businesses housed at these two locations which will be lost.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
Distribution of Housing
26. A disproportionate part of the new housing provision is to be allocated to settlements and adjoining areas in the Green Belt, particularly in the Send/Lovelace Wards of the District.

27. RPC object to other Allocation Policies including:
   A25 Gosden Hill Farm
   A35 Land at former Wisley Airfield, Ockham
   A36 Hotel Guildford Road East Horsley
   A37 Land at Bell and Colvill, West Horsley
   A38 Land at West Horsley
   A39 Land near Horsley Station, West Horsley
   A40 Land to the north of West Horsley
   A41 Land to the south of West Horsley

28. These proposals together amount to a total of 4533 homes (approximately 35% of the total new housing provision for the whole Borough) within a 3 mile radius of Ripley. As such they are likely to indirectly and directly affect Ripley with the likelihood of traffic and infrastructure problems.

Traffic and Transport
29. There is no realistic proposal in the Plan for the provision of enhanced public transport, which could lead to significant modal shift. By the nature of the rural road network, the resulting substantial increase in road traffic would be likely to cause either (a) increased traffic on inappropriate rural roads; and/or (b) pressure to expand highway capacity with resulting urbanisation of the rural area.

30. The impact of these large scale principally housing developments (A43 Garlick’s Arch, A25 Gosden Hill, A35 Land at Wisley Airfield and A36-A41 Horsleys) on the roads around Ripley are likely to lead to unacceptable levels of traffic that cannot be mitigated due to the nature of the country lanes around Ripley and the listed buildings within the conservation area of Ripley.

31. They are also likely to add significantly to traffic on the already congested A3. Highways England have stated that the A3 north of Guildford to M25 is already at capacity in both directions in the peak hour. This problem will be exacerbated by the substantial new housing proposed for the rural area north of Guildford.

Infrastructure
32. Infrastructure problems are not limited to highways. New homes need schools, health, and other services which are not available in the local area. If these facilities are provided in the rural area, the intensification of activity will contribute to urbanisation of the rural area.

33. The full consequences of this approach is likely to include:
   Erosion of the Green Belt, harm to the landscape and historic character of some of the most attractive historic villages
   ? Large numbers of houses in places poorly serviced by public transport and local services, employment and retail facilities; resulting in
   ? Substantial increases in car borne commuting; resulting in
   ? Increased pressure on the existing unsuitable highway network, particularly the smaller unsuitable rural roads which will serve new or expanded settlements in the countryside north of Guildford, including Ripley, Send and Clandon, Ockham and East/West Horsleys
Inappropriate highway works to increase junction capacities or to provide improved visibility splays; resulting in loss of rural character and the creation of larger isolated communities with few services and harm to community cohesion.

34. RPC is very well aware of (and supports) the need to provide new affordable housing to serve existing and growing rural communities but the creation of isolated new or extended settlements of principally market housing as the basis for generating supply of affordable housing is misconceived and it is noted that, in any case, it does not remotely amount to sufficient affordable housing to meet local need. Guildford Borough has some of the highest costs of housing in the country, so that 80% of market value still remains unaffordable to many workers in the area.

35. Affordable housing in rural areas should be provided in or close to the settlements that it is going to serve, rather than as ad hoc adjuncts to larger new market housing developments. Such new development has historically been absorbed largely in or on the edge of rural settlements. Extensive and substantial new market housing areas in unsustainable locations causes irreversible harm to rural character, congestion and danger on rural road network and damage to social cohesion.

36. RPC considers that new housing, both market and affordable should be achieved close to and within major urban areas, principally in Guildford itself where high density housing can be provided on previously developed land close to services, shops and employment. Such an approach would be consistent with the principles of sustainable development in the NPPF. The current distribution strategy proposals are directly contrary to the principles of sustainable development in the NPPF.

Conclusions

37. Accordingly, RPC objects to the scale and distribution of housing proposed in Table 1 of the Plan “Proposed Delivery between 2018 and 2033”. The proposed delivery plan does not constitute sustainable development, would result in loss of rural character, harm to heritage assets, urbanisation, increased traffic and intensification of use and social isolation and harm to community cohesion.

38. RPC considers that the proposed Planned Delivery is so misconceived and so fundamental to the Plan that it is hard to see how it could be modified without large tracts of the Plan being re-written. Without substantial modification and rewriting, the Plan is not sound within the meaning of section 20 and paragraph 181 of the NPPF. RPC recommends that the Plan should be withdrawn or at least substantially modified by reducing significantly and re-distributing new housing currently proposed for the rural area in Table 1 Planned Delivery and by making consequent main modifications to the Plan.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
The Parish Council also objects to the overall strategy for new housing development, which:
(a) is based on an OAN with no allowance for the policy and landscape constraints of the District;
(b) appears to exceed the OAN for the District;
(c) would cause significant harm; not only from the development of countryside for housing but also by reason of its effect on minor rural highway network; and
(d) disproportionately directs new housing to villages and land in the Green Belt and rural areas.
This Report sets out the objections to that Strategy.

While Guildford Town Centre and urban area takes 2,742 units. This is less than 14% of the total projected housing requirement and much of the remaining 11,000 homes are to be accommodated in urban and village extensions (mainly open countryside around existing settlements) and in rural areas including what are called “inset villages” - effectively a redrawing of Green Belt boundaries to exclude former Green Belt villages and open land surrounding them from the protection of Green Belt designation. Of the 11,000 non-Town Centre requirement over 50% are being planned for the 3 North East Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandons/Horsleys. This is disproportionate and unacceptable for such a small and sparsely populated area.

It is noted that there is a significant shift in the balance of urban to rural housing site allocation at the expense of the Green Belt, when comparing the housing allocations in 2016 in comparison to the 2014 draft Plan. In the 2014 Plan Guildford town centre and urban area was allocated 3439 homes. Total housing potential listed was 14057 but there was a provision of only 13,040 in 2014 policy 2, which means that nearly 25% was allocated originally for town/urban in 2014. However the parameters of site allocations seem to have altered which now masks the true extent of the shift from urban to rural. For example, A24 Slyfield (1000 homes), A25 Gosden Hill Farm (2000 homes) and A26 Blackwell Farm (1800 homes) are now designated as “Guildford urban area” whereas in 2014 these 3 sites were allocated as “land around Guildford urban area”. The 2016 PSLP town centre and urban area (excluding Slyfield, Gosden Hill and Blackwell Farm sites) on a like for like basis give a housing provision of 2108 homes with a total housing figure of 13860 which means only 15% of new homes are allocated in the original definition of the town centre or urban area, against the 25% allocation in 2014.

RPC takes issue with the approach taken to meeting housing need within the Borough as a whole and objects to adopting the whole of the OAN as the housing requirement in a Borough which is almost 90% Green Belt and which contains significant areas of AONB.

20. RPC note that Core Strategies in other constrained areas have been found to be “sound” despite a housing requirement significantly below AON. (see for example Brighton and Hove City Plan 2016).

The approach taken by the Council does not appear to have understood or followed the decision of the Court of Appeal and judgement of Lord Justice Keene in City of St Albans v Hunston Properties plc [2013]EWCA Civ 1610 at

“There is no doubt, that in proceeding their local plans, local planning authorities are required to ensure that the “full objectively assessed needs” for housing are to be met, “as far as is consistent with the policies set out in this Framework”. Those policies include the protection of Green Belt land. Indeed, a whole section of the Framework, Section 9, is devoted to that topic, a section which begins by saying “The Government attaches great importance to Green Belts”: Paragraph 79. The Framework seems to envisage some review in detail of Green Belt boundaries through the new Local Plan process, but states that “the general extent of Green Belts across the country is already established.” It seems clear, and is not in dispute in this appeal, that such a Local Plan could properly fall short of meeting the “full objectively assessed needs” for
Despite this clear guidance from the Court of Appeal, the Council appears to have adopted the full OAN as the basis for the Plan. This in turn, and taken together with the emphasis on providing new housing in the Green Belt has led to removal of protection of the Green Belt from places previously within the Green Belt, by insetting of land in and around settlements to exclude them from the Green Belt and by the allocation of land within the Green Belt in order to allocate it for housing.

While RPC has not carried out its own OAN assessment it is noted that Table 1 of the PSLP indicates delivery well excess of the requirement identified in Policy S2 for the period 2018-2033. Paragraph 4.1.12 of the Plan confirms that the number of new homes shown in Table 1 is greater than the figure in the policy and purports to justify this as building flexibility into the plan and to demonstrate that the strategy is capable of delivering the target. The extent of oversupply in the Plan (130% of OAN) is not a figure derived from national policy and appears to be arbitrarily chosen. National policy in the NPPF states the requirement “to ensure that their Local Plan meets the full, objectively assessed needs for market and affordable housing in the housing market area, as far as is consistent with the policies set out in this Framework”. NPPF 82 states: “Once established, Green Belt boundaries should only be altered in exceptional circumstances…” There is no “exceptional” need for flexibility in Guildford Borough and certainly no case is made out to support such a significant over-supply.

In all the circumstances, RPC do not accept that either the housing requirement of 693 dwellings per annum or the proposed Table 1 delivery is reasonably justified. The plan has not been drawn up in conformity with the NPPF. The balance between housing need and the exceptional circumstances required to justify Green Belt boundary alterations is not made out.

The policies of the Plan are therefore not “sound” in this important respect and both the requirement in Policy S2 and the Planned Delivery between 2018 and 2033 should be modified by significant reductions in the number of dwellings proposed in each case.

Accordingly, RPC objects to the scale and distribution of housing proposed in Table 1 of the Plan “Proposed Delivery between 2018 and 2033”. The proposed delivery plan does not constitute sustainable development, would result in loss of rural character, harm to heritage assets, urbanisation, increased traffic and intensification of use and social isolation and harm to community cohesion.

RPC considers that the proposed Planned Delivery is so misconceived and so fundamental to the Plan that it is hard to see how it could be modified without large tracts of the Plan being re-written. Without substantial modification and rewriting, the Plan is not sound within the meaning of section 20 and paragraph 181 of the NPPF. RPC recommends that the Plan should be withdrawn or at least substantially modified by reducing significantly and re-distributing new housing currently proposed for the rural area in Table 1 Planned Delivery and by making consequent main modifications to the Plan.

RPC consider that the spatial strategy does not represent sustainable development, is not sound within the meaning of section 20 and paragraph 182 of NPPF and fails to address the key issues for Guildford in a sound and sustainable way.

119. The Plan will not deliver sustainable development in accordance with the policies of the Framework. Rather it will lead to serious degradation of the rural environment, erosion and piecemeal development of vital Green Belt land, cause harm to heritage assets, the intensification of use and urbanisation and access to new development principally by motor car, leading to congestion or upgrading of rural roads at the expense of rural character.

120. The effect on existing and future residential communities will be diminution in social cohesion, reduced quality of life and substantial harm to the amenity.
121. The overall housing land requirement in Policy S2 and the Proposed Delivery of housing in Table 1 of the Plan, as well as individual allocations in the Plan considered above, are not founded on a robust and credible evidence base.

122. The planned 30% oversupply of housing sites will make monitoring impossible and will lead to a de facto housing requirement which significantly exceeds the OAN.

123. RPC objects to the above proposals in the PSLP in principle and on the basis of the above comments and recommendations and asks that the Plan should be modified accordingly or withdrawn.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

9. RPC has concluded that, without modification, the Plan cannot be considered “sound” within the meaning of Section 20 of the 2004 Act and paragraph 182 of the NPPF.

12. RPC are not satisfied that the documents have been made available in accordance with Regulation 19. In particular the Transport Document not being available until 6 June 2016. What RPC describe as “constant alterations to the website throughout the consultation period and, in particular the late substitution of Garlick’s Arch for the previous A43 allocation, which was not disclosed until the publication of the PSLP on 6 June 2016.

Housing Need Calculation
14. RPC object to the approach taken to the assessment and calculation of the housing requirement in the plan.

15. The PSLP seeks to meet OAN by delivering 693 pa during the plan period, an overall figure of 13,860 in the plan period with delivery of housing numbers increasing from 500 per annum in 2018-19 to 790 p.a. in 2032/33.

16. The justification for this is explained in the Sustainability Appraisal June 2016 at para 6.2.10: (Text not copied)

17. While Guildford Town Centre and urban area takes 2,742 units. This is less than 14% of the total projected housing requirement and much of the remaining 11,000 homes are to be accommodated in urban and village extensions (mainly open countryside around existing settlements) and in rural areas including what are called “inset villages” - effectively a redrawing of Green Belt boundaries to exclude former Green Belt villages and open land surrounding them from the protection of Green Belt designation. 25. The policies of the Plan are therefore not “sound” in this important respect and both the requirement in Policy S2 and the Planned Delivery between 2018 and 2033 should be modified by significant reductions in the number of dwellings proposed in each case.

Insetting of Green Belt

39. The approach adopted by the GBC in the Local plan is to exclude land in and surrounding rural settlements from the protection of Green Belt designation by “insetting” of land some of which continues to serve the Green Belt purposes and contributes to the openness of the Green Belt.

40. The approach appears to have taken place as a significant general shift in policy, rather than on the basis of an assessment, in each case, of the extent to which the land in question still serves GB functions.

41. The “exceptional circumstances” required to justify amendment of GB boundaries are not identified.

42. The exclusion of these areas is not in accordance with the guidance in the NPPF. Unless this policy is modified the Plan cannot be “sound” and the criteria in Section 20 of the 2004 Act are not met.

43. RPC objects to the proposed insetting of rural villages so as to exclude them from the Green Belt protection.

44. There are no exceptional circumstances which justify such an approach and it does not follow or accord with the guidance in the NPPF set out above.

45. This Report is particularly concerned at the following insetting: (1) the insetting of Ripley Village; (2) the Send Marsh/Burnt Common insetting.

46. There is no change of circumstances or exceptional circumstances which justify the insetting.

47. While RPC objects to the general approach to insetting in principle, it also objects to alignment of the boundary of the insetting, which has been drawn too widely and without proper or any regard to the character of the land to be excluded from the Green Belt or the extent to which it continues to fulfil Green Belt purposes.

48. RPC objects in particular to the insetting of land to the rear of the Talbot and the allocation A45. (above) The land to the rear of the built development behind the Talbot beyond the light industrial buildings is open land and forms a valued part of the rural setting of the village.
49. RPC takes the view that the insetting of Ripley Village has been far too widely drawn. The NPPF para 86 states: “If it is necessary to prevent development in a village primarily because of the important contribution which the open character of the village makes to the openness of the Green Belt, the village should be included in the Green Belt. If, however, the character of the village needs to be protected for other reasons, other means should be used, such as conservation area or normal development management policies, and the village should be excluded from the Green Belt.”

50. Whilst acknowledging that much of the Village of Ripley is in a widely drawn conservation area RPC consider that the open character of the village does make an important contribution to the openness of the Green Belt which justifies retention of its existing Green Belt status.

51. Accordingly RPC objects to the insetting of Ripley from the Green Belt, both in principle and in detail. The Plan is not “sound” in this respect and RPC recommends that the Plan should be modified to retain the village entirely in the Green Belt. If this objection is rejected, and the village is to be inset, the boundary should be drawn more tightly into the existing village built envelope and the paddock are to the rear of The Talbot excluded.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents: Report on Guildford LP Reg 19 (V4) FINAL 17.7.16.pdf (489 KB)
See comments in attached report. The Plan is not sound. It is fundamentally flawed in the scale and distribution of housing land. It does not provide a basis for sustainable development to meet the key requirement of the Guildford Borough Plan area. It is likely that significant parts of the Plan will not be deliverable. It overprovides for housing delivery and as a result would lead to permanent environmental degradation, intensification of traffic and use of infrastructure, and irreversible damage to the rural landscape and heritage assets and social isolation.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

8. The meaning of the term “sound” is explained in the National Planning Policy Framework at paragraph 182:

“182 The Local Plan will be examined by an independent inspector whose role is to assess whether the plan has been prepared in accordance with the Duty to Cooperate, legal and procedural requirements, and whether it is sound. A local planning authority should submit a plan for examination which it considers is “sound” – namely that it is:

- Positively prepared – the plan should be prepared based on a strategy which seeks to meet objectively assessed development and infrastructure requirements, including unmet requirements from neighbouring authorities where it is reasonable to do so and consistent with achieving sustainable development;
- Justified – the plan should be the most appropriate strategy, when considered against the reasonable alternatives, based on proportionate evidence;
- Effective – the plan should be deliverable over its period and based on effective joint working on cross-boundary strategic priorities; and
- Consistent with national policy – the plan should enable the delivery of sustainable development in accordance with the policies in the Framework.”

9. RPC has concluded that, without modification, the Plan cannot be considered “sound” within the meaning of Section 20 of the 2004 Act and paragraph 182 of the NPPF.

6. Guildford PSLP is the draft Local Development Document proposed to be submitted to the Secretary of State under Regulation 19 of the 2012 Regulations. It seeks to establish the principal land uses for the District. It is accompanied by the Sustainability Appraisal June 2016 which includes the Strategic Environmental Assessment 2016 prepared by AECOM Infrastructure and Environment UK Limited.

7. Preparation of Local Development Documents is covered by Section 19 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004. The PSLP will, in due course be submitted to independent examination under Section 20 of the 2004 Act, subsection (5) of which provides:

“(5) The purpose of an independent examination is to determine in respect of the development plan document -
(a) whether it satisfies the requirements of sections 19 and 24 (1), regulations under section 17 (7) and any regulations under section 36 relating to the preparation of development plan documents;
(b) whether it is sound; and

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Allocation A58 and Amendments to Policy E1.
3.2 E1(4) identifies the Strategic Employment Sites as making up the borough’s core supply of employment land. A subclass of Strategic Employment Sites are Industrial Strategic Employment Sites. There are 11 existing Industrial SES identified in the policy at D1(7). Industrial SES are treated as suitable for B1(c) light industrial, B2 general industrial and B8 storage and distribution.

3.3 However, paragraph 4.4.32a of the “Reasoned justification” states: “Development involving waste management facilities may be appropriate and will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites. The Surrey Waste Plan (2006) policy CW5: Location of Waste Facilities gives priority to industrial/employment sites, particularly those in urban areas, and to any other suitable urban sites and then to sites close to urban areas and to sites easily accessible by the strategic road network. Some waste management activities fall within the industrial classes in the Use Classes Order and can be considered to be a B1c, B2 or B8 use. This is particularly the case given the increased move towards enclosing waste management activities in purpose designed buildings. However, some do not fall within specific use classes and are therefore sui generis use.”

3.4 To the existing core of employment sites is proposed the allocation (A58) an additional Industrial Strategic Employment Site at Burnt Common (Amendment 1). The proposal is for 7000 square metres of space within use classes B1(c) (light industrial), B2 General Industrial and B8 Storage and Distribution, and “with potential for further industrial floorspace to meet borough needs”. No justification or criteria are provided to explain its identification or selection but it is assumed that it is based on the existing warehouse on the site having established an employment use of the site.

3.5 The site is currently in the Green Belt and it is proposed that the GB boundary will be amended to exclude the entire site.(Amendment 2).

3.6 Policy E1(8) (as amended) states: “When developed the new employment land at Burnt Common, together with the existing employment floorspace, will be treated as Industrial Strategic Employment Land.”

3.7 These amendments taken together cause a number of specific concerns on the basis of which the Parish Council OBJECTS to the proposed amendments.

3.8 Effectively new Allocation A58 together with the changes to Policy E1 and their associated text in the reasoned justification, provides a clear basis for the provision of a new major strategic site which would be available and treated as suitable for new waste management development on a site currently in the Green Belt.

3.9 The Parish Council considers that such a use on this site would be inappropriate for the following reasons. The site would almost directly adjoin the new housing site at A43 and would be a potential “bad neighbour development”. The open ended nature of the policy which appears to provide no limit on the extent of development depending on “the borough’s needs” adds to the growing sense of alarm that the policy ground is being prepared for industrial or waste use which could have serious environmental consequences for the Parish and its community. The existence of the current warehouse on the site does not justify the intensification of industrial uses on a site of the size proposed in this rural location. Waste management uses would be particularly unwelcome. Other concerns are the lack of specific controls on traffic generation, ensuring that any such development is contingent on appropriate highway improvements (such as the new slip roads to the A3) and to ensure that heavy vehicles associated with the development are not able to access the rural road network.

3.10 If, contrary to the Parish Council’s objection, such an allocation was to proceed to adoption, the need for the protection of the landscape and countryside and local residential amenity would mean that there must be limits on height and footprint of buildings, the scale and nature of circulation and parking areas (especially HGV parking) and other infrastructure, the use of materials, advertising and signage. Lighting would need to be controlled, to prevent intrusive all night floodlighting of the site. Such is the importance of these factors that they should be written into the policy for this site allocation.

3.11 The location for a waste management facility in the countryside ought to be subject to a full sequential site analysis and suitable locations should be identified in the plan making process in an open and transparent way, considering alternative sites higher up the sequential hierarchy, rather than being designated under the guise of a standard industrial allocation.

3.12 The allocation policy should be the subject of a full sequential site assessment in accordance with the Waste Local Plan. Such facilities should be planned on a county wide basis, given their strategic importance and the County level waste authority’s responsibilities.

3.13 If, contrary to the Parish Council’s in principle objection, the allocation was to proceed to adoption, they would promote a modification to specifically rule out waste management, especially any open air or unenclosed waste management, irrespective of whether or not such waste management was to fall within Use Classes B1(c), B2 or B8. The Policy should specifically state that notwithstanding the Use Classes Order 1987, waste management uses shall be considered unsuitable uses on the A58 site and in any case, no such use shall take place on the site without specific grant of planning permission.

2.4 Annex 1 Glossary of the Government Guidance on Travellers “Planning Policy for Travellers” 2012 identifies the fact that traveling show people often need mixed use “plots” to accommodate their equipment:

“5. For the purposes of this planning policy, “pitch” means a pitch on a “gypsy and traveller” site and “plot” means a pitch on a “travelling showpeople” site (often called a “yard”). This terminology differentiates between residential pitches for “gypsies and travellers” and mixed-use plots for “travelling showpeople”, which may / will need to incorporate space or to be split to allow for the storage of equipment.”

2.5 However, policy makes no distinction between travelling show people and other travellers and gypsies, despite their different needs and makes it clear that local plans should seek to meet their needs working in collaboration with adjoining districts.

2.6 The Reg 19 draft Plan identifies a ratio of 1 traveller site per 500 new housing units. 500 units is the minimum site unit number to justify traveller site inclusion. The allocation A43 provides 6 travelling show people’s plots for an overall housing development of 400 units; a 750% increase over the policy H1 figure, if applied in this way, and representing the major part of the 6-8 permanent travelling show peoples’ plots for the entire borough, on one site, in a location which extends the allocation site on land currently identified as Ancient Woodland.

2.7 The approach to allocation of travelling showmen plots within the site does not appear to be justified anywhere in the draft Plan, not is any basis for the selection of this site as being particularly suitable for such use.

2.8 Travelling showpeople have specific needs, including buildings and compounds for secure storage of large vehicles, plant and machinery. Their work and travelling is often seasonal but can lead to additional traffic, including the movement of very large specialist vehicles, plant and machinery which can cause substantial disruption.

2.9 The Parish Council considers that the most successful sites are stand-alone sites with direct access to major roads. The proposed location (probably in the far North corner of the site) is inappropriate, not only in that it affects land recorded as ancient woodland, but also because it is likely to be a poor neighbour to residential development of the kind shown and will probably require large commercial vehicles to use estate roads.

2.10 The combination of travelling showpeople’s accommodation and new general housing is an unsatisfactory one and is likely to impact on viability which will have consequences for the delivery of much needed affordable housing to meet, in particular, local needs. Attempting to tuck the use away in the far northern corner of the A43 site will not be a satisfactory solution.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I have studied the proposed changes to the Green Belt/Settlement Boundary for Shalford and I strongly object to these proposals. I am a property owner in Chinthurst Park.

These fields form an important part of the open and attractive character of Shalford Village and provide a rural backdrop. The fundamental aim of green belt policy is to prevent urban sprawl by keeping land permanently open, and consequently the most important attribute of green belts is their openness.

These fields are currently within the Green Belt and AGLV and this level of protection should remain. The land has not changed so why should the level of protection? The fields significantly contribute to the openness of the Green Belt because of their height - they rise to almost 10 metres above the Kings Road and over 7.5 metres above the Village Hall. This means that any housing development built there would dominate the village landscape especially from the Village Green.

I see that access to the proposed development is via Chinthurst Lane. Chinthurst Lane is a narrow and windy country lane and it can barely cope with the current volume of traffic – it certainly could not sustain traffic from a development of this size. In addition the local infra structure including the school and medical facilities just cope with the existing number of residents.

Finally AGLV has been a long standing policy designation in Surrey, identifying land of particularly high landscape value which lies immediately outside the AONB. The current GBC Local Plan has a specific policy in this regard. Policy RE6 states that development within the Area of Great Landscape Value should be consistent with the intention of protecting the distinctive landscape character of the area. The Guildford Landscape Character Assessment & Guidance published in 2007 by Guildford Borough Council and Landuse Consultants discussed as a key landscape characteristic the "panoramic views across the landscape from Chinthurst Hill". It notes among the key positive landscape attributes that contribute to the character of the area and that should be conserved and enhanced as being: Remote, peaceful and unsettled character - Mixed woodlands - Rural roads and sunken lanes. This landscape needs to be preserved and not destroyed.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I am writing to object strongly to the Guildford Local Plan.

I am dismayed to see the local plan for Guildford containing so many new housing sites. There appears to be a serious lack of understanding as to the impact that such quantities of new housing will have to my area, Burpham and the wider Guildford region…(afterall, just putting a new Aldi store in Burpham has generated traffic carnage at times).

- There is already a woeful lack of infrastructure (road capacity, schools, shops, doctors surgeries etc)
- No doubt you will again not prescribe decent levels of parking per household which will again blight the existing and new areas
- All the green spaces will be sucked out of the area, causing more car journeys to get out of the ‘town’, plus untold damage to wildlife and flood risk etc

- Do you really need all of the housing now, afterall the economy is going to slide off a cliff now the Tories have allowed a Brexit vote…

- Where will the people come from to buy such houses, if T.May gets to be PM and is negotiating on the residency status of 2million+ EU citizens and they end up leaving won’t we have too many unoccupied houses already that could be used?

- This is massively over developing the area – a total of 14,000 new homes are proposed, a whole new town effectively!

There are many more concerns, this appears to be a whole bucket list of crazy plans on one document. I am all for development and new houses, but really, 14,000!

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
1. I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Objections to Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016)

I am writing to register the strongest possible objection to all of the element of the draft local plan 2016 which affect West Clandon.

As a long standing resident of the village of West Clandon, I object to the way in which successive administrations seem determined to destroy forever the nature of the village by pressing ahead with unnecessary and ill-advised development plans, much of which would be on protected green belt land.

I chose to settle in this quiet, semi-rural location rather than embrace city life closer to Guildford. This way of life is now clearly under threat. My son and I make regular use of the open spaces that surround the village. Once these are gone, we will have no choice but to add to road congestion by traveling in a car in order to seek out the next nearest open spaces.

The village has a documented history going back hundreds of years, and local residents are proud to uphold this heritage through a vibrant community which celebrates, and thrives because of, the separation of the village from surrounding conurbations. The developments proposed for West Clandon will therefore not only destroy forever the clean, open, rural green belt land which is extensively used for recreational purposes, but also the community feeling and spirit which will disappear once the process of subsuming Clandon within the wider urban sprawl commences.

This Plan is unsustainable, unworkable and, in many provisions, unnecessary. Specifically, I object to the following elements of the Local Plan:
1. I OBJECT to Gosden Hill development being in the Local Plan. The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.
The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

1. I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

1. I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

1. POLICY E6 - The leisure and visitor experience

I OBJECT. Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

• To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

• To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

• To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a SouthWest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

• To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

I trust that the objections made above are fully taken into consideration and that the Plan is amended accordingly. I’d be grateful if you could confirm by return safe receipt of this objection.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT (POLICY H1 – Homes for all) Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.
I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

1. POLICY H3 – Rural Exception Homes

I OBJECT This is a Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added pollution and risk to injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

1. I OBJECT to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1)

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.
Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?.

1. I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

1. I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans.
This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

1. I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

I OBJECT to the proposals to remove the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, together with sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43). National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’ and the land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached. GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

1. I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

1. I OBJECT to the Local Plan as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are just unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.
The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)
   a. The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.
   b. The Housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.
   c. The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any commonsense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guildford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.
The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick's Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

I object to the 2016 Draft Local Plan. With around 6000 of the proposed 14,000 new homes to be built within a few miles of the Burpham area, I find this a disproportionate level of development in one part of the Borough. Furthermore, much of this is on the green belt, there is no apparent provision for appropriate improvements to either the A3 or local roads, and there is a distinct lack of details of essential infrastructure required to support such developments.

It is deeply concerning that developments on such a scale are being proposed without specific infrastructure details or indeed the evidence for such housing requirements in the Borough.

I sincerely hope that you will reconsider the Local Plan.

Dear Sirs,

I wish to make clear I do not favour the development proposal Policy A46 for the following reasons: The land is not 'safeguarded' for planning; it is still in the Green Belt and no special circumstances have been produced to suggest it should not remain so.

The need for a secondary school in Normandy has not been proven, but the school is the basis of the development. If the school requirement is not proven (some nearby secondary schools are undersubscribed and none are over-subscribed), the need for the houses to be there is also not proven. So there is no need locally for a school or so many houses.
The development site is within a kilometre of the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area, when that protection area extends for five kilometres, so the development is in direct conflict and disregard of the TBHSPA.

The proposed area for SANG at Russell Farm would mean the loss of fine agricultural land for an inadequate scheme that even National Heritage can't approve. Plus the likelihood of 2000 new Normandy residents travelling that distance to walk their dogs, rather than resorting to the much closer, larger, more attractive heathland, is slim.

Please note this potential SANG is not large enough to fulfil SANG requirements (that one can walk for at least a kilometre without recrossing one's path in the process), it is not within easy walking distance of the community it is proposed to serve (ie Normandy residents) and it is not required by the residents of Wood Street, where it is situated. It appears as merely a sop to the planners, rather than a well-thought out alternative to the huge loss of the productive agricultural land outlined in Policy A46.

The development Policy A46 requires adequate roads to service it. But the land under consideration is bordered by two country lanes - Glaziers Lane and Westborough Lane. Those lanes are edged with houses. Widening them, therefore, is impossible, so how they are to be made 'adequate' for double the traffic they carry already? It couldn't be done in the necessary timescale; it's doubtful it could be done at all. There are also two railway bridges on these lanes. One is a narrow, 'blind' hump-backed bridge, the other, which goes over the road, reduces the lane to a single car, requiring folk to wait and give way. It is easy to see how double the traffic down either lane will result in traffic jams and even accidents.

The development outlined in Policy A46 will also require adequate sewage provision. Thames Water has admitted that this is currently at capacity in Normandy and residents of Glaziers Lane can see it is in excess of capacity during heavy rain, when sewage appears in their gardens. The provision of a fit-for-purpose sewage system that can cope with the current population is urgently needed and overdue. If Thames Water can't manage this, it is not doubtful they could manage the sewage output of another 1100 homes in the same area? A public health disaster awaits.

Overall, Policy A46 would change the village from a collection of hamlets currently separated by the Green Belt to double its size and destroy its current character in the process. As a resident of some twenty-five years, I do not oppose modest development in Normandy and indeed have seen some that I support, especially the provision of social housing near the village hall, the private development on Westwood Lane where once a garage stood, and the thoughtful housing association homes in Beech Lane. They were on a human scale and they haven't badly affected the village.

But Policy A46 will. It is clearly developer led, rather than locally desired, or socially aware, and will please only those who have the money to buy houses at the current inflated rate, the landowner who stands to earn a million pounds an acre when he sells his current agricultural land as building land, and the developers who will reap the profits of an inflated housing market.

It leads one to muse upon why those elected to represent local people promote schemes that local people do not want, but developers and landowners do.

The access on to the A31 and the A3 with signals will jam two roads that are currently only rarely running freely during rush hour. It will make a questionable route almost impossible during those times. Astonished to read that this is deemed a viable way to 'drain' traffic generated from this site, a site which is truly not viable regarding the current proposed access to it, and is most unwelcome locally anyway. Air quality concerns aren't trivial either - they are of huge significance and alone reason to halt this plan.

Very pleased to see this land, which floods regularly and has water voles present on it, removed from the local plan and no longer considered suitable for building. A site of nature conservation interest shouldn't be used this way and it was wrong to consider it in the first place.

There is widespread anger within our community due to the intention to erect a burial ground (crematorium) in shocking proximity to our Stoughton/QEP area (area A23 on map appendix H) due to the following concerns 1) Health and environmental issues 2) Construction issues 3) Traffic congestion.

The studies of the negative impact of crematoriums in local health is well documented.

The area is permanently affected by traffic jams that will be worsened. Both conditions will lead to a negative drop in our life quality.

Our community hosts several families with young children (some of them suffering from asthma) that would be exposed to mercury pollution.

I have been examining Guildford proposed development plan and, while I am happy more housing has been planned, I am concerned about sufficient improvement in the transportation network being able to accommodate for more people and cars. The situation is already far from ideal, including parking, and I hope it does not get any worse.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
As a resident of Normandy I wish to register my objection to the proposal under the new draft Local Plan to release Site A46 from the Green Belt.
I do not believe that Guildford Borough Council have demonstrated the required "exceptional circumstances" to justify this proposed release within the Local Plan. The Local Plan does not adequately take into account the sensitive nature of the site or the impact on the local environment and no explanation has been given as to why this area is proposed for development as opposed to other more suitable locations within the Borough.
The local road and other transport infrastructure is already stressed and the proposed doubling in size of the local community would place huge additional pressure on an already overloaded road and transport system.

The currently allocated, fragmented development sites should be combined into one location to achieve sustainable development objectives and avoid coalescence. A single strategic location, near the railway station, facilitates a comprehensive masterplan to be prepared for the proposed allocation. This is required in order to ensure the provision of essential infrastructure, such as drainage improvements and a pedestrian and road bridge to replace the level crossing, high quality development and compliance with the full range of place-making criteria.

The case for removing the Horsleys from the Green Belt (or "insetting" them) has not been made. They are open in appearance and character and epitomise the areas which Green Belt designation was designed to protect. The insetting will expose them to much weaker development constraints. This is evident in the plan to accommodate 60% more new housing (25% increase) than commensurate with the ONS' own projections for a 15% population increase in the area.

+Objection to planned construction within Normandy village

I, Adam Hampton, formally object to the construction of homes and businesses within the village of Normandy as propositioned by the plans that were made available earlier this year by Guildford borough council.

It is of my opinion that many points of contention have been consistently overlooked and ignored by the council when submission of planning for construction at the Normandy site was proposed; such points of contention I will outline below in a structured manner. My objections, along with most other objections from people in the area, can be divided into three main areas of concern, social, ecological and economical.
When looking at the proposition in a social aspect a number of key concerns are raised. How will the residents of this new development move during daily transit? How will the residents integrate into the current utilities infrastructure, namely the surgery? And will the new developments integrate into the existing character of the village, in style, layout and number?

Firstly, while it is a noble to assume that the residents and visitors of the 1000+ unit development will be making full use of the Wanborough rail transport links to Guildford and ash, to do so would be naïve on part of the borough and the developers. Assuming each resident will have on average of 2 residents, and assuming that those 2 residents do not share a car, as most do not. There will be a minimum of 2000+ new vehicles utilising the existing road infrastructure in addition to the many hundreds, if not thousands that do each day. If you also take into account the proposed school building and assume it is of mode size as outlined by government survey, there will be between 501-1000 pupils who will also need to be transported to the building. Adding, in the best case scenario, 500 more cars to the area every morning and evening. Currently the majority of traffic is transient, this would not be so if the development were allowed to go ahead. 2500 cars, at best, utilising the current road infrastructure at the rush hours of the morning and evening at the same time would be chaos, and in my opinion is enough argument already to prevent such a development from taking place.

Secondly, all of the new residents will be likely making use of the current surgery in Glazier’s lane, should the proposed development be allowed to take place. The current ability of existing residents to make appointments is already hindered by long wait times and lack of appointment places. Appointments have to consistently be made great lengths of time in advance, removing any sort of emergency response capacity of the surgery. It is self-explanatory that addition of yet more people to a problem already caused by lack of space will further hinder the services of the surgery, both for existing residents and future.

Thirdly, due to the nature and size of the development, integration with the surrounding area is highly limited and if not, improbable. It would incorrect to call this a housing development when its size greatly exceeds the size of the village as it currently is, and would be more appropriately titled a ‘village’ development. Its size would be essentially usurping the existing residents and character of the village and moving the centre of the village away from where it was once situated. If current development styles from sites in ash vale are to be taken as the industry standard, the house styles will not be in keeping of those currently in the village. The number of houses and the size of the plot will virtually guarantee that the houses cannot be of a size or shape similar to those that currently occupy the village proper.

From an ecological perspective, the development would be most damaging. We must ask a number of key questions when considering the development in this way. Will the development protect the existing wildlife and if so, to what degree? If damage is to be made, what forms will it likely take and what will be the further reaching impacts of the development on the surrounding ecology? Will any damage be transient or permanent?

To address the first question, no, there are no obvious provisions made to protect the existing wildlife. Any developments made, will be on Greenfield sites and as such will completely eradicate forever, any and all ecology that exited on the site and could exist there. Considering that the site is surrounded by ancient woodland, any wildlife on the site will be well established and flourishing in their niche and to disrupt this would be highly damaging. Increased urban presence will give rise to more urban dependant species such as foxes, urbanised pigeons and rats, which will outcompete the more sensitive countryside wildlife for food and territory, reducing the already limited biodiversity. It is astounding to think that in this age of renewable technology and sustainable planning, a green-field development is being even considered and preservation of natural spaces and wildlife has taken a back seat.

Pollution from the site will likely be of light and noise forms, and these will over reach far beyond the boundaries of the development site itself. While also damaging the quiet and dark nature of the village as a whole, in a broader sense it will drive away swathes of fauna that need these aspects to thrive. Established nocturnal species of owls and badgers will be effected and driven away. More sensitive creatures such as deer will retreat further into the valley and less often be seen. In all changing the natural character of the area irreversibly.

It goes without saying that the majority of these changes will be permanent in nature. Of course there will be some recovery from more bold species of flora and fauna that can adapt to overcome the changes but there are many that will not and will move away indefinitely. All forms of pollution will increase, as is expected with an increase in population, and this will also be a permanent change.
Economically there will be very little net gain, those that are shopping at the few proposed shops will bring very little money to the area and the majority will still look elsewhere to more well stocked areas in Aldershot and Guildford for their groceries and day to day supplies.

As with any increase in population there will also be an increase in crime, a statistic that is highly correlated and can be avoided by relocation of the development to places with a less established community and local area.

In closing, such infilling developments and especially that which has been proposed at Normandy village are inappropriate and inadequate solutions to housing around the Guildford area. Any sentiments that I have expressed are not of the NIMBY (not in my back yard) disposition, but are of hard facts that will definitively change the character of the village for the worse, and will remove sites of such appeal and nature from the surrey hills area forever. It is not in the locals’ best interests to have such a site be constructed in the heart of our village and overtake the village as it is with its scale. It would be much more sensitive to the local area to develop along roads and byways, and to let any development happen naturally, rather than setting down what is essentially a whole new village within the existing one. I urge that this development be halted in its current state and searches be made for sites of more suitable character. I understand the need for housing in a growing population but this planning application grossly oversteps what is necessary and should be reconsidered.

Draft Infrastructure Delivery Plan

The Council does not have an up-to-date assessment of the need for open space, sports and recreation facilities required by paragraph 73 of the NPPF. Sport England considers that additional work is required to determine what additional indoor and outdoor sports facilities are required in the Borough and this should inform the Infrastructure Schedule.

It is Sport England’s policy to resist proposals which will result in the loss of a playing field, unless it meets one of five exceptions as defined in A Sporting Future for the Playing Fields of England, see: https://www.sportengland.org/facilities-planning/planning-for-sport/development-management/planning-applications/playing-field-land/

Sport England’s policy is supported by paragraph 74 of the Government’s National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF). Both Sport England’s policy and paragraph 74 also support the protection and retention of other sports facilities. In light of this, Sport England’s main consideration in relation to site allocations is to seek to protect existing playing field stock and sports facilities being lost to development. Please note that if any such sites are being considered for inclusion within the Plan, please could the Council consider their allocation within the context of our Policies referenced above

Sport England welcomes the council’s objective of increasing the contribution that tourism, arts, cultural heritage and sport make to their local community’s quality of life, social and cultural well being.

Further, Sport England supports the policy which protects against the loss of indoor sports venues unless replacement facilities of equivalent or better standard and provision is proposed in a location accessible to the facility’s current catchment area; or robust evidence demonstrates that the facility causes significant detriment to the amenity of the locality or that:

- there is no longer a need for the existing facility or an alternative leisure or visitor use; and
- the existing use is unviable and its retention has been fully explored (including through marketing the facility for alternative leisure or visitor use for a continued period of at least 18 months).

Sport England would like to see outdoor sports facilities specifically covered within Policy E6 or have a separate policy. Outdoor sports facilities and indoor sports facilities are given equal protection from development under paragraph 74 of the National Planning Policy Framework. The current phrasing of Policy E6 which applies to “existing leisure attractions” is ambiguous and further clarity should be provided. Sport England therefore objects to Policy E6.

Sport England supports that the Council’s intention to protect existing outdoor sports facilities in accordance with the National Planning Policy Framework within Policy I4.

However, Sport England recommends that a separate policy or reference is required within the Green and Blue Infrastructure policy to cover outdoor and indoor sports facilities. This is because where it is proposed that these facilities are lost to make way for other forms of development, the reprovision of sports infrastructure can be more complex than it is for some other forms of green infrastructure. In seeking to protect sport facilities Sport England will refer to our Playing Fields Policy – Planning Policy Statement: A Sporting Future for the Playing Fields of England see:

https://www.sportengland.org/facilities-planning/planning-for-sport/development-management/planning-applications/

Our Playing Fields Policy reflects the wording of Section 74 (see Exception 4 and 5).

Sport England also considers that the Council should do additional work to plan for new sports facilities in line with the guidance in Paragraph 73 of the NPPF which states:

“Access to high quality open spaces and opportunities for sport and recreation can make an important contribution to the health and well-being of communities. Planning policies should be based on robust and up-to-date assessments of the needs for open space, sports and recreation facilities and opportunities for new provision. The assessments should identify specific needs and quantitative or qualitative deficits or surpluses of open space, sports and recreational facilities in the local area. Information gained from the assessments should be used to determine what open space, sports and recreational provision is required.”

Without a robust assessment of need in place in the form of an up-to-date PPS, there is no evidence that new leisure, recreational and cultural facilities are required. Therefore, whilst Sport England supports the provision of new facilities, there is a risk that any policy may be open to challenge and deemed unsound on the basis that it is not fully justified.

With regards to the provision of new infrastructure and facilities, Sport England would require a contribution to both sports pitches and the built provision of sports facilities to meet the increased demand caused by the additional population. Sport England’s Sports Facilities Calculator (SFC) is a very sophisticated planning tool which helps to estimate the level of demand for key community sports facilities that is created by a given population. The SFC has been created by Sport England to help local planning authorities quantify how much additional demand for the key community sports facilities (swimming pools, sports halls and synthetic turf pitches), is generated by populations of new growth, development and regeneration areas. It uses information Sport England has gathered on who uses facilities and applies this to the actual population profile of the local area. This ensures that the calculation is sensitive to the needs of the people who actually live there. Further information on the SFC can be found on our website at:

http://www.sportengland.org/facilities_planning/planning_tools_and_guidance/sports_facility_calculator.aspx

Sport England’s Planning Policy Objective 8 ‘Providing for Sport through New Development’:

“To promote the use of planning obligations as a way of securing the provision of new or enhanced places for sport and a contribution towards their future maintenance, to meet the needs arising from new development. ”

Again, these facilities should include existing open space, sports and recreational building and land as stated within paragraph 74 of the NPPF. However, without a robust assessment of need in place in the form of an up-to-date PPS which clearly identifies shortfalls in provision, there is a risk that this policy could not be justified and deemed unsound. Further, without such an up to date strategy, it would be difficult to determine specific proposals through the development management process in line with the council’s local policy. Sport England therefore objects to Policy 14.

Sport England support the view on the dual use of sites, in particular the extended use of school sites for the benefit of the community. Sport England has developed a toolkit regarding accessing schools for community use which may be of use, available via the below link:

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (Yes)

Sport England has an established role within the planning system which includes providing advice and guidance on all relevant areas of national, regional and local policy as well as supporting local authorities in developing the evidence base for sport.

Sport England aims to ensure positive planning for sport, enabling the right facilities to be provided in the right places, based on robust and up-to-date assessments of need for all levels of sport and all sectors of the community. To achieve this our planning objectives are to seek to PROTECT sports facilities from loss as a result of redevelopment; to ENHANCE existing facilities through improving their quality, accessibility and management; and to PROVIDE new facilities that are fit for purpose to meet demands for participation now and in the future.

We work with the planning system to achieve these aims and objectives, seeking to ensure that they are reflected in local planning policies, and applied in development management. Please see our website for more advice:

http://www.sportengland.org/facilities-planning/planning-for-sport/

Evidence Base

The National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) requires each local planning authority to produce a Local Plan for its area. Local Plans should address the spatial implications of economic, social and environmental change. Local Plans should be based on an adequate, up-to-date and relevant evidence base. In addition, para 73 of the NPPF requires that:

“Planning policies should be based on robust and up-to-date assessments of the needs for open space, sports and recreation facilities and opportunities for new provision. The assessment should identify specific needs and quantitative deficits or surpluses of open space, sports and recreational facilities in the local area.”

Sport England is aware that the Council does not have an up-to-date Playing Pitch Strategy or indoor or outdoor sports facilities strategy. It is noted that the Council relies on an open space, sport and recreation assessment based on the out-of-date “PPG17 – planning for open space, sport and recreation” and does not include a Playing Pitch Strategy. It is noted that there is little detail on sports provision within the assessment and indoor sports facilities are not included. It is crucial that the Council has an up-to-date and robust evidence base in order to plan for the provision of sport both playing fields and built facilities. Sport England would highly recommend that the Council undertake a playing pitch strategy (PPS) as well as assessing the needs and opportunities for sporting provision. Sport England provides comprehensive guidance on how to undertake both pieces of work.

Playing Pitch Strategy

This guidance document provides a recommended step by step approach to developing and delivering a playing pitch strategy (PPS). It covers both natural and artificial grass pitches. Sport England believes that to ensure there is a good supply of high quality playing pitches and playing fields to meet the sporting needs of local communities, all local authorities should have an up to date PPS. By providing valuable evidence and direction a PPS can be of significant benefit to a wide variety of parties and agendas.

Assessing needs and opportunity for sports provision (Indoor and Outdoor)

This guide complements the PPS guidance providing the recommended approach for assessing the need for pitch provision. Sport England believes that providing the right facilities in the right place is central to enabling people to play sport and maintain and grow participation. An assessment of need will provide a clear understanding of what is required in an area, providing a sound basis on which to develop policy, and make informed decisions for sports development and investment in facilities.

Without this additional evidence base, Sport England is concerned that the Council has not adequately planned for indoor and outdoor sports facilities in accordance with paragraph 73 of the NPPF. On this basis, Sport England does not agree that the evidence used is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

I believe the local plan fails to take any material consideration of (1) the impact on the proposed Guildford Town Centre plan on local residents who live within that zone, (2) the existing infrastructure (specifically, parking) difficulties and problems faced by local residents based on current developments in the Town Centre and surrounding areas, and (3) the significant impact that future developments in and outside of the Town Centre will have on residents in the Guildford Town Centre area, specifically in relation to parking.

In particular, whilst at various points the local plan notes that the increased housing developments will result in a greater demand for the amenities in Guildford Town Centre and that a number of these developments will not be within walking distance of the Town Centre for many, a number of the development sites would directly result in the removal of car parks and parking spaces. This is totally illogical. There is no thought or consideration given to what happens to cars using these existing parking facilities, or the impact that this would have on residents, who already suffer great misery on the weekends having to use congested dual-use parking bays. Although reference is made Guildford's Transport Plan 2016 and that further consideration will be given to any necessary changes, it is naïve and ill-conceived to believe that significant infrastructure plans can, or should, be formulated without also reviewing the local transport plan. This is both in the interests of local residents and local businesses, who quite understandably want visitors to having adequate parking provision to ensure that Guildford remains a principal retail centre.

I also believe that the local plan fails to take any adequate consideration of the wider catchment area that Guildford has - the report and the evidence base is very insular facing and fails to consider the wider catchment area that Guildford has across Surrey and surrounding counties for shopping and other amenities. It fails to consider that this wider catchment means that cars and parking issues will continue to exacerbated by increased infrastructure development and it is totally misplaced to assume that alternative transport links (such as park and ride (which the local plan seems to place great hope on, but this is totally misplaced and it is quite clear this is not a substitute for car parks) or buses (which, again, the local plan seems to put great hope on, but it is quite clearly not a substitute for car parks given the long distance catchment that Guildford has)) will be adequate to support the increased population who will consider Guildford to be their nearest shopping centre.

The absence of any consideration of the impact on Town Centre parking, and in particular the parking arrangements for residents who already have to put up with congested roads, a lacking of dedicated parking spaces for residents and poor parking behaviour by visitors, means that I do not believe that the plan fails to take account of the interests of all of its stakeholders and I think that the local plan is deficient in this respect.

Having attended the meeting of SCC’s Planning and Regulatory Committee on 25th March 2015 when the decision was made to grant planning permission (for the construction of new 2 storey teaching block comprising 8 classrooms and extension to existing school hall following removal of two existing modular buildings; extension of playground onto existing parking area and provision of new car park) we noted that the officer’s report to the committee made reference to the objections received from local residents: “mainly on grounds of the effects of the additional traffic generated by the development exacerbating current problems of congestion and on-street parking”.

We are aware that whilst officers considered the highways / transport impact of the proposal could be mitigated through the imposition of conditions – including the School Travel Plan – Councillors asked for an informative to be added to the decision notice, formally noting that consideration is given to the provision of a controlled pedestrian crossing on the A323 Aldershot Road at Fairlands, and making clear that they support the ongoing investigation and development of this project as a potential contributor to reducing school-related traffic in the area. Securing a crossing across the A323 is also a key objective / target of the proposed Travel Plan.

We also note the Planning and Regulatory Committee’s decision, on 10th December 2014, to defer consideration of the school’s application due to one of the then proposed traffic mitigation measures no longer being available. At a subsequent meeting on 7th January 2015 between representatives of Worplesdon Parish Council (WPC), the Fairlands, Liddington Hall and Gravetts Lane Community Association (FLGCA), SCC (Highways, Planning and Property) and Cllr Keith Witham (SCC) alternative mitigation options were discussed. At this meeting it was agreed that a number of possible mitigation options should be investigated. A “Report on Traffic Mitigation Measures” was then prepared which formed part of the background papers to the subsequent decision to grant planning permission.

As the report to the committee on 25th March 2015 set out, one of the potential options was “a new vehicular access from Aldershot Road to the school via Hunts Farm or Hook Farm”, however, the aforementioned Report on Traffic Mitigation Measures made clear that, “SCC is not in control of the land adjacent to FP 447 in order for this to be developed into a road”. The report went on to confirm that:

“N.B. During this investigation SCC Property has been made aware of a potential future residential development on the property south of the school that could provide alternative access. However, this project / land is out of our control and is too early in the viability stages to be considered as a feasible mitigation measure for this school expansion.”

Consequently, it concluded that neither this nor other options to mitigate the potential increase in traffic arising from the proposed school development “are considered viable at this time”. Accordingly, paragraph 68 of the officer’s report stated that there is “little that can be realistically and reasonably done” due to “the isolated position of Fairlands”. This is despite acknowledging that the existing number of pupils at the school currently causes localised difficulties on the highway network at drop-off and pick-up times and that it is also clear that the increase in enrolment by 120 children would exacerbate the current situation. Nevertheless, the officers concluded that the school has been proactive in addressing the issues of traffic congestion and parking, especially in the preparation of the School Travel Plan and involvement with the Living Streets Programme, but there remain unresolved issues which still require a long-term solution.

Our proposals and their alignment with the School Travel Plan

In light of all the above, and the continuing local concerns about the impact of the school’s expansion on the existing Fairlands community, we consider that our proposals for a development at Hook Farm and Hunts Farm represent the only realistic prospect of addressing the objectives / targets in the School Travel Plan (including the informative agreed by Councillors last March) and delivering the main Traffic Mitigation Measures as set out in the report requested by WPC, FLGCA and Cllr Witham in January 2015. Given that the school (which was originally intended to accommodate 240 pupils) is increasing from 420 to 450 this coming September, with further uplifts to 540 in the coming years, the need for such measures to be implemented is ever more pressing.

As you will be aware, Guildford Borough Council (GBC) is currently preparing the next iteration of its Local Plan, ahead of a Regulation 19 consultation in June. To aid the Council’s deliberations on site allocations, we (Miller Developments) have submitted a detailed brochure for their consideration, in support of our proposals for land at Hook Farm and Hunts Farm. As this document sets out, our plans offer a unique opportunity to solve the congestion issues within Fairlands at school drop off and pickup times.
In preparing this submission, we have spoken with the School’s Headteacher, Alistair Parsons, who is also the author of the School Travel Plan. We support his endeavours to implement the plan and particularly wish to assist him in progressing Objectives 4, 5 and 6, and Target 5 relating to the delivery of these objectives. These objectives and our corresponding proposals are set out below.

<td>Our brochure explains how a new traffic light controlled junction on the A323 Aldershot Road at Gravetts Lane could provide an alternative access to the school, offering a safer environment for pedestrians and cyclists with dedicated crossing points. Vehicle speeds along the Aldershot Road would also be reduced to the benefit of highway safety. We are in discussion with SCC Highways about these proposals.</td>

<td>Increase the amount of parents, pupils and staff travelling sustainably on the journey to / from school is increased.</td>

<td>Open discussions with Surrey County Council or relevant planning authority for an all year round usable Pathway to be built between Wood Street Village and Fairlands Estate to allow families to cycle or walk between the two communities and to support the increased numbers of families travelling from Wood Street Village to Fairlands.</td>
<td>Our brochure sets out a willingness to deliver the objective for an all year round route (for cyclists and pedestrians) from Wood Street Village utilising the existing footpath that runs south to north between Hook Farm and Hunts Farm to Fairlands / the Primary School.</td>

Target 5 of the School Travel Plan states:

“Contact Surrey County Council or relevant planning authority to discuss; installing time plates for the school Zig Zag lines, a crossing over the A323, a permanent pathway between Wood Street Village and Fairlands, regular maintenance of pathways and vegetation along the A323 by October 2016.”

We would be pleased to work constructively with the school (and SCC as the education authority) in helping to achieve this target. As paragraph 16 below makes clear, our development would enable the funding for these significant improvements, at no cost to SCC.

Meeting the aspirations of the Report on Traffic Mitigation Measures

With our proposal for a new vehicular access from Aldershot Road, across Broad Street Common, we can exceed the objectives of the School Travel Plan and put in place a long-term sustainable solution in line with the aspirations of the Report on Traffic Mitigation Measures; thereby addressing the concerns of WPC, FLGCA and others.

As the proposed new access road would require the use of land which is currently designated as Common Land, we are in active dialogue with SCC officers about this. Whilst SCC previously advised that such mitigation was not deliverable as they did not control the required privately owned land, we would ask that this opportunity is now revisited as we are prepared to make the adjacent land available for this purpose.

A long-term alternative to parking restrictions

On a related matter, we are aware that on 8th December 2015 the Guildford Local Committee considered proposals for a Parking Order to mitigate the effect of school traffic on a number of roads in Fairlands, but chose to defer making a decision until 23rd March 2016 “to allow for further discussions with local borough and county councillors and other interested parties”. We understand that whilst there are mixed views locally about the desirability of such parking orders being put in place, they are likely to be agreed next month given the increase in pupil numbers at the school this coming September. Therefore, whilst the Parking Order may be a short term answer, a better solution would result from the new access arrangements proposed as part of our development. Such an approach would allow the parking restrictions to be subsequently removed, thereby addressing the concerns of those residents who do not wish to see them put in place.

The way forward

We support the proposed School Travel Plan and would ask that SCC approves it as the relevant planning authority. However, it is clear from our recent discussions that there is no standalone funding available to support the significant measures which are required, and therefore the only realistic prospect of delivering (and exceeding) the Plan’s objectives would be by supporting a residential development at Hook Farm and Hunts Farm (with the highway improvements being funded via a Section 106 agreement required as part of the conditional permission).

Given that our proposed development would offer such significant local benefits (as outlined above) which align with the objectives of SCC, the Primary School, WPC, FLGCA and local residents, we are asking Guildford Borough Council to take these into account when reviewing which sites should be allocated for residential development in the Local Plan. We are aware of a number of sites in the Worplesdon parish (and elsewhere in the Borough) being promoted for residential development, but none of them offer the scale of highway and community benefits associated with our proposals.

In light of all the above, we would ask that the applicant (SCC), in seeking approval for the School Travel Plan, makes representations directly to GBC setting out how the objectives of the Plan could be enabled through the allocation of Hook Farm and Hunts Farm for residential development. As GBC intends to publish its draft consultation document on the proposed Local Plan in April, there is limited time available to promote the benefits that would flow from this potential allocation.

I will arrange for a copy of our brochure (setting out more details of our plans) to be forwarded to you in the near future.

In introducing the site allocations, the Plan confirms that the objective is to bring forward housing sites in the earlier stages of the plan period, to help boost housing supply. It is acknowledged also that those sites that are constrained and are identified to come forward in later years should be encouraged to come forward sooner.

Miller is challenging the spatial strategy and its over reliance on larger strategic housing allocations (those over 1000 dwellings) on the basis that they are dependent upon the provision of infrastructure, especially highway improvements, which are yet to be specified, costed or accurately programmed for delivery.

The RIS programme makes reference to ‘anticipated’ start dates and in the absence of detailed designs developers cannot assess the additional capacity these improvements will create, when they will come forward or how much they will cost. Hence developers will be wholly dependent upon the existing highways network for access; which is already near, or at its design capacity and arguably in some cases exceeds capacity. The improvements that will be of greatest benefit to the larger strategic sites are the improvements to the A3 between Guildford and the A31 Hogs Back junction and these are not ‘anticipated’ to ‘commence’ until the latter end of the plan period (post 2024). Furthermore, developers have no detailed understanding of the proposed Sustainable Movement Corridor improvements; in particular its timing or cost. These unknowns will add uncertainty about the viability and deliverability of these major developments.

In relation to the identification of potential housing allocations the Council has had regard to a number of studies which have in turn informed the GBCS and its most recent review (Volume V).

The original study (which as originally published in 2014) ultimately identified a number of Potential Development Areas (PDAs) that could potentially be released for development, should it be necessary to release Green Belt sites in order to meet housing demands. The Study assessed the PDAs against the main purposes of the Green Belt and went on to assess their sustainability credentials and environmental capacity. The Study findings informed the Council’s Strategy & Sites document which was published for consultation in 2014 and set out the Spatial Strategy for the Borough (distribution of development sites). This version of the Plan concentrated on opportunities beyond the Green Belt to the west of the Borough; the extension of Guildford’s built up area and the countryside around villages. However, it did not include details of the Council’s highways strategy.

Subsequently, the Council commissioned an extension of the GBCS which was published in February 2016. This additional work considered whether other development opportunities might exist in areas excluded from consideration at the time of the original study, notably:

- Use countryside to expand around settlements located in adjoining boroughs;
- Use countryside to expand around settlements located in the AONB;
- Assess the potential to inset additional villages depending on the development of PDAs;
- Further assessment of Countryside beyond the Green Belt (CBGB);
- Expansion or redevelopment of previously developed sites;
- Significantly expand a village. In this regard, it is to be noted that the Council’s brief to the prospective consultant stated that:

“An initial assessment based on previous consultation, desktop research and our settlement hierarchy suggests that areas with greatest potential include the countryside, such as land between the villages of Normandy and Flexford or Send and Send Marsh / Burnt Common *. Significantly expanding or merging villages would utilise more effectively the services and facilities that are already present there whilst at the same time be of sufficient scale to enable additional supporting infrastructure. The study should assess these and other similar opportunities across the borough.”

• Create a new village.

* Surprisingly the Council did not include the village of Fairlands in this shortlist despite it scoring better in sustainability terms than sites around Send and Normandy / Flexford. This is returned to below.

This additional GCBS volume has very much been used to justify the latest iteration of the Council’s Spatial Strategy and, in particular, the inclusion of the Wisley Airfield site and the introduction of a further strategic site at Normandy / Flexford, which (along with the other strategic sites) are considered to meet the newly introduced ‘critical mass’ criteria; an arbitrary scale of development that is deemed necessary to support the level of infrastructure necessary to support the larger sites.

This new criterion requires that, in order to represent a sustainable development, as required by the NPPF, large expansions to existing villages, or an entirely new village, should result in a settlement that benefits from:

• A mix of uses, including residential, employment, community and retail;
• A critical mass of population to support the above uses, likely to be at least 4,000;
• A significant proportion of open space (40%); and
• Connections to the wider public transport network.

Furthermore, the Council has adopted the following assumptions when assessing the credentials of competing sites:

• Residential development should make up approximately 50% of the land take area of the identified PMDA. The residential land take would be calculated on the basis of 30 dwellings per hectare with an average household size of 2.4 people to determine the population growth at the village;
• Open space should make up approximately 40% of the land take area in accordance with new settlement guidelines. This can include Suitable Alternative Natural Greenspace (SANG) and public open space within the PMDA; and
• Village infrastructure such as roads and attenuation ponds together with other additional facilities including employment and a local centre with shops, food and drink outlets, primary school and nursery, would make up approximately 10% of the land take area depending on which facilities are applicable to the major expansion. If the village expansion does not include certain facilities due to scale, other uses such as housing may have increased capacity within the PMDA.

Whilst these criteria may well have been derived from a successful development elsewhere in the country, Miller considers that the characteristics of Guildford Borough and the development constraints that exist do not warrant such a prescriptive approach to assessing the development potential of major sites. To the contrary, it seems to be a post-justification of the Council’s strategy to concentrate the majority of its housing requirements on a limited number of large sites and avoid sensitive decisions that would surround a greater number of smaller Green Belt releases; despite the fact that such sites would place less of a burden on infrastructure during the early periods of the plan if properly distributed.

We therefore believe that the Guildford Borough would be far better served by a more flexible approach that enabled a greater number of modestly sized sites, properly distributed across the borough – on a scale that was put forward in earlier iterations of the Local Plan. Whilst some of the strategic sites have their attributes, they can only realistically be partially developed during the Plan period (subject to wider infrastructure provision), so alternatives do need to be developed. This is particularly the case when taking into account the widespread concerns about the Normandy / Flexford site (and the doubts over whether the proposed secondary school is actually needed) and the likely AONB restrictions in relation to the Blackwell Farm site.

Miller’s concerns are exacerbated by the Council’s conclusion that:

‘No major village expansions were considered appropriate within the surroundings of Chilworth, East Horsley, Fairlands, Pirbright, Ripley, Shalford and Wood Street Village due to a combination of environmental constraints, limited sustainability credentials, and the potential impact on the purposes and openness of the Green Belt within Guildford Borough’ and, as a consequence, deleted the references to any PDAs / Safeguarded land in these locations.’
This conclusion is entirely inconsistent with the original findings of the GBCS which concluded that, for example, H8-C was a highly sustainable location and could be developed without compromising the purposes of the Green Belt. The Council has provided no justification for the U-turn.

In light of Miller’s concerns it is considered that the Plan should identify a number of more modestly sized sites (such as H8-C) across the borough as a whole, as an alternative and / or in addition to relying almost exclusively on the larger allocations.

Whilst some of the strategic sites clearly have their attributes, they can only realistically be partially developed during the Plan period, so others sites will need to come forward, especially given our concerns about Normandy and Blackwell Farm – as we go on to outline in more detail in our specific concerns about these allocations.

In this context, Miller is particularly concerned about the Council’s failure to properly review the potential of the site H8-C in the most recent review of the GBCS; a site which is considered to represent a highly sustainable opportunity adjacent to an existing village. This concern is heightened by the fact that H8-C is considered to be far more sustainable that the newly allocated PDA at Normandy / Flexford and shares many characteristics considered to justify the allocation.

Overall, Miller considers that:

- Too great an emphasis has been attached on the conclusion reached that Parcel H8 is of ‘High Sensitivity’ in Green Belt terms. This is a large land parcel which includes Fairlands village to the north east and Wood Street Village to the South West. The area between comprises agricultural land which is crossed by numerous tree lined public rights of way and is characterised by well-established tree belts that define field boundaries, meaning that the majority of it is not even being considered for development, nor would ever be likely to be so. The original GBCS concluded that these defensible boundaries supported the development potential of PDA H8 (which is a much smaller area to the area H8) ‘without compromising the purposes of the Green Belt’.

- In summary, it was considered that Fairlands could be ‘inset’ as the village contributed little to the openness of the Green Belt and that the PDA could effectively be removed from the Green Belt without compromise to its purpose (with the purpose being maintained by the significant remainder of the H8 area). In other words, it was felt that the ‘openness’ of the area would be maintained by developing within the well-defined field boundaries and that the gap between Fairlands and Wood Street would be maintained thus preventing the settlements form merging. The maintenance of this gap would also preserve the setting of Wood Street (a historic village and Conservation Area) which lies some distance to the south west.

- Too little weight has been applied to the sustainability credentials of the land adjoining Fairlands which scored highly in the original GBCS; especially in respect of H8-C (our site). As confirmed in the recently published Volume V to the GBCS the PDAs for Fairlands came 6th in the overall Sustainability Rankings (with parcel H8-C ranking particularly highly) which compares equally, if not better, to the assessments for Send (5th in the Sustainability Rankings), Send Marsh / Burntwood Common (20th) and Normandy / Flexford (10th); all of which the Council has now concluded can be brought forward for development.

Accordingly, there seems to be no reasoned justification why Fairlands should not also be considered as an appropriate location for development as has been consistently maintained by Miller in relation to H8-C in circumstances where the site:

1. Would provide for a level of development that respects the character of – and be subservient to – the existing village.
2. It would not necessitate access through the village which is already constrained by the narrow road layout, on street parking, the left in left out access junction on the A322 and the school traffic that causes congestion during the AM and PM peak periods.
3. The site would provide access to the school from the south which would remove school traffic from the village, particularly as the school continues to expand its pupil numbers over the coming years.
4. The new access would provide safe pedestrian and cycle routes and highway improvements to the A322 including a new pedestrian crossing to enhance access to the school, in line with the objectives of the recently approved School Travel Plan.
5. The scale of development can be accommodated with improvements to the foul sewers, an upgrade of the electrical power and the new access. These improvements are of a level that would not constrain the ability to deliver a policy compliant level of affordable housing.
6. Any minor loss of common land can be compensated for and the development can provide on-site public amenity space which links via existing and proposed footpaths to the immediately adjacent common.

7. The purposes for designating the Green Belt would be largely unharmed as the site is well screened by existing mature tree and hedgerow boundaries that will preserve the openness of the wider Green Belt. For the reasons set out above the other purposes of the Green Belt would be maintained.

In shaping the proposals, Miller has engaged with the local councillors, the Parish Council, the school community and local residents to identify how a development at Hook Farm / Hunts Farm could most effectively complement the local area. Given the considerable emphasis that has been placed on justifying the need for the strategic allocation at Normandy / Flexford based on the supposed need for a new secondary school in that location, we consider that the actual need in relation to an existing primary school for a long-term access solution should be given significant weight in deciding whether the land at Hook Farm / Hunts Farm is allocated to enable this. To support the case for this, and to expand on the points set out above, we are appended to this submission a number of documents, including a:

- Submission by Miller Developments in relation to Worplesdon Primary School’s Travel Plan (which although now approved has no deliverable actions to address the issues relating to increasing school traffic).
- Letter from the Headteacher of Worplesdon Primary School to parents setting out that the School welcomes our initiative in offering a proper solution to the traffic and parking issues faced on a daily basis.

During March, we undertook a series of consultation sessions with parents and local residents, at which the attached presentation boards outlining Miller’s proposals for the land at Hook Farm / Hunts Farm. These boards provide further details of the unique benefits arising from a residential development in this location, and how key issues would addressed.

The consultation feedback can be summarised as follows:

Parents:

- Strong preference for improved access arrangements to Primary School, as well as a safer crossing across Aldershot Road.
- Support for pathway footpath between the School and Wood Street Village which would be drained and capable of use all year round; with an indication given that more parents would walk / cycle their children to school.
- Recognition that existing access to the School causes problems for local residents and they would like to see an alternative in place which does not involve passing through Fairlands Village.
- Concern as to whether the proposed car park is large enough; request for a larger number of spaces to be provided.
- Recognition that additional housing is needed in the local area, with this location considered preferential due to wider benefits it brings.

Public – general feedback:

- Overwhelming recognition of the need for additional housing in Guildford Borough.
- Mixed views on Guildford Borough Council’s stance that some Green Belt land must be released for development.
- Strong preference for Hook Farm / Hunts Farm instead of the then safeguarded land to west of Fairlands (H8A & B).
- Strong support for proposed new access road, safe crossing and pathway to Primary School.
- Mixed views about the proposed use of Common Land for the new access road, with a strong desire to see lost land re-provided.
- With regard to a number of technical issues which were also raised, these would be addressed at the application stage.

Like many other sites around the Borough, vehicular access would be enabled through the creation of a new road across publicly-owned land – in this instance Common Land between the A323 and the development site. Miller is currently engaged in a constructive dialogue with Surrey County Council’s Estates Department about the purchase of the necessary land for widening the existing access, with any minor areas of Common Land lost being reprovided in full.
For the above reasons Miller maintains that Site H8-C (which comprises of land at Hook Farm / Hunts Farm) should be allocated for development which would ensure housing coming forward during the early part of the Plan period and reduce the risks associated with relying on the larger housing allocations which are infrastructure dependent which could affect their viability and delivery.

As outlined above, Miller does not support the assumption that to be sustainable village expansion or any new settlement must have a population of 4000. A development with a population of around 550-600 is clearly sustainable (and on a scale that is more in keeping with the character of most of the Borough) given that significantly smaller developments have been allocated within the plan.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Whilst the original intention was to access this site via a new road from Clay Lane to the east; this option is no longer being pursued. The intention is now to access the site from the A320 Woking Road. This road is a principal route into Guildford which also serves the Slyfield industrial area and Jacobs Well. The Woking Road experiences significant congestion and not just at peak periods on the network.

The necessary highways infrastructure required to serve this site necessitates the developer providing the on-site section of the Sustainable Movement Corridor (SMC) and a proportionate contribution to the northern section of the SMC along the Woking Road. The details of the SMC are still to be confirmed and costed and could be frustrated by certain pinch points along the Woking Road, notably where the road crosses the Canal, the Bellfields roundabout and the roundabout serving the A3 north bound on-slip. To provide bus priority through these pinch points and through the A320/A25 junction will require significant widening and bridging.

The development is also required to provide a new sewage treatment works, flood mitigation and betterment and the relocation of the waste management depot.

The funding of the infrastructure improvements and the timing of delivery is still to be confirmed, as is the cost of re-provision of existing on site facilities. As a result of these uncertainties Miller is concerned about the viability of this development and its ability to deliver any significant level of affordable housing.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( No ), is Legally Compliant? ( No )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

The site is on the principal gateway to Guildford and is considered to be of Medium Sensitivity in Green Belt terms; which Miller considers surprising as although the site may not prevent settlements from merging or assist in preserving the historic character of Guildford, it is an extremely prominent site which sits above the datum of the road and is therefore considered important in terms of the ‘openness’ of the Green Belt. The site also lies to the west of an area of significant woodland and to the north of Clandon Park, a registered park and gardens. Combined these factors would suggest the site should be classified as being of High Sensitivity in Green Belt terms and that the use of the ‘four purposes’ alone is unrepresentative of the sites contribution to the Green Belt.

This development will provide for over 2,000 dwellings, a potential 1,000 space Park & Ride site, a two-form primary school, a four-form entry secondary school and employment and community floor space, all of which are high traffic generating uses which means that the allocation is highly dependent upon strategic infrastructure improvements which, as the Council acknowledges, may require the development to be phased in line with infrastructure delivery.

The site is proposed to be served by a new southbound off and south bound on slip to the A3 and improvements to the local network along the A3100. However, the Plan refers also to the potential for a new all movements junction on the A3 which would potentially reduce the net developable area of the site.

Miller considers that with no all movements junction the development could have an unacceptable impact on the local highway network through Burpham; which is already at capacity.Whilst the Plan suggests that development might be phased to allow for major infrastructure improvements to be delivered first, Miller is of the view that no development can realistically take place on this site until the local network has been improved and, if required, the SMC proposals implemented. Lesser levels of mitigation would be unlikely to prove adequate given existing pressures.

In circumstances where the infrastructure improvements are yet to be confirmed it is not known how the developer can assess the cost implications which could place a very significant burden on the viability of the scheme and the timing of delivery. Miller is concerned that these requirements could significantly hinder the Council’s ability to rely on this development being delivered within the plan period or provide the level of affordable housing envisaged (40%) In addition the number of dwellings proposed could reduce if the developable area is reduced due to the requirements of an all movements junction on the A3.

The cumulative effect of a shortfall in housing from this site and the other major allocations further increases the risks associated with relying on these strategic sites.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy A26
The northern part of this site allocation is considered to be an area of medium sensitivity in Green Belt terms with the southern part of the site (adjacent to the A3) considered to be of High Sensitivity. Whilst the main part of the site might only satisfy two of the ‘four purposes’ that support the inclusion of land within the Green Belt such an assessment ignores the very significant contribution the site makes to the ‘openness’ of the Green Belt and the fact that this area defines the rural boundary to the west of Guildford. In addition, the site is clearly visible from the higher ground to the south and west which forms part of the Surrey Hills AONB and acts as a buffer between the built up area and this nationally designated landscape. Miller would argue therefore, that the site’s Green Belt sensitivity is in fact far greater that the restricted assessment undertaken in the GBCS suggests.

Indeed, it is noted that a recent independent landscape assessment of the site, undertaken on behalf of the local Parish Councils, suggests that the landscape satisfies the criteria that would justify it inclusion within the AONB. Miller would suggest that the importance of the landscape needs to be determined prior to the confirmation of this allocation; in circumstances where the AONB is national designation where development should only be allowed in ‘exceptional circumstances’.

In addition to the above, Miller is concerned that the site lacks any significant infrastructure and suffers from extremely poor highway access. In particular, Miller would question the suitability of the proposed Down Place access off the A31, which would need to be signalised on an important section of the A31 that already suffers congestion at peak times. However, Miller is of the view that there does not seem to be any other access point from the A31 or A3 due to environmental and physical constraints.

Miller is concerned also about the potential for a ‘secondary’ through rout from the A31 via Gill Avenue, to Egerton Road, to be created to avoid the existing A3/A31 southbound junction. It is considered that this proposed route, which already serves the Science Park, the University Campus and the Royal Surrey County Hospital is already at capacity and would not be able to accommodate any further traffic associated with the additional housing/employment allocation and the new two-form entry primary school; all of which would generate a significant number of peak hour trips.

Miller would question whether the necessary mitigation needed to reduce the impact of the increase in traffic on the local network could be provided in circumstances where over recent years significant improvements have been implemented to the junction of Gill Avenue/Egerton Road yet the network still lack adequate capacity. Furthermore, the constraints in the physical capacity of the local highway network do not seem compatible with the proposed SMC which seeks, in particular to prioritise bus movements.

As with the other major housing allocations Miller considers that the highway infrastructure improvements are a prerequisite of development and that in circumstances where the RIS improvements to the Guildford section of the A3 are not scheduled until late in the plan period very serious doubt remains about not only the suitability of this allocation but about its viability and deliverability.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

| The former airfield at Wisley is identified as a site of Medium Green Belt Sensitivity based on the four purposes of the Green Belt adopted as the assessment criteria in the GBCS. This however down plays the contribution the site makes in terms of ‘openness’ which is one of the principal attributes of any Green Belt. Although the site is considered to be a previously developed site, the quantum of above ground structures on the site is limited and only they currently impact on the site’s openness; the former runways in fact contribute to its open character. As a consequence, the Green Belt designation of the site is significant to the surrounding settlements and when viewed from the A3 and adjacent local roads. Miller would question therefore whether this site should be seen to be of medium Green Belt Sensitivity.
Whereas RHS Wisley was considered not suitable for insetting due to the contribution it made to the Green Belt (despite the level of development on the RHS site), the opposite conclusion has been reached in relation to Wisley Airfield which is considered to be an appropriate site for a new settlement as it is not part of the Borough that best serves the purposes of the Green Belt. Miller would argue that whilst the site’s development may not constitute ‘urban sprawl’ it clearly and fundamentally represents and incongruous encroachment into the Green Belt and the openness of the countryside. This clearly demonstrates the subjective nature of applying the ‘four purposes’ of the Green Belt as the sole criteria for assessing the impact a potential a development might have on the Green Belt designation is flawed. It is also considered that the impact on the historic setting of Ockham Village and the Conservation Area, due to the separation that exists is inconsistent with how this criterion has been applied elsewhere (e.g. H8 was considered to impact on the Wood Street Village Conservation Area despite the PDAs benefiting from significant separation being maintained). In addition to the above concerns, Miller would question whether taking direct access off the A3 Ockham Interchange off-slip is appropriate. The current Interchange provides for south bound off and north bound movements only and is deemed totally inadequate for a development of the scale proposed. An earlier proposal to serve 2,500 dwellings on this site considered far more significant improvements to the Ockham Interchange would be necessary to accommodate the development and that an all movements junction. It is considered that without an all movements junction even a development of the scale now envisaged will have a significant adverse effect on the character of the villages of Ripley and Ockham. In terms of the sustainability analysis undertaken as part of the GBCS, it is noted that the Wisley Airfield site came near to the bottom of the list yet the Council is suggesting that the sustainability of this location can be be improved by enhancing public transport and cycle access along the existing highways to ‘key’ destinations such as Effingham Junction railway station and Horsley railway station and Ripley. It is unclear as to how these improvements could be achieved without impacting on the character of existing rural roads. Miller considers that whilst the scale of development proposed has a significant critical mass the total lack of any strategic infrastructure and the absence of a workable access solution will add significantly to the cost of delivery of this project and that the improvements to highways infrastructure, which should be delivered in advance of construction (given the highly congested nature of the A3 and A3/M25 junction) will significantly impact on the delivery of housing in this location and any affordable housing contribution.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

The majority of the proposed allocation is considered to be in an area of High Green Belt Sensitivity which (with the exception of the area immediately adjacent to Normandy) scored very poorly in sustainability terms when assessed as part of the GBCS. The area to the north of the railway line, which comprises the majority of the allocation, is considered to be open in character.

It is understood that the Council has included this allocation on the back of a potential new secondary school the location of which is still to be determined. The resolution of Full Council in May 2016 noted that “this site is only included as a strategic site to support the provision of a new secondary school”, before going on to say that “this strategic site allocation be deleted should it be demonstrated that provision of such a school within this site is not required”.

It is unclear why the site was included in the Proposed Submission without first establishing beyond reasonable doubt that a secondary school is actually needed in this location, and securing such a confirmation from SCC as the Education Authority. Indeed, in its last submission to Guildford BC (in 2014), SCC said: “A site within the proposed urban extension at Blackwell Farm, with all necessary access infrastructure built in and a catchment surrounding the site, would be a more sustainable location in transport terms for a new secondary school to serve the western side of Guildford”.

As the supposed need for the secondary school is driving this allocation, it calls into question the whole Local Plan if one of the strategic sites (upon which the Council relies to deliver a sizeable portion of the OAN) is not certain to be taken forward as an allocation. if the site does not come forward the Council will have to go back to the drawing board in order to ensure it has a sufficient number of site allocations to meet the housing requirement over the Plan period.

The proposed site is bordered by an unclassified road (Glaziers Lane D60) on the east, a C-class road (Westwood Lane C16) on the west, and a railway line to the south. Whilst the allocation does benefit from access to Wanborough Station and existing bus routes along the Aldershot Road it is considered that the housing allocation and the seven-form entry secondary school would generate significant levels of private vehicle trips which will require significant improvements to the local highway network and the junctions with the Aldershot Road. It is not known whether any junction improvements with the A31 would be necessary. There are arguably no highway improvements that can conceivably be made to the country lanes surrounding the development to convert them to the A-class roads needed to serve the proposed development. The entry and exit from the A31 ‘Hogs Back’ on to the B3000 to travel to and from the development site via Wanborough Hill would be likely to ‘grid lock’ with the increased volume of traffic to and from the site and the school.

There are also concerns at the failure of the Council to co-operate with other local authorities in respect of this site. In 2013 the development of 3,850 dwellings (population of approx. 9,000) in Aldershot was approved by Rushmoor Borough Council and is situated about 4 miles from Normandy. The development, over a 15 year period, includes two primary schools, and the provision of a SANG and many other provisions. The first phase of 228 dwellings, is now on sale. Guildford BC objected to this development in 2013 (ref: 13/P/00108) on the grounds that insufficient information had been provided to allow a full assessment on the impact of that development on the highways network and said "the impact on Surrey's network and mitigation required has not been established”. The Duty to Cooperate works both ways, and given the objections which Guildford BC raised to the large scale development in Aldershot it is likely that similar concerns could be raised in relation to the proposed large scale development at Normandy / Flexford.

Miller is concerned that should this allocation not come forward the Council’s housing requirement for the plan period could not be achieved. On this basis, the Council has identified no fall-back position, thereby failing to make the Proposed Submission legally compliant.

Clearly providing a wide variety of high quality homes that provide all tenures, types and sizes of housing to meet local needs is to be supported as this will go some way towards creating balanced, sustainable and inclusive communities as set out at paragraph 4.2.1. Miller does not seek to challenge the findings of the West Surrey SHMA 2015 in this regard.

Miller does however question whether the Council will be able to secure the proportion of affordable housing identified to meet the needs of the borough’s population (see comments in relation to Policy H2).

Whilst further guidance is awaited in relation to the Government’s ‘Starter Homes’ Policy it is felt that the Plan should make specific reference to the potential provision of starter homes, especially in relation to bringing forward smaller, non-family, units.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

The Council’s policy is dependent upon securing at least 40% affordable provision from development of five or more homes.Whilst it is appreciated that this policy was drawn up after the Government’s 10 dwelling threshold had been successfully challenged, that decision has now been overturned. The policy will need to reflect Government guidance in this regard.

In light of the above the Council’s 40% target will come under increasing pressure, which will be increased by what Miller has identified as an over reliance of the strategic housing allocations.

In this context, the supporting text to the policy suggests that the Council’s viability evidence shows that the vast majority of developments in most locations in the borough are viable and can provide an affordable housing contribution of 40%.

This assertion is questioned. Such assessments are made throughout the country by planning authorities when setting their affordable housing targets, yet they are invariably proved to be wrong with independent viability assessments demonstrating that abnormal costs far exceed what was originally assumed (primarily due to an understandable lack of knowledge at the strategic assessment stage). As a consequence, developments invariably provide significantly less affordable housing than policy requires, and the most recent figures (October 2014 to October 2015) show a net addition of just 118 affordable homes in Guildford Borough *, which indicates that this is very much the case at a local level.

* These figures are sourced from a DCLG dataset published in December 2015 to support the provisional 2016-17 allocations for the New Homes Bonus.

Miller contends that in Guildford far too little is known about the costs associated with bringing forward the strategic housing sites to provide any confidence that the Council can secure the 40% level of provision. In particular, the Borough Council and Highways England have still to agree the details of the Road Infrastructure Strategy (see comments on RIS schemes) and the details of the proposed Sustainable Movement Corridor (SMC) are far from being confirmed, let alone costed (it is noted for example that the SMC is reliant on new stations at Park Barn and Merrow but there appears to be no commitment to these stations in the Rail spending programme). These ‘unknown’ costs will be borne by the developers and will undoubtedly affect the viability of these developments with the clear consequence of seeing the affordable housing contribution (one of very few negotiable costs) being reduced.

If the Council is to deliver any significant level of affordable housing it must bring forward a greater number of housing allocations that are not overly burdened by high infrastructure costs.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

The plan notes at paragraph 4.6.1 that infrastructure provision and upgrading has not always kept pace with population growth, employment and transport demands and that in parts of the Borough some infrastructure is currently at or near to capacity, or of poor quality.

Miller is of the opinion that this is particularly true of the radial routes in to Guildford that will be the principal transport corridors between the strategic allocations and the county town. With the exception of Wisley Airfield, whilst the strategic highway network, notably the A3, provides the main link more distant employment centres, if the sustainable transport objectives of the Council are to be achieved it is the local network that must have the capacity to accommodate the level of housing growth proposed.

Of particular concern are the links between Gosden Hill Farm and Guildford town centre and the link between Blackwell Farm and the town centre. Miller is of the opinion that the Council has not adequately demonstrated that these routes have the capacity to accommodate the anticipated levels of traffic that will be generated by these developments at the peak period on the highway network. Furthermore, Miller questions whether the proposed Sustainable Transport Corridors envisaged are deliverable within either a reasonable timescale or at a cost that can be funded by the developments they primarily serve. When contributions to the cost of improvements to the strategic highway network and rail services are fully taken into account the viability of these schemes could well be threatened or their delivery significantly delayed.

In relation to Blackwell Farm, the Council and Highways England are yet to identify how the physical improvements linking to the A3 and A31 can be physically provided and in the absence of this link Miller does not see how the existing network of roads (which serve the Science Park, Sport Park, university campus, County Hospital and the Tesco foodstore could be used as a ‘secondary’ through route from the A31. This part of the highway network is clearly at, or already exceeding, its design capacity at peak times as is evidenced by the queuing back of traffic through Park Barn and the Tesco roundabout / A31 junction at peak periods; these being parts of the network that should be clearly kept free flowing for emergency vehicles.

Whilst Policy I1 indicates that infrastructure needed to support development, to be secured through planning obligations and other funding, ‘should be provided and available when first needed to serve the occupants and users of the development’, Miller is concerned about the reference to the word ‘should’; especially when the policy goes onto state that ‘where necessary supporting infrastructure is not secured, development may be phased to reflect infrastructure delivery, or will be refused’.

It is considered that this caveat is not surprising in circumstances where the proposed infrastructure improvements have not been agreed between the relevant authorities and have certainly not been costed accurately. Miller therefore maintains that there is no certainty that the strategic allocations can be delivered in a timely manner and that it is extremely possible that housing delivery could be postponed beyond the end of the plan period.

We note also that despite the Plan relying on rail improvements and the provision of two new stations there appears to be no funding committed to deliver these improvements. The recently published Invitation To Tender (ITT) for the next South Western Rail Franchise (due to commence in 2017 for a period of at least ten years) makes no provision or reference to the next franchisee being required to make or enable such improvements, and on this basis it is difficult to see how such aspirations will come to fruition.

Finally, Policy I1 confirms that the Community Infrastructure Levy (CIL) will be used to secure additional financial contributions from developers and that such money will be supplemented by diverting 25% of the CIL receipts originating from each Parish and from Guildford. It is not clear if this additional income for ‘highway’ improvements will be sufficient in the event of a shortfall from developer contributions and a shortfall in other funding streams.

The RIS includes three strategic road improvement projects comprising improvements to the M25 and improvements to Junction 10 / A3 (the Wisley Interchange), which are anticipated ‘to commence’ in Road Period 1 (2015/16 to 2019/20) and the improvement of the A3 between Guildford and the Hogs Back A31 junction which is anticipated to ‘commence’ in Road Period 2 (by 2024/25).

It is to be noted that the RIS does not consider any improvement of the Ripley junction on the A3 that will serve the Wisley Airfield strategic allocation, or the proposed improvements to the Burpham junction on the A3 that will serve the Gosden Hill Farm allocation. Although the RIS includes improvements to the A3 / A31 junction it is not known how this might assist access to Blackwell Farm. It is assumed, as set out in Policy I1 that improvements to the network generated by the allocations will be funded exclusively by the developers.

Notwithstanding, the above it is clear that, as things stand, the improvements have yet to be agreed between the Council and Highways England and as such the effect of these improvements cannot be taken into account by the developers when assessing the highway implications of their own developments. This could further frustrate delivery of the strategic sites; especially if the Guildford improvements are not ‘anticipated’ to commence until Road Period 2, i.e. possibly not until 2025.

Paragraph 4.6.21 confirms that Policy I3 promotes the use of sustainable transport modes to ensure ‘safe and suitable access will be achieved and improvements will be undertaken within the transport network that cost effectively limit the significant impacts of the development’. This strategy concentrates on walking and cycling access, the use of public and community transport and the promotion of Park & Ride, to be paid for by developers and by CIL.

Miller maintains that without significant investment in the local highway network it is difficult to prioritise public transport and Park & Ride as a sustainable mode. Whilst the Council has committed to its Sustainable Movement Corridor (paragraph 4.6.24) it is not understood how the proposed ‘rapid and reliable’ routes for buses or to the rail stations can be provided, or what the cost of these improvements is likely to be. Whilst the routes may have been identified, paragraph 4.6.25 makes it abundantly clear that these improvements are at present ‘aspirational’ at best:

‘The measures applicable to each development proposal will vary on a case-by-case basis, according to the type and scale of development proposed, its location, and the level of existing transport infrastructure and services in the immediate area. This could also include a financial contribution for the implementation of schemes beyond the scope of an individual development to deliver.

It is accepted that development opportunities in Surrey are constrained by the AONB, which is a national designation that presumes against development except in ‘exceptional’ circumstances.

It is noted that the AGLV has been retained pending a decision by Natural England as to which areas should be included within the extended AONB. If the existing AONB is to be protected it is important to complete the review at the earliest opportunity to ensure that the planned strategic housing allocations do not have a detrimental impact on the wider landscape.

Miller notes that an independent review has been undertaken of the area to the north east of the Hogs Back which concludes that this area meets Natural England’s AONB designation criteria. It is considered that this review should be completed before the strategic housing allocation at Blackwell Farm is confirmed.

It is recognised that the extent of the Green Belt around Guildford represents a particular constraint on development but some Green Belt release is necessary if the Borough is to meet its development needs.

In this context the Council prepared its GBCS to help inform the plan making process, the most recent version of which was published in 2014. This assessed the quality of various sites located adjacent to the existing built up area of Guildford and abutting smaller villages / settlements.

By ranking the various attributes of the sites, taking into account SHLAA returns and making enquiries as to the availability of sites that had previously not been identified the Council published for consultation its Strategy and Sites Document in 2014.

This GBCS has been updated to include, inter alia; an assessment of Wisley Airfield site and other development opportunities which were not considered by the original study.

Based on the revised study, the Council has now further reviewed the release of Green Belt sites and concluded that other than the strategic allocations any development in locations should be concentrated in and immediately adjacent to the existing settlements.

However, the Council has responded to national planning policy and moved away from ‘washing over’ villages with the Green Belt designation and has now ‘inset’, or removed, those villages from the Green Belt that do not contribute to its openness. As a result, the following villages are now inset from the Green Belt: Chilworth, East Horsley, Effingham, Fairlands, Flexford, Jacobs Well, Normandy, Peasmarsh, Ripley, Send, Send Marsh / Burnt Common, Shalford, West Horsley and Wood Street Village. A number of major previously developed sites have also been inset. To facilitate development around Guildford, selected villages and the former Wisley Airfield certain areas have been removed from the Green Belt.

Against this background, Policy P2 reaffirms the usual presumption against ‘inappropriate’ development in the Green Belt, except for those uses identified in the NPPF and appropriately scaled extensions, replacement buildings and limited infilling in identified settlement boundaries.

Miller is concerned that there is no ability to bring forward alternative allocations in the event that the Council fails to meet its housing needs on the larger strategic sites.

In such circumstances, Miller considers that the Council should either reduce the reliance on the strategic sites and allocate a number of small to medium sized allocations (between 100 and 300 dwellings), or should revert to identifying a range of ‘safeguarded sites’ which are capable of being brought forward without delay in the event of a failure by bring forward the strategic allocations; either due to the lack of supporting infrastructure or developer’s concerns about market conditions generally.

In relation to ‘safeguarding opportunities’, the sites previously identified should be reviewed in the context of other sites put forward in response to the 2014 consultation into the Strategy and Sites Document and sites subsequently promoted through the SHLAA.

Miller maintains that safeguarded sites will ensure that should alternative allocations be required the Council will be able to direct development to the most sustainable sites and resist sites being advanced in inappropriate locations.

We also note that whilst the Council has continued to use the spatial hierarchy to inform its allocations, it has also relied on the Sustainability Appraisal (http://www.guildford.gov.uk/media/15039/Volume-I-plus-Appendix-I-and-II---Guildford-Borough-Green-Belt-and-Countryside-Study/pdf/Volume_I_Guildford_Borough_Green_Belt_and_Countryside_Study.pdf) and the Green Belt Sensitivity Assessment (http://www.guildford.gov.uk/newlocalplan.CHttpHandler.ashx?id=16835&p=0). With regard to the latter, Miller recognises the importance of working to preserve the purposes of the Green Belt, but at the same time notes that such a sensitivity assessment can be subjective in terms of if and how the purposes are weighted, particularly as the scoring of whether each parcel meets three or more of the purposes of the Green Belt (thereby being deemed “high sensitivity”) is based on a one sentence statement of supposed fact regarding each purpose. In relation to Miller’s site (H8-C), we question the validity of the assessment made as to its high sensitivity, as we address this later in this submission.

We are concerned at the inconsistency in the Council’s approach to assessing both the sustainability and sensitivity of Green Belt sites, and how this has led to certain sites being discounted (rejected) in the Land Availability Assessment.

For instance, a number of sites (such as ours – H8-C) have been rejected for the stated reason of “identified in the GBCS but within high sensitivity Green Belt”, yet these two assessments do not consider sites on the same basis. For instance, H8-C had a site-based sustainability ranking of 5 out of 41 in the GBCS, thereby confirming its highly sustainable status.

By contrast, the Green Belt Sensitivity Assessment considered the whole of a wider area known as H8 (which included a far more extensive area comprising H8A, H8B, H8C and the open fields, woodlands and hedgerows stretching down to Wood Street Village). As a result, whilst the key purposes of the Green Belt (such as preventing neighbouring towns from merging into one another) would be prejudiced if the whole H8 area was to be developed, the same conclusion would not be reached if the Green Belt Sensitivity assessment was applied merely to the PDA itself. Against this background the process is considered to be fundamentally flawed and unsound – as it makes a judgement on a potential development area (PDA) based on how the purposes of the Green Belt apply to a much larger area. We have no doubt that the purposes of the Green Belt in relation to PDA H8C (which is what should be considered in relation to the suitability of this parcel of land for Green Belt) are considerably different (i.e. low to medium sensitivity) compared to how the purposes apply to all of H8 when considered as one. This appears to be a consistent theme through the Council’s approach to individual sites, which may have led to some sites being rejected when on their individual merits may have been considered acceptable from both a sustainability and sensitivity perspective.

Miller has further concerns at how the Sustainability Appraisal and the Green Belt sensitivity assessment have been disregarded in relation to the proposed strategic site at Normandy and Flexford. Notwithstanding the fact that there may be a need for a new secondary school (albeit not yet proven), we are not convinced that granting such an exception is consistent with not granting exceptions for other sites that help meet identified wider local needs, such as H8-C. Ignoring the Sustainability Appraisal in relation to the Normandy site is significant, given that the Flexford part (the majority) of this strategic site was given a sustainability ranking of just 34 out of 41, meaning that it was considered to be of low sustainability. Miller believes that the Council would struggle to defend the inclusion of such a site whilst excluding others which have a much higher sustainability ranking (and by virtue of their smaller scale would have a much less significant impact on the Green Belt). In summary, to include a strategic site with a very low sustainability ranking and high sensitivity in the Green Belt whilst excluding others of a much less contentious nature would give rise to challenge on grounds of consistency and soundness.

Beyond the Green Belt there are areas of countryside around the villages of Ash, Ash Vale and Tongham to the west of the Borough. Whilst the Spatial strategy identifies certain areas of countryside around these settlements for development Policy P3 seeks to protect the gaps between Ash, Tongham and Aldershot.

It is considered therefore that other than the land currently allocated to the west of the borough no further sustainable development opportunities can be brought forward.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

At paragraph 4.1.1 the Council rightly acknowledges the presumption in favour of development and confirms that Local Plans must plan positively to meet the area’s objectively assessed development needs. It then goes on to state that the local plan must ‘be flexible enough to adapt to rapid change’.

It is Miller’s view that the plan is over dependent on large strategic housing sites and that should these be delayed in coming forward for any reason the plan does not provide the flexibility to bring forward alternative sites to meet any housing shortfall. Equally, as the ‘presumption’ also informs decision making decisions it is considered that should the Council fail to identify a five year housing land supply and fall behind on its housing delivery targets pressure will mount on unallocated sites.

The bringing forward of unallocated sites in an uncoordinated fashion will put pressure on the objectives of Policy S1 which seeks to ‘improve the economic, social and environmental conditions of the area’.

Whilst Policy S1 provides for the assessment of applications for which there are no relevant policies it is considered that the Plan Strategy will place undue reliance on this provision and whilst unplanned development may be able to mitigate any adverse impacts they may well not result in development in the most sustainable locations.

Accordingly, Miller considers that a wider range of housing allocations should be promoted with the reliance on the larger strategic site reduced or deferred to the next plan period when the ‘critical’ infrastructure has been provided. A wider range of housing allocations would also ensure that a more balanced approach is taken that spreads the impact of such development across the Borough on a scale that can be supported by ongoing infrastructure improvements, as opposed to the major schemes that would be required for the proposed strategic sites.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Miller does not raise a particular concern about the over-arching development strategy that principally adopts the sequential approach which seeks to direct development to Guildford, the urban areas and certain lower order settlements, concentrating where possible on ‘brownfield’ opportunities.

Miller’s principal objection relates to the policies reference to the fact that:

The delivery of homes is expected to increase over the plan period, reflective of timescales associated with the delivery of strategic sites and infrastructure. The housing target each year is as set out below, however, this is not a ceiling, and earlier delivery of allocated sites will be supported where appropriate, subject to infrastructure provision.’

The above merely acknowledges Miller’s concern that the Plan is over-reliant on the large strategic housing sites and the uncertainty that surrounds the ability to deliver the strategic infrastructure needed to serve them.

In this context, the Council envisages 2,950 dwellings being provided in the first 5 years of the plan period, 3,500 in the second period and 3,945 in the final period. Whilst there is no requirement to distribute delivery evenly throughout the plan period it cannot be considered to be ‘good planning’ to provide fewer units than needed in the early phase of the plan and risk falling short of the increased delivery requirement at the end of the period, particularly when the most recent figures * (October 2014 to October 2015) show a net addition of just 404 units to Guildford Borough’s Council Tax Base, reflecting a continued shortfall against the annual figure of 693 homes, as last year’s SHMA indicated. The stated target of just 500 units in 2018/19 indicates an unwillingness to take timely steps to address the historic and continuing shortfall, thereby exacerbating the housing problems in the borough. At the rate proposed, the SHMA figure for Guildford Borough will not be met until the fifth year of the Plan.
These figures are sourced from a DCLG dataset published in December 2015 to support the provisional 2016-17 allocations for the New Homes Bonus.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 1: The evidence base and submission documents

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

We have reviewed the evidence base, and whilst we recognise that a considerable amount of material has been produced, we are concerned at the reliability of some of the evidence and its application. We are particularly concerned that the evidence has been used inconsistently in order to reach different conclusions between the various Plan stages.

Of greatest concern is the departure from the original (2014) Green Belt and Countryside Study (GBCS), which concluded that development adjacent to Fairlands (and our site, H8-C, in particular) was very sustainable and that development could be accommodated without compromising the purposes of the Green Belt. This conclusion ultimately led to the lands to the west of Fairlands being ‘safeguarded’ for future development.

Most recently, however, a totally different conclusion has been reached following a review of the GBCS (February 2016). This most recent assessment has concluded that:

'No major village expansions were considered appropriate within the surroundings of Chilworth, East Horsley, Fairlands, Pirbright, Ripley, Shalford and Wood Street Village due to a combination of environmental constraints, limited sustainability credentials, and the potential impact on the purposes and openness of the Green Belt within Guildford Borough'.

As a consequence, the safeguarding of the land adjacent to Fairlands has been removed.

Nothing has changed in the period between these two conclusions being reached which leads us to question the both the appropriateness of the evidence base and the subjective way it has been applied.

Equally, we are surprised by the lack of evidence supporting how the purposes of the Green Belt have been assessed in relation to individual sites through the sensitivity assessment. The Green Belt Purposes Assessment (http://www.guildford.gov.uk/media/16830/Appendix-1-Green-Belt-Purposes-Schedule.pdf/App_1_Green_Belt_Purposes_Schedule.pdf) provides no rationale or detail to support each single sentence that assesses whether a particular location satisfies each of the four Green Belt 'purpose' tests. Overall, it is considered that too much importance is given to such a subjective assessment; resulting in potentially highly sustainable development opportunities being ruled out in some cases and unsustainable locations being allocated for development in relation to others.

Finally, the lack of evidence provided to support certain allocations and policies is particularly concerning. Given the emphasis placed on strategic sites, the lack of evidence (i.e. the lack of any agreed strategy) for the infrastructure improvements required to enable these is concerning. In this regard we are concerned that as Guildford BC relies so heavily on these larger allocations to deliver its Objectively Assessed Need (OAN) any delay will have very serious implications, particularly in the short to medium term, in meeting the five year housing supply.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

We are not convinced that the Proposed Submission as a whole is legally compliant, particularly with regard to the Town and Country Planning (Local Planning) (England) (Amendment) Regulations 2012. One of the requirements for the preparation stage of the Plan is to develop alternatives and options and appraising them through sustainability appraisal and against evidence. For the reasons we have set out in this Submission, we do not believe that the Council has (a) taken a meaningful approach to developing alternatives and options nor (b) assessed them against evidence, or applied a sustainability appraisal in a logical manner. This is contrary to paragraph 182 of the NPPF which makes clear that explicit consideration of alternatives is a key part of the plan making process.

This shortcoming is particularly concerning in light of the strong possibility of a number of the strategic allocations not being delivered (or delayed in coming forward), which would result in other sites being needed as an alternative. In particular, the removal of a number of safeguarded sites from this latest version of the Plan leads to concerns about the lack of any identified alternatives during the Plan period, many of which have been collectively dismissed on the Council’s internal assessment of high sensitivity. This would appear to be contrary to Regulation 12 (2) of The Environmental Assessment of Plans and Programmes Regulations 2004 No. 1633.

We are also concerned that the Council has not demonstrated due regard for other strategies and relevant matters, including the local transport plan and transport facilities and services. It is evident from the shortcomings on infrastructure requirements, particularly in relation to the strategic sites, that the Council has not taken a joined up approach on these matters, which runs contrary to Section 19 (2), Regulation 10 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004 (as amended).

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

The test of soundness requires the plan to be:

1. Positively prepared - in so far as it should be based on a strategy which seeks to meet objectively assessed development and infrastructure requirements, including unmet requirements from neighbouring authorities where it is practical to do so consistently with the presumption in favour of development;
2. Justified - in that it should present the most appropriate strategy, when considered against the reasonable alternatives, based on proportionate evidence;
3. Effective - it should be deliverable over the plan period (in this case by 2033) and be based on effective joint working on cross-boundary strategic priorities; and
4. Consistent with national policy - in that the policies should enable the delivery of sustainable development in accordance with the policies that comprise the development plan framework.

These representations question the housing and infrastructure strategy in circumstances where the two are interlinked. Indeed, paragraph 4.6.16 of the plan confirms:

The implementation of the three RIS (Road Infrastructure Strategy) schemes during the Plan period, alongside other critical infrastructure, is required in order to be able to accommodate future planned growth both outside and within the borough. It is therefore important that the developers of proposal sites adjacent to the A3 and M25 and other large sites work closely with Highways England to ensure that their layout and access arrangement(s) are consistent with Highways England's emerging schemes.

Miller consider the plan is NOT sound in so far as:

1. The housing numbers for the plan period are at the lower end of the OAN.
2. The housing strategy is overly dependent upon the Strategic Housing sites with no realistic fall back should they fail to be delivered.
3. The plan is back-loaded in that the greater proportion of the planned housing will come forward toward the end of the plan period.
4. The strategic sites are 'critically' dependent upon infrastructure improvements, notably highways, for which the Borough Council, the County Council and Highways England have yet to agree. In this regard the Plan:
   1. fails to identify what improvements are necessary.
   2. fails to demonstrate whether strategic highway improvements can deal with the cumulative impact of the strategic sites.
   3. fails to satisfactorily demonstrate how the local highways network can cope in advance and during the construction of the strategic highway improvements and
   4. has not demonstrated that the improvements are deliverable in the timescales identified for the delivery of housing.
5. The proposals for the planned 'Strategic Movements Corridor' are at best in their infancy. Whilst they nod to sustainability in prioritising bus, cycle and pedestrian priority, the routes are already heavily congested and would need significant widening if the stated objectives are to be achieved.
   1. The programming of these works and the delivery of the Road Infrastructure Improvements has not been confirmed. It is not known how, or whether, the existing demands on the strategic and local highway network can be accommodated whilst these major improvements are undertaken.

In light of the above, Miller is of the opinion that the Council is extremely unlikely to deliver the OAN, and that in reality delivery will slip into the next plan period.

Furthermore, given the significant costs associated with the critical infrastructure improvements (not just highways) required to bring forward the principal strategic sites it is considered that their viability will be under extreme pressure which in turn will affect their ability to deliver the target of 40% affordable homes.

For the above reasons, in relation to housing and infrastructure provision, the Plan is considered to lack clarity and the evidence required to demonstrate that the strategy will be able to meet the needs of the Borough. It is therefore the conclusion of Miller that the Plan fundamentally fails the tests of soundness identified above.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)
Whilst we have not considered the Duty to Cooperate in any great detail, we note that the Council jointly commissioned a West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) exercise with the neighbouring local authorities of Woking and Waverley. This SHMA set the annual housing requirement (objectively assessed need) for each of these three local authorities. The fact that Guildford intend to fall short of meeting this annual OAN figure during the first four years of its Plan raises concerns that they are likely to fail in meeting their Duty to Cooperate on an ongoing basis, particularly in light of historical shortfalls in housing delivery and the uncertainty over the deliverability of strategic sites. This could lead to the neighbouring local authorities facing pressure to deal with the shortfall when it arises.

It is also unclear whether the Council has sufficiently co-operated with neighbouring local authorities in order to determine how site allocations in each borough might impact on existing highways infrastructure.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

In our earlier submission we set out our concern that the Council has not taken a meaningful approach to developing alternatives and options; nor assessed them against evidence or applied a sustainability appraisal in a logical manner - despite one of the requirements for the preparation stage of the Plan is to develop alternatives and options and appraising them through sustainability appraisal and against evidence. This remains our view, however our concern on this is now heightened in light of the removal of sites such as A46 (Normandy and Flexford). Whilst we disagreed with this allocation (and therefore welcome its removal), we note that it was in an even earlier version of the Plan as a safeguarded site, thereby at least providing an identified alternative during the Plan period. Its complete removal leads to further concerns about the almost complete lack of any identified alternatives during the Plan period. Given the likelihood of a number of remaining strategic sites facing deliverability issues (due to infrastructure challenges) during the Plan period, it seems highly deficient to exacerbate the approach of not having the flexibility of other, more deliverable sites that could be brought forward in such circumstances.

As we previously set out, we remain concerned that the Council has not demonstrated due regard for other strategies and relevant matters, including the local transport plan and transport facilities and services. It is evident from the shortcomings on infrastructure requirements, particularly in relation to the strategic sites, that the Council has not taken a joined up approach on these matters, which runs contrary to Section 19 (2), Regulation 10 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004 (as amended).

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

In introducing the site allocations, the Plan confirms that the objective is to bring forward housing sites in the earlier stages of the plan period, to help boost housing supply. It is acknowledged also that those sites that are constrained and are identified to come forward in later years should be encouraged to come forward sooner.

Miller is once again challenging the spatial strategy and its over reliance on larger strategic housing allocations (those over 1000 dwellings) on the basis that they are dependent upon the provision of infrastructure, especially highway improvements, which are yet to be specified, costed or accurately programmed for delivery. Although there is now some additional detail (such as what improvements will be necessary along the A3) the Council has still not indicated whether such changes will provide the necessary highway capacity and how they will be funded.
We reiterate our view that the Guildford Borough would be far better served by a more flexible approach that enabled a greater number of modestly sized sites, properly distributed across the borough - on a scale that was put forward in earlier iterations of the Local Plan. Whilst some of the strategic sites have their attributes, they can only realistically be partially developed during the Plan period (subject to wider infrastructure provision), so alternatives do need to be developed. Even though the Normandy / Flexford site (which had a number of deliverability issues) has now been removed, there remain concerns about the likely AONB restrictions in relation to the Blackwell Farm site.

It is considered that the Plan should identify a number of more modestly sized sites (such as H8-C) across the borough as a whole, as an alternative and / or in addition to relying almost exclusively on the larger allocations.

We therefore reaffirm our view in support of H8-C, which is ideally placed to deliver housing in the early stages of the Plan period. If GBC is unwilling - as it appears - to make a positive decision in respect of this allocation, we therefore look to the Inspector (when he is reviewing GBC's questionable approach to OAN and Woking's unmet need) to consider including this site to help address the shortfall. H8-C would:

1. Provide for a level of development that respects the character of - and be subservient to - the existing village.
2. Not necessitate access through the village which is already constrained by the narrow road layout, on street parking, the left in left out access junction on the A322 and the school traffic that causes congestion during the AM and PM peak periods.
3. Provide access to the school from the south which would remove school traffic from the village, particularly as the school continues to expand its pupil numbers over the coming years (as it does again this coming September).
4. Provide safe pedestrian and cycle routes and highway improvements to the A322 including a new pedestrian crossing to enhance access to the school, in line with the objectives of the recently approved School Travel Plan.
5. Ensure a scale of development which can be accommodated with improvements to the foul sewers, an upgrade of the electrical power and the new access. These improvements are of a level that would not constrain the ability to deliver a policy compliant level of affordable housing.
6. Ensure that any minor loss of common land would be compensated for and the development can provide on-site public amenity space which links via existing and proposed footpaths to the immediately adjacent common.
7. Ensure that the purposes for designating the Green Belt would be largely unharmed as the site is well screened by existing mature tree and hedgerow boundaries that will preserve the openess of the wider Green Belt. For the reasons set out above the other purposes of the Green Belt would be maintained.

For the above reasons Miller maintains that Site H8-C (which comprises of land at Hook Farm / Hunts Farm) should be allocated for development which would ensure housing coming forward during the early part of the Plan period and reduce the risks associated with relying on the larger housing allocations which are infrastructure dependent which could affect their viability and delivery.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
As we set out in our earlier representation, we are concerned at the reliability of some of the evidence and its application. Our concerns in this respect are reinforced by GBC's approach to housing numbers, and whether the proposed reduction can be justified from an evidence perspective. In particular, we are far from convinced the country's in-principle decision to leave the European Union (i.e. Brexit) is having a quantifiable impact on employment numbers, with a resulting reduced demand for housing. We believe this assessment to be highly dubious and would question its validity. We are not aware of any other local authorities - including those neighbouring to GBC - who have taken an approach along these lines.

In setting out this concern, we have reviewed the submission recently made by the Home Builders Federation (HBF) to this same consultation, in which they make a number of persuasive points. They note that there is an inherent uncertainty in employment forecasts and "as such the NPPG does not require a mechanistic matching of labour supply and planned housing provision". They go on to express concern that no consideration has been given to the level of job growth elsewhere in the Housing Market Area (HMA), even though Planning Practice Guidance sets out that employment trends and growth in working age population should be considered across such an area. As such, the approach taken by GBC in this regard is not consistent with national policy.

In particular, we are concerned that Guildford's unilateral approach in this regard is likely to be found wanting. At the recent examination hearings for the Waverley Draft Local Plan, the Inspector set out his view that it would be appropriate for Waverley and Guildford to accommodate the unmet need from Woking. In GBC's rush to reduce their housing numbers - and their Guildford-only economic assessment - they appear to have had no regard for the wider HMA, despite originally commissioning the SHMA (with these neighbouring local authorities) that produced the baseline OAN for all three areas. It does appear that Guildford was willing to work across the HMA when required to do so (in order to produce a shared evidence base) but it has now arbitrarily detached itself from this to reshape its own figures in isolation - through the SHMA addendum which has been solely commissioned by GBC. This approach does not stand up to even the most basic scrutiny from a consistency and reliability perspective. Indeed, rather than looking at how they could meet Woking's unmet housing needs, Guildford are looking to do the opposite by reducing their own housing requirement, despite the Inspector on the Waverley Draft Local Plan suggesting that Guildford would need to take account of this.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

Despite our previous objections as to the over reliance on the Council's proposed strategic allocations we note that GBC has maintained this strategy albeit reduced the capacity of each of these large allocations to reflect its reduced housing target. We note also that the Council has indicated that the delivery of these sites is to be phased to come forward during the latter period of the plan to coincide with the infrastructure improvements (mainly highways) that will be necessary to facilitate the development of these sites. Whilst the Council has now indicated the likely improvements that will be necessary along the A3 corridor it has failed to indicate satisfactorily whether these improvements will provide the necessary highway capacity and how this will be funded. They have also not detailed how these various improvements would affect the functioning of this strategic road which remains one of the principal arterial routes to the south coast. Prolonged improvements to the operation of the A3 will also severely hamper the economic performance of Guildford town centre which will also be affected by other road improvements that are targeted at bus and cycle priority. There is every likelihood that these various infrastructure improvements will be delayed due to phasing requirements or a potential lack of funding (central funding or through developer funding).
We therefore remain concerned therefore that the Council's ability to deliver its strategic allocations (even though these have been reduced in scale) will result in the abject failure of the Council to meet its 'Objectively Assessed Need' in particular we consider the Council has adopted a very short term approach to the future economic performance of the Borough which appear to be; based on judgements that appear specific to Guildford and do not appear to be consistent with any national advice as to a sustained downturn in performance over the whole of the Plan period.

We are, as a consequence of the above, concerned that the Council will fall further and further behind its housing delivery target in circumstances where it has consistently been unable to identify a five year housing land supply. Currently the Council is only able to identify just over two years' supply with its own estimates suggest that it will be many years into the Plan period before historic shortfalls can be made up. This is to be achieved with limited reliance on the strategic allocations which are not expected to contribute until 2022/23 at the earliest. In reality, no sooner than the Council has addressed historic shortfalls the strategic allocations will stall and supply will again fall off.

In summary, we believe the plan to be unsound because the Council has:

1. Failed to adequately justify its revised economic projections.
2. Failed to justify it revised housing figure which we do not consider have been objectively assessed.
3. Not consulted adequately with the neighbouring authorities and in particular has not updated its projections in light of the Inspector's finding in relation to the Waverley Plan nor has it responded to the recent changes to the Woking Plan which is relying on a site at New Zealand Golf Course to meet a significant proposition of it needs (this site is considered unavailable by the site owners).
4. Not adequately demonstrated it can identify a five year housing land supply. Whilst it is suggested that any shortfall in this regard can be addressed by the middle of the plan period this does not satisfy current housing needs (which are supposed to be objectively assessed and addressed). Furthermore, there is a real concern that the current shortfalls will be repeated when the strategic allocations fail to come forward as planned.
5. Failed to provide a detailed explanation as to the impact of the strategic and local highway improvements and how these will be funded; in circumstances where these are needed to be delivered in advance of houses being brought forward.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

In our earlier representation, we set out our concerns that Guildford's intention to fall short of meeting the annual OAN figure during the early years of its Plan would be likely to result in them failing to meet their Duty to Cooperate on an ongoing basis. This is now reinforced by the approach being taken in unilaterally reducing the OAN figure, despite recent indications from the Inspector on the Waverley Plan that Guildford may have to meet some of Woking's need.

We therefore believe that the Council's approach - particularly over recent months in commissioning their own SHMA addendum without involving the other local authorities in the HMA area - is highly likely to be found to be wanting from a Duty to Cooperate perspective.

I am representing St Mary’s Church, West Horsley, which has two adjacent properties at 80 East lane, West Horsley, KT24 6LQ.

These are St Mary’s Daughter Church, which you will see from Surrey Interactive has an ‘L’ shaped plot, and the adjacent Rectory (which itself borders farmland on its other side). (The two plots can also be seen on Site Allocation/Policy A41 and the map on Page 218 Of the Proposed new Local Plan.

For some while the Church has had internal discussions regarding ways to improve its facilities and planning for the future has become increasingly important as the Church grows and the influx of new residents into ‘The Horsley’s’ is set to significantly increase. So far, we have not reached any firm conclusions as to what we would like to do, but some form of improvement or redevelopment of the East Lane facilities is still high on our agenda for consideration. If any subsequent proposals required planning or any other consents, then all normal procedures would be followed.

For the time being however, we would be most grateful for your clarification and help. If you take the two properties together, they form a sizeable, almost square plot made up of the Rectory bounded on two sides by the ‘L’ shaped land upon which the Daughter Church sits. However, we have recently viewed a map which shows the new Settlement Boundary as part of the new Local Plan and it would appear that the bottom half of the Daughter Church land (i.e. the portion that runs along the back of both the Daughter Church and the adjacent Rectory) seems to be outside the proposed new Settlement Boundary. If this is the case, it could very significantly restrict our ideas in terms of improving the Church’s facilities; which of course are not only important for the Church members, but also the local community as a whole.

We would really appreciate it if you could look into this for us and confirm whether this is the case or not. If we are correct, then we would like to formally request as part of this consultation process please that this portion of our land is brought within the new proposed Settlement Boundary. If there is then a formal application process that we need to embark upon to achieve this, then please advise us and we would be pleased to follow your procedures.

Thank you

Simon Harris

In conjunction with the owners of the above property we would like to put forward the above property as a site for a residential allocation; for Identification Purpose the site is shown red on the attached Ordnance Survey Plan. The site extends to 0.69ha and at a density of 30 dwellings per hectare could accommodate 21 dwellings.

The site is located within partly within the existing village boundary and partly within the proposed site boundary of Send, near to all the village amenities in a sustainable location. The site is outside of the Flood Plain and would provide access to adjoining properties and facilitate a larger allocation of land suitable for residential development.

I have read the draft plan and the supporting documents. I confess that I find myself disappointed to see that the objections to the previous edition of this document have been largely ignored and this report is simply more of the same.

There is no doubt that we need more houses as our children have nowhere to live. There is room for debate as to whether we really need to increase our housing stock by rather more than 1% a year for the foreseeable future but I accept that there is a need for considerably more housing in the Guildford.
The difficulty is how to achieve this objective without destroying the reason why we all like living in the Guildford Area. Adopting a scheme which involves putting large blobs of new housing, apparently scattered at random on a map of the area will not retain the feel and beauty of our Borough. If a proposal to increase housing in each area by 1% a year was agreed with each local area or parish we could achieve our objective of increasing our housing stock without destroying our countryside. For this reason I object very strongly to the draft local plan.

My other objection is the that I see there is a proposal to turn East Clandon into a designated settlement. This has not been discussed. NO reasons are given for this proposal. Until it is discussed and detailed reasons why this proposal is necessary are given the proposal should be rejected.

The provisions of the Localism Act 2011 have not been complied with in that East Hampshire District Council is not on the list of consultees. East Hampshire is part of the Wey Valley and the transport infrastructure is shared. EHDC provides an important housing location particularly for lower priced housing serving Guildford workers.

The Bordon area is outside the Green Belt South Downs National Park or the AONB. It is scheduled for development and further development can be sustained without damage to high grade environmental protection areas.

If housing from Guildford and Waverley in damaging locations were moved it could provide the logical basis for Guildford and Waverley to secure their protected areas. It would allow better infrastructure at Bordon such as the re-instatement of the Bordon Bentley Farnham Guildford rail link which is still a protected aspiration for Bordon's development. This is a key to its eco-town status. It meets all planning objectives in terms of environment, housing, affordable housing and industry and be able to fund infrastructure particularly transport via rail not even envisaged by either Guildford or Waverley's proposals.

The evidence base should be reviewed in the light of Brexit. In particular, most commentators predict slower growth or recession for the next few years at least, and Brexit will presumably result in lower immigration, both of which are key drivers for new housing developments. Also, public finances (national and local) are also likely to come under yet more pressure, constraining supporting infrastructure developments.

There has been a massive and material shift in the evidence base for this consultation as a result of the recent UK decision to leave the European Union, which is expected to result in significant falls in net migration and thus population, reduction in the need for and use of London office space by predictions of up to 25%, with knock-on effects for both commercial and residential property in London and the South-East, plus reduced demand for property and potentially, falling prices. Though predictions vary widely, the general thrust clearly is that the demand for property over the periods outlined in the plan will be materially lower than projected and therefore the exercise needs to be reviewed and amended to reflect these significantly changed circumstances.

The proposals in the plan are flawed as they do not take sufficient account of the need for new local infrastructure to support the massive building programme planned for West Horsley, wisely and the surrounding villages. To shoehorn huge numbers of people into an area that lacks sufficient transport infrastructure, schools and health facilities to cope is to severely damage quality of life both for existing residents and those hoping to move to the area. Worse, it gives rise to serious safety concerns. There are already many very dangerous roads and crossings throughout the Horsleys, Effingham, and Ockham, such as the junction between Old Lane and Forest Road where pedestrians cross to reach Effingham Station, plus many narrow lanes which are frequented by many cyclists and walkers reaching paintball facilities (I saw women with prams walking in the carriageway on the section of Forest Road road without a pavement last week, dodging traffic). The plan as outlined will put thousands more cars, walkers and cyclists on these roads, which will beyond doubt result in serious injuries and deaths. The road network linking these developments with shops, town centres and transport hubs is inadequate and options for increasing its safety and capacity are limited: certainly the measures in this plan are derisory and cannot conceivably cope with the additional numbers involved. There will also be a significant impact on air pollution in high traffic areas near the M25 and A3 where pollution levels are already either breaching legal limits, or are in danger of doing so: this is a growing concern throughout London and the South East, with airport expansion likely to increase the problem, and I can't see evidence that rigorous studies have been carried out to assess the additional impact of the new planned developments on areas where there are potential air quality issues. Currently, monitoring seems limited at best. As a local resident, I speak for many when I urge the council to focus on fixing existing problems before it charges headlong to create new ones. I am not opposed to development: I want to see affordable homes here for my children and for others who want to enjoy all that the area can offer, but a plan which threatens the health, well-being and quality of life of all those who live here, benefits neither today's residents nor those who might like to leave here in future. The names of those who forced through such a plan should be preserved, so that future generations do not forget the vandals who destroyed the safe, green and pleasant environment that they might otherwise have inherited.

Whilst Puttenham has a very small part to play in the Guildford plan we are aware that any increase in house building and infrastructure will bring an increase in traffic to our area. We hope that the officers involved will take this into consideration. However, we feel that the need for further dwellings are desperately needed and the reality is that we will all have to shoulder this responsibility. As a village we have seen all our smaller dwellings converted into large ones so our only criticism is the percentage of low cost homes and we are at present consulting with our residents via the neighbourhood plan. The parish council feels that a much larger proportion of all new building should be low cost, especially for the rental market.

I object to this 'strategic site' proposal as I believe it would completely change and destroy our local community. This will massively increase in the population of Normandy over the plan period.

- The local roads are already at capacity at peak hours and with several major accidents occurring on the A243 road over the few years. There is limited scope for road improvements as both Glaziers lane and Westwood Lane have either a small humped back bridge or low/single track tunnel under the railway which would be both technically and financially impossible to alter. However solving these problems would only transfer the traffic problem further along the line to the Hogs Back A31 and or A3 (Main roads already over loaded at peak times and made worse with more cars trying to a join a potentially fast moving road on a narrow slip road).
- This is a green belt site that is red sensitivity. Removing its green belt status and building 1,100 homes cannot be justified when these fields are within 3 kilometers of the Thames Basin Heaths special protection area. There need to be exceptional circumstances proven to remove land's green belt status. An up to 8 form entry secondary school is neither needed or 'exceptional circumstances'. The local plan states that ' Secondary educational need will be re-assessed at planning application stage' but if the houses have been built and there is no need found for a secondary school it will already be too late, the green belt will have been removed and the fields tarmacked and concreted over. Where will all the water that pours onto the Hogs back and Ash ranges go then, with no fields to soak it up? Glaziers Lane floods regularly as does Wanborough station without the addition of all that is proposed.
- There is no need for a secondary school as the two closest schools are undersubscribed and the building of houses cannot be used as a reason for a new school because the school is being used as an enabler for the building of the houses on green belt.
- The extra traffic that will be generated by an extra 1,100 homes and a secondary school will impact on every residents (present and future) lives, causing chaos on the roads. A Showmans site is proposed and the movement of their large equipment along the already described narrow lane, bridges and tunnels near impossible. This is a developer led proposal that Normandy residents have not had an opportunity to comment on until this late stage because this site did not appear in the 2014 version of the Draft Local Plan, so we were unable to make our needs and views known.
- The impact this proposal will have on wildlife is enormous. The Skylarks, Barn owls, Little owls, Cuckoos and other birds will lose their habitat. The Glow worms, Adders, Grass snakes and Slow worms will also. The light pollution from a development of this size will impact on our night skies, and the pets associated with these homes will also have a detrimental effect on the wildlife.

The plan is not thoroughly thought through!!

As it is it will cause even more gridlock.

The bus station & railway station must be brought together to create a transport hub. Railway station can't move therefore the bus station needs to be at the railway station.

Compulsory purchase the Casino nightclub & surrounding buildings. Build a pedestrian only walkway from the rail station/new bus station parallel to Bridge Street through the current Casino nightclub up a ramp into a new Friary shopping centre. The clubs on Bridge street close their Bridge street doors & open out onto the new walkway. During the day this could have outside tables & chairs outside restaurants and make more use of the river.

Expand the Friary to include a new Debenhams & John Lewis where the What Not Antiques/Bojangles/Old Post Office used to be. Demolish the current Debenhams and build restaurants making more use of the river.

Use brown field sites not green field for more housing! More housing along the A3 will cause far more congestion. Tunnel under Guildford for A3 is now needed. Plus being able to get on & off both ways at Burpham & Dennis roundabout. This will stop the needless flow of traffic along Ladymead, Parkway & Burpham. At Burpham the link road to Slyfield MUST happen.

Unused office space on London Road & Epsom road should be converted to housing or flats with sufficient parking.

I'm just stating the obvious to any Guildford resident.

The draft policy is not based on any objectively assessed development requirement. It effectively assesses the requirement for hot food takeaways within 500 metres of the boundary of a school as zero, but does so without evidence of either a link between the incidence of obesity and the proximity of hot food takeaways to such places or any particular distance at which that link is demonstrated. Consequently, the development requirement has not been objectively assessed.

In fact, the distance chosen could have the effect of banning hot food takeaways from a majority of the Borough. No assessment has been made of the number of hot food takeaways that might be refused as a result of this or what the social, economic or environmental impacts of that might be, so it is not possible to balance these impacts.

The policy is negative in its assumptions, using the concept of ‘unhealthy food’, which is at best unhelpful in isolation from an understanding of the person eating the food, their health and lifestyle, and at worst is simply subjective. Furthermore, it assumes all hot food takeaways offer little choice and serve the same type and standard of food.

We are further of the view that food of high energy density or poor nutritional value is sold from and at a range of premises within a variety of other classes, including many in Class A1, such as coffee or sandwich shops, bakeries or, simply, supermarkets, and that focussing on Class A5 uses is both unhelpful and unfair.

There is no evidence for a causal link between the incidence of obesity and proximity of hot food takeaways to schools and only limited evidence of any correlation at all, so it is unclear how refusing planning permission for hot food takeaways within 500 metres of such locations could ever be justified.

The inclusion of primary schools is particularly problematic, as it is clear that children at primary schools are not usually permitted to leave the premises at lunchtime and, given their age, are unlikely to travel to or from school unaccompanied. Outside school time, children’s diets are quite properly the responsibility their parents or guardians.

Consequently, it is far from clear how refusing planning permission for hot food takeaways within 500 metres of primary schools could ever be justified. This was the view taken by a Planning Inspector in an appeal (APP/P4415/A/11/2159082) against refusal of a restaurant and hot food takeaway in January 2012.

The Evidence Base contains no evidence of any threshold number of hot food takeaways at which the harm that the draft policy seeks to mitigate occurs or is noticeably greater, nor any threshold distance. Indeed, there is no evidence of a causal spatial link between clusters of hot food and the incidence of obesity or overweight at all.

It is better to rely on objective evidence in a retail study to set maximum proportions of hot food takeaways. Whilst these are primarily directed at protecting the retail health of designated centres, there is scope to widen their application to support the retail health of retail provision outside centres, such as standalone or parade units.

As it is usually impractical to apply the maximum frontage proportion outside centres, the 500-metre walk distance might be applied, within which the proportion (rather than number) of units, be they in- or out-of-centre, used as hot food takeaways would not be permitted to exceed the same threshold as set for centres.

In adopting such an approach, it would be preferable to consider optimal proportions of all retail uses that could contribute to healthy centres or to a healthy offer generally, whether in- or out-of-centre, instead of focussing on particular uses considered to be a problem, apparently for wider social reasons unrelated to retail planning.

On a practical point, there is a significant difficulty in using distance radii in that it takes no account of real barriers, physical or perceptual, so that premises on the other side of a line feature such as a canal or busy road could be affected despite in reality being more than a 500m walk away. It is far better to use real walk isochrones.

For the reasons set out, it is unclear how refusing permission for hot food takeaways within 500 metres of primary schools could ever be effective.
Some hot food takeaways, together with restaurants, pubs and shops are clearly a source of cheap, energy dense and nutrient poor foods, however, not all hot food takeaways, restaurants, pubs and shops are, and the planning system is ineffective in distinguishing between those that are and those that are not.

The area that would be affected by the policy could cover a large and variable part of the Borough, so it is hard to see how the effectiveness of its extent could be monitored. Would poor or negative achievement against objectives result in reduction or expansion of the zones? What other corrective action might be taken short of its withdrawal?

Diet is clearly a key determinant both of general health and obesity levels. Exercise is the other key determinant and must be considered for a complete picture. Focussing on improving access to open space, sport and recreation facilities would be a far more effective strategy for reducing childhood obesity.

CONSISTENT WITH NATIONAL POLICY

We consider that no regard has been given to national policy and advice in preparing Policy E7 because no National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) policies deal with dietary issues.

Specifically, taking into account proximity of hot food takeaways to schools has no basis in national policy and national practice guidance simply refers to a briefing paper containing case studies on the issue. Indeed, restricting accessibility to services and facilities is directly contrary to national policy.

The NPPF recognises the role planning takes in better enabling people to live healthier lifestyles. However, it seeks to do this by creating, not restricting choice, by increasing access to recreation and health services, and by ensuring developments are within walkable distances of local facilities and public transport to other facilities.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

POSITIVELY PREPARED

The draft policy is not based on any objectively assessed development requirement. It effectively assesses the requirement for hot food takeaways within 500 metres of the boundary of a school as zero, but does so without evidence of either a link between the incidence of obesity and the proximity of hot food takeaways to such places or any particular distance at which that link is demonstrated. Consequently, the development requirement has not been objectively assessed.

In fact, the distance chosen could have the effect of banning hot food takeaways from a majority of the Borough. No assessment has been made of the number of hot food takeaways that might be refused as a result of this or what the social, economic or environmental impacts of that might be, so it is not possible to balance these impacts.
The policy is negative in its assumptions, using the concept of ‘unhealthy food’, which is at best unhelpful in isolation from an understanding of the person eating the food, their health and lifestyle, and at worst is simply subjective. Furthermore, it assumes all hot food takeaways offer little choice and serve the same type and standard of food.

We are further of the view that food of high energy density or poor nutritional value is sold from and at a range of premises within a variety of other classes, including many in Class A1, such as coffee or sandwich shops, bakeries or, simply, supermarkets, and that focussing on Class A5 uses is both unhelpful and unfair.

JUSTIFIED

There is no evidence for a causal link between the incidence of obesity and proximity of hot food takeaways to schools and only limited evidence of any correlation at all, so it is unclear how refusing planning permission for hot food takeaways within 500 metres of such locations could ever be justified.

The inclusion of primary schools is particularly problematic, as it is clear that children at primary schools are not usually permitted to leave the premises at lunchtime and, given their age, are unlikely to travel to or from school unaccompanied. Outside school time, children’s diets are quite properly the responsibility their parents or guardians.

Consequently, it is far from clear how refusing planning permission for hot food takeaways within 500 metres of primary schools could ever be justified. This was the view taken by a Planning Inspector in an appeal (APP/P4415/A/11/2159082) against refusal of a restaurant and hot food takeaway in January 2012.

The Evidence Base contains no evidence of any threshold number of hot food takeaways at which the harm that the draft policy seeks to mitigate occurs or is noticeably greater, nor any threshold distance. Indeed, there is no evidence of a causal spatial link between clusters of hot food and the incidence of obesity or overweight at all.

It is better to rely on objective evidence in a retail study to set maximum proportions of hot food takeaways. Whilst these are primarily directed at protecting the retail health of designated centres, there is scope to widen their application to support the retail health of retail provision outside centres, such as standalone or parade units.

As it is usually impractical to apply a maximum frontage proportion outside centres, the 500-metre walk distance might be applied, within which the proportion (rather than number) of units, be they in- or out-of-centre, used as hot food takeaways would not be permitted to exceed the same threshold as set for centres.

In adopting such an approach, it would be preferable to consider optimal proportions of all retail uses that could contribute to healthy centres or to a healthy offer generally, whether in- or out-of-centre, instead of focussing on particular uses considered to be a problem, apparently for wider social reasons unrelated to retail planning.

On a practical point, there is a significant difficulty in using distance radii in that it takes no account of real barriers, physical or perceptual, so that premises on the other side of a line feature such as a canal or busy road could be affected despite in reality being more than a 500m walk away. It is far better to use real walk isochrones.

For the reasons set out, it is unclear how refusing permission for hot food takeaways within 500 metres of primary schools could ever be effective.

Some hot food takeaways, together with restaurants, pubs and shops are clearly a source of cheap, energy dense and nutrient poor foods, however, not all hot food takeaways, restaurants, pubs and shops are, and the planning system is ineffective in distinguishing between those that are and those that are not.

The area that would be affected by the policy could cover a large and variable part of the Borough, so it is hard to see how the effectiveness of its extent could be monitored. Would poor or negative achievement against objectives result in reduction or expansion of the zones? What other corrective action might be taken short of its withdrawal?
Diet is clearly a key determinant both of general health and obesity levels. Exercise is the other key determinant and must be considered for a complete picture. Focussing on improving access to open space, sport and recreation facilities would be a far more effective strategy for reducing childhood obesity.

CONSISTENT WITH NATIONAL POLICY

We consider that no regard has been given to national policy and advice in preparing Policy E8 because no National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) policies deal with dietary issues.

Specifically, taking into account proximity of hot food takeaways to schools has no basis in national policy and national practice guidance simply refers to a briefing paper containing case studies on the issue. Indeed, restricting accessibility to services and facilities is directly contrary to national policy.

The NPPF recognises the role planning takes in better enabling people to live healthier lifestyles. However, it seeks to do this by creating, not restricting choice, by increasing access to recreation and health services, and by ensuring developments are within walkable distances of local facilities and public transport to other facilities.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Objections to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Local Plan (June 2016) and to the continued inclusion in the plan of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA), now known as Three Farms Meadows (TFM) –

Allocation A35 - for the phased development of a new settlement of up to 2100 dwellings

I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:
• I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.

• I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.

• I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans.

• I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).

• I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

• I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:
  1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars
  2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads
  3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements
  4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them)
  5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest
  6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity

• I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).

• I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

• I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

• I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, - now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.

Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.
I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the local plan with regards to the proposed development at site A46 between Normandy and Flexford villages. My principle objections are mainly on grounds of sustainability and are:

- The transport infrastructure could not support it. There is no coherent transport policy within the local plan to make it viable.
- The assessment of sustainability for the competing sites was not sound. It was applied inconsistently and disregarded some important data.
- There is no proven need for secondary school that is being used as an “exceptional circumstance” to override objections to building on greenbelt.

The A3 acts as a mini motorway dividing the town. It used to be the ring road but has not functioned well for a number of years now. Most problems in town traffic stem from something happening elsewhere in the wider roadscape and usually from the A3, where the overuse initiates some sort of problem almost every day. Tinkering with the A3 in my opinion is not going to help - it is fundamentally in the wrong place for current needs and should be moved to flow around the urban area.

I OBJECT ESPECIALLY TO 6 POLICIES: A36, A37, A38, A39, A40 & A41:
- Amount of new housing far exceeds local need.
- Housing density excessive when compared with existing development.
- Would transform the Horsleys into a sizable town, something for which no case is made.
- No local support.
- Collective impact of these 6 sites on a small part of the borough not considered. Should not be treated as isolated, separate sites.
- Total amount of new building out of scale with the planned development elsewhere the borough, especially less sensitive urban areas not protected by Green Belt.
- Sites unsustainable. Key infrastructure lacking. No adequate provision is made to increase it – e.g. poor wastewater capacity, lack of schools, absence of traffic management plan, flooding.
- No account taken of additional impact of Wisley Airfield site on Horsleys.
- Extension of settlement boundaries too permissive. Horsleys characterised by streets with development along only one side of the road. Policies allow too many adjacent green fields to be developed by squaring off boundaries and claiming they don’t contribute to Green Belt “openness”.
- Green Belt gap with neighbouring settlements hugely narrowed, especially if Wisley Airfield is built on.
- Will harm compliance with NPPF 81 – e.g. by making cycling (including Prudential cycle races) too dangerous, ruining the rural setting of Waterloo Farm campsite, destroying the ambience of Grange Park Opera’s new “Theatre in the Woods”.
- Policy A40 especially unviable because of high water table and poor drainage, leading to regular winter flooding.
- Safe access and egress at Site A40 unachievable, owing to flooding, high speed limits, poor sight lines, narrow access to existing properties, inadequate pavements for elderly and schoolchildren, increasing use by recreational cyclists etc.

I OBJECT ALSO TO POLICY A35 (WISLEY AIRFIELD):
- Should not be in the plan for all the reasons the Planning Committee rejected the identical recent proposal by Wisley Investment Properties.
- Irregularity of including this policy in the plan 24 hours before this planning application was rejected (like extending the time allowed for the developers to present their application).
• Unacceptable Conservative Party links between the developers and the Council.
• No Green Belt “exceptional circumstances” presented.
• Not a brownfield site as stated – only 15% of it.
• Proposed SCC waste site ignored.
• Loss of farming land.
• Too near RHS Wisley and Thames Basin Heath SPA.
• SANG would harm on SPA.
• Will aggravate traffic jams at A3 roundabout and M25 Junction 10.
• Unacceptable increase in air pollution.
• No existing public transport and stations miles away.
• No proper traffic data.
• Housing density far too great.
• Over 2,000 houses will swamp and destroy Ockham conservation area, with impact on listed buildings.
• Access confined to inadequate narrow lanes.
• Water table and surface water flooding not considered either for site itself or for downstream areas on River Mole.
• Major impact on neighbouring villages, especially Horsleys.
• No assessment made of collective impact on area of this and 6 Horsley sites.

I OBJECT TO POLICY D4 (DEVELOPMENT IN URBAN AREAS AND INSET VILLAGES)
• No commitment to expand social housing or accommodation for people who can’t afford so-called affordable homes.
• Not enough new homes in urban areas, despite demand and need for urban regeneration and protection of Green Belt.
• Objectives for inset villages cancelled out by plans for excessive housing growth there.
• Too much emphasis on traditional shops, when a lot of this sector is in terminal decline.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT TO POLICY E1 (EMPLOYMENT):
• Poor evidence base.
• Too much encouragement to low added-value employment that’s needed elsewhere in the country.
• Fails to concentrate general business activity in urban areas or business parks that have the infrastructure.
• Fails to differentiate this from appropriate rural business.
• Too much encouragement of warehousing, for which Guildford is too congested.

• Subordinates public planning policy to the University of Surrey’s private, commercial enterprises (not its public academic purpose).
• No cost/benefit analysis of harm to Green Belt involved in extending research park.
• Waters down research purpose of park, turning into a general business park.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT TO POLICY E5 (RURAL ECONOMY):
• Incompatible with high housing numbers proposed for rural areas elsewhere in the plan.
• Insetting and settlement boundary extension endanger appropriate rural activities listed that depend on maintaining rural areas’ character.
• Town-centre uses for rural areas contradict government’s localism policy and need to consult and protect village environments.
• Established commitments to high-speed rural broadband and mobile coverage watered down despite 2014 consultation responses.

I OBJECT TO POLICY E6 (LEISURE AND VISITOR EXPERIENCE):
• Danger of overdevelopment: success doesn’t depend on building “attractions” which can harm heritage and rural settings. No case made for creating new ones.
• No policy of opposing reduction in rural hotel capacity.
• No definition of what added value interventions by Council can make to normal visitor market mechanisms.
• No policy of supporting Guildford countryside as its prime leisure and visitor asset, whose value rises as London gets bigger and busier.
• No vision of what the ideal visitor experience of the borough actually is and how to support its various elements.

I OBJECT TO POLICY E7 (TOWN CENTRE):
• No statement in policy wording of value of Guildford’s rural setting and views.
• No consideration of Town Centre Master Plan, GVG proposals or station redevelopment plans.
• Proportion of new housing in town far too small. Development pushed into countryside, ruining the latter and harming urban regeneration.
• No brownfield register.
• Too much big retail, despite online shopping revolution and decline of traditional high streets internationally. Futile to try to turn Guildford into Woking or Kingston.
• No measures to support small, niche retailers in town, e.g. through business rates.

I OBJECT TO POLICY E8 (DISTRICT CENTRES):
• Too much scope to expand rural retail centres to justify major housing expansion across the countryside, despite lack of demand. Will spoil character of villages while harming Guildford’s role as a retail hub.
• No measures to support existing rural shops and services, e.g. through business rates.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT TO POLICY H1 (HOMES FOR ALL):
• Policy doesn’t set any constraints on building.
• Housing mix based on pre-Brexit growth and demographic assumptions and unreliable SHMA that wasn’t put out to formal public consultation and wasn’t scrutinised by Councillors.
• Fails to compel University of Surrey to use its thousands of planning permissions and existing space, such as car parks, for student accommodation.
• Releases University from accommodating its students, so as to free up houses for the most needy in town.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT TO POLICY H2 (AFFORDABLE HOMES):
• Using the official definition of Affordable is inappropriate - houses in the area are and will remain unaffordable homes - a drive for more homes will just means a drive for more income from development.
• This policy won’t affect market forces or house prices. Guildford is too small and too near London to influence these, however many homes it builds.
  • The viability clause lets developers off the hook of providing even these (non-)affordable homes. Too open to manipulation.
  • Contradicts government policy to develop less advantaged regions of the UK. People don’t have to live and work in Guildford but should be encouraged to move to cheaper, less congested areas.

I OBJECT TO POLICY H3 (RURAL EXCEPTION HOMES):
• It loosens the criteria by allowing “market housing” and development that changes the housing mix. Developers would be able to override NPPF 2 “exceptional circumstances” and other restrictions to build large houses in the Green Belt.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT TO POLICY I1 (INFRASTRUCTURE & DELIVERY)
• Infrastructure considered here as an afterthought, rather than pre-condition of development. Should be a key issue for the rest of the plan.
• Excessive housebuilding in countryside not supported by any funding or provision for infrastructure.
• Heavy focus on building on greenfield sites inefficient and unnecessary: cheap for developers but much more expensive for the public who have to fund the infrastructure.
• Draft CIL scale discourages use of brownfield land first.
• No plan for organic increase in existing traffic congestion, let alone once thousands of houses are built across the countryside. Local roads hardly considered. Green Belt being eroded before road widening/improvement plans certain, encouraging over-development of greenfield sites.

I OBJECT TO POLICY I2 (SUPPORTING DTp’S ROAD STRATEGY):
• Doesn’t allow for catastrophic increase in traffic resulting from spreading new housing estates across the borough.
• Out of sync with DTP’s strategy: houses to be built and Green Belt destroyed before plans for A3 etc implemented.
• Road plans too optimistic anyway, especially post-Brexit. Probably won’t happen.

I OBJECT TO POLICY I3 (SUSTAINABLE TRANSPORT):
• Generic measures, not related to real life or the particularities of Guildford.
• Fails to treat sustainability as a constraint. Assumes excessive levels of development proposed in the plan can be supported by sustainable development.
• Unrealistic. Most people can’t or won’t walk or cycle – commuters in a hurry, the elderly, children, people who are unwell or unfit, people carrying heavy shopping or other goods. I.e. most residents!
• Town’s eye view of transport. Ignores scarcity of existing rural public transport and commercial unviability of increasing it. Ignores terrible state of Surrey’s roads, potholes, flooding etc. Ignores extra stress to be created by huge new housing estates in countryside.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I OBJECT TO POLICY I4 (GREEN & BLUE INFRASTRUCTURE):
• Policy cancelled out by huge developments across the countryside. No mention of opportunity costs of loss of Green Belt services and amenities (e.g. farming).

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:

I OBJECT TO POLICY P2 (GREEN BELT):
• No declaration of support for protecting the Guildford Green Belt, contrary to NPPF and government statements.
• No evaluation of value of local Green Belt as a public and private asset: it is simply treated as potential building land with a few inconvenient restrictions.
• Impact of Green Belt development on local agriculture ignored.
• Impact on rural leisure and tourism ignored.
• Impact on flood control ignored.
• Impact on carbon sink and knock-on effects for air pollution and climate change ignored.
• Impact on biodiversity ignored.
• Impact on natural heritage ignored.
• Impact on water catchment ignored.
• Impact on room for public space amenities (parks, cemeteries, waste facilities etc) ignored.
• Impact on rural business (e.g. mineral mining, film making) ignored.
• Impact on natural landmarks and views ignored.
• Harm to public health and wellbeing (physical, psychological) ignored.
• Allows excessive levels of development in breach of views expressed in last consultation and Conservative Party manifesto commitments at the last local elections.
• Has allowed ruling Councillors to argue that there is an acceptable percentage of Green Belt that should be sacrificed to development, when no such rule exists in the NPPF.
• Ignores alternative approaches, such as fair burden-sharing under which settlements would undertake to accommodate new development in proportion to their size.
• Disproportionate amount of development (most of it, in fact) to be in Green Belt. Too few new homes in urban areas where many young people want to live. This will act against much needed urban regeneration.
• Major settlement extensions allow indiscriminate housebuilding, as irregularly shaped villages are squared off to enclose green fields.
• Overall harm to Guildford Green Belt unjustified by any objective development need post-Brexit.
• Ignores most of NPPF 17 stipulations.

I OBJECT TO POLICY S2 (BOROUGH-WIDE STRATEGY):
• Numbers based on growth and demographic data now invalidated by Brexit.
• No justification given for 13,860 housing figure.
• Figures based on a Housing Market Area that ignores 2 neighbouring districts (Rushmoor and Mole Valley) and is much too small, since most people commute or travel far outside the area to shop or study. This distorts the figures: no reason why Guildford needs to build nearly twice as many large housing estates as the rest of Surrey put together, or half of all sites over 100 units.
• High numbers involved would transform character of the borough from mainly rural/Green Belt to urban, creating a corridor of development out of London as per Woking or Croydon.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I wish to object most strongly to the proposal to remove Chilworth from the Green Belt. It is surrounded by an AGLV and the AONB and is seen from the hills along the Tillingbourne Valley. This valley is an extremely attractive area within the Borough and it is very important that the villages along it remain as discrete entities and do not coalesce due to ribbon type development. Hence Green Belt protection for Chilworth is essential.

There is a suggestion that 20 dwellings could be built on land at Old Manor Farm, ( Site Ref. 2286 ). This land is outside the Settlement Boundary, is in the Green Belt and in an AGLV, and is also adjacent to a Conservation Area. It is almost surrounded by Public Footpaths. Hence it is important for the openness of the countryside. The side has no adequate, or wide enough, vehicular access. Thus the proposal to build there is entirely inappropriate.

Tillingbourne Junior School playing fields should remain outside the Settlement Boundary so as to retain their Green Belt protection in the long term. Having been a Governor there for about 30 years I know that the fields are fully utilised but the Governing Body is well aware that many school playing fields have already been sold off.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (Yes)

The following comments are submitted on behalf of our client, Waitrose Ltd, in respect of ‘Question 7: Any other comments’.

There are various references in the Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategies and Sites document to the delivery of the proposed Sustainable Movement Corridor (including in the Spatial Vision, at Policy I3 and in respect of a number of the proposed site allocations). As part of this Sustainable Movement Corridor, the Infrastructure Schedule at Appendix C sets out various alterations and closure of roads within Guildford Town Centre as part of the Guildford Town Centre Transport Package (Ref: LRN1).

Our client, Waitrose Ltd, has recently opened a food store in Guildford. The store is located on the northern edge of the town centre, within close proximity of the primary shopping area. Waitrose would like to take this opportunity to highlight the importance of ensuring that the proposed transport strategy referred to in the Plan does not in any way deter car-borne shoppers from using the new Waitrose foodstore. Any alterations to the existing road layout in Guildford which make the store less attractive to shoppers could adversely affect the viability of the store – particularly as the store is less than a year old and is therefore yet to become fully established.

In approving planning permission for the store, the Council recognised the ‘great potential’ it has for facilitating linked trips to other town centre facilities. The new Waitrose store therefore plays a vital anchor role in supporting the vitality and viability of the wider town centre. The proposed Guildford Town Centre Transport Package should not undermine this role by making the store less attractive to those visiting the site by car as this may in turn harm the health of Guildford town centre.

We are living in Cobbetthill road and we strongly object against the proposal to build over 1100 houses and a secondary school on two sites in Normandy and Flexford.

Already at the moment, Cobbetthill road is being used as a shortcut - cars are continuously speeding and this will increase dramatically if the build of proposed 1100 houses and a secondary school on two sites in Normandy and Flexford goes ahead.

Furthermore, the bottom of Cobbetthill road is at times subject to flooding - which also affects the already busy traffic. Again in case the build of proposed 1100 houses and a secondary school on two sites in Normandy and Flexford goes ahead the traffic will be horrendous.

I wish to object to the removal of the Greenbelt status around the villages including West Horsley due to its piecemeal redevelopment nature.

The sites do not properly provide for sustainable redevelopment and the removal of Greenbelt removes farm land.

To remove the Horsleys from the Greenbelt exceptional circumstances need to be provided this has not been done

No sound reasons have been provided to extend the boundaries.

I do accept and support where it can be proved sustainable and developers pay for infrastructure, schools, transport upgrades that new villages such as Wisley, and Gosden Hill Farm be allowed, these settlements must be over 1500 units and sustainable (no drain on existing services) within their own right and developers pay a 10 year service charge on account to ensure doctors surgeries, buses and schools, sewage systems etc are maintained.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the plan in relation to the proposals in A46. As a general overview it is a huge development that will destroy the local area in terms of environment, lifestyle and infrastructure. This proposal cannot be sound as it cannot be justified or delivered. Normandy is a small village of mainly bungalow style buildings. To add 1100 houses, shops and potentially a large secondary school would completely change the area from its current village feel to be a town. This is all proposed on a location that is within 800m of the Thames Basin Heath Special Protection Area and therefore all the protection that has been afforded the area has been disregarded by this part of the local plan.

The main and most worrying impact of the proposed development that cannot physically be addressed is the impact of all the extra traffic that will be generated by building 1100 homes and associated unwanted/unrequired shops and schools. This is also how the plan falls down in terms of its legal obligations. As far as I am aware Surrey County Council has not published a transport strategy and therefore it has not been considered when proposing this disproportionately sized development. The road system as it stands at the moment cannot cope with the current levels of traffic that feed from Aldershot towards Guildford and London. The A31 is always at a standstill for miles in the rush hours and therefore the roads that feed into them, Westwood Lane, the A323 will become gridlocked even further as a result. The thousands of homes being built in Aldershot on the site of the old army barracks will no doubt add to this traffic jam and as a result of this the pollution caused by thousands of cars idling in queues will cause a health risk to the residents. This is a failing on the plans duty to cooperate as they have not engaged with Rushmoor council to manage the extra traffic that will be carried when the 4000 houses currently under construction are finished.

Wyke primary school sits on the junction of Guildford Road and Westwood Lane and the health and safety of the children has not been considered by those planning A46. The children will be at danger from increasing numbers of cars passing through the area at drop off time and the air pollution will spike at this pinch point right at the corner of a busy road and oversized development.

Having watched the video 'What the draft local plans means to local people' I was hoping to find a balanced argument for and against from broad section of local residents. Instead the views were only expressed by those who stand to gain from the proposals, ie management at the hospital and University in Guildford. I would be amazed if any of the people interviewed were residents of the affected area of Normandy and facing the complete destruction of its character. I only moved to Normandy in January 2016 paying a premium to move from the urban environment of Ash to ensure that my two young daughters are brought up in a pleasant, safe and friendly environment. The charm of Normandy is that being a small village the atmosphere is one of neighbourhood, people are genuinely friendly and approachable. Children play in the streets with no fear of crime. If the proposal is agreed then it is inevitable that the standard of living will decrease and safety in terms of road collisions and crime will increase. Nobody who lives in Normandy wants this development to go ahead.

I object in the strongest possible terms to A46 being implemented. It is completely disporportionate in its size to the current village and will irrevocably destroy large swathes of countryside through urbanisation and traffic pollution.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( No ), is Sound? ( No ), is Legally Compliant? ( No )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

A46 is too much!

It's turning Normandy from a village into a town, and sacrificing too much precious green belt.

We do need affordable houses for first time buyers so I'm in favour of enlarging the village housing stock by 10%.
But this proposal is simply an imposition too far.
As a resident of West Horsley I write to you to object to aspects of the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (Reg 19) 2016 draft which is currently under public consultation.

Having reviewed the submitted document, I am very concerned at the potential implications for the rural village of West Horsley, and challenge the following key points:

1. A) Policy P2: Removal (‘insetting’) of the village from the Green Belt

   - This policy directly contradicts the government’s objective in the NPPF to “assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment”, and that “once established, Green Belt boundaries should only be altered in exceptional circumstances”. Normal population growth does not constitute exceptional circumstances which would justify removal of Green Belt status with the associated loss of rural character of the village.

   - Under the NPPF policy #86, “If it is necessary to prevent development in a village primarily because of the important contribution which the open character of the village makes to the openness of the Green Belt, the village should be included in the Green Belt.”

   West Horsley strongly meets these criteria, being characterised by low housing density, open countryside views and bordering directly onto both National Trust and AONB lands, and should remain in the Green Belt with its existing boundaries intact.

   The policy as it stands seeks to justify excessive development in areas where it simply cannot be justified - with an inequitable distribution of over 8000 homes proposed to be built within the Green Belt compared with only 1135 in urban Guildford, it will destroy the character of the countryside and eliminate green space that should be protected in perpetuity.

1. B) Expansion of the village settlement boundary vs Local Plan 2003

   - The current proposed expansion of the settlement boundary vs LP 2003 would remove additional undeveloped green spaces from the Green Belt, rapidly hastening village expansion and encroachment on the neighbouring countryside. There is no supportive basis for this expansion which contradicts the NPPF policy that local planning authorities should “define boundaries clearly, using physical features that are readily recognisable and likely to be permanent” and the above government objective to safeguard the countryside from encroachment.

   - I want to specifically highlight the area to the east of The Street currently outside the settlement boundary, including the Village Green and neighbouring undeveloped land which contributes to the village’s rural character, which would not be best served by being included in the settlement.
I challenge the village expansion as a whole and the area of the West Horsley Village Green/neighbouring fields specifically

1. C) Strategic Site Allocations (A38-41)

- 445 houses are proposed on four ‘strategic sites’ within West Horsley in addition to an undefined number of ‘windfall’ small site completions. Excluding the large site at Normandy, this represents 50% of the total proposed housing within inset villages despite representing only 20% of the current population.

- The proposal places a disproportionate burden of future housing provision on West Horsley relative to other villages, the impact of which would be a significant loss of village character and stress on amenities and roads which could be better addressed through a broader distribution of strategic sites across the borough.

  - The need for so many houses to be built in West Horsley over the first 5 years of the Plan period 2018 to 2033 is totally unproven. The West Horsley Parish Council and Surrey Community Action Housing Survey: May 2014, identified a limited need for some 20 affordable homes for local people who want to remain in the village, i.e. for young people and for elderly people who wish to downsize to a smaller home.

In closing, I fully recognise the need for sustainable housing development within the borough to meet the current and future needs of its residents, but believe we must do so while also safeguarding our countryside and the rural nature of the villages which make this area unique.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the proposed A46 strategic site at Normandy / Flexford for the following reasons:

1. 'Exceptional circumstances' for the removal of this site form the metropolitan green belt have not been demonstrated. The need for a new secondary school on the site is not an 'exceptional circumstance' to justify removal. The relationship between new dwellings and a new secondary school on the site is circular, thereby annulling the 'exceptional circumstance' argument. There is no proven need for a secondary school on this site at the expense of other alternatives which do not require the removal of land from the metropolitan green belt. GBC have not demonstrate that a combination of i) utilising under subscription to schools in the west of the borough ii) additional place from the already commited new Technical College and Hoe Valley school and iii) further development of existing schools would be a satisfactory alternative to the proposed secondary school on the A46 site.

1. This assessment has been enabled by inappropriate application of the NPPF concepts of sensitivity and sustainability in the decision to remove the site from the metropolitan green built. Sensitivity considerations have been minimised and sustainability claims have been exaggerated for the following reasons i) The settlements of Normandy and Flexford have been treated as separate for the purpose of sensitivity, but treated as as one for the purposes of sustainability. This has driven a different assessment of the site than if treated consistently across both concepts ii) mitigation to the threat to the Thames Basin Health Special Protection Area has not been demonstrated in the current plan - urbanisation will negatively impact on the the TBHSPA as a result iii) ecological networks and priority habitats under the NERC are not satisfactorily protected with the removal of the site from the metropolitan green belt iv) important views of the village (both daytime and nighttime) from the surrounding AONB landscpae will not be protected by the urbanisation of the village v) there is no evidence to demonstrate that an estate development such as this will encourage significant retail and employment opportunities to offset the sensitivity considerations.

1. The ability to deliver the required improvement in local infrastructure has not been demonstrated. Key concerns are i) the removal of the environmental agency identified flood plain 3b without adequate improvement to the GBC surface water Management Plan ii) the inability of the unclassified roads surrounding the site to deal with the increased traffic from both the A46 site and also incremental traffic from Rushmoor Council's nearby house expansion iii) the as yet unfunded water supply and sewerage improvements that are required to deliver the site.

1. There has been no 'meaningful engagement' with local residents as is expected under the NPPF. Residents had been working on the assumption that this site would be a 'safeguarded site' per the 2014 draft local plan until GBC notified us of the change new proposal in April 2016.Sensitivity considerations have been minimised and sustainability claims have been exaggerated.

Limited infilling seems to enable development in green belt without the need to inset. I feel this causes confusion - it would appear that the way to enable development is to inset (i.e. remove some land from the green belt). A concept which allows development in what remains green belt (which is what limited infilling seems to do) is both confusing and also dangerous in that it devalues the green belt. Insetting is controvertial, especially if widespread and escalating - I believe it should only be done if entirely necessary and I suspect and hope that those with particular interest in individual areas have commented on the proposed insetting. My particular point here is about the alternative, and in my view unhelpful, concept of limited infilling.

I very much welcome a public consultation on the Local Plan - I understand not all local authorities undertake such a consultation and I am aware that often when public bodies consult the public there is a problem with inclusivity so my comment here is not a criticism of Guildford Borough but a very strong suggestion for the next Local Plan or even for this one if it can be delayed to allow the change I suggest to be incorporated, as follows. A consultation should be a meaningful one in that it is equally accessible to all people in the public. The (understandable) complexity of the Plan documentation and the feedback method requiring free text typing will inevitably discourage many from participating. A very simple executive summary of what the Plan is (and one for each section too) with an even simpler listing of key actions (which are those considered to be ones that the public may have differences of opinion on) which can be given drop-down menus for options from which members of the public can chose their preferred approach. More participation can be encouraged by way of a welcoming, user-friendly front page signposting a click to the summaries and the key actions options perhaps contained in a simple (perhaps 20 minutes) questionnaire which could be so simple it could lend itself to being advertised elsewhere too (e.g. Surrey Advertiser). One very simple illustration of the uncertainty of the current version of the consultation is that, while saving the comments (including this one), an individual is left feeling the response may not be what is of interest to the surveyor, may not be given due consideration and, further, he/she may even be uncertain if he/she has participated in the consultation at all without a 'submit' button. In order for a public consultation to be a true, wide-reaching and hence democratic consultation, it should be based on such simple questions and potential (defined) responses that the respondent will know that his/her response has been entered/received, understood and will be given the appropriate (equal) weight as others.

I object to the proposed sites at A43, A43a and A35.

Site A35 is totally unsustainable - it is totally car dependant, needs and relies upon outside funding for up grading of junction 10 and also requires site A43 to pay for the junction improvements at A43a so that the traffic impact that it will create is mitigated. A43 is not a good site in its own right it is proposed simply to mitigate the trafic impact of site a35. It is surley plain stupid to allow circa 5000 units to be developed with approximately 3 miles of each other all relying upon A3 improvements!

Guildford and a lot of the south east relie upon the A3. Why are we also placing so much pressure on it (the a3) to also make housing acceptable.

So much of this plan relies upon the A3 working and being paid for by central government. It is not a credible 5 yr plan. I object.

I object. The plan relies on outside funding to make sites acceptable. I do not believe that the plan can deliver housing and infrastructure in a timely fashion as the outside funding is not guaranteed. For example, if funding is not made available or is delayed for junction 10, the Wisley godston hill and Godston are simply unacceptable.

Why have over half of the plans sites been allocated in the north of the borough all requiring the A3 and M25 to be improved with funding from outside and none guaranteed sources. In fact this plan can not deliver in the short to medium term. I object. Moreover, it would seem to me that the Godston site at Garrick arch is only included as a site to make the Wisley site acceptable in transport term:

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
• I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.

• After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.

Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

• I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

◦ I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:
  1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars
  2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads
  3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements
  4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them)
  5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest
  6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity

◦ I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).

◦ I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

◦ I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

◦ I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, - now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
Policy D4 implies that the occupants of buildings should continue to be able to enjoy the amenities. This would be best stated explicitly. It is fundamental to there being "no unacceptable effect on the amenities in terms of privacy, noise, vibration, pollution, dust, smell and access to sunlight and daylight."

For the proposal for East Horsley I object in that there would be a reduction in the enjoyment of amenities by the occupants of buildings due to:

1) Local medical facilities being stretched already
2) Roads are narrow and clogged during peak periods
3) There is no plan to change those roads to ease congestion
4) Insufficient car parking in the community and shopping areas for the intended additional residents. This would be exacerbated if the Wisley Airfield draft plan is actioned.
5) Various roads in East Horsley have no, or narrow footpaths. Increasing the local population will increase the chances of accidents

Continuing to add residents to a borough or an area such as Guildford because of demand will, incrementally, change the nature of Guildford borough and make it less desirable to its residents. The roads and Guildford itself are already crowded, the intended road plans will not alleviate all of the congestion. Congestion will become incrementally worse than increment in traffic and people as adding to queues compounds the problem. Reducing desirability of Guildford cannot be an objective, although it will result from following the draft local plan.

The Hogs Back is a wonderful resource for local people and forms part of London’s Green belt. It will be so visible from the top of the Hogs Back when walking, riding, cycling or even in a car as you look north. Presently there is a green lung separating this lovely area from the development associated with Aldershot, Camberley, Woking (all visible in the distance).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the 2016 Draft Local Plan.

I live in Burpham, very close to the A3 and the traffic is already extremely heavy, often coming to a complete standstill. Building the proposed number of new homes in Burpham, Slyfield, Ripley, Send, Clandon, etc. all close to the A3 and Guildford will mean movement of traffic will become much worse. Guildford already becomes gridlocked when the A3 or the A25 is extra slow. I suggest better road facilities should be decided and developed before more development is undertaken.

I would like to register my objection to the GBC Local Plan affecting Normandy and Flexford and give the following reasons;

1, The plan as it stands appears to be developer led without any thought of the local community that the GLC is in place to serve.

2, There appears to be no consideration given or respect to the high quality green belt status currently in place.

3, Normandy and Flexford is a rural environment and is served with a rural environment infrastructure unsuited to major development.

4, The planned development does not take into account that it is surrounded by country lanes, Glaziers Lane and Westwood Lane both of which are used as rat runs when the Hogs Back is at a standstill which is a regular occurrence and both of which are unsuited to developer and additional resident traffic.

5, Drainage and sewage facilities are barely able to manage with the current demands in place and flooding is an additional problem yet to be resolved.

6, The Guildford road that flanks the northern perimeter of the proposed development is currently at or very near full capacity with traffic volumes that frequently restrict access from Glaziers and Westwood lanes.

7, The proposed development is of size that is more suited to the convenience of GBC than the residents of Normandy and Flexford. A number of smaller developments distributed throughout the area would be more in-keeping with the rural environment,
8. There is no identifiable requirement for a new school as part of any new development in Normandy and Flexford as it has been confirmed that local schools in the area all have spare capacity and the will to expand their current capacities if required in the future.

9. The proposed development would build over areas much valued by local residents for dog walking, rambling and leisure activities.

10. The current plan is unsustainable, unsuitable and against the wishes of the local community.

We live in New Inn Lane and are writing to object to the 2016 Draft Local Plan. Guildford is becoming grid locked at certain times of the day as it is due to the volumes of traffic and the inadequate infrastructure.

The other day or took me nearly an hour to drive from Burpham to Royal Surrey Hospital at 5pm to pick my wife up from work. Every morning and evening Guildford almost stops so to even consider building 2,000 new homes which means at least 4,000 additional cars on the road without massive investment in the roads, seems madness.

We, along with 300 others objected to the building of Aldi in Burpham due to increased traffic and again the council did not listen and this has made the area a lot worse. You cannot park in Kingspost parade at certain times due to Aldi customers using it as an overflow car park, something that was not even considered as part of the planning approval.

The houses that were built in Raynham Close provided inadequate parking, as all new housing developments seem to these days and therefore you now have a parking problem in Burnet Avenue.

The bottom line is there are far too many houses and cars in Burpham without building anymore and a new railway station will compound the problem not solve it.

The strategy to cram as many houses into an existing area is not a plan, it's purely focusing on meeting government targets rather than what is best for the long term good of the area. Unless the problem is dealt with in a sensible planned way you will just create more problems down the line which is where this is heading.

It is appreciated that we have to accept additional housing in the Guildford area, the amount of which is still to be justified, but there are still plenty of Brown sites and infilling available for consideration without removing the protection against development offered by the Green Belt.

In particular I object to the removal of the Green Belt in the Chilworth / St Martha area where there are historic areas of outstanding natural beauty and Scientific Interest which in their existing environment add to the special nature of this particular part of the Guildford area. The area of Chilworth / St Marthas should not be damaged or reduced by development but should remain intact for the enjoyment of everyone, visitors and residents alike.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I would like to register my objection to the proposed changes to the local plan affecting the green belt boundary within Shalford Village specifically the exclusion of the fields behind Shalford Village Hall, proposals that will lead to the increased threat of the development of the land which will have a significant negative effect on the village.

As a resident of Kings Road, we have had 2 serious accidents recently (within the last 3 months) outside my house and the fact that both did not result in serious injury is purely down to chance. The volume of traffic using Kings Road and most importantly travelling at serious excess speed is reason enough to demand that the threat of further increased volume of traffic be removed.

I would seriously ask you to look at drastic road traffic calming measures through the village and would suggest that time spent doing this would be time well spent rather than looking at ways of destroying the village by turning its green belt land into house developments. There are plenty of unused brown field and non-green field designated sites you could target within the Guildford Borough rather than just picking on soft targets like Shalford Village.

I object to your proposals.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
Submission Local Plan – Normandy

I wish to OBJECT most forcibly with the proposed development in Normandy between Westwood Lane and Glaziers Lane. My reasons for objection are as follows:- Inadequate Infrastructure, especially the lack of suitable roads; flooding and Sewage problems leading to Health considerations; The Spurious “Need for a Secondary School”; The Impact on the Environment; The use of Red notated agricultural land Not safeguarded, and in the Green Belt for building 1100 houses; The lack of local consultation with GBC to discuss the desires of the Village, in line with the Governments declared policy of the need to ensure that the village actually WANTS the extra housing. I will expand on each.

1. Inadequate Infrastructure.

I refer primarily to the effect 1100 extra houses, each with a probable two cars, will have on the local traffic situation, which is already creaking. Both Westwood Lane and Glaziers Lane are country roads, each having dangerous bridges associated with the railway line. These roads are on the borders of the planned development, while the northern edge is bordered by the A323, which is already extremely busy at peak times. The addition of a 1100 pupil Secondary School on that road will increase the traffic intolerably, when taken in addition to the cars from the new development trying to reach Guildford or Aldershot.

Whenever there is an accident on the Hogs Back or A3, traffic tries to exit via Wanborough Hill to use either of the two lanes, neither of which is capable or designed to take that volume of traffic. Anyone who tries to access the A31 at peak traffic times from either the Puttenham or Wanborough directions will know how long the queues are, and the potential for accidents for traffic leaving the A31 at the Puttenham turn off. This could severely jeopardise Emergency traffic trying to access the new development, whose road structure might well be not capable of allowing Fire and Ambulance vehicles to attend an emergency, especially during peak traffic times.

1. Flooding and associated Sewage Problems.

Parts of Normandy, especially at the southern edge of the proposed development and in the area next to the Hoe stream, are subject to severe flooding problems, and the associated release of sewage into people’s properties and into the Hoe stream which would cut across the development. One property has already been flooded 5 times in the past year, and the Station Car Park is regularly flooded during the downpours which have been occurring regularly. The Hoe stream also floods, which affects Glaziers Lane at the bridge crossing the stream, and sewage has been released into it, causing a health hazard.

The proposed development area at present allows natural drainage through the soil and trees; if this area is concreted over, the resultant run off of surface water would overwhelm the present system, causing even more flooding in the local area. I am not convinced that an underground tank to take excess water and release it in a controlled fashion would be able to cope with the increased amount of water which forecasters say we must expect with climate warming.

1. The “Need” for a Secondary School

We have been told that there is a need for a secondary School to the West of the County. The County Councillor for Normandy has consulted ALL the local schools, and their Heads have all confirmed that their own schools are undersubscribed, and would be able to accommodate any increase in pupil numbers with no difficulty. We have been told by Councillor Spooner that the main advantage of having the school in Normandy would be that the proposed Developer would build it for free, providing they were in turn allowed to build the 1100 houses on the Green Belt Land. The School is NOT required, and therefore the argument for the houses disappears with it.

1. Environmental Impact

The village of Normandy lies within an area of outstanding natural beauty close to the Surrey Hills to the South and the Army Heathland to the North. It provides a welcome rural break between the towns of Aldershot and Guildford, and is in designated Green Belt. It features a wide range of wild life, including many endangered and protected species, and the addition of 1100 households, with their associated cats, would decimate much of the wild life that lives here. In addition, the replacement of the present agricultural land with housing would remove a valuable habitat for all the wild creatures that have come to rely on the peaceful nature of the area.
1. The use of non-safeguarded Agricultural Land for Building.

The area proposed for building 1100 houses is Green Belt, designated Red agricultural land, which has been constantly used for grazing and livestock. The Government has repeatedly said that such land should NOT be used for building, unless there were overwhelming requirements to do so. These requirements have not been shown to exist in this village.

1. Legal aspects.

Guildford Borough Council, unlike the other Surrey Councils, insists that there is a requirement for double the number of houses in this area compared with theirs. That estimate was provided by a firm which refuses to disclose how it came to that conclusion on the grounds of “commercial sensitivity”. Thus, the Council has no way of verifying how accurate this estimate is, or what assumptions were used in coming to this figure. It is imperative that this arbitrary figure be challenged, and another firm used who will be transparent in the assumptions it makes, so that a proper estimate can be used.

In summary, and in view of the points I have made above, I would be grateful if you would log my strong objections to the proposal to build 1100 houses between Glaziers Lane and Westwood Lane in the village of Normandy.

While I am extremely happy to see that Sites A46 and A47 have been removed from the local plan, I am concerned about the removal of Green Belt status for some of Guildford Road and Glaziers Lane. This removal would allow development out of keeping with the rest of the village, and encourage developers to re-apply for greater development on Sites A46 and A47.

Because of the danger of this, I wish to OBJECT most forcibly to any future major development in Normandy. My reasons for objection are as follows:- Inadequate Infrastructure, especially the lack of suitable roads; flooding and Sewage problems leading to Health considerations and The Impact on the Environment

1. Inadequate Infrastructure.
The local traffic situation is already creaking. Both Westwood Lane and Glaziers Lane are country roads, each having dangerous bridges associated with the railway line. These roads are on the borders of the previously planned development, while the northern edge is bordered by the A323, which is already extremely busy at peak times. The effect of the planned addition of 10,000 new homes within a ten mile radius of Normandy on that road will increase the traffic intolerably, for those cars trying to reach Guildford or Aldershot.

I am writing in reference to the local plan for housing development in Effingham and in particular to the revision of its settlement/ inset boundary as detailed on page 338 of the local plan.

I am objecting to the revision of the inset boundary to include those areas marked in yellow.

In particular:

1. the amenity land at rear of Middle Farm Place is designated open space and there is no need to include it in the settlement as this increases the 'craw' of the village westwards.
2. the land immediately behind the houses in Middle Farm Close has no access is part of the conservation area and is adjacent to farm land .

4/5. The inclusion of this land enables the urban 'crawl' westwards as stated above. Regarding the proposed allocation of the Barn (no 4) for housing, this is a barn of historic interest and from an access feasibility point of view can only accommodate a max of 5-7 residences. Any site allocation for such purpose should reflect a proper feasibility assessment on highway grounds.

In terms of land which could be accommodated within the settlement which at present are not, are the lands shown edged blue. These lands are in the main already developed and are intrinsic to the village configuration, particularly St Lawrence school and the Red House and British Legion. The only potential issue is the vacant land known as Lyons Field adjacent to the school, which is a natural extension to the village boundary and is arguably infill in any event, being bordered on 3 sides by development and on the other by the school playing fields .

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I am writing to make known my objections to the local development plan that is currently under consideration. I feel very strongly that the plan will impact negatively our village in terms of safety, quality of life, and environmental reasons. Specifically, I object as follows:

1. I object that the Green Belt will be compromised by this plan. The area between Woking and Guildford needs preserving so that there is an area of countryside separating them to prevent the sprawl of development for us, and future generations.

2. I object that the tranquil area of the Green Belt at Send should be preserved so that residents of Woking and Guildford, and indeed our village, can enjoy the benefits of the beautiful countryside and all the benefits that being around nature brings to them. We moved to this area a year ago in the understanding that we were to be living in certain environment. We paid a premium to live here and now that way of life, and investment are at risk.

3. I object to the proposed new interchange onto the A3 at Burnt Common. This increase in traffic along the A247 would be disastrous. This road is a minor road really and is already congested much of the time. Trying to cross this road with children, dogs, or indeed for my neighbour who is frail, is a nightmare even with the traffic we have now.

4. I also object to the development plan as this would increase traffic along our road, Potters Lane, and this is a major safety issue. People leave the A3 and many speed along our road, which is supposed to have a 30 mile an hour limit where we live. At the A3 end of Potters lane, it is very narrow and it is very dangerous with cars and big lorries coming at speed after leaving a major highway and finding themselves on a minor, twisting country lane. Traffic entering Send Hill at Potters Lane is problematic too. It is a very narrow lane and cannot tolerate more traffic. At the New Inn end of Potters Lane, residents have to park on the road leaving only one lane for traffic to pass one another. Huge lorries find themselves here and have to go up on to the pavement putting pedestrians, including the elderly, the frail and disabled, dogs, and property at risk. The Potters Lane exit from the A3 should be closed. It is dangerous.

5. I object to the development at Send and Garlick’s Arch for a large number of houses and industrial development. There was hardly any notice of the inclusion of this. This area also is a site of ancient woodland and as such is a very precious site that should be cared for and preserved for future generations.

6. I object to the development of 40 houses at Send Hill. As mentioned above, this location is on a very narrow road and will be a disaster for the area in terms of traffic and spoiling the beautiful countryside. We use this countryside daily to walk our dogs and is one of the reasons we moved to this area. This area is in the Green Belt and is a precious commodity to local people and those from nearby urbanised areas that come to the area for a break from the stresses of urban life.

Please consider my concerns and objections above.
This email is to state my OBJECTIONS to the proposed changes to the Draft Local Plan which would affect our village of Send drastically.

I feel that despite a local swell of objections from people directly affected by the proposed changes, GBC have not listened to the people and insist on planning for our village to be ruined. I feel that our village has been targeted disproportionately for development by Guildford Borough Council. My future votes will reflect my feelings on this matter.

The village of Send is already congested with traffic. We live on Potters Lane and it is only a matter of time before speeding traffic coming off the A3 will cause an accident on our lane. Any further development to the area will worsen our situation here. Huge lorries have to drive up on to the pavement and risk hurting someone all the time. This junction should be closed!

I object to the Green Belt, Policy 2 at paragraph 4.3.15 - Send Business to be removed from the Green Belt because:

1. The increase in traffic along Tannery Lane would increase on this narrow lane and this road is already overused even with the existing development.

2. The existing buildings fit into the landscape and are now part of the countryside there (we walk there extensively with the dogs) but to increase the amount of space and the nature of its construction would be incongruous to the area and spoil the beautiful river landscape. We do not want further building here to ruin a slice of nature that is beneficial to everyone who lives nearby.

The above reflect some of my objections to the proposed changes to the plan. Please consider these and the views of other residents and please do not target our village unduly. We have a right to have our village preserved and it is only fair that development is spread over the area, not just to us.

I am writing to Object to the Policy A43 change at Garlick’s Arch because despite the changes:

It still recommends providing a large amount of new homes, which is always going to have an enormous impact on a local community.

It will still generate more traffic which will cause more congestion on local roads in and around Send and Ripley.

The air quality will get worse with the increase in vehicles.

It still means a greater pressure on, already overstretched, local public services.

It still does not feel like there is an exceptional circumstance to remove land from the Greenbelt.

It begs the question, what happened to all the thousands of previous objections?

Objection to the removal of the Green Belt Protection from Peasmarsh, Shalford and Chilworth

I wish to register my objection to your intention to remove 'Green Belt' protection from the villages within the Guildford Borough Council area.

It is well documented that the infrastructure of the area is under considerable strain and that unrestricted housing development of the area is not sustainable.

I therefore object to your 2016 Local Plan proposal.

Objections to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Local Plan (June 2016) and to the continued inclusion in the plan of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA), now known as Three Farms Meadows (TFM) –

Allocation A35 - for the phased development of a new settlement of up to 2100 dwellings

I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

1. I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.

2. I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.

3. I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans.

4. I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).

5. I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

6. I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:

   1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars
   2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads
   3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements
   4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them)
   5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest
   6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity

7. I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).

8. I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.
9. I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

10. I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, - now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.

Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
1. I object to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

I trust that the objections made above are fully taken into consideration and that the Plan is amended accordingly.

1. I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43)

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brownfield site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

1. I object to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common(A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.
The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

| If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.
The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small.

1. I object to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

1. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy II)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition. I object to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as Ripley, already suffer from parking problems. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

1. I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1)

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. There are no plans to improve these services. There is also no commitment to improve / expand the Villages Medical Centre or provide additional and acceptable school places. This should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

1. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

1. I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health.

I object to the proposals to remove the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, together with sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43). National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these villages and the land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.
The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Objections to Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016)

I object whole heartedly to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016). I believe this Plan to be unsustainable, unworkable and, in many provisions, unnecessary.

Please find below my objections to specific policies and matters within the Plan.

1. I object to the Local Plan as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) are in unsustainable locations. They do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. There is a proposal in place to stop the bus that currently runs from Ripley to Guildford! Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy)

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

1. I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

1. I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT to Gosden Hill development being in the Local Plan. The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.
No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The road through West Clandon is used as a regular route for HGV driver training and many times people have to mount the payment at the pinch points. I myself have burst a tyre having to do this to avoid a driver on the wrong side of the road.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
1. I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43)

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)
Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

1. I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3)

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

5. I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch, when just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a SouthWest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

I trust that the objections made above are fully taken into consideration and that the Plan is amended accordingly.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT (POLICY H1 – Homes for all) Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY H3 – Rural Exception Homes

I OBJECT  This is a Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.
Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists pass through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added pollution and risk to injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

1. I OBJECT to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1)

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?.

11. I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse. The section of the A3 between Burnt Common and Burpham is recognised already as a black spot for road traffic accidents. This situation will be made much worse.

1. I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

1. I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

I OBJECT to the proposals to remove the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, together with sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43). National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’ and the land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached. GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

1. I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Objections to Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016)

I OBJECT in the strongest possible terms to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016). This Plan is unsustainable, unworkable and, in many provisions, unnecessary.

I set out below my objection to specific policies and matters within the Plan.

1. I OBJECT to the Local Plan as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are just unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
1. I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

a. The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

b. The Housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

c. The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. In any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, with Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

It is beyond belief that the Council could even consider ‘no protection against development’ in Chilworth and our other local villages – Shalford, Peasmarsh, Ripley, etc.

1. I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

1. I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.
The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

1. I OBJECT to Gosden Hill development being in the Local Plan. The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The road through West Clandon is used as a regular route for HGV driver training and many times people have to mount the payment at the pinch points.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is gridlocked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.
Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43)

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.
Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

1. I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

1. I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch, when just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

1. I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)
Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

1. POLICY E6 - The leisure and visitor experience

I OBJECT. Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a SouthWest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

I trust that the objections made above are fully taken into consideration and that the Plan is amended accordingly.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT (POLICY H1 – Homes for all) Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.
Student accommodation should be provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other universities (e.g., Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g., by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

1. POLICY H3 – Rural Exception Homes

I OBJECT This is a Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e., normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
1. I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists pass through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added pollution and risk to injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

1. I OBJECT to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1)

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?.

1. I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

1. I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

1. I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

I OBJECT to the proposals to remove the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, together with sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43). National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’ and the land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached. GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

1. I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Objections to Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016)

I OBJECT in the strongest possible terms to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016). This Plan is unsustainable, unworkable and, in many provisions, unnecessary.

I set out below my objection to specific policies and matters within the Plan.

1. I OBJECT to the Local Plan as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are just unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

a. The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

b. The Housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

c. The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. In any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, with Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

The ensuing increase in traffic along wholly unsuitable narrow lanes will lead to a increased likelihood of accidents with the many cyclists enjoying this area.

Huge demand will be placed on local services which are already stretched.

The green belt is essential to maintain an area where agriculture, forestry and outdoor leisure pursuits can flourish. This is exactly what has happened here and with the ever increasing outward pressure from London, it is even more important that the countryside is preserved for all to enjoy.

Re: Guildford Local Plan Dear Sir

I am writing to object to a number of points relating to the East Horsley, West Horsley and Ockham sections of the Guildford Local Plan.

Having originally replied to the earlier version of the Guildford Local Plan, as did many others, I had presumed that some fairly major changes would have been made to this version, in response to the criticism received. However I see little change in this version and indeed nothing that makes the plan more acceptable. It would appear to be another HS2 style project where the locals comments are considered of little importance! But here we go again.

The Horsleys and Ockham are small villages which have always been mainly Green Belt, a factor which to date has not prevented reasonable development, even though infrastructure failures continue to occur.

These three villages are seen as cash cow developments which always feature millionaire type properties that make the best profit for the developers but that do little for the young residents who have aspirations of living in the villages where they grew up. An element of so called affordable housing is usually included in the original plans but by the time the estates are built many of the affordable houses have been taken out of the equation by developer donations to other Council projects while those left which are often seen as too expensive for the affordable market and therefore after requests from the developers to the council they are often allowed to be sold to the normal market place.

The local roads between and connecting the three villages are all country lanes with access to the A3 extremely busy at certain times of the day, made worse by regular jams on the A3.

Road drains throughout the villages are constantly having to be cleared as the old pipework is regularly collapsing and/or being blocked by mud etc.

Public transport for the area is mainly by Main Line trains with two stations both located in East Horsley, these are Horsley and Effingham Junction stations which take huge numbers of residents off to London each day. Both stations have car parks but these are filled to capacity every day.

The East Horsley Doctors Surgery is stretched to breaking point with some people having to wait up to two weeks for an appointment.

The local schools are all sought after and feature both private and public, with the public schools well over subscribed.

The development of a further 2,500 plus homes in this area will only exacerbate the above problems and change the villages for the worse.

Removal of the Horsleys from the Green Belt and/or the extension of the boundaries of the settlement areas of the Horsleys is an obvious ruse to allow even further development of the area in future years without further need to come back to seek support from the residents.

I therefore totally object to your proposals:

- To remove the Horsleys from the Green Belt,
- To extending the boundaries of the Settlement areas around the Horsleys
- To the creation of 2,000 house village at Ockham
- To the creation of 533 houses across the Horsleys.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Appendix H: Maps - Shalford (south)

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I am writing to you to object to the latest proposal to move the green belt boundary and extend the village settlement boundary in Shalford. There are numerous reasons for my objection to this including:

- There is no valid reason to change the green belt boundaries which have been in place for a long time.

- Over 900 residents signed a petition objecting to the proposed settlement boundary change last year. If GBC supports the expressed views of the local residents to protect the fields from development, they should be retained within the current green belt boundary and be kept outside the village settlement boundary.

- The land contributes to the open character of the village and provides an attractive setting for the village’s community facilities

- The elevation of this land, which is 32 feet higher than King’s Road, is the highest in the local area. Any housing development built on it would tower over the village community facilities and the surrounding area, creating a real eyesore and damaging the local character.

- Most importantly, given the fact that access to the land is via Chinthurst Lane, the proposal it will create significant additional congestion on Chinthurst Lane, and significantly increase the level of safety concerns of residents on that lane. Chinthurst Lane is already heavily congested, bordered by significant levels of shrubbery and... undergrowth, and with very limited pedestrian facilities beyond Poplar Road. The corner here is already blind because of overgrown shrubbery - any increase in traffic volumes on Chinthurst Lane will inevitably lead to an accident at that point. I live in a house with a dog and two small children and already feel that Chinthurst Lane is dangerous because of the volume of traffic, the speed at which it comes along the lane, the narrowness of the lane, and the limited pedestrian facilities. Building any further housing at the proposed location would significantly compromise the safety of local residents and children, putting them at risk of traffic incidents and significantly increase the likelihood of accidents on that road.

I trust that you will act with your best judgement and conclude that the proposed changes do not make sense and indeed could potentially be dangerous.

Forsaking Green Belt & The Local Plan

Before getting to the nub of this e-mail, let me first explain why my wife and I are perhaps in a more tangible position than most others who are in equal measure literally up-in-arms of the above twin proposals.

In short, we have just recently returned to live in Ripley after only two years away and what we have immediately noticed is the substantial increase in traffic. This factor is not only due to a number of brown-fill sites that have been cleverly utilised as much needed dwellings but also due to the seemingly insatiable effects of living nearby to our capital. The term supply and demand fits the bill perfectly.

Thankfully, at the moment Ripley, Send and their neighbouring communities are just about able to cope. Of course at peak periods traffic becomes tiresome but that is a problem for the South-East in general and is not unique. Having made this point however, should no further invitation be made to developers, within the next five to ten years or so we shall nevertheless experience deadlock. A five-year plan to negate this forthcoming problem should be on your agenda now and not the unwise invitation to build upon the green belt that the twin proposals offer.

To close this issue, most reasonable, free-thinking councillors who are not manacled by political dogma will agree. And, please do not simply place these comments in the filing cabinet marked ‘not in my back yard,’ for to do so would be a gross distortion of the truth and unworthy!

We will now bullet-point our objections.

1. We object to Send Village being removed from the green belt. It would amount to both folly and chaos.
2. We object to any further development at Clockbarn Nursery. The roads are simply unsuitable and traffic danger would follow.
3. We object to the unreasonable proposals to over develop Garlick’s Arch. In part, the area acts as a flood plain. What folly it would be to hinder this essential environmental aid.
4. We object to any development to Send Hill. Forty new dwellings and two travellers’ pitches would again cause traffic chaos and spoil this idyllic and peaceful area. Do remember that some of the area is land-fill and that many years ago our forefathers chose in-part to home a church and a cemetery. Let those that are buried there rest in peace.
5. We object to the proposal to use the opening of the A3 interchange as a hostage. We are aware that this is a bargaining tool for the over development of the old Wisley airfield and the idea is in our layman’s view rather underhand.

Finally, please do not harbour and rancour or malice as we are well aware of the pressure you are all having from our political masters, especially in this so-called period of austerity.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
SCHOOLS - there appears to be no provision within the Council proposals for any immediate provision for any new schools or extension to existing schools, most of which are already under extreme pressure through oversized classes and lack of funding.

HEALTH SERVICES - there appears to be no provision in the Council proposals for any immediate provision for any new medical facilities such as Doctors Surgeries or extensions to existing facilities.

TRANSPORT - the introduction of a proposed 14,000 homes in the Borough will put an unacceptable and unsustainable pressure on public services that are already failing the public due to cut backs and lack of investment. Many residents will prefer to use their own vehicles to go even short distances and suffer the inevitable traffic jams, rather than use a public transport system that simply does not encourage its use.

I trust that the above points are clear and that my objection will be recorded along with the many thousands of others the Council will undoubtedly receive as a result of their unworkable and highly unpopular development plan.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

GREEN BELT EROSION - Ripley, Wisley, Clandon and Send should not be removed from the Green Send provides a buffer between Woking and Guildford. The Green Belt was originally formed to avoid amalgamation of villages into towns and towns into cities, by unregulated development or Urban Sprawl. Much has been made in recent years of the plight of certain species of birds and reptiles and destruction of their habitats by development - and yet the Council are exacerbating this process in their wanton desire to take the easy and cheapest option and develop in the Green Belt - home to a myriad of Flora and Fauna. The Green Belt should be left alone and more use made of existing developed (brown field) land - a prime example being Wisley Airfield.

DISPROPORTIONATE DEVELOPMENT - The Council are proposing thousands of houses in Send, Ripley and Wisley, areas that already suffer horrendous traffic issues as main feeder routes to the A3 and M25. The whole road network is under extreme pressure during rush hours and in the event of traffic accidents or roadworks gridlock is often the result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

POLICY A42 – CLOCKBARN NURSERY, TANNERY LANE

The increase in the number of residential units from 45 to 60 (+15) is over a 30% uplift on a relatively small site and will lead to a cramped overdevelopment and an unacceptable increase in hardstanding to accommodate the increased parking and access roads resulting in further erosion of the Green Belt.

Tannery Lane is a narrow secondary road that in parts is almost a single track width and therefore traffic problems will be more frequent commencing with the construction of the development requiring large vehicles and plant to manoeuvre into and out of Tannery Lane.

The junction of Tannery Lane with Send Road is very restricted and requires substantial improvement to accommodate the increased use and to provide adequate safety for both pedestrians and vehicles.
The proposal would severely impact on the open aspect of the surrounding Green Belt and in particular the views from the River Wey Navigation.

The increase in units now proposed by the Council completely ignores the hundreds of previous objections made by local people.

Recent flooding issues in and around the immediate area highlight the need for a conscience approach to development and by increasing the number of residential units on this site the incidence of flooding will be increased.

The recent approval of the planning application (14/P/02289) for the Cartridge Traditional Narrowboat Basin on the River Wey Navigation, (construction works are now underway) already puts pressure on the Tannery Lane junctions with Polseden Lane and Send Road. Therefore the cumulative effect of both developments will result in an increase in the potential for accidents at the road junctions unless substantial highway improvements are made. Also there are over 50 parking spaces within the Cartridge Basin application site which, together with the associated hardstanding, severely impact on the rural nature of the surrounding Green Belt area.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

POLICY A43 – LAND AT GARLICKS ARCH, SEND MARSH

The proposal for 400 residential units and 6 travelling showpeople's plots on a Green Belt site is contrary to current policies and ignores the many thousands of objections previously made by local people.

No ‘Special Circumstances’ exist or have been put forward to justify development on this Green Belt site.

The development will put extreme pressure on local roads and when considered with the other nearby proposals for development currently being put forward by the Council in the Draft Local Plan, (both residential and commercial/industrial), will result in gridlock at peak times with the resultant detriment to the quality of life and environment in the area, particularly considering the impact that the proposed North and South slip roads on to the A3 would make by drawing more traffic on to the local road network.

Residential development alongside major highways is known to cause health problems in the very young and old and if this site is developed the long term impact on the residents will in turn put more pressure on local and County Health facilities, particularly if the A3 slip roads abutting one side of the site, (as previously mentioned) are constructed thus increasing traffic flow around the site. The A3 is a major Trunk road that will inevitably become overloaded in the not too distant future given the lack of infrastructure improvements proposed by the Council to cope with the influx of traffic with regard to both proposed imminent and long term development.

The site contains ancient woodlands and should be protected (and enhanced) against development that might impinge upon the quality of the surrounding area and adversely affect the survival of the trees which are regarded as an important amenity for the area and can be seen from distant views.
Garlicks Arch adds to the important Green Barrier that separates the villages of Ripley and Send Marsh and any erosion of this will set precedent and eventually result in the merging of the two villages contrary to National Green Belt policy.

The site is currently designated as within Flood Zone 2/3 and as such development within Flood Plains should be avoided. If development is inevitable then Surface Water mitigation/management must ensure that flood water is properly dealt with and NOT directed so as to cause flooding elsewhere on existing developed land.

There is no proven demand to accommodate Travelling Showpeople in this area who, by the very nature of their business, will bring more traffic problems for the Ripley and Send villages when transporting very large vehicles to and from the site, where the visual impact of the vehicles and structures when stored, will be detrimental to the surrounding area.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

POLICY A58 – LAND AROUND BURNT COMMON WAREHOUSE LONDON ROAD SEND

The proposal for commercial/industrial development on this site is contrary to Green Belt policy.

There are a number of suitable vacant sites and buildings in Slyfield and Guildford and there is no proven need to develop this essentially farmland site.

The previous development proposal for this site in the 2014 Draft Local Plan was eventually deleted from that plan due to the objections raised. In the 2016 Draft Local Plan the proposal was re-introduced for a MAXIMUM development of 7000m², however in the current 2017 Draft Local Plan the proposal is for a MINIMUM of 7,000m² which could lead to a vast overdevelopment of the site with resulting negative impact on the quality of the surrounding area and the inevitable increase in traffic problems, particularly when considered with the many local developments currently being put forward in the 2017 Draft Local Plan and as stated above.

The proposed development would be detrimental to the existing residential properties along this section of the London Road by way of increased noise, traffic, environmental and visual impact, including the potential for parked lorries and trailers when arriving at the site ‘out of hours’.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

POLICY P2 – GREEN BELT – SEND BUSINESS PARK OMISSION

- It is noted in paragraph 4.3.15 that it is intended to inset (exclude) a number of developed sites from the Green Belt, Send Business Park in Tannery Lane being one of them even though there are no ‘Special Circumstances’ put forward to justify this.
- The site is a non-conforming use within the Green Belt however this alone does not justify its exclusion from the Green Belt, in fact there are a myriad of such sites throughout the entire National Green Belt.
- The site is NOT a major developed site within the Green Belt and therefore does not warrant exclusion. The group of existing buildings is not excessive and is surrounded by open fields and the River Wey Navigation therefore the site has an open character (an essential characteristic referred to in Policy P2 paragraph 4.3.12 and 14) and makes an important contribution to the Green Belt.
- If exclusion of this site from the Green Belt designation is intended to promote further development, residential or commercial, then this will only serve to increase the problems of traffic congestion and highway safety along Tannery Lane and its junctions with Polseden Lane and Send Road particularly at peak flow times.

I trust that the above objections are self-explanatory and I would be grateful if the Council and the Planning Inspectorate would carefully consider the points raised in relation to the proposed alterations made to the 2017 Draft Local Plan and in securing a positive future for Guildford Borough and its residents.

I object to the lack of provision for schooling, health provision, water/drainage requirements. Large developments cause difficulties in disposal of surplus water which cannot drain through concrete.

The scheme is unnecessarily large and will cause a huge, irreversible loss of Green belt and open space, and cause many infrastructure problems, particularly traffic and access.

I hope that our fears and concerns will be completely and thoroughly considered.

I am writing in order to register my objection to the above proposal, and emphasise the unacceptable impact it would have on our community.

While I do accept the need for additional housing on a modest scale; definitely not the huge number proposed. This would double the size and completely change the character of our village – without including necessary amenities.

I see no plan for the provision of medical surgeries, shops, pubs, or facilities for young people. Indeed local services would not cope with the magnitude of the proposed expansion; my cottage is already subject to electricity cuts.

I challenge the view to build a new Secondary School: The need is not proven - our current schools are under subscribed. The Head teachers of both Ash moor and Kings say no new school is necessary. Indeed they would co – operate in building extensions if, as and when necessary.

An enormous transport issue would result. Westwood and Glaziers are rural lanes including Grade 2 listed houses and would be unable to cope with the influx of 12/1500 pupils and 1100 houses! The railway bridge would also be an issue re height and route visibility. Existing road links A323 Guildford Road is currently saturated. School Lane with Wyke Primary School is already a dangerous spot.

Glaziers Lane already has sewage issues in respect to flooding:

Our environment is under the protection of the Thames Heath Basin considering the ecology of wildlife and prevention of light pollution.

I sincerely hope that Normandy’s voice is heard. The above proposal is clearly against the wishes and best interests of our existing community.

I trust it will not be taken forward.

I object strongly to the building on green belt if started where would it stop.

I object strongly to the new interchange at burnt common the by pass was built to do exactly that, bypass the villages. The road cannot be widened to take traffic plus Clandon road two large vehicles cannot pass in certain parts of this road plus send rd could not take extra traffic.

I object strongly to building houses on the greenbelt land and a industrial space at Garlick's Arch, I have lived here 50 years and know that land can flood also cannot build under Pylons where would all this extra traffic go as often it comes to a standstill now roads are in an appauling state also this field grows corn etc.

I object to houses = 2 travellers pitches send hill as once again very small narrow roads for traffic who will be responsible for rubbish and spoilt countryside from travellers pitches which always happens, I have seen this before.

I would like to ask as it is at the moment my grandson could not get into any of the 4 schools requested so now he will have to be driven to school and also his sister where they have a school within walking distance which my grand daughter does now she is 7 he is 4. So where are all these other children going to school. Perhaps this is why obesity is here?

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I strongly object to the proposals regarding the building of 1100 new homes and a school, in our very rural village of Normandy, as documented in the local plan.

Some of the reasons for my objection are:

I do not believe there to be a genuine need for a new secondary school in this area. Several of the existing schools are under subscribed, and some by a large number. In total the number of places available at these existing schools exceeds those that would be provided by a new school.

The land in question is green belt. This would seem to be yet another way to bend the rules and allow planning as an 'exception'. The exception being created by the need for the school. Surely for this to be the case a new school should be needed to educate the existing population of the area. The idea here seems to be that building 1100 new home may give rise to the need for a new school, which surely means that allowing a developer permission to build houses, thus creating this need, is somewhat loosely applying the exceptions rules.
Some years ago Normandy Parish Council, in association with GBC, commissioned a housing needs survey to establish whether there was a need for affordable housing in Normandy. Having analysed this report it was clearly flawed and did not actually represent the needs of our community. The reliance of this report allowed developers planning permission, on green belt land, under the rural exception policy. I understand that analysis of the SHMA that GBC are relying on to demonstrate the need for 1100 house in Normandy has led to very similar findings. Once again it seems clear that this whole proposal is being led by a developer.

The land in question was not identified as a potential development site in the previous local plan. Inclusion in the current plan seems to be wholly developer led. I suspect that councils up and down the country are considering proposals for new schools from developers as it is the latest loophole to be exploited.

Finally I object because we are not talking about a few houses along the road. If you allow this development it will be to destroy all that we love about Normandy. I accept that it would be more convenient to have a shop, or a pub, or even a post office. However, if these things are only possible by creating a town where we once had a lovely village, then I prefer to continue to do without.

Please do not allow this development on our green belt.

Last week I had the pleasure of seeing some wonderful areas of Guildford in particular Ripley, while I was a passenger on business I didn’t know Guildford had green, hills, and lots of cyclists and some amazing old historical buildings ……., while I was a passenger on business,

I do not live in the area so I require this entire information to be deemed “Independent”, I also do not know any members of the Council or the Community, Therefore this information is completely of the intent to ensure that the information I have digested from both standing cases of pro and cons to be re-evaluated as there is “gaps”

The gaps are a duty of the CEO of Guildford Borough Council “Community Obligations” & his or hers “Executives” as per the clearly cited information surrounding the Health Act 2007 and questions to the party and executive responsible as per special meetings headed on the 8 April 2010 “in ensuring “all” processes are complied with especially around the laws within the Environmental Act 1990”

This bringing a question that over arches any movements on the planning “ A change of lead to area responsibility “

To ensure a fair process has be complied with a request for special resolutions under the companies act 2006 must be considered “after the following evidence has been brought to committee to re-evaluate strategy “
1. Evidence the soil governance has been complied with with pre testing of toxins already held within the soils, noting there is plans for the Industrial and Homes, it needs to “prove” there will be no wider impact on the soils variations and the key point that an area so large effects the light energy that the land needs to create oxygenation which in laymen terms means “our air quality”

2. Evidence that the homes are “not” going to contribute further to Carbon Emissions [CO2] impact and how this will be presented for validations based on all sources of manufacturing production and installation involved and their own standing Carbon reduction Policies and process “by law” and inline with relevant ISO carried with the processes to ensure any impacts are minimal - I doubt this can be evidenced back to back to the council

3. The Increase of transport Carbon Emissions on top of an area that already has a massive “unknown” air quality issue from the M25 and interconnecting city functions of commuter traffic which in some cases makes tourism of the natural beauty to be at risk in the future in particular how the next generation in the area will cope with the heavy emissions impacts

4. How is the Carbon emissions going to be controlled from the Property Owners and UK corporate Governance of which holds heavy policy in which they must adhere to before just building a site to profit

5. What thermally efficient materials are being proposed on the site[s] and what measures will be technically adopted to Prove A a pre and post “should the site be granted on all evidence of the above being provided and legal “

6. Where was the process to the community being involved in the Councils Planning which by law states a committee approval process

7. who are the industrial buildings being built for and “said contractor emissions “ and what value is the interest to the companies profits, and what percentage is being proposed to give back to the community on top of evidence to points 1-6 should the site go ahead to enable planting “triple” to the damages of what will most certainly create an additional risk of carbon footprint/damage to greenery that produces oxygen content and photosynthesis to “clean air of breathable damaging toxins” and scientifically proven in the “East of England with the Borough or Kings Lynn and West Norfolk “Nelson Country” -

Environmental Acts in-line with added value and compliance to Air, Light, Soil, and Noise governance and extract Pollution(s) risks overarched by the impact of Carbon emissions that require good practice and sustainability to comply with all elements of this Sustainability Policy

<td>We object to the 2016 draft local plan. Living in Burpham gives us great access to the local green belt that we feel will be lost for ever if the proposals for the 6000 homes go ahead in the areas close to us. In particular the closest Gosden Hill's allowance of upto 2000 homes will take the defined edge of Guildford's urban boundary out across the green belt and essentially join the villages of Clandon, Send, horsey and Ripley together over time. This loss of open space around Guildford will cause Guildford to loose its identity and space for many to enjoy on foot, bike, horse etc. There appears to be a disproportionate level of development identified for this side of the city</td>

Our second objection is regarding the local infrastructure. We are far from convinced that the proposed road improvements to cope with the planned developments are adequate. The addition of some 6000 homes to this area of the borough will inevitably add massively to the number of cars using both the A3 trunk road and the local roads in Burpham and into the town centre. Driving to work as we do we have noticed over the last 10 years a huge increase in traffic and the A3 simply cannot cope any longer with queues regularly reaching back to before the Burpham exit and the London road toward Guildford constantly moves at a snail's pace. Even weekend traffic is now becoming noticeably heavier and a slight incident such as an accident or heavy rain brings the whole road network to a standstill extremely quickly.

As it is at present, the traffic during the 'rush hours' is almost continuous with long tailbacks at every junction, the parking in the village is becoming beyond a joke and to get a local doctor's appointment when you need one is just a matter of luck!!

I would therefore like to register my strong objection to removal of the Green Belt status of this and surrounding villages.

The Metropolitan Green Belt was set up in 1935 to control urban growth around London. In 1947 this was extended to local authorities in the Town and Country Planning Act. In 1955 the Minister of Housing encouraged local authorities around the country to do the same. Chilworth thankfully is included in this Green Belt, if this were to be removed unscrupulous developers with no other interest other than to make a 'fast buck' and move on would be given access to the land around our villages to cover them in thousands of houses as this would be considered 'approved in principal' outside the Green Belt. No thought as to how our local doctors, schools and road infrastructure should cope has been given, the roads in particular around my village of Chilworth are in a deplorable state requiring total rebuilding in some places not just a splash of Tarmac and a heavy boot to settle it down as seems to be the usual system!

I write to register my objection to the Guildford local plan 2016.

Now more than ever before the green belt is essential to us all. To remove the protection it provides in safeguarding the "lungs" of the country would mean its demise for evermore.

People of all walks of life, all ages, all interests flock to enjoy the advantageous effects it provides. In so doing many small and cottage industries thrive. People use the green belt to walk, cycle, fish. It makes money for transport companies too, and provides opportunities for local schools to provide extra curricular activities cheaply and conveniently.

Obviously I want the green belt to continue to be protected for us all, town and country folk alike but in addition I want any councillors involve to look deep into themselves: please do not remove this protection of the green belt because it's the easiest thing to do; because you can't be bothered to use your heads to think of the alternatives, and most ESPECIALLY because it will fill the council coffers with easy money.

The Council will not publish the SHMA report, so the figure cannot be verified. This lack of transparency is not right for consultation on the Plan. The number is not credible as it is more than double the figure of 322 used in previous plans.

GBC have removed a brownfield site at Burnt Common replaced it with Garlick's Arch, despite the preference for previously developed land in the Plan.

The site is not appropriate because:

- It floods regularly
- There is no adequate public transport, and no plans to improve local roads
- GBC do not propose to improve local schools, medical or utilities to cope
- It has ancient woodland and is home to many wildlife There is no wildlife report for the site.

I object to the proposed on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The local communities do not need North facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common; these would draw in a huge amount of 'through' traffic, for example all traffic from London/M25 to Woking would go through Burnt Common. The villages do not need this and this is not sustainable as the roads cannot be improved.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the Plan's approach to leisure and visitor experience.

Guildford has many "leisure and visitor attractions" already. The case for creating more is not made in the Plan and no examples are given. The borough's prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, needs to be protected from inappropriate development. The presumption in favour of development would lead to overdevelopment, and heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I object due to the increased traffic and congestion that development will cause to the village roads.

In Ripley, Send and Glandon, there is already far too much traffic. The proposals will cause more traffic and congestion. 5000 more houses in this area of narrow rural roads, which are not planned to be improved is dangerous as many are bad condition and have no facilities for pedestrians or cyclists.

The rural roads in this area are narrow, in poor condition and have no footpaths. 5000 more houses means dangerous and unsustainable traffic.

I object to the increased congestion on the trunk roads, A3/M25.

The M25 and A3 are overloaded. Highways England has no plans to consider improvements on the A3. No improvements are planned to A3 or M25 before any development is done and this is contrary to the stated aim of the plan so the developments at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick's Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), should not take place.

The Plan does not take adequate account of flood risk. The Environment Agency have assessed Garlick's Arch (A43) is as being in a higher risk of flooding than the Council's own assessment. As a local resident I know this area floods regularly and in fact even flooded this SUMMER! The council's assessment is not good enough to be included in the plan.

There is too much development in the north east of the borough (Wisley [A35], Ripley/Send (A43) and Glandon [A25]). 36% of all the Plan's new housing is proposed in this area, which has only 11% of the existing housing.

I write to register my objection to the Guildford local plan 2016.

Now more than ever before the green belt is essential to us all. To remove the protection it provides in safeguarding the "lungs" of the country would mean its demise for evermore. People of all walks of life, all ages, all interests flock to enjoy the advantageous effects it provides.

I understand that you have financial issues, however this is entirely of your making due to your short vision proposals. Inefficient spending is plain to see, for example the cheap and poor quality of resurfacing roads, that requires more maintenance and money in the long run. Another example, resurfacing a road and then soon after ripping it up to access the plumbing. Another example, increasing council taxes to a level so high that local businesses cannot survive.

If housing was built in these areas, how do you suggest you will gain access to further capital to pay for the services and maintenance? Its not just a case of getting money from the companies wanting to build and taxes. You will eventually be spending more, its obvious. Sure you will get cash in your pocket initially, but you will soon realise this money has run dry and you will be looking into further short term methods to get a quick buck. It only takes a complete and utter blind idiot to decide that money in the pocket is better than a sustainable and more prosperous future.

There are much more sustainable and creative methods that can be utilised. How about you think logically and try to develop on what we already have? For example, encourage local businesses with lower taxes? If this is mainly a housing issue, try to find better ways of fulfilling your requirements rather than trying to take the quick and easy option. There is no reason why further development in urban areas is a problem. Guildford town is not densely populated and it can be easily argued that its land (especially housing areas) has been used inefficiently, especially considering that its supposed to be the main town or city of Surrey.
Now lets talk about the environmental and ecological effect. You are talking about destroying everything that this planet needs to stop taking for granted, and after a few hundred years of destruction, people are starting to realise this. The environment is not just a canvas for development.

I sincerely hope you don't just count these objections, please read them, every one. People are passionate about this matter,

I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick's Arch (A43)

Garlick's Arch is protected from development as Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for it's removal from the Green Belt (Policy P2). Central Government state clearly that housing need is not an exceptional circumstance.

The Plan states the preference is to use of previously developed land, but GBC have replaced a sustainable brownfield site at Burnt Common with Garlick's Arch.

The site is not appropriate because:

- There is no sustainable transport
- The site is liable to frequent flooding
- The site has Ancient woodland and is a wildlife habitat, but no wildlife report for the site is in the
- There are no plans to improve local schools, medical or utilities to cope.
- The Draft Local Plan Infrastructure schedule does not provide for this site at all

Furthermore, no Section 18 consultation took place on this site prior to this site's inclusion in the plan.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )

I object to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common.

The proposed North facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would have disastrous effect on the local communities of Send, Ripley and Clandon (which do need to access the A3 to the north) but the addition will draw in a huge amount of 'through' traffic. For example, all the traffic from London/M25 going towards Woking would go through Burnt Common, Send and Old Woking, which would cause immeasurable damage to these villages.

This is not sustainable as this cannot be improved as these local roads are too confined to have their capacity significantly increased, even if this were desirable, which it is clearly not.

I object to the damage to the environment because of the scale of the proposed development.

The Garlick's Arch (A43) proposal would double the built land area in the locality, and would irrevocably damage the local environment. There is Ancient Woodland on the site and this cannot be adequately protected if the site were to be built on.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

There is no need for new industrial sites at Garlick's Arch (A43). There is an existing brownfield industrial site at Burnt Common that could easily accommodate the 7,000 sq m proposed. That site was removed from the Plan without any reasoning.

Furthermore the development at Garlick's Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been for there decades employing local people and are therefore clearly sustainable.

I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure.

The villages of Ripley and Send already suffer from severe congestion for much of the day. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites.

The Plan does not identify adequate infrastructure improvements to support the huge scale of development, especially at Garlick's Arch (A43) which has no infrastructure projects in the Infrastructure Schedule to support it. Local services, utilities and sewerage, doctors etc are at or close to capacity.
There are no plans to improve the capability of the medical and police/emergency services to cover the 5000+ houses in the north east of the borough.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25.

The A3 or M25 would have to be improved before any development is done. Highways England has no plans in its current schedule even to start considering improving the A3. Many of the main "plans" are "aspirational" (i.e. they have no basis, and should be discounted and excluded.

Clearly no real improvements are possible in the timeframe of this Plan, so the Plan is undeliverable and developments at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick's Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), should not take place.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to poor air quality concerns.

The huge developments being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion and to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health.

I object to not protecting the Green Belt

Central government's National Planning Policy Framework requires there to be exceptional circumstances for Green Belt boundary changes and for development within the Green Belt. It also states that housing need is not an exceptional circumstance.

I object to removing Ripley and Send from the Green Belt, together with sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick's Arch (A43) and the resulting urban sprawl. There are no exceptional circumstances for these villages and sites being removed.

The Plan should develop the existing brownfield site for light industrial use at Burnt Common rather than developing Garlick's Arch (A43).

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I object the development in areas which are at risk of flooding.

The Plan does not take adequate account of flood risk as required by National Planning Policy.

The site at Garlick's Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency's flood map as being in a Flood Zone 3 from a river (means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year - this is the highest risk category). Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council's SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 (meaning having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding - that is one tenth of the probability assessed by the Environment Agency!).

This site often floods during the winter months and has flooded as recently as this summer 2016. Clearly the Council's SFRA is not fit for purpose and so invalidates the local plan for such sites.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the Local Plan as the development proposed is not sustainable.

13,860 new houses proposed is not sustainable, and not required by the local communities on which they are being inflicted. Many communities, especially Ripley, Send and Clandon would be damaged by over development. The nearest train stations to Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick's Arch (A43) are miles away and talk of new railway stations is fanciful. So most houses will have two cars - so another 30,000 cars in the borough! The Plan has nothing to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch.

The development should be in urban areas where there is sustainable transport.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the Borough Wide Strategy.

There is too much development in Wisley (A35) Ripley/Send (A43)-and clandon (A25). The plan is unbalanced with over 5,000 houses proposed between M25 and Burpham, which will merge all the villages and their identities. This is unfair and unreasonable.

Why doesn't GBC apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure as all the other Borough Councils in Surrey do? The figures are not credible.

As a Burpham resident, I object to the 2016 draft local plan. The proposed developments in the Gosden Hill farm area in particular appear to completely disregard the importance of conserving green belt land. The plan proposes a disproportionate level of development in one area of the borough with a complete lack of evidence for the alleged demand for this amount of housing. Similarly, the plan as it stands contains a lack of specific details about essential infrastructure, especially as there is already a recognised existing deficit.

We have lived in Guildford for a long time and hope to raise our children in the village of Burpham, however if implemented in its current form, this plan will make Burpham unrecognisable from how it is today. I find it very disappointing that this proposal has the potential to significantly change the locality, yet has been put forward with minimal time for consultation with the people who live and work locally to contribute their view.

My name is [Response has been redacted due to statement containing personal data which cannot be disclosed due to the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998].

I wish to object to this development on the grounds of that the size of the development, the fact that it is to be built on contaminated land of a former landfill site which if disturbed could be detrimental to our health and well being.

Send Hills infrastructure is insufficient for such a large development.

We would lose a lovely amenity that is enjoyed by many

I am concerned about the potential flooding risk

I am concerned about Send losing its Green Belt status.
As a resident of Send Hill, I would like to object to the above development of 40 houses and two travellers pitches on the following grounds:

1. The site is an inappropriate location due to the narrow width of the single country road.
2. The proposed land contains documented contaminated landfill waste registered at Guildford BC and could cause danger to health and well being if disturbed.
3. If this land is disturbed, it could have an impact on the geological structure of the area including the water table.
4. The development will have an impact on nature and the ecological structure within the area i.e. Nature reserve.
5. The overall infrastructure within the immediate area is already stretched to capacity.

Overall, this development will have a negative effect on village/community life and would be grateful if my objections could be documented and recorded.

I live in Woking but reside in West Horsley each weekend as my father lives in the village, and I wish to object to the proposed plan.

The intended proposal is not appropriate as it will seriously impact on the local infrastructure of the village and the quality of life of the local residents. I strongly object to this development.

It is already extremely difficult to park at Horsley station and the shops and during the week these areas are full with cars and traffic, and any increase would make these areas impossible for local residents to use.

The current medical centre is extremely busy and it takes several weeks to get an appointment and the planned population increase would not be sustainable. The current medical provision in the village would be unable to cope with extra demand.

The waste water network is also unlikely to be able to cope with the demand created by the proposed developments.

1. I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Appendix D: Evidence base
1. I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
- failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
- issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
- flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
- It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

1. I OBJECT to Gosden Hill development being in the Local Plan. The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

1. I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43)

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)
Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

1. I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

1. POLICY E6 - The leisure and visitor experience

I OBJECT. Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for over-development/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a SouthWest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

I trust that the objections made above are fully taken into consideration and that the Plan is amended accordingly.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT(POLICY H1 – Homes for all) Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT This is a Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove "exceptional circumstances."

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT in the strongest possible terms to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016). This Plan is unsustainable, unworkable and, in many provisions, unnecessary.

I set out below my objections to specific policies and matters within the Plan.

1. I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example The Street in West Clandon and Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and West Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from severe traffic congestion. Much of West Clandon is deemed by Guildford Borough Council to be a Conservation Area and we residents are required to abide by those rules. Is not GBC also duty bound to protect and conserve the area? Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added pollution and risk to injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon, The Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles have, of necessity, to mount the pavement. With a primary school, two pubs and a children’s playground, quite clearly the village should be protected from, and not be forced to take yet more, traffic.

10. I OBJECT to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1)

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

11. I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

1. I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

1. I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

I OBJECT to the proposals to remove the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, together with sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43). National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) and the land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken Green Belt is lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached. GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.
Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

1. I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
1. I OBJECT to the Local Plan as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are just unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

2. The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

3. The Housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

4. The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.
These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guildford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

1. I object to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report, which says that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, which is more than double the figure of 322 used in previous plans.

But because the Council will not publish the SHMA report, this figure cannot be verified. This lack of transparency is not right for consultation on the Plan.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43)

Garlick’s Arch is protected from development as Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for it’s removal from the Green Belt (Policy P2). Central Government state clearly that housing need is not an exceptional circumstance.

The Plan states the preference is to use of previously developed land, but GBC have removed a brownfield site at Burnt Common replaced it with Garlick’s Arch.

The site is not appropriate because:

• There is no sustainable transport infrastructure.
• The site is liable to frequent flooding
• The site has Ancient woodland and is a wildlife habitat, but no wildlife report for the site is in the Plan.

There are no plans to improve local schools, medical or utilities to cope.

I object to the employment strategy and impact at Garlick’s Arch (A43) (Policies E2 and E5)

There is no need for new industrial sites at Garlick’s Arch (A43). There is an existing brownfield industrial site at Burnt Common that could easily accommodate the 7,000 sq m proposed. That site was removed from the Plan without any reasoning.

Furthermore the development at Garlick’s Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been for there decades employing local people and are therefore clearly sustainable.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

1. I object to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

North facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities, which do need to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic. E.g. all traffic from London/M25 to Woking would go through Burnt Common, Send and Old Woking. This is not sustainable as this cannot be improved. This will impact massively in relation to quality of life and safety, pollution and noise.

The Plan does not identify adequate infrastructure improvements to support the huge scale of development, especially at Garlick’s Arch (A43) which has no infrastructure projects in the Infrastructure Schedule to support it. The A3 or M25 would have to be improved before any development is done. Highways England has no plans to even start considering improving the A3 before 2020. Clearly no real improvements are possible in the timeframe of this Plan so the developments at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), should not take place.

Objections to Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016)

I object very strongly to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016).

These are my main reasons/ I object on these grounds / …

1. I object to the Local Plan as the development proposed is not sustainable (Policy S1)

13,860 new houses proposed is not sustainable – it will damage local communities by over development, especially Ripley, Send and Clandon. The local communities don’t need these houses. Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) have no railway stations and inadequate bus services, so almost every adult will have to have a car. The Plan has nothing to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch.

The development should be in urban areas where there is sustainable transport.

POLICIES A37, A38, A40 & A41, located in West Horsley

The LAA identifies six sites in West Horsley for potential development, the four largest having allocation policies within the Proposed Submission Local Plan. The total housing number arising from these six sites is 405 homes in total. For a village which had 1,124 dwellings at the 2011 Census, this represents a proportional increase of 36% over the plan period, an enormously high proportion by any standards.

It is also contrary to the opening statement of Local Plan Policy P2 that “We will continue to protect the Metropolitan Green Belt” It seems that in West and East Horsley at least the draft Local Plan is doing exactly the opposite.

Given the scale of the development proposed in West Horsley, the inevitable destruction of its village character and the impact on infrastructure across West and East Horsley, I object to the site allocation policies A37, A38, A40 and A41.

POLICY A35: Land at former Wisley Airfield

Policy A35 proposes approximately 2,000 homes to be built on the site of the former Wisley Airfield. This will lead to the creation of the largest settlement in Guildford Borough outside of Guildford town. In effect it is proposing to create a New Town in the heart of the Surrey Green Belt.

I consider this proposed development to be a severe contravention of Metropolitan Green Belt policy. It will result in a New Town being created of very low sustainability which will have a major adverse impact on infrastructure across a widespread area, including East and West Horsley.

It will impact on the sewage system, already at capacity, on the two railway stations where daytime parking is at capacity and on the shops of East and West Horsley where parking is nearing capacity, on the roads/lanes already severely damaged and narrow, on the medical services available and on the wildlife of the area.

Above all it will cause irreversible destruction to the character of one of the most picturesque and historic areas of the country. I object to policy A35

HOUSING POLICIES

POLICY H2: Affordable Homes

I support the general principle that developers should be required to contribute part of their development profit towards the cost of social housing in the borough. However I object to this policy as GBC have taken no regard to the differences in affordable housing need across the borough. Under Policy H2, 40% of all but the smallest development sites in East and West Horsley will be required to have affordable housing built upon them, irrespective of whether there is actually demand for more social housing in that area. Moreover, the affordable housing targets proposed in the Proposed Submission Local Plan indicate that the biggest component of affordable housing (40%) should be built as 1-bed dwellings despite the fact that GBC’s own studies show that the strongest affordable demand in the borough is actually for larger 3-bed dwellings.

As a result of this flawed affordable housing policy, a significant volume of social housing is likely to be built in places where it is not needed and offered to tenants who do not want to live there nor have jobs near that location.

INFRASTRUCTURE POLICIES

POLICIES I1, I2 & I3

I object to these policies as there are serious deficiencies and shortcomings in the infrastructure of Guildford Borough as it is today and that the aggressive housing policy as proposed by GBC in the Proposed Submission Local Plan will exacerbate this problem.

Roads across the Horsleys are in poor condition with many potholes. Many roads are unable to sustain their current levels of traffic, particularly the increasing levels of HGV traffic.

The principal through roads are narrow and winding, have a series of pinch points, have sections without any pavements and are generally unlit. They are really lanes not roads at all.

Many of the drains are blocked or otherwise in poor condition giving rise to frequent surface water flooding when it rains.

The pavements are in poor condition. As well as being narrow, they are often uneven and/or cracked making it difficult, for example, for people with pushchairs or prams or in wheelchairs.

There are insufficient school spaces for the number of local children needing them, with the result that children are often allocated to schools a significant distance away such as Dorking or Woking.

The Medical Centre in East Horsley is already at capacity in terms of its number of patients.
The Horsleys are served by a single primary school, The Raleigh, in West Horsley. Planning guidance suggest that this number of new homes will require the provision of around 150 additional primary school places to accommodate such an increase in population. Today there is no spare capacity at The Raleigh, yet no proposals are made in the Proposed Submission Local Plan to provide for any more schooling in the Horsleys.

I believe that the failure to address the inadequacies of the existing infrastructure to meet the needs of what is there already is a serious deficiency in the Proposed Submission Local Plan.

I therefore object to the infrastructure proposals on these grounds

POLICY P2: Green Belt

Local Plan Policy P2 states that: We will continue to protect the Metropolitan Green Belt. I support this policy.

Yet GBC appears to be in breach of this policy itself through the housing policies that it has set out in the Local Plan as around 65% of the developments proposed in the Proposed Submission Local Plan are to be built on land currently within the Metropolitan Green Belt. This is outrageous.

Proposal to inset East and West Horsley from the Green Belt and make Settlement Boundary Changes

I object to these proposals

East and West Horsley are set in a rural location and have the look and feel of a rural villages. Green Belt status has been a key factor in preserving that character. GBC attributes the need to inset East and West Horsley to NPPF requirements, arguing that the test for remaining ‘washed over’ is that the village should make an important contribution to the openness of the Green Belt. This both Horsleys clearly do as around a third is composed of woodlands. Woodlands and large residential gardens make a vital contribution towards biodiversity, provide wildlife corridors, and furnish those open spaces which are vital to the character of the greenbelt. It is one thing for a planner to study a map and see a settlement area filled with housing, but it is quite another actually to come to rural villages like the Horsleys and see how the Green Belt has preserved their rural character and openness.

Today East and West Horsley are picturesque and flourishing rural communities, which continue to experience steady incremental growth as a result of being ‘washed over’ by the Green Belt.

Proposal to remove Wisley Airfield from the Green Belt

I object to the proposal to remove Wisley Airfield from the Green Belt. The only justification for this proposed change is unfulfilled housing need which is not considered an exceptional circumstance.

re Proposed Submission Local Plan

I have serious concerns about the local plan and the evidence and assumptions that support it, consequently I have serious objections to many of the policies listed. I do not agree with the scale of the house building programme which is being proposed by GBC. The target outlined represents a 25% increase in the housing stock of the borough, yet the Office of National Statistics (“ONS”) projects a population increase of only 15% for Guildford Borough over this same period.

I also note that the Proposed Submission Local Plan includes the statement “We will continue to protect the Metropolitan Green Belt”. I fully support this policy. However, GBC appears to be in breach of this same policy through the housing policies it has set out in the Proposed Submission Local Plan, whereby some 65% of developments will be made on land that is currently Green Belt.

I am also concerned that the infrastructure proposals are inadequate even to meet the needs of what is there at the moment, nevermind the proposed developments in the Local Plan.

POLICY S2: Borough Wide Strategy

I object to the policy of adding 13,860 new homes to Guildford Borough over the 2013-2033 period of the Proposed Submission Local Plan, equating to an annual build of 693 new homes per annum.

I have serious concerns about the enormous scale of this building programme, which represents a net increase of 25% in the housing stock of Guildford Borough. Yet the official statisticians at the Office of National Statistics (“ONS”) are projecting a population increase of some 15% for Guildford Borough over this same period.

I believe GBC has voluntarily chosen to pursue a policy of aggressive civic and economic expansion which underpins all of the housing policies in the Local Plan. In short, the difference between the official statisticians’ forecasts and GBC’s target of a 25% increase in housing stock is entirely down to a political choice made by GBC.

I object to the high number of homes proposed. The overall reduction in the borough is only 5.6% and 12,426 homes is still excessively high and probably no longer justified.

While visiting Compton yesterday I found a rather emotive flyer tucked under my car windscreen and wish to respond.

The development appears well planned and aimed at providing affordable housing and facilities for real working people who are the backbone of our society. They deserve somewhere to live, too.

I have recently spent quite a bit of time in the Royal Surrey Hospital and people such as nurses deserve to have affordable, attractive and convenient housing. They may be having long commutes from out of the area to work at the hospital now and so their cars are already causing pollution which would be lessened if they were able to live and work locally.

The university is a vast contributor to the economy of Guildford as well as having a growing international importance and there should be suitable housing for its employees too.

We are writing to you to express our objection to the following plans for Send Village and the surrounding area:

We object to Send village being removed from the Green Belt:

As Send residents, we object to our village being removed from the Green Belt. The Green Belt was intended to be permanent and we have received local election assurances that promised this would be the case. Clearly this promise will not be upheld if the LP goes ahead. Our Green Belt is any area of natural beauty and keeps the towns of Woking and Guildford separate, divided by locally valued countryside.

We object to the building of 45 new houses at Clockbarn Nursery:

The access to this site is via Tannery Lane, a narrow single track country lane that is not designed for volumes of traffic. Planning permission has already been given for a number of apartments and a marina. This road will struggle to cope with the increase of traffic associated with these developments. Further traffic down this road will greatly increase the risk of accidents. The junction with Send Road is also already dangerous for drivers and cyclists joining the main road.

We object to the building of 400 houses and a 7,000sq metre industrial space at Garlick's Arch:

This Green Belt site is prone to flooding. Send has several flood plains which help keep our houses dry during exceptionally wet winters. By filling such a large site with an enormous base of concrete, this will surely put local residents at a higher risk of flooding - including the new proposed homes. It's essential that brownfield sites are utilised to their full potential before a Green Belt site is even considered. Expansion at Slyfield is one possibility for increasing industrial space in the borough.

We object to the building of 40 new homes and 2 traveller's pitches at Send Hill:

This location is accessed via narrow roads that make access for a volume of traffic hazardous. The roads are totally unsuitable for large vehicles such as caravans. This site also contains unsafe landfill waste (which Guildford Council is aware of) and is also an area of beautiful countryside. We believe this site should not be disturbed.

We object to a new interchange with Burntcommon and the A3:

This new interchange would have to handle the traffic for the huge number of proposed houses at Wisey Airfiled, Blackwell Farm, Burpham and Gosden Hill. Much of this traffic to and from the A3 would pass through Send. The road that runs directly past our house (Send Road) would become congested during rush hour and pollution and noise levels would increase significantly. This road is already very busy and current noise and pollution levels are already excessive.

I am a resident of Normandy village and I feel compelled to write to you with my objections to the proposed development in our village.

I object strongly to the building proposal as we are a small village with a mixed demographic in ages we do not have the requirement for a secondary school in our village and for at least the next 11 years the majority of pupils would be required to commute into the site. This would put both the rail transport and the roads (which are single traffic roads) under immense pressure. In conjunction to this to walk either way on Glaziers Lane or Westwood Lane there is not a continuous pavement if you walk from the station to the new entrance on to the proposed site you need to cross Glaziers Lane 3 times, this without the aid of any crossing patrol, to meet these requirements you would then hold up traffic travelling from Worplesdon, Wood Street and Pirbright travelling towards the Hogs Back. There are other secondary schools in this area with the capacity and traffic links to accommodate these pupils.

In addition to this I object as the size of the housing development as it is disproportionate to the size of our village doubling its population without giving any thought to the quality of anyone's life. This is a purely for profit development. It does not take into consideration the transport issues that another 2,000 adults and 1,500 secondary pupils will cause. The expansion of the road network is not possible and the stress on the 2 bridges for the railway one which is single file traffic only would bring both noise, pollution and congestion. We also have close links to the Thames Basin Heath Protection Area and a development of this magnitude will cause damage to the wildlife we work hard to preserve.

I also object as I feel that our health provision in this area would be totally inadequate. We have a doctor's surgery at Manor Fruit Farm which would be unable to deal with another 2,000 residents at its current size and there is no thought to enlarge the site. Also our A&E department and other facilities at The Royal Surrey Hospital would need enlargement to cope with this size influx. Neither of these points have been provided for with any cash provision.

I object to Guildford Borough Council’s draft Local Plan proposal to build 1,800 houses, an industrial park and a highway on the slopes of the Hog’s Back at Blackwell Farm, which will:-

• destroy views from the Hog's Back ridge - a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty
• remove 72 hectares of scenic farmland and additional ancient woodland from the green belt
• increase tailbacks on the A31 and traffic congestion
• result in ra-running through local roads
• add to Guildford's pollution

In summary and to reiterate, I object to the above plans.

POLICY A26 BLACKWELL FARM

I object to policy A26 Blackwell Farm There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints. Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Blackwell Farm performs all five functions of green belt, and fulfils purposes 1, 3 and 5 very strongly. Purpose 1 - “checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas”. There is huge pressure to develop on the western edge of Guildford; the University of Surrey has stated publicly that its key objective is to develop the whole of its landholdings, stretching west to Flexford Farm. This, combined with the indefensible boundary being proposed (a hedgerow rather than the existing belt of ancient woodland), will put more of the green belt and the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) at risk of future development. Purpose 3 “assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment” - the proposed movement of the green belt boundary on the west of Guildford to allow for development of the University in 2004 resulted in the encroachment on countryside and the loss of working farmland (including some Grade 2) at Manor Farm. The proposed future change in the boundary would result in further encroachment and the loss of farmland including further Grade 2. The proposed road development with access road from the A31 would also effectively cut off farm access to the south of the development area leading to further urban influence on this countryside. The University’s stated key objective is to develop land, which includes Chalkpit and Wildfield farms leading to the risk of further boundary change and further encroachment in future years. Purpose 5 - “assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land” Whilst all green belt assists towards this purpose, the ownership of this land by the University of Surrey with its extensive landholdings within the urban boundary (including land it leases to the Hospital and Holiday Inn, the Surrey Research Park, Hazel Farm as well as two large campuses) means that the location of Blackwell Farm within the green belt plays an even greater and direct role in encouraging the more efficient usage of urban land. Stopping development on Blackwell Farm would result in the University of Surrey investing in, and regenerating, land in its ownership and delivering its commitments following the 2003 boundary review (including 270 homes for key workers, 3,125 student residences and releasing further accommodation at Hazel Farm). The University has 17 hectares of surface car parking that could be built over with offices and flats. This is a more sustainable option than building over open farmland (largely grade 2 and 3a) within the green belt. The Blackwell Farm development would result in harm to the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), harm to an Area of Great Landscape Value (AGLV), and harm to the setting to the AONB. (Blackwell Farm forms the views into and out of the Hogs Back ridge). The NPPF is clear that AONBs should be afforded the highest level of protection in relation to landscape and scenic beauty. All development proposals within and adjacent to the AONB must conserve or enhance its special qualities. The NPPF also makes it clear that applications for major development in the AONB will be refused unless exceptional circumstances are demonstrated and the development is proven to be in the public’s interest. Guildford Borough Council has not shown that the proposed housing development or the extension of the Research Park, or the proposed link road from the A31 to Gill Avenue, is in the wider public interest. Indeed, the increased traffic through the already congested Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which would result from the development, would impede emergency vehicles travelling to the Hospital and this would be very much against public interest. GBC’S Policy P1 states that, “The Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) will be conserved and enhanced to maximise its special landscape qualities and protect it from inappropriate development. All proposals will be considered against whether they conserve and/or enhance the setting and views of the AONB”. I question how the proposal to carve a new two-lane carriageway through the AONB fits this policy, or meets para 115 of the NPPF? Finally, nearly the whole site has been identified as a “candidate area” for AONB status in the Landscape Evaluation Study commissioned by Compton, Worpleston and Wanborough parish councils. Therefore, the entire site should be treated as though it is within the AONB during this local planning process. The access to the proposed Blackwell Farm site will put additional peak hour pressure on two of Guildford’s worst congestion “hot spots”: the A31 (Hog’s Back) and the Tesco Roundabout on Gill Avenue. GBC’S proposal to create a new major route into Guildford from the west at, or close to, the Down Place private driveway, and to make this the main access to the planned Blackwell Farm development, does not appear to have been thought through. There are queues stretching back from the Farnham Road Bridge as far as the Down Place driveway entrance most weekday mornings and any traffic generated by the new development would not be able to clear the junction. In order to accommodate the volume of traffic using the new junction (generated by residents of the new housing estate, employees at the Surrey Research Park, Hospital and University, and visitors to the new school/supermarket), there would almost certainly need to be a roundabout (rather than the proposed traffic-light controlled junction) and GBC has ruled out a roundabout on grounds of landscape impact and traffic. The secondary access to the site at Gill Avenue also presents problems, and as GBC states in its Transport Assessment (14.9.5), changes planned for the Tesco roundabout will not mitigate against the increased level of traffic through the junction as a result of the Blackwell Farm development, and this in turn will impact on the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which serves the Royal Surrey County Hospital. I question whether it is responsible to allow a development that would impede emergency access to an A&E department and a major incident unit. The traffic impact resulting from the development of Blackwell Farm on the strategic road network would not appear to be properly assessed but it would be alleviated in part (but not completely) by widening the A3. However, timing and funding for this work is unclear so there would be many years of traffic chaos before any widening took place (if indeed it does). More significantly, the widening of the A3 would create noise and environmental impact on the neighbouring residential areas of Onslow Village and Beechcroft Drive and a six-lane highway would cause greater severance between Guildford and Blackwell Farm and areas to the west. The NPPF states in Section 6 para 47 that local authorities should “identify a supply of specific, developable sites or broad locations for growth, for years 6-10 and, where possible, for years 11-15”. In a footnote to this, it further adds, “To be considered developable, sites should be in a suitable location for housing development and there should be a reasonable prospect that the site is available and could be viably developed at the point envisaged.” I consider that the proposed access arrangements to Blackwell Farm are wholly inadequate for a development of this scale and thus the site cannot be “viably developed”.

I object to the removal of land from Greenbelt for the provision of two traveler pitches on Puttenham Heath Road to 'enable delivery'. I object to Policy D1 Making better places I object to the absence of any reference to vernacular or historic design guidelines, even in Conservation Areas. Most of the borough, especially the rural areas, has vernacular design guidelines that are available to give suggestions as to appropriate design. These should have mandatory planning force. The monitoring of this policy is inappropriate. Why should this policy result in a reduction of the number of appeals for poor design? Should it not result in better-designed buildings?

I object to Policy D2 Sustainable design, construction and energy. Sustainability should be an overarching ambition, conditioning the whole local plan and running through it, as claimed in the NPPF, “like a golden thread”. It should be set out clearly in Policy S1, not buried away as a minor detail in Policy D2. This policy amounts to “greenwashing”, expounding aspirational environmental targets while ignoring the plan to build dormitory towns across the Green Belt that are environmentally and socially unsustainable. These settlements will bring vastly increased car use and will lead to unacceptable traffic congestion, overstretched social infrastructure, and more greenhouse gas emissions, noise and light pollution. This policy should not be just about saving energy but about preserving the borough’s stock of natural capital, especially the countryside, from attempts to rig the housing market. This policy’s emphasis on Combined Cooling Heating and Power and communal heating networks is difficult to understand, since no such networks are available locally.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy D3 Historic Environment

This policy clashes with the strongly pro-development agenda of the rest of the plan and fails to address the contradiction. History is unamenable to improvement, so the policy should commit the Council firmly to protecting and preserving our heritage assets from development. Instead, the specific policy pledge to “support development” that might “enhance” heritage assets leaves wide scope for abuse in the form of destructive commercialisation and financial leveraging of relevant sites. This policy is based on the false premise that Guildford’s heritage is inherently in decay. This is a developer’s charter – a short step away from the idea that the historic environment needs to pay its way to be preserved. The Council’s reviews of Guildford Museum and the Electric Theatre support this interpretation. Whatever the “reasoned justification”, the actual policy wording in the blue box leaves too many loopholes. Development close to historical assets is harmful and should be expressly prohibited. This policy fails to meet the requirements of NPPF paragraphs 126 and 131-133.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy D4 Development in urban areas and inset villages This policy that does not address the opportunity for building in the urban area The plan envisages that 40% of homes built will be “affordable”, but this does not provide any accommodation for low-paid workers, for example, those on the minimum wage, who cannot afford to buy so-called “affordable” homes or pay an “affordable” rent. There is a need for some expansion in social housing, especially in urban areas, where there is a greater concentration of low-paid workers such as those employed in the retail, warehousing and distribution sectors (all of which this plan aspires to expand). The number of homes planned in the urban area is much too low. There is a glaring need for regeneration in many urban areas, particularly Guildford Town Centre but this is ignored in favour of building homes on green-field sites instead. This will not address urban housing needs. It is also unsustainable, since building outside the town does disproportionate harm to road traffic, air quality and overstretched infrastructure. The plan envisages a large expansion of the retail sector, but this is hard to justify because the sector is in rapid and continuous decline.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

THE BROWNFIELD OPPORTUNITY Yes, we need a new Local Plan for our borough in order to provide a development strategy within which we can accommodate our local housing, economic and environmental needs. But first we must make good use of our urban brownfield before we consider building in the Green Belt or countryside. Paragraph 80 of the NPPF clearly states that Green Belt serves a key purpose, “to assist in urban regeneration, by encouraging the recycling of derelict land and other urban land”. In order to comply with central planning policy we need a brownfield strategy that states clearly. “We are committed to a brownfield first initiative whereby all applications on previously developed land are given fast track priority and every facility to promote development for residential purposes and employment purposes in order to satisfy the needs of local people. In parallel a low CIL incentive should be given for all residential development on brownfield land. In response to the detailed objections received in the Regulation 18 process of the 2014 Local Plan and also in accordance with government policy a Guildford brownfield land register should be urgently compiled showing address, ownership, occupier, current use and detailed planning brief. Perhaps someone could be appointed at GBC with a clear briefing to deliver brownfield targets of housing and employment space. GBC needs to accelerate the residential redevelopment at Woodbridge Meadows, Walnut Tree Close and the Station within the next 5 years. GBC needs to examine the residential development opportunity of the 25.7 acres of car parks in GBC ownership. I do not consider that the target of 1,172 homes in the town centre takes account of the need and demand for housing or the opportunities that brownfield sites present for increasing the residential development in the core of the town which will in itself help to sustain the retail core by increased economic impact. The Town Centre policy needs to maximise the potential for residential development on brownfield and include as an absolute minimum the 2,551 units proposed in by Allies and Morrison for the town centre included in the masterplan 2015 which has recently been adopted by GBC. The reality is that the Town Centre has the capacity for significantly more homes. See details on GGG website - Guildford Greenbelt Group

I object to policy E1 sustainable employment. I note that there is a significant reduction of between 71% and 79% in the previous job target and resultant 79% reduction in employment space in response to the many objections lodged in 2014 against an unsubstantiated agenda for economic expansion in the last draft and based on new findings by Aecom in the latest ELNA 2015. I have concern as to the ill-informed clustering of all B classes in terms of the clarity of market evidence required to inform effective planning and a failure to provide a clear understanding of business needs required under Section 160 of the NPPF. I also note the dramatic reduction in assessed demand by two Employment Land Needs Assessment Reports carried out under the same terms of reference within a period of 2 years which calls into question the general reliability of the process of collection and interpretation of data in the overall forward planning process by GBC. I am concerned however that the research undertaken by Aecom is generally superficial and lacks sufficient detail and analysis between B1a, B1b, B1c, B2 and B8 use classes and that no reliable individual analysis has been undertaken of the widely different supply and demand dynamics of office, research and development, light industrial, general industrial and warehousing and distribution floor space. No proper analysis has been made of data held by GBC in respect of different B classes in terms of planning applications granted or evidence gathered by the economic development function at GBC and no robust assessment of local market demand apart from fairly brief references to freely available market research undertaken by commercial estate agents such as Lambert Smith Hampton covering a much wider area. GBC appear to fail to appreciate the fundamental rationale of the Use Classes Order as a planning tool in terms of useful property market research or forward planning. What we are left with is a fairly clumsy and poorly informed plan which clusters B classes without any appreciation of widely different employment impact and economic sustainability. E.g. B1 generates at least 5 times as much employment as B8. The lack of appreciation as to the opportunity for widely different uses being generated within B class clusters defeats the whole point of proper planning of employment uses and can significantly endanger previously good planning put forward in the previous 2003 plan. E.g. the creation of a research and development park linked to the University but now has the threat of being downgraded into a general business park (see below). Little regard has been given in the plan to the economic reality of falling demand for B2 industrial space which is clustered with other B classes almost randomly throughout the plan. Little regard is given to the opportunity of B1 b space as an opportunity for research and development which needs to be nurtured and preserved without the detrimental and confused clustering with other B classes both in terms of planning and promotion of a research hub. I note that the past trend of expansion of Office/R &D is 0.43% pa over the period from 2004 to 2012 derived from VoA analysis and that the calculated annual floor space demand is 0.7% over the plan period up to 2033. I support the concept of seeking increased investment in our local knowledge-based, high technology economy. This will provide well paid, creative jobs and generate the funding necessary to pay for the infrastructure and environment this sort of industry requires. We need to distinguish between wanting to increase the added value of the economy and physical expansion, especially given the scarcity of land in Guildford. Guildford is not the place for large space hungry businesses. So I should target high added value small and medium sized enterprises rather than the headquarters of larger corporations.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I object to policy E2 location for new employment floor space. I object to the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm and I do not believe there are exceptional circumstances to justify incursion into this permanent and high quality area of Green Belt. The Surrey Research Park currently extends to 65,000 sq m. There is already granted consent to expand to a further 9,000 sq m (14%). The past trend of expansion of Office/R &D is 0.43% pa over the period from 2004 to 2012 based on ELNA 2015 derived from VoA analysis. The ELNA 2015 calculated annual floor space demand is 0.7%. The data point for our analysis is today in 2016 so we have 17 years to go to the end of the plan period. The necessary growth in floor space over the plan period is therefore 17 years x 0.7% = 11.9%. There is currently 14% expansion space already available. The proposal by GBC to expand the 65,000 sq m by 9,000 sq m (existing allocation) with an additional 35,000 sq m amounts to an increase of 67% of the Research Park which is not required. The Research Park is currently developed at a density of 25% plot ratio. The majority of existing buildings are 2 stories giving a developed floor space plot ratio of 12.5%. The existing Research Park has the opportunity to markedly increase its density without infringing any Green Belt land nearby. Any density increase would be cost effective for the use of all existing infrastructure and would also have the potential to match the existing densities of existing academic buildings on the university campus which are three to four times higher. Together with the existing expansion of 14% through existing consents and the opportunity to increase its density the Research Park has ample capacity to expand to embrace new demand for B1b uses linked to the university. A preferred location for increased B1a and B1b space would be in the Town Centre close to housing and a convenient transport hub.

I object to Policy E3 maintaining employment capacity I object to the ill-informed policy of resisting change of use from B1a to residential because it flies in the face of positive property market solutions for the regeneration of brownfield land. It is also contrary to current government policy which has recently been reaffirmed and permits a change of use from B1a (offices) to C3 (residential). I believe that the existing government policy which has recently been made permanent of allowing change of use from B1a to C3 is sound. Many office buildings reaching an age of more than 30/50 years become redundant in terms of energy compliance making them illegal to occupy for employment purposes and the cost of refurbishment makes them redundant and uneconomic. The reality of market demand is that the gross development value of refurbished residential space is in excess of the gross development value of refurbished old office space in many locations (this gross development value assessment is supported by the analysis by property consultants GVA in the supporting evidence within the Allies and Morrison Masterplan for Guildford dated 2015). To resist change from B1a to C3 is contrary to the concept of brownfield first for residential development schemes. To resist change from B1a to C3 in Strategic or Significant Employment Sites is contrary to the concept of integrated mixed use communities whereby the journey to work is minimised. London has led the way with significant residential schemes being created from redundant office stock. A good example is the South Bank in London adjacent to Waterloo Station where in 2005 the Shell Centre has been converted into flats. Another early example is the 2000 scheme at Metro Central Heights at Elephant and Castle where the old Alexander Fleming House was converted to 435 flats by St George. GBC needs to adopt more modern trends and policies.

I object to policy E4 Surrey research Park. I support the maintenance of research, development and design activities, in any science, including social science, that is complementary to the activities of the University of Surrey at the Surrey Research Park. I object however to the completely unnecessary expansion of the Research Park into a larger Business Park. I believe that the planning policy going forward for the Surrey Research Park should be to maintain and enhance the integrity of its research base allowing for the economic value add to the local economy of knowledge and technology transfer from the University. I believe that B1b (should be the primary use class for the Research Park and that applications for B1a should be resisted due to the danger of dilution of the core purpose and reputation of the park. I object to the inclusion of B1c uses which is inappropriate and unnecessary. Research parks based on the early UK technology transfer exemplars of the Cambridge and Oxford need careful monitoring, nurturing and protection to ensure the integrity and quality of the park is maintained and the park continues to be a destination for innovation and enterprise. There is a danger for research parks to be overwhelmed by short sighted development opportunities being taken by park managers provided by standard office activities and administrative functions which in time turn them into standard business parks which can be found anywhere in the country. Their relative low density and attractiveness make them targets for “any other” office user Research parks that lose their way stop being the location of choice for new innovative enterprises. I hope the Surrey Research Park in Guildford remains focussed on a broad spectrum of scientific research including computer science, bio-chemistry, design, space-science, eco-science, health science, software development, laser technology, media-science, artificial intelligence, robotics and super-manufacturing. Monitoring indicators should include new start-ups and new patents created. Facilities should be provided whereby new small businesses can secure premises under subsidised licence fee arrangements with no onerous rent or lease commitments. I support the idea of a variety of sizes of unit including some small units (between 15 – 80 sq m) bearing in mind one workstation is 10 sq m. Consideration should be given to the concept of shared “enterprise hubs” where individuals can take pay as you go workstations in shared spaces similar to touch down business centres similar to the “enterprise village” concept. I object to the policy of any new extension of the research park more than the
The Surrey Research Park currently extends to 65,000 sq m. The research park is developed at a plot ratio of 25%. This could be increased to 50% within the same footprint of the existing park without damage to its amenity. The actual current land use for development in the park is in fact only 12.5% because most buildings are 2-storey.

I object to policy E5 Rural Economy

In my opinion this policy should only apply to small-scale development in rural areas which means development of less than 100 sq m (gross) which is in keeping with and the permanence and amenity of the green belt. Use of rural areas for town centre uses without applying the sequential approach is against the principles of localism that require local people to be consulted and heeded, not ignored. Villages need protecting in terms of both design and scale and character. Previous commitments to improved high-speed broadband and mobile phone coverage have now been diluted, despite general support. This disregards the responses from the 2014 public consultation.

The consultation process was not well publicized; many Parish Councils had no idea of this. The emphasis on voluntary efforts and greater community efforts is far removed from reality for this 'solution' was presented for almost every aspect of rural life from managing crime to looking after elderly to education and more besides. Villages by nature are usually small and the percentage of the population who are able to do voluntary work is smaller still. The solution is therefore unworkable. The results of the consultation were not publicized but were instead collated and summarized and bore no resemblance to the submissions I had sight of.

I object to policy E6 the leisure and visitor experience. I believe that the importance of a visitor attraction hub could be much better articulated. Guildford has great potential to become a “must see” destination for tourists and visitors. Surrounded by the natural beauty of the Surrey Hills, it is already distinguished as an historic county town. The historic part of the town should be exploited to the full creating a real sense of vibrancy and atmosphere. This should be linked to the attractions of the Museum, the Castle, the Wey and the historic High Street including its views of the Hogs Back.

The economic impact would create big advantages for both the leisure and the niche speciality retail sectors in the town. Given the local and wider catchment of the town Guildford should strive for high quality definition making it a great centre for people to live in and visit. Guildford the historic “Gateway to the Surrey Hills” has far more potential than Guildford just any other stereotypical centre found anywhere around London. Re-branding walks, such as a new “Pilgrims Trail” similar to the Patriots trail in Boston USA with marked yellow footsteps leading from the station to the River and up through the historic heart of the town. There is a need to make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms. There is a need to help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to RHS Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a SouthWest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently bypass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

consider that the target of 1,172 homes in the town centre takes account of the need and demand for housing or the opportunities that brownfield sites present for increasing the residential development in the core of the town which will in itself help to sustain the retail core by increased economic impact. What the town centre needs in terms of urban regeneration and to attain a thriving night time economy is more residential development. The Town Centre policy needs to maximise the potential for residential development on brownfield and include as an absolute minimum the 2,551 units proposed in by Allies and Morrison for the town centre included in the masterplan 2015. The reality is that the Town Centre and other areas of brownfield in the borough has the capacity to provide significantly more than this.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy H1 Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set any rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions. The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated. I support higher density development but not high-rise development (ie over 10 floors) in the urban area close to transport hubs to facilitate modal shift e.g. 20 minutes’ walk of Guildford railway station. Student accommodation should provide for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions dating from 2004 to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and underused surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back. Surrey University has 17 ha of car parks that could provide all the student accommodation required above it, with parking beneath. Guildford borough already has a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Overprovision is inappropriate given other constraints.

I object to policy H2 Affordable homes. “Affordable” homes, under national definitions, means homes that are sold or rented at 80% of market value. Even if 70% of these are rented as proposed, the level of market prices in the South-East means (even post-Brexit) that these homes will remain well beyond most people’s means and that starter homes will not become available for local people. In addition, the viability clause (4.2.40) means that in practice the policy could be unenforceable. Private financial viability has no place in a public policy and should be removed. It is a get-out-of-jail-free card for developers that will sacrifice countryside for no local benefit. I question the assumptions that seem to underlie this policy: that people have a right (rather than a legitimate aspiration) to own a home; that they should be encouraged to live locally in enormous debt (contradicting the Government’s policy of encouraging labour mobility and development in poorer regions, where homes are cheaper); that increasing local house-building will reduce overcrowding and congestion (rather than simply suck more people into the borough); and that it will stem the rise in house prices (even though 13,860 new homes will be a drop in the ocean, given that prices are determined by an infinite demand-pull from London, whose population is increasing by 100,000 a year, and by the currently low cost of capital for overseas and other buyers). The weak mechanisms proposed in the plan might influence the market in a more remote part of the UK, but not here. This policy’s version of “affordability” is just a smokescreen for pushing through more development generally. Building more homes in Guildford cannot increase real affordability given the overhang of the London market.

I object to policy H3 Rural Exception Homes This is a type of Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix”, this can include “market” housing – i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means expensive executive homes. This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions. The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy I1 Infrastructure and delivery  Most of the borough’s infrastructure is antiquated, congested and straining to accommodate even current needs and organic growth. Yet this plan’s commitment to building housing estates across the Guildford countryside will mean either major infrastructure investment that no-one is prepared to pay for or else a catastrophic and simultaneous collapse in transport, educational, medical, energy, water and communications services. The plan targets greenfield sites – requiring heavy infrastructure investment – in order to generate CIL income necessary to meet an infrastructure shortfall that is already serious. The current draft CIL scale also encourages development on greenfield sites rather than brownfield and will reduce or negate developer's obligation to sell a percentage of homes at 20% below market value. The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing infrastructure needs in this area is inadequate, identifying only the tip of an iceberg of existing congestion. Compton Village is already close to tipping point, yet it will see a significant increase in traffic volume, will be completely congested and yet no plans exist to mitigate the problem. The schemes referred to in this policy barely solve existing congestion and are inadequate when development takes place. The full impact on local road networks has not been fully considered. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that involve demolishing property and road-widening in residential areas to solve the resultant congestion. The A3 improvements are not guaranteed to take place but they are being used to justify removing large areas from the Green Belt before detailed traffic assessments have taken place. These detailed investigations are being deferred until the planning application stage and will be left to developers to prepare. If a site then proves to be unsustainable its Green Belt protection will have been lost for no reason and unsuitable development will take place by a more insidious process. Compton Village will actually incur increased traffic flow as a consequence of A3 widening according to the study, yet as was pointed out above, no solutions are in place to improve the situation. Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritising greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognising this as a key issue, the plan makes too many assumptions, not least being the verbal promise that development will not take place without infrastructure preceeding it. It is not clear how this will happen and is not in the Plan, as it should be, if it is achievable. The highways network is under stress at peak times in many parts of the borough. Queuing is the daily experience of drivers going to and from work. The local plan recognises the problems in para 2.14. Much of the road network is single-carriageway, and junctions act as constraints. The key evidence on future traffic conditions is provided in the Strategic Highway Assessment Report (SHAR) which summarises the results of the tests carried out by Surrey County Council at the request of GBC. Five scenarios were examined using SCC’s strategic traffic model. Scenario 1 contains all developments and planning permissions from 2009 to date. As such it corresponds to today’s circumstances, and describes the current unsatisfactory traffic conditions in peak periods. Scenario 5 represents the position at the end of the plan period, including all development and highways schemes in the local plan. The results of the analysis show that there will be widespread congestion in the morning peak hour across the network. The key strategic routes, the A3 through Guildford NE bound, and the M25 between Junctions 10 and 11, are shown to be at or over capacity. The summary network statistics presented in the SHAR, while useful, require some interpretation because the analysis of vehicle-hours is derived from link speeds only, and does not reflect junction delays and queues. The tables that show the ratio of flow to capacity and level of service are especially helpful to gaining an understanding of the conditions on the network in the forecast. Where the forecast traffic volume is above or close to capacity, flow becomes unstable and there is congestion. The SHA results provide evidence that, in 2031, congestion will be worse than it is today on much of the network. It is the case that the traffic modelling does not take into account the potential for increased use of other modes, but the trip rates used for developments already have built in the typical level of use of other modes, and services will be required to meet that need. It is also the case that the model does not allow for park and ride, which would improve matters in the town centre, as discussed below. In order to gain an insight into conditions across the network, it is necessary to combine information from several tables in the SHAR. Table 4.5 shows that the M25 and A3 will be at capacity in Scenario 5. The other roads that will have poor levels of service include those in Table 4.5 but also those in 4.12 (except the A3) and those in Tables 4.3 and 4.4 with levels of service E and F that will not be given some relief by improvement of the A3 in Scenario 5. Paras 4.10.3, 4 and 5 point out that there will be increased congestion. Given that the starting point is unsatisfactory, there can be no expectation that the schemes in the Infrastructure Development Plan will provide an overall improvement. There will be some local benefits, such as the Ash rail bridge for example, but in general conditions will be as bad and in many places, such as Compton Village, worse. So the statement in the SHAR para 4.2.5 that ‘the combined mitigation as reflected in Scenario5..indicates that at the strategic level it accommodates the additional PSLP demand’ needs qualifying – ‘at the cost of a lot of queuing’ and makes no mention of the impact this will have on pollution, which is already a known problem at the A3 end of Compton. The cumulative effect of the additional traffic generated by the developments in the local plan will be to increase congestion, even with the proposed highway schemes in place. More detailed analysis of the junctions and queuing is required. So we question the conclusion that the developments would have “an acceptable impact on the capacity of the highway networks in terms of the policy test set in paragraph 32 of NPPF”. Appendix 3 of the Transport Topic Paper shows the phasing of housing development and transport infrastructure. The major scheme being considered for the A3 between the A31 and the A320 is scheduled for delivery in the period 2023/24 to 2027/28. The strategic developments at Blackwell Farm and Gosden Hill Farm are shown as being phased in from 2021/22 onwards. The Garlick’s Arch development is shown as starting in 2019/20. Therefore, there will be a period in which the existing A3 has to cope with the additional demand arising from those developments before extra capacity is provided. The following comments regarding the strategic sites are taken from the SHAR: Blackwell Farm – there will be congestion at the A31 junction, and the problems at the Tesco junction, and the Egerton road /Gill Avenue junction (para 4.9.5). Traffic is likely to access the Surrey research park and the RSCH through the development (para 4.7.3) Gosden Hill Farm – there will be an increase in traffic through Burpham. There will be pressure on the A3100/B2234 roundabout (paras 4.7.6, 4.7.7 and 4.7.8). Wisley – traffic will increase on minor roads to gain access to the A3 (N and S bound) and other routes (para 4.7.11). The development will add more traffic to the A3. The Burnt Common slips help alleviate the traffic through Ripley according to the model, but queuing on the A3 could mean this does not happen (para 4.7.14). Normanby/ Flexford – the report has little to say about the impact of this large development. The increase in flow on Westwood Lane is noted (para 4.5.7). Tables 4.10 and 4.11 show junction delay reducing at the Westwood Land, B3000 junction, but an increasing at the Puttenham Hill/Millbrook junction. Ash – development in Ash is not specifically addressed, but there are major increases in traffic on a number of roads. The new rail bridge will bring relief (but traffic will move to the next junction). Slyfield – there are no remark relating to SARPs, and as there are no additional trips shown in and out of the Slyfield residential zone in Tables 3.3 and 3.4, it is possible that this development has been omitted. There is a significant increase in trips to and from the Slyfield industrial zone, which will impact on the A320 and Clay Lane. Town Centre – the report has very little to say about the town centre. It is evident that the model is forecasting severe congestion on the approaches to the town centre, such as the A281, the A31 Farnham Road, and Woodbridge Road for example. No mitigation measures are planned. And in the Transport Strategy, GBC states that the intention is to adopt Allies & Morrison’s Scenario 2 which would have the effect of significantly reducing the capacity of the town centre road system. The implications have not been examined, but traffic using the A281 from Waverley, for example, would be affected.

The B3000 will be severely affected by development schemes and will not benefit from road improvements. It is essential that the impact of all change to road networks are looked at in conjunction with one another for any survey to be meaningful. The local plan does not state an objective for congestion. The two strategic objectives that are included for infrastructure refer to supporting sustainable development and delivering a balanced system. However, in para 2.15 there is an aspiration expressed about opportunities to improve the performance of the road networks through transport infrastructure and service improvements, which taken with the previous paragraph includes reducing congestion. The evidence so far shows that this will not happen. The mitigation proposed is not sufficient to overcome the problems that will be caused by the level of growth in the local plan. Congestion will worsen. The network will lack resilience and be vulnerable to disruption due to incidents. Minor roads will have to cope with a lot more traffic, for which they are unsuitable.

I object to policy i2 Supporting the Department of Transport’s “Road Investment Strategy” This policy is too vague and unrealistically optimistic. Decisions by Highways England on improving the strategic road network (the M25 and A3) are still years off. The Council have suggested a very expensive tunnel under Guildford, but there is no evidence to show that this is a realistic option. Even if Highways England accepted this (which is highly unlikely in the post-Brexit public spending climate) it would not be built until the end of the plan period at the earliest. Other, less expensive A3 improvements, and changes to the Junction 10/Heathrow stretch of the M25, will also take years to agree and complete. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is foolhardy. Surrey is the most congested county in England, with 683 people per square kilometre, compared with an English average of 413. This policy will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone). This is a major development constraint that should have been applied to the OAN to constrain the housing target.

I object to policy I3 Sustainable transport for new developments This is another aspirational policy, not grounded in the practical realities of daily life. It consists of a standard, box-ticking list of local government measures unrelated to the specifics of the plan. Like infrastructure, transport appears to be an afterthought; the policy fails in its essential job of guiding planning decisions, since it assumes development of any kind can be supported by sustainable transport. The sustainability of the dormitory settlements which the Council want built across the countryside depends on a general “modal shift” from private car use to walking, cycling and public transport. This is unrealistic. The proposed sites are often miles away from the nearest railway station. Bus services even in the largest villages are almost non-existent – just one bus to and from Guildford each day in the Horsleys and none at weekends. Since bus services depend on profitability, they cannot be expanded and the Council are not proposing to subsidise new ones. Rural buses are too slow anyway for busy people. Most rural roads in the borough are narrow, winding, hilly, potholed, muddy and unlit. Many flood badly and have no footpaths. The desired modal shift would require a comprehensive co-ordination of bus and train timetables with services every few minutes, seven days a week, to stops within walking distance of every home in the borough. This kind of integrated public transport system has been achieved in Switzerland, for instance, but only at huge public cost and thanks to a political consensus supporting state ownership of trains, buses and the post office, which delivers rural passengers as well as mail. There is absolutely no chance of this in the UK. The vast majority of the borough’s residents are not, in practice, able to cycle. This includes children, the elderly, commuters who have to look smart, the infirm, the unfit and people carrying goods or shopping of any kind. Dependence on walking and cycling discriminates against these groups, which include some of the most vulnerable members of the community. It is socially unjust. One in two working people in Guildford commute for up to 3 hours a day. They will not leave their cars for even part of their journey if it means longer travel times. Park-and-rides are a welcome part of the transport mix but are too slow for commuters and others on a tight schedule. For an adult couple going shopping it is still cheaper to park in town. I like the idea of water buses but have concerns over the reality. The Wey is narrow and, with a river speed limit of 4mph, boats are too slow for anything but recreation. Except on the tideway, not even the Thames has such services. The addition of two new stations appears attractive but will slow down train journeys, which are already slower than at any time since the 1930s. Knock-on effects on localities where the new stations are built have not been worked out or presented. Ie. Cost of housing will increase.

The plan to build on large areas of countryside and to inset villages will cancel out any benefits from extending the principle of enhancing biodiversity beyond Biodiversity Opportunity Areas. There is no mention of the value of wildlife gardening to biodiversity or the important role that larger gardens play in a village setting.

I object to the omission of a policy for the River Wey which was included in the previous local plan. The existing policy G11 from 2003 Local Plan should be included so that development within the River Wey corridor will only be permitted provided that: It protects or improves the special character of the River Wey and the Guildford and Godalming Navigations, in particular their visual, setting, amenities, ecological value, architectural and historic interest; The special character of the landscape and townscape in the corridor is protected or improved; Views both within and from the corridor which contribute to this special character are protected or improved; Where appropriate, public access is provided to and along the River and the Navigations. The Nature Conservation value of the site is protected or improved.

GREEN BELT SITES
I object to ALL Green Belt sites allocated for development in the local plan.

13 All Green Belt sites should be removed from the plan until “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy P1 Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding National Beauty. This policy weakens existing protection when it should strengthen it. It is dependent on the Surrey Hills Management Plan. The latter welcomes housing development. Even major (undefined) development in the AONB would be permitted if exceptional (undefined) circumstances could be demonstrated. Much of my concern stems from the loose wording of the Policy, which in some places renders the policy ineffective, for example: "All proposals will be considered against whether they..." "All development proposals within and adjacent to the AONB will be expected to conserve or enhance its special qualities" Terms such as "considered" and "expected" are not strong enough in prohibiting development proposals that do not conserve and enhance the AONB, and it is likely that developers will be able to use this loose wording to their advantage. Of particular concern is the paragraph 3, which begins: "Whilst the AONB designation does not preclude specific types of development in the Surrey Hills and proposals will be assessed on their individual merits..." This whole opening clause is unnecessary and almost invites development proposals. I believe that it should be deleted, and the sentence should therefore begin: "There is a presumption against major development in the AONB in accordance with NPPF." In addition to the weakness of the language, I am also concerned that the AONB criteria listed in the policy are not the most important ones in determining whether a planning application should be approved. Aside from the one outlined in the first bullet point (which relates to the AONB setting) none of these criteria is concerned with the key characteristics of AONB, i.e. landscape character, scenic beauty, important views, tranquility etc. Whether or not a development supports the rural economy or provides public access are of far less national importance than preserving the quality of the landscape itself. I believe that the AONB Policy in the Draft Plan 2014 provided greater protection to the AONB, and would like to see the following sentences reinserted: "The national significance the AONB will be afforded the highest level of protection and only proposals which can be sensitively amalgamated into the area and which complement and enhance the character of the AONB will be considered" "Proposals within the AGLV which would have a negative impact upon views into and out of the AONB and which do not respect the..."
setting, will not be acceptable” In accordance with the most up to date Minerals and Waste Plan, safeguarding of applicable land within the AONB and/or AGLV may be necessary and deemed appropriate Finally, I would like to see a clause which gives protection to the candidate areas for AONB status in the forthcoming Surrey Hills AONB Boundary Review. This should include Blackwell Farm which was recently reviewed by an Independent consultant and deemed worthy of inclusion as a candidate. I consider that all land that has been assessed as meeting the latest Natural England criteria for AONBs should be subject to the same level of protection as an AONB, not just land that has been designated AGLV.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to Policy P2 green belt This policy states, “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” This is a misleading statement. The policy wording is weak in support of the Metropolitan Green Belt even though the latter forms 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. It is precious beyond the short-term demands of the present Government’s policy or a 15-year local plan. As noted under Policy S1 above, it is a solemn legacy to future generations – an asset and amenity that belongs as much to Londoners and the whole nation as to the people who live in it. Once gone it is gone forever. It is not the Council’s to give away. Policy P2 completely fails to appreciate the importance and permanence of the Metropolitan Green Belt and the fact that it has been around for a long time and it needs to be permanently protected. It was actually established in a local act of parliament in Guildford under the London Home Counties (Green Belt) Act 1938 and subsequently in the 1944 Greater London Plan to contain the outward sprawl of London. The boundaries of the Green Belt through Guildford Borough were later defined in the 1987 Local Plan, forming part of a 19-24km concentric belt around London. The Green Belt is intended to check the unrestricted sprawl of built up areas; to prevent neighbouring towns from merging into one another; to safeguard the countryside from encroachment; to preserve the setting and special character of historic towns; and to assist with urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. The principles of the Green Belt designation were outlined within Planning Policy Guidance 2: Green Belts (PPG2) and are found within the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF). The Metropolitan Green Belt is an exemplar of good planning and the envy of planners throughout the world. Policy P2 omits any assessment of the Green Belt’s value. The Green Belt is not just empty space but is an inhabited, working environment that safeguards a certain stock of natural capital. Building on it involves high opportunity costs, including an irreversible loss of:

1. Agricultural production
2. Rural leisure and tourism amenities
3. Water catchment
4. Flood control
5. Biodiversity
6. Natural heritage
7. A carbon sink for air pollution
8. Room for public facilities such as parks and burial grounds
9. Profitable film locations (e.g. Shere)
10. Future economic potential such as mineral extraction (even fracking)
11. Natural beauty, landmarks, open space, rural views and sight lines
12. Benefits to public health and wellbeing, physical and psychological (as well expressed in the NPPF)

As a matter of law and national and local policy, these assets should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultations. It is quite incorrect to argue, as the Council do, that the plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. In reality the figure is nearer 7% when insetting, infilling and settlement boundary extensions are included. More importantly, there is no “acceptable” percentage (in the NPPF or anywhere else) of Green Belt that may be sold. I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost hell bent on self-defeat. I believe this policy is based on a flawed Green Belt and Countryside Study that, according to one Conservative Councillor, was irregularly commissioned by Council officers without the authority of Councillors. To “inset” two thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, although they would quickly destroy them if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

I object to the removal of over 400 hectares of Green Belt land in and around Blackwell Farm to facilitate further development of Surrey Research Park and for 1800 homes. Over 60 hectares were removed from Green Belt 12 years ago for the same developer (Surrey University) who has yet to fulfill their planning obligations. This valuable land has been squandered with over 17 acres of surface car parking and as one of the key features of Green Belt is its ‘permanence’ this second request for yet more Green Belt land to be released in such a short space of time, with all the outstanding issues that remain makes this all the more objectionable.

Furthermore I object on grounds of the impact this development will have in terms of congestion on our highways, these issues have been highlighted under ‘infrastructure’.

I object to policy P3 Countryside (i.e. beyond the Green Belt) This is more protective – as a policy – than the proposals for the AONB and the Green Belt, so is anomalous. I am not in favour of building on this area, since urban, brownfield areas are sufficient to meet all reasonable housing targets. There is no need to build on any green fields if brownfield, previously developed land is used efficiently (without garden-grabbing). This policy refers to the countryside near Ash and Tongham (see paragraph 4.3.28). This area does not justify stronger policy protection than any other part of the borough. The fact that the current and previous Council Leaders represent it should not give it preferential status: “we will seek to limit any development in the countryside unless it can be demonstrated that it is necessary in that location”. Green Belt and AONB areas should by definition have higher levels of protection than non-Green Belt areas. It should also be noted that Ash and Tongham lie beyond Guildford far away from London and therefore make no contribution to controlling Metropolitan urban sprawl, that is presumably why Ash and Tongham are not in the Green Belt already. This policy, however, attaches higher priority to preventing the “coalescence between the Ash and Tongham urban area and Aldershot” than it does to the primary purpose of the Metropolitan Green Belt, which is to stop London sprawl. I agree to the prevention of coalescence but this should apply to all villages including East and West Horsley and Flexford and Normandy.

I object to policy P4 Flood risk and water source protection zones Urban development on existing hardstanding would not create additional flood risk, especially where there is scope for improved flood resistance measures to be included in the design. Sites such as Woodbridge Meadows Industrial Estate and the Arriva bus depot, on the River Wey bank, are potential high-value brownfield sites that would not be available for housing if this policy is implemented. It is not the footprint of existing buildings that should limit future development, but the extent of existing hardstanding. Tarmac and concrete do not act as functional floodplain, and some land with hard standing close to the river, within the town centre and within easy walking distance of the railway station, provides an excellent opportunity for real urban regeneration that could protect the surrounding countryside.

I strongly believe that this policy should not be used as a convenient excuse not to build on the extensive area of brownfield sites between the station and Ladymead. Any new development in this area could easily be built on stilts with flood resistant ground floor parking in areas that are identified as high flood risk. This area has been built over successfully over the last 50 years. We do not need to stop now.

I do not support building directly on (as opposed to over) flood plain as the land is effectively a soak away, but intelligent architecture has been dealing with this problem for many decades in other parts of the UK and the globe.

I object to policy P5 Thames Basin Heath Special Protection Areas. This policy is not robust enough. The mitigation (cash compensation) offered for development in the special protection area is so small as to be meaningless. SANG (Suitable Alternative Natural Greenspace) is not beneficial since the sites identified or targeted are already green space. This is just using agricultural or wooded land as recreation land in order to justify building on other green spaces nearby. There is no actual increase in open space or environmental protection; instead, it is a ploy designed to permit building on otherwise protected areas. SANG – in part used to prevent dogs and cats attacking nesting birds – must also ensure that it is not using land which is adjacent to the Special Protection Areas.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy S1

I object to policy S1 as stated and the presumption in favour of sustainable development. The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. No definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts. The promise “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area” omits to recognise that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. It does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the tough choices Councillors will face, it is without value. Under this policy, any development will qualify as “sustainable”, thereby failing to apply the NPPF’s most important guideline. The most gaping hole in Policy S1 is the Green Belt. As an inter-generational covenant (enshrined in primary legislation) to protect green areas in perpetuity, the Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice. It is the envy of the world. Policy S1 should commit to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections, setting at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The plan’s contempt for Green Belt constraints is amply demonstrated in later policies. The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals this draft plan’s pro-development bias. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all. This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.3.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy S2 the Borough Wide Strategy and the commitment to build 13,860 homes based on the Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) 2015 prepared by GL Hearn. The OAN “objectively assessed need” figure in the SHMA of 693 homes a year is far too high! I am very surprised and concerned that GBC have adopted the OAN of 13,860 homes as the housing target without any application of constraints as required under the National Planning Policy Framework and the National Planning Policy Guidance. The scale of the housing number proposed, inevitably increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound.

A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole. Other local planning authorities appear to take a more balanced view in their approach to planning. The Woking Core Strategy 2012 applies a constraint of 50% from the 594 new homes identified in their own SHMA. “It should be noted that local evidence (Strategic Housing Market Assessment - SHMA) highlights a need for an additional 499 new affordable homes every year in the Borough and a total of 594 new homes every year when taking into account demand. Given the level of environmental constraints present in the Borough, it is considered that the provision of an average of 292 dwellings per annum represents a reasonable level of housing growth for Woking and is deliverable.” Historically GBC have correctly applied constraints on housing numbers to protect the Green Belt. The Surrey Structure Plan 1994 advocated a general slowing down in the rates of development “because of the environmental constraints which exist in the County, including Green Belt”.

This slowing down was reflected in the requirement that Guildford Borough should accommodate a net increase of 3,800 dwellings between 1991 and 2006. This was a lower rate of development than in previous years.

It is interesting to note that the Structure Plan at that time expected sufficient land to arise within the urban areas to accommodate this requirement. However it would appear that today GBC have effectively ignored the real potential of the urban area to provide for housing. At the same time GBC have adopted a radically different approach to the policy of the Council over the last 20/30 years and are now ignoring government policy in relation to the Green Belt. A detailed and comprehensive professional review of the SHMA dated June 2016 by NMSS an independent expert firm dealing with housing and demographics procured by Guildford Residents Association (GRA) has concluded that the OAN figure should be revised down from 693 homes per annum to 510 homes per annum. The 41 page report by NMSS which can be found on the GRA website entitled “A Review of the West Surrey SHMA as it relates to the Objectively Assessed Housing Needs of Guildford”. It was a real community effort. It was paid for by over separate 20 Guildford Residents Associations and Local Parish Councils none of whom were convinced that the SHMA report procured and presented by GBC was accurate or transparent or accessible in a meaningful way. So they clubbed together and collected contributions from many hundreds of Guildford residents to try to find out the truth of the housing need figure presented in the Local Plan. The NMSS report includes detailed analysis and financial modelling and was prepared by Neil McDonald. He is an independent adviser and commentator on housing demographics. He works with local authorities and others on the estimation of housing need and related issues. He was a civil servant and policy adviser to Ministers for over 30 years, the last 10 advising on housing and planning issues within the Department of Communities and Local Government. His 7 years as a Director at DCLG included a posting as Director, Planning Policy and a period as Chief Executive of the National Housing and Planning Advice Unit. NMSS found that the SHMA used in the Local Plan incorrectly adds extra homes to its basic demographic projection to allow for improving affordability of housing, increased student numbers and economic growth.

The report found that none of these additions were justified based on the evidence presented within the SHMA. The report concluded amongst other matters that:

The affordability of housing in Guildford is no worse than in other Surrey districts and boosting supply beyond the demographic OAN would not result in a noticeable improvement in affordability but simply in more people moving to the area.
There are reasons for believing that the SHMA’s estimate of the number of homes needed for students may be too high and that an adequate provision for students is already included in the demographic OAN. The report advises that the Council should commission a separate student housing need figure for Guildford given the distorting effect of students on our overall OAN. It envisages that, once this exercise is undertaken, improved accuracy means the overall OAN would be likely to reduce still further.

The SHMA seeks to estimate the number of homes needed to support employment growth using employment rate assumptions that are inconsistent with the employment forecasts. This produces misleading results. An analysis of the Cambridge Econometrics and Oxford Economics forecasts using employment or economic activity rate assumptions consistent with the forecasts suggests that in neither case is there a need to provide more housing than suggested by the demographic analysis. Indeed, in both cases a smaller population growth (and hence fewer homes) could support the jobs growth that is forecast. A further independent report was procured in 2016 by the Campaign for the Protection of Rural England CPRE from Richard Bate of Green Balance, an independent consultancy with expertise in demographic and housing matters to carry out a review of the GL Hearn SHMA.

The report by Green Balance runs to 37 pages and its findings are that the OAN for homes in Guildford should be reduced from 693 per annum to 481 because:

1. the vacancy rate figures should be taken from local government annual records rather than from the 2011 Census. This would reduce vacancy rates to 2.9% in Guildford.
2. there should be no increase for affordability above basic demographic change.
3. there should be no increase for Student housing and it was considered unrealistic that the University should be allowed to exert such substantial pressure on the domestic housing market.
4. the use of employment-led forecasts should be abandoned using purely household projections instead which are more reliable as a form of prediction. Two completely independent expert reports are surprisingly consistent in their findings. In broad terms a figure of approximately 500 homes per annum would appear to be a correct estimate of OAN for Guildford. However, this is before constraints are applied to arrive at an acceptable housing target. The SHMA is based on pre-Brexit projections for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards. It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld by GBC and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The figure of 13,860 new homes is unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinised by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. Both the National Planning Policy Framework and National Planning Policy Guidance provide a clear policy direction that the overall housing target should be reduced by a variety of constraints to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors. I have corrected this omission below. Infrastructure policies should be planned at the same time as Local Plans but in this case they have effectively been left out and are not sufficiently developed. The Framework also makes clear that, once established, Green Belt boundaries should only be altered in exceptional circumstances, through the preparation or review of the Local Plan. Unmet housing need (including for traveller sites) is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt and other harm to constitute the “very special circumstances” justifying inappropriate development on a site within the Green Belt.

THE NEED TO APPLY CONSTRAINTS

Ministerial guidance in relation to building on the Green Belt is clear:

1. “the single issue of unmet need - is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt and other harm to constitute the “very special circumstances” justifying inappropriate development in the Green Belt” - Nick Boles to Sir Paul Beresford MP 7th February 2014.

2. “we were always very clear that we would maintain key protections for the countryside, and, in particular, for the Green Belt. The Framework makes it clear that a Green Belt boundary may be altered only in exceptional circumstances and reiterates the importance and permanence of the Green Belt” – Nick Boles to Sir Michael Pitt, Planning Inspectorate 3rd March 2014.

3. “Planning Guidance, updated in March 2014, also states that unmet housing need is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt to constitute the very special circumstances justifying inappropriate development within the Green Belt” – Nick Boles to Sir Paul Beresford MP 18th June 2014

70% of the sites put forward in the Local Plan are in the Green Belt which flies in the face of current government planning policy. The National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF), National Planning Policy Guidance and case law make it clear that Green Belt is an absolute constraint on housing supply. Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to adjust boundaries. Other constraints under the NPPF include assessments of sustainability, strategic flood risk assessment, physical constraints on land use and infrastructure constraints (this can include road congestion, schools, drains, power supply and medical requirements). Constraints should be applied to the Objectively Assessed Housing Need (OAN). However this itself is overstated and should be reduced from 693 per annum to 500. In view of the comments above it would appear logical to apply CONTRAINTS in line with government policy to a corrected OAN. of approximately 50% to account for the fact that 89% of the borough is in the permanent Green Belt and development is not supported by adequate major infrastructure. This reduction is in line with the constraints percentage of 50% applied by Woking Borough Council. This would result in a more acceptable and practically achievable HOUSING TARGET of 250 homes per annum which over a 20-year period would be 5,000 homes. All of these homes could be built in the existing urban brownfield areas of the borough and would in part satisfy the 20,000 objections made by residents to the 2014 draft plan and also relieve the additional problems of inadequate infrastructure. It would also mean that there is currently 8.5 years supply of housing (2131/250) which is made up of existing permissions granted (1,518) and completions made (613) during 2013/2015. (Monitoring Report by GBC 2015) The Brexit vote may have strengthened government policy further. Theresa May, the new prime minister, announced on 11 July that she is personally committed to protecting the Green Belt once she takes office. Whilst I have many significant objections to the GBC Local Plan I applaud the policy statement by GBC in their Monitoring Report, “We will continue to monitor the use of previously developed land, and continue to identify as many opportunities as possible for redevelopment of previously developed land.” I believe it will be to the benefit of all residents if GBC can apply themselves vigorously to this endeavour in order to protect the Green Belt.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 1: The evidence base and submission documents

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )

Key parts of the evidence are still missing, flawed or based on withheld assumptions. The Strategic Housing Market Assessment overstates need, the Green Belt and Countryside Study uses a flawed approach, and the Transport Assessment is too late and incomplete to be relied upon to inform the Plan.

The Plan excludes the Town Centre Master Plan, which plays a pivotal role and fails to address the results of infrastructure difficulties, or use these and Greenbelt to constrain the level of development.

The Employment Land Needs Assessment

I object
This document omits many important points that are to be addressed at a future stage. The information is, however, very relevant and necessary and without it the document is weak on evidence. The overview given does not assess the capacity of existing supply to accommodate future growth. The paper acknowledges that almost 9% of commercial premises are empty and this somewhat flies in the face of arguments to vastly increase the volume until the reasons are understood. Around 30% of businesses are considering leaving Guildford (congestion being cited as a reason). There are also issues with planning permissions being granted to convert office space to residential, whilst at the same time it is argued that more offices are needed? The contradictions appear to indicate that policies related to this need firming up and that the evidence is incomplete.

I disagree with 40% of land in the town centre being given over to retail as there is no evidence that Guildford will 'buck the national trend' in terms of declining high-street sales, as has been suggested by Cllr Furniss. Guildford urban area ranks no 1 in terms of being the most sustainable location in the borough and, as housing is a priority, there should be more than 1,172 residences in the town centre.

I object to Policy E4 (expansion of the Surrey Research Park into the Blackwell Farm) The existing Research Park has been built at a very low density (25% plot ratio), which is very low for an urban extension. The majority of existing buildings are 2 storeys giving a developed floor space plot ratio of only 12.5%.

The existing Research Park has acres of surface car parking, which provides it with the opportunity to markedly increase its density without infringing any Green Belt land nearby. Any density increase would be cost effective for the use of all existing infrastructure and would also have the potential to match the existing density of the neighbouring academic buildings on the university campus at Manor Park, which is five times higher.

Together with the existing expansion of 14% through existing consents and the opportunity to increase its density, the Research Park has ample capacity to expand to embrace new demand for B1b uses linked to the university, without utilising additional land.

Infrastructure

I object

The infrastructure schedule makes reference to 'improvements' without saying what they are. It includes a junction at the Guildford end of the A31, and another junction at Tongham. No evidence or traffic modelling data is available to demonstrate whether these 'improvements' will indeed improve anything at all given the additional traffic that will be generated by the new developments included in the plan. The Highways Assessment indicates that, even with these 'improvements', the level of congestion on the A3, A31, the B3000 and A25 will leave these roads over capacity and congested.

Constraints should be applied to the housing need/number as a full application of the overinflated number will have a severe detrimental impact on our road network. Smaller housing estates may be more difficult financially, but they would have less impact on infrastructure and could be considered where infrastructure already exists. The borough has many acres of surface car parking which, if replaced by multi-storey versions, and combined with current Brownfield sites, would free up enough land to build housing where it is wanted and needed and not on valuable Green Belt. There would be no need to build high-rise style development in Guildford town, which we don't support, but we do believe that buildings of 6-10 storeys (with underground parking) would be in keeping in some urban areas (where they don't impinge on important vistas). [Some existing buildings already reach 5-7 levels in height].

The traffic maps omit the area south of Guildford borough completely and the lack of detail about impact on the B3000, a strategic route, is highly questionable, particularly as there are no solutions in place to deal with the impact. I am particularly concerned that, after the main highways routes of M25, A25, and the A320, the B3000 will incur the greatest increase in flow as this road is already close to capacity, with tailbacks at peak times. The road is no longer fit for purpose and modelling shows that developments planned, and the introduction of a new westerly route through Blackwell Farm, will severely worsen the situation, whether major work takes place on the A3, or not.

The Highway Assessment

I OBJECT
The strategic highway assessment requires a great deal more work and hence I OBJECT to the inclusion of this as evidence.

The B3000 runs through Compton, a small village with many listed buildings, most of which are very close to the road. The road already carries in excess of 5 million vehicles a year with average flow rates exceeding most A roads. It is the only settlement area in the borough where pollution levels exceed EU regulations and it is close to capacity now, with tailbacks at peak times, which add to the pollution problem. [see legal section]

The study is highly misleading. It refers to a figure of zero additional traffic from scenario 3, which includes the traffic from the strategic sites, one of which is partly in Compton. The assessment does not make it clear that the modelling is extremely limited and only includes impact on developments within the immediate area. Blackwell Farm is excluded from Area 107 (part of Compton) as false boundaries have been set. I believe that the impact from the strategic sites will be far-reaching and will most certainly impact Compton and beyond. Each village needs to be able to see the impact that development will have.

The Highways Assessment concentrates on peak time traffic only and gives no indication of overall volume increases or traffic type using specific routes outside peak hours. Understanding of the overall increase is important, as there is a bridge on the B3000 between Artington and Compton, which has a width restriction and may also require a weight restriction as it needs replacing within the next 2 years and no funding has been set aside for this. Instead Network Rail, SCC, GBC and Waverley BC continue to battle over responsibility for, and scope of, the project.

It appears that traffic data has been collected at different times of the year and over varying time scales in order to provide averages. This method of data collection can underestimate measurements by at least 30%.

Furthermore, I have been told that the person responsible for ratifying traffic data at Surrey County Council (SCC) has been off sick for over a year and that, whilst the daily data boxes continue to collect data, that data has not been collected or analysed for 2015. The data put forward for Compton's B3000 was based on a 3-week period in January and, as this was not representative, we understand it was removed. That said, the year-on-year data is for different periods and different times, varying from a few weeks in winter to longer periods over many months. I would like a more robust approach to traffic data collation.

The cumulative effect of the additional traffic generated by the developments in the proposed submission Local Plan will be to increase congestion, even with the proposed highway improvement schemes in place. More detailed analysis of the junctions and queuing is required. We question the conclusion that the developments would have an acceptable impact on the capacity of the highway networks in terms of the policy test set in paragraph 32 of NPPF’. We do not believe that the impact on the B3000 will be acceptable, as it is already operating beyond capacity, and this situation will be made much worse following the mitigation proposed for the A3.

The Highways Assessment is limited to 30 results. Roads have been omitted from the report and it is unclear whether findings for the B3000 (also referred to as The Street B3000) are in fact from the Street or the roundabout from which there is a feeder road to Godalming via Priorsfield Road.

The table comparing scenarios and the impact on traffic is difficult to decipher. Scenario 1 includes current planning permissions plus Waverley's strategic sites. This shows an increase of just 9 vehicles per hour at peak times on the B3000. The next scenario 2 is the same, but includes GBC's strategic sites. Given that there is a strategic site in Compton of 1,800 homes and another of 1,000 at Normandy, the expectation would be for the volume to be not only higher, but considerably higher. The result is however, ZERO. We understand that this is because the impact measured is only from the immediate area and, as Blackwell Farm has been removed from the village for modelling terms, this does not give a realistic result. The omission of the Town Centre Master Plan and its impact on the roads further diminishes the integrity of this Highways Assessment.

Even without the full impact being understood, it is clear from the scale of development on the west of Guildford (1,800 homes at Blackwell Farm, 1,000 homes at Normandy, 1,300 homes at Ash, 3,800 homes in the Aldershot urban area, 1,200 homes at Borden) that the increase in traffic on the B3000 and other main routes would be severe.

The Highways Assessment shows that as a result of the proposals put forward in this draft of the Local Plan the B3000 will suffer the highest increase in flow rates at peak times (after the M25, A320 and A25. It also reveals that traffic flows would increase if the A3 was widened, as the A3 would then attract more traffic via the B3000. Despite this, there are no solutions planned to mitigate the situation and we are therefore strongly objecting to the level of development and in particular strategic development at Blackwell Farm as outlined in the Local Plan.

The proposal to introduce a new route to Guildford town centre from the west via Blackwell Farm has been ill thought out. The volume of traffic that will use this new ‘rat run’ through the new development and the university campus/business park, has been underestimated. There will be problems for traffic wishing to exit the new development in both directions during peak hours - traffic is frequently queuing for miles along the A31, and the Tesco roundabout is one of the worst bottlenecks in Guildford. The knock-on effect on the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction would impede emergency vehicles getting to and from the hospital.

The 4-way junction on the A31 has no detail at all and the concern is that permission in principle will be given to the site in the hope that these problems are surmountable. If they are insurmountable, which I believe they are, then enormous amounts of Green Belt land within the setting of the Surrey Hills AONB will have been sacrificed for nothing. The 4-way junction, if it goes ahead, is likely to be huge and, due to its elevated position, will cause significant harm to the AONB in terms of landscape and light pollution.

The Highways Assessment has many limitations, not least being the absence of the Town Centre Master Plan, which includes potential road closure and re-routing. Compton is likely to be very much affected by any reduction in road capacity in the town centre and it is important that we are presented with the whole the picture.

The Assessment acknowledges that not all impacts of proposed Blackwell Farm development have been modelled and that, due to the emphasis on the A31 and the A3, not all roads were included.

The report concludes that the improvements to the A3 are necessary to maintain adequate flow rates on the strategic network. Further work is needed to determine what impact any widening or junction improvements will have on local roads, and what will be done to mitigate against the increased flows through Compton, particularly given that a section of the B3000 though the Village is anticipated to become an Air Quality Management Area. GBC has resisted requests by members of the PC to have the northern end of The Street made an AQMA, but readings of nitrous oxide in this area are well above EU legal limits.

There is little information about the tunnel but the map indicates that one access / egress point will be in Compton near the A3, although no land has been safeguarded for this purpose. This is likely to have the same impact as the improvements to the A3, i.e. increased traffic (and pollution) through Compton.

The Spatial Hierarchy

The spatial hierarchy, which outlines Guildford's preferred strategy, does not match up with the proposed plan. The hierarchy places Brownfield sites (including those on Green Belt) as a priority, but the Plan has 66% of development on Greenbelt and only 34% on Brownfield. The hierarchy lists Guildford town and urban areas as a priority followed by inset villages and identified Green Belt villages. A relatively small percentage of housing is allocated for Guildford town (the most sustainable location) and Green Belt areas, such as Blackwell Farm, with high sensitivity have been classified as within the 'Guildford urban area' when they are in fact in the open countryside. We are told that only 1.6% of the 89% Green Belt has been earmarked for removal and that the 6% removed via insetting doesn't count as these villages are already developed. If this is the case, why list them in 4.1.16 of policy s2 - Spatial Strategy?

4.18 The preferred options cannot accommodate all that Guildford ‘needs’. This is untrue. Two specialist consultants have independently critiqued the OAN and both question the level of uplift and the use of ONS data without full correction for changes and anomalies. They refer to ‘double accounting’ as the uplift is introduced at several stages and the assumptions that result in the final OAN are not explained. See comments on Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA).

Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA)

I Object

The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the SHMA method should be changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects of students on the figures.

The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to:

- failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
- issues with the way it considers students and affordability, and
- flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.

It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

Two additional reviews of the SHMA reach similar conclusions, one having been produced by CPRE and the other by Cllr. David Reeve.

The Land Assessment

I object

The exclusion of sites of 5 dwellings or fewer from the list might make administration easier, but the addition of these sites plus windfalls and outstanding (but current) permissions gives rise to a higher number of dwellings than is actually needed. There is therefore no justification for release of all the Green Belt put forward.

The criteria used to include or exclude sites because of this study lack consistency, with many sites excluded as 'unsuitable' with no further explanation offered (many of which were in the urban area of Ash). The assessment lacks objectivity and detail.

Green Belt & Countryside Study

I object

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Study does not value appropriately the “fundamental aim” of Metropolitan Green Belt or look strategically at options for developing in major settlement areas beyond the Green Belt. It is pointless for London to apply constraints to protect its Green Belt if areas within it, such as Guildford, choose to ignore this option. It is the same Green Belt and serves the same purposes, all of which are acutely valuable.

The way Green Belt is parcelled up and scored is invalid: serving 2 Green Belt functions well is as legitimate as serving 3 to 5 functions less effectively. The Green Belt sensitivity analysis is not a valid basis for informing decisions. This method also omits purpose one, on the basis that all Green Belt sites encourage regeneration of urban sites. This should not be excluded for it is valid and could even be argued to be particularly valid in areas close to the town. Boundaries used for Blackwell Farm were neither permanent nor defensible.

Proposed removal from the Green Belt of a number of relatively small sites where development of an exceptional nature has taken place, plus adjoining land, has lost sight of the scale at which Green Belt is effective.

Assessment of which villages to take out of the Green Belt does not adequately consider that villages contribute to the openness of the Green Belt, as seen from surrounding AONB.

A key principle of Green Belt is its permanence. The University Consultants stated this 13 years ago when seeking permission to take Manor Farm out of the Green Belt to create Manor Park. They reassured residents that the boundary would not be frequently moved and that Blackwell Farm would be opened up to the public for “informal recreation”. The same Consultant has now repeated this promise in putting forward the University plans to develop on Blackwell Farm, saying that the new boundary would be permanent for at least 25 years!

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
The Plan preparation process has had inadequate regard for national policy, which attaches “great importance” to the “openness” and “permanence” of Green Belt. The test of “exceptional circumstances” that might justify allocating Green Belt land for development in a Local Plan has not been rigorously and transparently applied at a strategic level.

The Sustainability Appraisal seems to have lost sight of the concept of Sustainable Development as described in the National Planning Policy Framework to the extent that we question whether it complies with the requirement.

The report states that there are no pollution issues in Guildford. This is not true. The A3 end of the B3000 exceeds Eu regulations and this should be flagged

I object

The 2015/2016 air quality management report has not yet been published and this will/should include an area at the A3 end of Compton, which exceeds the recommended max NO2 reading. One year results for NOx are 48.728 with high's of 68 using National bias adjustment.

Cllr Furniss indicated that the location of the test tubes may have made them invalid, but measurements show that they were positioned correctly and monitored for over a year by GBC environment officers, who have now added additional monitoring devices (See Annex 2 – Correspondence between Cllr Curtis and Cllr Furniss). This area qualifies as an air quality management area (AQMA) and it is disingenuous to omit this from the report or to use an old report on the basis that the 2015 report is not yet published, as the problem is known and recognised by the environment department within GBC.

The traffic survey shows increases in overall flow at the B3000 monitoring point, of values between 5.6% and 16.5%. This would severely impact flow, which is not in line with National Policy as further congestion would exacerbate the current air quality issues as the A3 end of the Street.

I do not believe that a regulation 19 consultation is appropriate. Whilst few changes have been made, additional sites have been included without opportunity for regulation 18-consultation input.

The video used and paid for by GBC and taxpayers is biased towards development, and hence raises questions over the validity and legality of such marketing campaigns. All the individuals featured in the video, with the exception of one nurse... have previously spoken in the Council Chamber in favour of house building/building on Blackwell Farm; and there is not a single voice representing protection of the Countryside or outstanding landscapes.

I object

The plan is not so much positively prepared as avariciously prepared. I do not consider that it is reasonable to take on unmet need from neighbouring authorities, which have given greater protection to their Green Belt if it means our own is compromised on the scale being put forward.

I believe that constraints should be applied to the housing target, which we understand equates to the objectively assessed need (OAN) as no reasonable constraints have been applied. The constraints that could and should be applied are Greenbelt and considerable infrastructure issues. The solutions suggested to accommodate the inordinate levels of growth are both inadequate and costly and the net result will be serious debt for many years if not generations.

It was recommended by landscape consultant Alison Farmer Associates that the area known, as Blackwell Farm should be considered in the AONB boundary review, yet it was omitted in Surrey CC’s landscape evaluation. This meant the Parish Councils of Worplesdon, Compton and Wanborough had to fund an independent review to ascertain whether the area was a contender for AONB classification. The survey was carried out by in May 2016 by Land Management Services Ltd, which concluded that most of the 265 hectare farm was of a landscape and scenic quality that merited inclusion within Natural England’s revised Surrey Hills AONB boundary.

It raises serious question about the soundness of the evidence base when Surrey CC says that it only has to account for evidence submitted and not for that omitted? The area within the proposed development site at Blackwell Farm should now be considered by Surrey Hills as part of the AONB boundary review and land to the west should remain undeveloped, as it is important to the setting of the AONB.

The plan is not justified. Residents groups have suggested other strategies but these have not been tested or considered against the current trajectory, which has remained largely unchanged since day one.

Many aspects of the Plan were strongly objected to in 2014 and not only have these points been ignored, they have in fact been embellished or made worse. I refer to the points that GBC referred to in their own summary, which stated that most people objected to the scale of development and the harm to the Green Belt. At that time there were 4 strategic sites and now there are 5. At that time approx 50% of development was in Green Belt and now it is 66% with only 34% on previously developed sites. 58% of development is on just 5 sites.

I more realistic appraisal of the town centre with more multi-storey car park development and less retail would make way for a greater percentage of housing in the town centre, which is after all the most sustainable and sought after area. Additionally, greater pressure must be placed on the University to house more students at Manor Park in order to free up affordable rented accommodation in the town for key workers.
There is a conflict of interest when the developer (University) drags its feet over the provision of promised student accommodation (thereby putting pressure on the housing market) whilst at the same time seeking permission to build 1,800 new homes to help Guildford's need? The University is at least five years behind with programme of building student residences and staff housing. It is widely agreed among residents groups that the University must fulfil all of its current building plans and substantially increase the proportion of students on campus. If the University built the outstanding units, the housing need would reduce substantially yet much of this is omitted from the outstanding permissions list?

GBC has approached development without applying constraints that are applicable such as Green Belt and infrastructure. It is wholly inappropriate to build a Plan without constraints when there is widespread opposition to this approach. Furthermore, there are serious doubts over the validity of the objectively assessed housing need. Housing need underpins the entire plan, and we are being asked to accept the figure of 693 on trust. Without an understanding of the methodology behind the OAN, the public cannot 'buy into' this figure, especially as it has been illustrated by two reputable professionals that there have been errors such as 'double accounting', which has resulted in uplift. Both consultants have concluded that a more accurate figure would be around 500 new homes pa and the most recent one, which was done in pre Brexit -June 2016 acknowledges that due to the high number of International students here in Guildford a student SHMA would better inform this plan. Both consultants feel that the current SHMA is flawed and that the OAN of 693 is too high. These reviews will be submitted by CPRE and the GRA and we support the findings of both.

Putting 58% of development on 5 sites, which are within the Green Belt, or largely within the Green Belt, is not consistent with national policy. The definition of 'exceptional' is forming an exception or rare instance; unusual; extraordinary. What possible exceptional circumstances can justify 3 sites of approx 2,000 each and two of 1000 each, on Greenbelt. This makes a mockery of the term 'exceptional'?

The plan has a maximum number and a hefty buffer. It has underestimated windfalls and overestimated need. It is likely therefore that if one of the major sites fails to come through, the Plan could still succeed in terms of numbers, but would fail in terms of impact on infrastructure and reliance on aspirational, but distant 'yet to be discussed' schemes such as railway stations, making the plan undeliverable. If more people are not given the opportunity to live in Guildford town, the night time economy cannot grow and if the gamble to use 40% of the land for retail fails, shops will close and we will have created a leafy green ghost town, whilst the villages outside the town will have changed beyond all recognition as the impact of urban sprawl takes its toll.

The plan puts many eggs into 5 baskets with 58% of all development on just 5 sites. If these are not deliverable, the plan will fail. This strategy has been roundly criticised by Inspectors in other parts of the country.

Taking on such a high OAN without scrutinising it and then taking land out of Green Belt to fulfil it, and using developer funding to secure infrastructure (which reduces significantly the proportion of affordable housing delivered) is destructive and risky.

It is inconceivable that 5 sites between 1,100 and 2,000+ each can be built on Green Belt land without affecting the purposes of the Green Belt.

AONB should be given the highest protection. Despite being put forward for AONB review Blackwell Farm was omitted and an independent consultant had to be commissioned by local parish councils. The findings showed that the area met Natural England’s latest criteria for AONB and should not therefore be developed but should instead be properly recognised.

The proposal at Blackwell Farm has been reduced from 2100 to 1800 to take account the impact on future AONB or for views in and out of the existing and future AONB from public areas as determined by planning policy. It is feared that if this site were approved and if access could be made possible without causing serious problems to the surrounding road network, that the AONB in this location would undoubtedly be destroyed.

GBC argues that it is necessary to remove more than 1.6% of its 89% Green Belt and to remove more than 6% of its Green Belt from villages (by way of insetting) in order to meet its need, yet at the same time the Council advocates making an additional area Green Belt? The area of land being put forward for inclusion within the Green belt is on the same ridge as two areas of Green Belt it wishes to remove (Normandy & Blackwell Farm). This approach lacks consistency.
Cllrs Paul Spooner and Matt Furniss have stated clearly that there will be no development without supporting infrastructure and that the infrastructure must come before, or alongside, development. It is difficult to see how this will materialise as developers’ CIL contributions (which will fund infrastructure) are paid from profits made from the development. This statement appears to be unenforceable and could offer false reassurance to residents who may support the Plan on this basis.

Developers are being asked to fund large amounts of infrastructure. They will offset this against any agreement for affordable housing and it is highly possible that affordable housing will not be built or that only a small proportion will be built. This was one of the key drivers and is factored into the housing need, yet may not be delivered. Where is the general analysis to see what level of affordable housing might actually be delivered given the level of infrastructure needed to implement this level of development on new sites?

The omission of the Town Centre Master Plan (on the basis that this has different timescales) invalidates two key components of the Plan - the Infrastructure and Highways assessments. The suggested road closures in the town centre and the resulting re-routing of traffic should be factored into the highways assessment, but they are currently omitted. The consequences of this could render the whole Plan undeliverable and I don’t believe the Plan can be approved without factoring in the Town Centre Master Plan.

GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA), which CPRE and GRA consider unsound. The methodology for the uplift and assumptions made have not been made available and thus the openness and transparency required for public understanding as outlined in the NPPF has not been adhered to.

I understand that Highways England will not start to consider its intentions as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018. It is difficult to see how plans can be approved without the inclusion of this information.

Network Rail has not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow, nor have we been told where the station car park would be situated nor how the railway bridge between Merrow and Burpham would be re-constructed to take the additional traffic. Likewise, there are no detailed plans for the railway station at Park Barn and Network Rail has not confirmed the status of either. These schemes must have a sounder footing to be included in the Plan if they are to be used to justify large developments nearby.

The access to, and from, Blackwell Farm (via the A31) has not been thought through. There proposed new route will likely be used as a rat run to the A3/Guildford, but this will put pressure on a congestion hot spot, and result in increased traffic at the Compton turn-off and Down Lane (home to Watts Gallery). It is also recognised that congestion at the Tesco roundabout will be made worse and this area is already subject to considerable problems. Additional traffic via the business park from Blackwell Farm will add to congestion at the Egerton roundabout and impede access for emergency services to the hospital.

The proposal at Blackwell Farm has been reduced from 2100 to 1800 to take account of the AONB, but this does not account for views in and out of the AONB from public areas.

The greenbelt sensitivity study is not objective. The reference to Blackwell Farm as ‘South West Guildford Urban’ is totally misleading as it is unadulterated countryside that fulfills all the purposes of Green Belt. I consider this Study, which was the subject of much criticism in the last plan, to be flawed, yet it remains in this Plan. Why?

The damage caused to the Green Belt by the addition of Blackwell Farm would outweigh benefits gained from development, as there is ample space and lapsed planning permission on the existing Manor Park land for development for student accommodation, which would free up affordable rented accommodation in the town.

The proposal for Garlic Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any consultation under Regulation 18.

No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Guildford citizens.

No land has been safeguarded for a tunnel, which would show a real intent.
This consultation included 'significant changes' according to GBC, although most residents would strongly dispute this. Some key reports were added and 6 weeks was not long enough to properly digest the information and impart this to residents. Many additional questions had to be asked and many points required clarification, which essentially meant adequate information, was not made available until two thirds of the way through the consultation.

The level of objection at the 2014 consultation was considerable - these objections have NOT been dealt with, but have been carried through to a regulation 19 consultation, undeterred. This is not in the spirit of Localism or the NPPF.

Cooperation is a two-way street. Guildford objected to Waverley's plans for Dunsfold on the grounds of increased traffic and in the same submission referred to positive consideration of unfulfilled OAN. Guildford also refers to its duty to consider Woking's unfulfilled housing. Guildford does not have land to spare to assist Waverley or Woking without taking vast amounts of land out of Green/belt, which is protected by the NPPF. Greed is not 'an exceptional circumstance' and if both Woking and Waverley (and indeed London as it is the Metropolitan Green Belt) prefer to protect their Green Belt then the question must be asked as to why Guildford is happy to relinquish its Green Belt land, especially in the face of strong public opposition.

Many also question the choice of just Woking and Waverley as partners in the SHMA as there are considerable links with Aldershot and Farnborough in Rushmoor, which have very different needs and their inclusion could have provided a better balance.

Comment - Localism

The Plan is supposed to be informed by residents and by parish councils and residents' groups and their input used to formulate the Local Plan, not for it simply to be presented to them and objections and subsequent input ignored. Despite a great deal of effort from these groups and many like-minded responses, the Plan has not taken their concerns on board. The Plan has barely changed since day one and residents feel their views have been ignored and that the consultations have not been genuine. To add insult to injury, some of the key points raised have actually been exacerbated or made worse, such as the scale of development and harm to the Green Belt and issues over infrastructure.

The NPPF is open to interpretation, but it is our belief that GBC has chosen to interpret it in a way that lacks objectivity in an effort to appease developers in order to avoid costly court cases at a later stage. GBC has cited cases where development has been granted in an effort to justify this pro-development stance but has failed to balance this against the many sites where development has been refused.

To gain true public reaction, material presented has to be factual and unbiased and written without jargon and acronyms. This has not been the case. A degree of 'double speak' has led to absurdities such as 'affordable housing' which is over £300,000 i.e. ten times the average salary; 'safeguarding' which does not mean protection of land as most people would think, but rather potential future development and 'insetting' which means removal? It is recognised that these terms are not locally derived but all the same they are confusing for most of us.

Some Councillors have shown a lack of knowledge about environmental matters. Cllr. Gunning - webcast 24th May section 7 - 3:39

'About ancient woodlands, of course they are very attractive things, but they are ancient and trees don't last forever, so can we be practical about ancient woodlands and consider their value or their life, I should say, their life'

May 11th - Cllr Ellwood announced that he couldn't understand what all the fuss was about pollution as his Mother had lived (presumably unaffected by it) under the flight path at Heathrow?

Whilst people have been encouraged to take part in consultation, objectors have been subjected to name calling and public humiliation. There are too many examples to list and so I am listing the most recent. http://www.guildford-dragon.com/2016/07/10/letter-not-surprised-mr-patons-comparison/#comment-157440

The Local Plan has divided communities and highlighted weaknesses and alliances, which have resulted in a breakdown of trust between residents and those whose job it is to implement the Plan.
The Plan has been roundly criticized and objected to and yet it is presented to us once again. Many feel the consultations to date have been worthless and feel they have already made their points, which were ignored and will not therefore be making them again as they fail to see the point?

It simply is not possible to address infrastructure shortfalls by building in the hope that developers contributions will cover the costs as the level of development needed negates any benefits gained and in many cases, the situation is made worse.

Central government funding is needed to address current problems so that funding from development can be used to implement additional infrastructure needed to make new sites viable without damaging their surroundings. It must be accepted that geography and lack of previous investment leaves some areas with less opportunity to do this than others.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

Whilst I recognise the need for more housing in Guildford, I strongly believe building in Normandy is not the best option. I object to all development in areas at risk from flooding.

Any development carried out in or around this area, will add to the flooding, which so often occurs in the Wey and Mid Thames Valleys and any additional large developments will just add to the misery for those who live in those areas.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I strongly object to the Local Plan which is unsustainable, flawed and I question the credibility of the report by Hearns as being an independent, non-bias report.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

1. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

2. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. We believe that as well as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as well as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First we believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly we believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

3. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term... considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

SITES - POLICIES A1 TO A57

Each of these objections relates to each of the sites in the Green Belt.

We object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

POLICY A25 - Gosden Hill Farm

We object to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds we believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick’s Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement (see also below).

We object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon-a road which is already under traffic stress (see also below).

POLICY A43 AND A43a – Garlick’s Arch

We object to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

We have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.
It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham school was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, a primary school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site. Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

POLICY D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

We object to this policy:

1. The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

2. The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

POLICY E1 - Meeting employment needs

We object to this policy.

1. We object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

2. The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

3. We object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

POLICY E2 - Location for new employment floorspace

We object to this policy.

It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. We also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

POLICY E6 - The leisure and visitor experience

We object to this policy.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature.

Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

POLICY E7 Guildford Town Centre

We object to this policy.

1 The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. We suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

2 There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

3 There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

4 The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

5 The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

6 The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers.

POLICY H1 – Homes for all

We object to this policy.

A greater proportion than 60% of Surrey University students should be housed in university accommodation. The university should be encouraged through this Plan and the planning process to increase provision of university accommodation. It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinized or evaluated.

POLICY H2 – Affordable homes

We object to this policy on the grounds it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale vale of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

POLICY H3 – Rural Exception Homes

We object to this policy for a number of reasons:

1. The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses through all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

2. The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations were available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

3. The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

4. The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. We are concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

5. The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular we believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

6. The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

7. The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

POLICY I1 - Infrastructure and delivery

We object to this policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

POLICY I2 - Supporting the Department of Transport’s “Road Investment Strategy”

We object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).
Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

POLICY P1 – Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty

We object to this policy as we are concerned it policy weakens existing protection when it should strengthen it. It is dependent on the Surrey Hills Management Plan. This welcomes housing development. Even major (undefined) development in the AONB would be permitted if exceptional (undefined) circumstances could be demonstrated. It should be tightened up.

POLICY P2 – Green Belt

We object to this policy.

1. It does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

2. The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the... borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt

3. Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of green belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

4. The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. We believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

5. As mentioned above we note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and we consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. We would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (We assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) We reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

6. We object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them. We also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

7. To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. We cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead. This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

8. Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” We believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

General Comment on Policies

The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little. Comments on specific policies

POLICY S1 – Presumption in favour of sustainable development

We object to this policy. The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
POLICY S2 – Borough Wide Strategy

We object to Policy S2 on a number of grounds:

1. The housing number of 13,860 new homes is excessive. The number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

2. The number is in any event based on an arbitrary and inappropriate Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. Rushmoor is excluded in spite of it being easily reached from Guildford town centre. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any commonsense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton, Haslemere, Reigate and Redhill and Basingstoke but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

3. These concerns have been raised repeatedly since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinize it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” as a Housing market Area reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guildford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

4. The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. We have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

5. The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

6. The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN were not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

7. It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

8. The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London's commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

9. This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. We believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

10. The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

11. The Plan is out of balance in proposing 36% of all new housing in the three wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon and Horsley. These are currently rural areas whose identities will be greatly and detrimentally changed by these proposals.

General comments:
We have serious, general objections to the plan which are summarized below as well as being expanded upon in our comments on numbered policies in the draft plan.

- In common with many others we do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and we believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented Councillors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.

- The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

- We do not believe the draft plan accords with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

- Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not itself a very special circumstance justifying an indiscriminate removal of sites from the Green Belt. Having properly calculated a housing needs number, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt and AONB. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be considered on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

- Stronger assurances should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.

- The A247 through Clandon is overburdened by traffic already and is unsuitable as an A road in any event. In parts it is too narrow for two lorries to pass and lorries routinely mount the pavement at speed in a dangerous fashion. We believe the plan should include proposals to provide other routes for traffic to take traffic away from the A247.

- We object to the Gosden Hill proposal. We do not believe very exceptional circumstances have been shown to justify taking this site out of the Green Belt. Even if the Gosden Hill development were to remain in the plan we believe the boundary should be explicitly drawn so as to prevent it being visible from West Clandon. In addition development should be conditional on the A3 improvements and new railway station.

- We object to the Garlick’s Arch proposal. This site was removed from consideration before the previous draft of the plan was issued. We do not understand how this site has been brought back into the plan. We do not believe exceptional circumstances have been shown to justify taking this site out of the Green Belt. The site was not discussed in the Green Belt and Countryside study and there seems to have been no consideration of the justification for removing it from the Green Belt

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I have just become aware of the proposals for extensive housing in and around Guildford. Whilst I appreciate that there is a shortage of low cost and social housing in this area, I feel that the number of houses proposed to be built is excessive. Such development would not only put too much strain on services but would also eat into the Green Belt land which would impact on quality of life of existing and new residents alike.

I understand that some high density ie high rise housing is proposed. The two existing residential blocks along the Portsmouth Road have been a blot on Guildford's landscape since they were built. There has been endless evidence to show such schemes have failed not only from a town planning viewpoint but more particularly from the position of those living there.

I urge the council to deal with these proposals by exercising balance so that some new housing can be provided without destroying the beauty and unique identity of Guildford. In this way those who come to live here can enjoy the benefit that those of us who have lived here for some time have enjoyed for so long.

1. I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

1. The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
1. I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43)

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced by a Greenfield site?

There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hour no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

1. I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

1. I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable

1. I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY E6 - The leisure and visitor experience

I OBJECT. Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a SouthWest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

I trust that the objections made above are fully taken into consideration and that the Plan is amended accordingly.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
1. I OBJECT to (POLICY H1 – Homes for all). Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim to be necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should be provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

1. POLICY H3 – Rural Exception Homes

I OBJECT as this is a Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.
The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added pollution and risk to injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

1. I OBJECT to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1)

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision for the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

1. I OBJECT due to the congestion development will cause to the trunk roads A3/M25 (Policy I2)

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

1. I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

   Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

1. I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

   I OBJECT to the proposals to remove the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, together with sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43). National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’ or the land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever!!

   There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached. GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

   Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I OBJECT in the strongest possible terms to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016). This Plan is unsustainable, unworkable and, in many provisions, unnecessary.

I set out below my objection to specific policies and matters within the Plan:

1 I OBJECT to the Local Plan as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.
The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are just unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and West Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

2 I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

1. The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.
2. The Housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.
3. The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and why were Councillors not allowed to scrutinise it? The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result in coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)
   - The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
   - A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
   - The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
     - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
     - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
     - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
   - It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable. Why is this so?

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the changed policy A25 Gosden Hill for the development of 1700 homes which is still far too much.
2. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflates the ignores constraints.
3. Gosden Hill is located entirely within the Green Belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Gosden Hill performs all five functions of green belt,
4. The site has no provision for foul or surface water sewerage and adjoining sewerage is at capacity
5. The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure. It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.
6. The development of this site cannot be sustainable and will cause massive congestion onto surrounding roads. The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will exit straight on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon.
7. I object to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through Send and West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).
8. The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.
9. A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
1. I object to the changed policy A43 Garlick’s Arch for 400 homes and 6 travelling show people pitches
2. It ignores all the thousands of previous objections made by local people
3. There is no proven demand for travelling show people plots in this location
4. There is no need for putting houses on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
5. The allocation of 28.9 ha is an excessive land grab into the Green Belt. If we take a normal density of 30 homes per ha and it is at the end of the day proven that there is a need for 400 homes in this location the land requirement is 13 ha not 28.9 ha which is more than double. This replicates a similar over land grab at Burnt Common where the factor is 7 times the land required.
6. This confirms the worrying impression that GBC have a pre-determined policy of building on the Green Belt at every opportunity. The arithmetic does not stack up. One would have thought that they would as custodians of the green belt be intent on conserving it rather than exploiting it.
7. The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.
8. Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in an unsustainable location. It does not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. The site is unsuitable due to lack of access to sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be dependent on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.
9. The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.
10. I object to the proposal to remove Garlick’s Arch from the Green Belt. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for this land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever. There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and the neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in West Clandon, Send and Ripley will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.
11. I object to the development at Garlick’s Arch because of flood risk. The site at Garlick’s Arch is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.
12. I object to the loss of rural employment on the site. The development at Garlick’s Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises.
13. I object to the potential loss of Ancient Woodland on the site. The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees that existed in the year 1600.
14. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1). Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road and Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

15. Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Ripley, and Send are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition. I object to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

16. Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, already suffer from parking problems. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

17. With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become a popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the village on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

18. The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the roads becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

19. I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1). Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

20. Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

21. Many of the utilities in the West Clandon, East Clandon, Burpham, Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

22. Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

23. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2). There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

24. I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3). Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health.

25. I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43). Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

26. It is clear that with this site being added at the eleventh hour and no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
1. I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common and to the proposed inclusion of Burnt Common as an Industrial Strategic Employment Site
2. This previous allocation for B1c, B2 and B8 development was removed from the 2014 draft due to all the objections made previously.
3. The word “minimum” is a change from the previous “maximum” in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land. This change alone is unacceptable since even if there was a need to build 7,000 sq m at Burnt Common this development would only require 1.4 ha at a standard plot ratio density of 50% not 9.26 ha. There is no justification for zoning an additional 7.86 ha in the Green Belt.
4. There is in fact no justification for building any more industrial development in the borough particularly at Burnt Common. The current industrial pipeline of granted consents of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space is double the 19,000 sq m said to be needed by Aecom who justify the need for new space on top of the existing pipeline by a completely unsubstantiated suggestion that “there is the possibility that some pipeline developments may not come forward at all, or be developed in different quantities by use class than has been consented.”
5. There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units.
6. The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 9.26 hectares at Send in the Green Belt.
7. The Employment Land Needs Assessment update 2017 (ELNA) states “that the pipeline for employment floorspace defined by planning permissions yet to be implemented and prior approvals suggests the potential for an additional 33,607sqm of B use class floorspace to come forward. This figure comprises a net loss of 4,750sqm of B1a use class floorspace and a net gain of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space.”
8. 38,357 sq m of B1c, B2 or B8 use class is quite sufficient supply for the plan period and is in fact more space than the 3.9 ha of industrial land that is said to be needed for the plan period by Aecom. Since if you were to develop 3.9 ha at a plot ratio of 50% it would provide new industrial development of 19,000 sq m approximately half of current planning permissions granted. This does not justify the need for new development of industrial space on the Green Belt in such areas as Burnt Common.
9. The reality of demand for industrial space is that it is both nationally and locally in decline and this is evidenced by old existing permissions that have not been taken up and developed. The ELNA alludes incorrectly to the poor quality of existing space being a “constraint” on supply and fails to acknowledge that this assertion cannot apply to potential newly developed space e.g. the undeveloped pipeline of 38,357sqm.
10. The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock.
11. It will join up existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt.
12. The ongoing poor quality of the updated research undertaken by Aecom in the Employment Land Needs Assessment 2017 does not support industrial development on land in the Green Belt at Burnt Common.
13. The Aecom research is generally superficial and lacks sufficient detail and analysis between B1c, B2 and B8 use classes and no reliable individual analysis has been undertaken of the widely different supply and demand dynamics of light industrial, general industrial and warehousing and distribution floor space.

14. The potential inclusion of a waste management facility mentioned at paragraph 4.4.23a lacks enough detail for proper consultation and is completely inappropriate.

The Plan now states: “the presumption in favour of sustainable development will not automatically apply to policies relating to sites protected under the Birds and Habitats Directives and/or designated as Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSIs), land designated as Green Belt, Local Green Space, the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, designated heritage assets and locations identified as at risk of flooding.”

Gosden Hill and Blackwell Farm (both currently in the green belt) are called “urban extensions” surely a euphemism for urban sprawl? Garlick’s Arch and Burnt Common developments take land from the green belt to extend Ripley/Send. One of the important specific purposes of the green belt is to prevent urban sprawl.

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

Objections to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Local Plan (June 2016) and to the continued inclusion in the plan of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA), now known as Three Farms Meadows (TFM) - Allocation A35- for the phased development of a new settlement of up to 2100 dwellings.

I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.

I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.

I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans.

I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan's new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).

I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road I specifically object to:

1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars.

2. The increased volume of car A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads.

3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements.

4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them).

5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest.

6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity.

I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).

I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously - air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU permitted. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village's green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC's Planning Officers.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd's (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.
Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I continue to object to the plans for Three Farms Meadows in the draft Local Plan for after the initial plan was overwhelmingly rejected by the full GBC planning committee.

It is an unsustainable site identified in all versions of the plan because of the Infrastructure constraints of the site and the physical location.

The railway stations identified in the application are linked to the site by inadequate country roads. There have been a number of serious accidents within 200 meters of the site in the last year with current levels of traffic.

There is nothing in the application that considers the current traffic problems and congestion. EG Painshill junction of A245 and A3. Also the high numbers of cars and coaches visiting the world famous Royal Horticultural Garden Wisley opposite the site seem to have been ignored.

Local roads are at capacity particularly when the SRN is not free-flowing (accidents, diversions, roadworks etc). The application suggests that Plough Lane (in a flood plain) and Ockham lane are a possible route for a new public transport service, linking new residents with many of the key services mentioned by the developer (shops, services, station, local hospital, etc). Use by cyclists of local narrow country lane will delay transport further. The applicant puts great weight on sustainable transport, walking and cycling which is ridiculous on narrow, twisting lanes with no footpaths.

There is very little employment available onsite. A majority of residents will have to travel to work. Few will be able find work within a reasonable distance using sustainable transport meaning vehicular forms of will be required.

Suggestions that the use of Woking station as a major hub are laughable as the use of Wisely Road running past the RHS garden entrance and over the narrow canal and bridges (single carriageway) is limited to small numbers of vehicles. The changed “Opportunities” listed in this policy reinforce why this site is totally inappropriate talking of “good urban design”

I note that the new plans are increased in area, the south of the site faces the Surrey Hills AONB and will have a negative impact on the vie

I note that the new plans include an additional 3.1 ha from the green belt without any justification ...
I am a little concerned that the GBC has not explained their reasons for rejecting the original planning application in a timely way.

I am mystified by the transport analysis undertaken by the applicants consultants. The data seems to contradict the figures supplied in the plans by a Government Transport department to modify Junction 10 to ease what they consider is a highly congested junction.

I object to the housing number and particularly the fact that the Council have not, as required used any constraints such as green belt, infrastructure, air quality, AONB, TBHSPA etc. I believe that the housing number is unsound and open to legal challenge.

I note that pollution levels nearby at Junction 10 exceed recommended levels. Building more houses and further motorised transport will exacerbate the problem for current affected residents.

I consider for the reasons listed above and numerous other reasons that this application be rejected.

Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategies and Sites June-July 2016 Consultation

I am at present enjoying one of my very frequent visits (2 or 3 per annum) to my parents in West Horsley, in company with my 2 children- unfortunately due to work pressures my husband has to be elsewhere. Together with my 3 sisters I was brought up in West Horsley so I have high regards for it. I am not at all happy by what I have read about the above, and wish to protest.

The Green Belt Act 1948 established green belts in perpetuity. They cannot be moved at will by planners as is proposed here. Legislation requires that new housing has to be of a similar character and density to what is there at present. Common sense dictates that there be adequate roads, schools, medical facilities and drainage etc to accommodate any huge increase in population brought about by a large increase in housing in an area.

From what I have seen, none of these conditions has been fulfilled. Therefore the proposed developments should not go ahead. Please register my objection.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I object very strongly to the proposals in your new local plan, particularly on the way they impact on West Horsley.

First, I object to your proposal to take our village out of the Green Belt. We value very highly the rural character of West Horsley, and we selected this house mainly because of that. One of the essential characteristics of Green Belt is its openness and permanence (National Planning Policy Framework, para 79).

Second, your plan says nothing about infrastructure but proposes an increase in the number of homes in the village of almost 40%. Local schools are already full, medical facilities are already stretched, it is difficult even now to find parking spaces at the railway station or in the village, and the roads system would need to be considerably improved to cope with extra traffic. I object to the urbanisation that these changes would make necessary.

Third, our home is at the southern end of The Street and in a Conservation Area. This is meant to give us extra protection against development. Your plan includes a proposal to build 40 new homes on Bell & Colville land which is adjacent to our property and I object very strongly to this development. Apart from the difficulties for access to and from the site, it would completely negate the benefits intended in a Conservation Area. Access to the site would be extremely hazardous in my opinion. If access was from the A246 Guildford to Leatherhead road, there is already heavy traffic at all times of day but as it would be so close to the entrance to Cranmore School, it would become extremely congested at the beginning and end of the school day. It is already heavily congested at these times. If access was from The Street, this would be even more hazardous as The Street is a narrow village street with houses on both sides and a dangerous bend at exactly the spot where access would have to be. In my view this would be asking for trouble, accidents and other incidents involving school children, their families and normal commuters.

Please take note of my objections and think again.

The traffic on Forest Road from early morning to late evening is already so heavy that one has to wait and wait to cross to visit or shop or get to Surrey gardens.

The car park at Effingham Junction station is already full each day. Motorists even parking on the common road. East Horsely station car park would not be able to cope with an influx of commuters.

Understanding that development will be required in the future, I feel that the numbers cited are beyond reality. Little thought seems to have been given to the load on old infrastructure and drainage, school populations, transport or medical services. There seems to be no understanding of existing facilities in the villages or what might be required in the future.

Hoping that more careful thought and planning will be given to the future of these areas and the concerns of the residents.

1. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition. I object to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as Ripley, already suffer from parking problems. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the village on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

I trust that the objections made above are fully taken into consideration and that the Plan is amended accordingly.

1. I object to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

I strongly object to the proposals to remove the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, together with sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43). National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these villages and the land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever. This is one of the reasons I chose to move to Ripley.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

Objections to Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan June 2016

I am emailing you today as I very strongly object to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016). This Plan is totally unsustainable, and in many provisions, unnecessary.

Please see below why I object to the local plan.

1. I object to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

These all require increased car use and will lead to increased congestion and so air pollution and higher carbon dioxide emissions and a few solar panels on roofs will not compensate for the considerable environmental cost.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Policy D4: Development in urban areas and inset villages

I OBJECT to this policy

In the case of urban development there are numerous flaws, including:

- The plan envisages that 40% of homes built will be affordable, but this does not provide any accommodation for low paid workers, for example, those on the minimum wage, who cannot afford to buy “affordable” homes, nor can they pay the so-called “affordable” rent. There is a need for some expansion in social housing, especially in urban areas, where there is a greater concentration of low paid workers such as those employed in the retail, warehousing and distribution sectors.
- The number of homes planned in the urban area is too low – there is a need for regeneration in some areas, but this is ignored and instead the plan concentrates on building homes on green field sites, which does not meet the needs for housing within the town, especially with the centre. This is not a sustainable policy as building outside the town has a disproportionate effect on road traffic.

The plan envisages a large expansion of the traditional “bricks and mortar” retail sector, but this is a sector in long term decline.

Policy E1: Sustainable employment

I OBJECT to this policy

• the evidence base is unreliable
• there is unclear differentiation between B class uses
• only high added-value business uses are desirable, not low grade, low employment warehousing which is land hungry
• industrial and commercial businesses must be concentrated in the urban area, or existing business parks (eg Slyfield) not in the rural environment which the infrastructure is unable to support
• the rural environment must support micro or high tech businesses, agricultural industries, and tourism, and these sectors must not be damaged by general industrial development which is inappropriate.

Policy E2: Location for new employment floorspace

I OBJECT to this policy

In my opinion all new office and research and development (use Class B1a and B1b) floor space should be within Guildford town centre. I do not support the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm and we do not believe there are exceptional circumstances to justify incursion into this permanent and high quality area of Green Belt.

Policy E3: Maintaining employment capacity and improving employment floorspace

I OBJECT to this policy.

I do not support the policy of resisting change of use from B1a to residential because it flies in the face of positive property market solutions for the regeneration of brownfield land and is contrary to current government policy which has recently been reaffirmed and permits a change of use from B1a (offices) to C3 (residential).

Policy E7: Guildford Town Centre

I OBJECT to this policy

There should be much more residential use of the town centre. There is limited need for further retail, which will disadvantage existing retailers as well as using valuable land inefficiently. There is an urgent need for a brownfield register and to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area. CIL strategy must promote brownfield redevelopment

Policy H1: Homes for all

I OBJECT to this policy

The housing mix is based on the assumptions set out in the Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which has not been scrutinised or evaluated. I support high density development in the urban area. On campus dedicated student accommodation should be provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up suitable family accommodation in the urban area.

Policy H2: Affordable homes

I OBJECT to this policy

“Affordable” homes, under national definitions, means homes which are sold or rented at 80% of market value. Even at 70% rented this means that these homes will not be cheap, and starter homes will not be made available for local people. There is a viability clause (4.2.40) which means that in practice this could be unenforceable. We would be losing countryside for no local benefit.

Policy H3: Rural exception homes

I OBJECT to this policy

This policy allows potential development OUTSIDE settlements even in Green Belt and includes wording to propose extension of this policy for Market housing. This is a Trojan horse to allow development where it would not otherwise be permitted. Far from being exceptional, this policy seeks to introduce a scheme where housing could be built anywhere, with no restriction, other than the general link to some form of connection with the Guildford housing list.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Policy I1: Infrastructure and delivery

I OBJECT to this policy.

- Various aspects of Infrastructure are acknowledged as congested, inadequate for the existing population and not able to accommodate much growth. However, greenfield sites – requiring heavy infrastructure investment – are targeted in order to generate CIL income for the council. This is not sensible. The current draft CIL scale also encourages development on greenfield sites rather than brownfield.

- The methodology commissioned by the Council to assess traffic and the corresponding roads infrastructure needs is inadequate for the purpose of the Local Plan and identifies only the tip of the iceberg in terms of existing congestion. Looking at local traffic situations around the Borough it becomes clear that the schemes proposed will not solve congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Under the growth proposed some locations would require highway schemes that involve demolition of property and road-widening in residential areas to solve the resultant congestion. Even the A3 improvements are not guaranteed to take place but they are being used to justify removing large areas from the Green Belt before detailed traffic assessments have taken place. These detailed investigations are being deferred until the planning application stage and will be left to developers to prepare. If a site then proves to be unsustainable its Green Belt protection will have been lost for no reason and unsuitable development will take place by a more insidious process.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Policy I2: Supporting the Department for Transport’s “Road Investment Strategy”

I OBJECT to this policy.

- This policy is concerned only with the strategic road network – the A3 and M25 for which the responsibility and decision-making lies with Highways England. It is only reasonable that the council will work closely with Highways England to ensure that the Local Plan does not utilise land in a way that limit the scope for future improvements.

However, the proposals for the A3 are undecided and the council has suggested a very expensive tunnel proposal that, even if HE decided to go ahead with it, is unlikely to be delivered until the end of the plan period. Less expensive alternative A3 improvements would not be delivered before implementation of the current draft Local Plan and would deliver a massive growth in traffic. The road improvements are likely to lead to significant disruption to traffic during the construction phase on top of an already overloaded road network. It would be folly to make matters worse by committing to such a large housing number and the only logical conclusion is that a very significant traffic constraint should be applied to the OAN for this Local Plan.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Policy I3: Sustainable transport for new developments

I OBJECT to this policy.

- The practicalities of sustainable transport have not been properly considered, it is not sustainable to build dormitory towns and call them sustainable. Not everyone can cycle all the time.

- Large developments outside the town centre cannot maximise sustainable travel. The further from the town centre, the less sustainable the development will be.

- Reliance on cycling discriminates against vulnerable members of the community. How can the disabled, those with small children, or the very old, or the infirm, or those who are ill, cycle outside the town in order to commute, or even inside the town? Only some people cycle – and Guildford has some steep hills, especially going out of town. Park and rides are slow – how can those with a 3 hour commute add 1 hour to their journey from using park and rides?

The only sustainable mechanism for new developments is to have them in the town centre close to the railway and the main shopping links where a hoppa bus can provide satisfactory links for those who cannot walk or cycle.

I accept the need for more housing, and particularly affordable housing, but there is substantial evidence that the numbers you base the housing need on contain major errors and substantially under-record outward migration. A more robust analysis is required to give confidence in the numbers.

There is a fundamental and growing problem with congestion and inadequate infrastructure which is nowhere near adequately addressed by your proposals. Going ahead with the 2017 Plan will cause harm to the very qualities that underpin the economic success of Guildford and aggravate congestion.

There are inadequate plans to create enough affordable homes. The revised proposal that only 60% of full time Guildford based University students will be provided with accommodation on campus puts unnecessary pressure on housing stock in the town. An 80% target will help by freeing up many more affordable homes relatively quickly.

I must declare I am utterly opposed to this proposal. This site is new and was not included in the regulations 18 draft, and has not been consulted upon previously.

It's inappropriate with the narrow width of the single track road, of Potters Lane, off the A3 motorway, this gets very congested in the morning and late afternoon, owing to the fact, of the nature of the narrow road. At the top of Potters Lane, the one sided parking and narrowness of the road makes congestion worse. I believe it is a shame that this area will be ruined and blighted by extra traffic, in the vicinity of such a lovely little church. So I utterly oppose this development plan.

Yours sincerely, C.E.Weekley.

I object to the proposal to inset Chilworth Village from the Green Belt. As it is located in the North Downs, surrounded by the Surrey Hills AONB, and includes the heritage site of Chilworth Gunpowder Mills, Chilworth needs to stay in the Green Belt to protect it from inappropriate development and urban sprawl. There is no justification for insetting it.

The Local Plan refers to only removing areas from the Green Belt for ‘exceptional circumstances’ and I can’t see any justification in the case of Chilworth, as future development would impact on the overlooking Surrey Hills AONB.

The green belt is not only important to this area, it is beneficial health wise to all residents and visitors.

We OBJECT to the GBC Draft Borough Plan regarding Site Allocation 46 (Normandy and Flexford) on the following grounds:

• There is no proven case or exceptional circumstance to justify the need for an additional secondary school within the area:
  • Surrey County Council has already proposed that an urban extension at Blackwell Farm ("....would be a more sustainable location...")
  • Kings College, Ash Manor, Connaught School and Hoe Valley Free School are all undersubscribed
  • The birthrate in Guildford has fallen in the past 2 years.

• The road and transport infrastructure has already reached saturation:
  • Local roads will be unable to sustain the additional traffic that will ensue
    ◦ It is difficult to envisage any highway improvements that would relieve this additional load
    ◦ The potential combination of A3 road improvements and major site work within A46 over the next 15 years would be catastrophic; leading to traffic chaos and population health issues.

• This development led proposal will cause irreparable damage to the local environment and will place an unacceptable strain on the local infrastructure:
  • It will destroy ancient woodland, trees, hedgerows, farmland and semi-improved grassland and stream
  • Light, noise and litter pollution will increase due to the influx of humans and domestic animals to the area
• Habitats of protected wildlife species will be damaged and/or destroyed.

Objections to the continued inclusion in the Guildford Borough Council Proposed Local Plan (June 2016) of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA), now known as Three Farms Meadows (TFM) - Allocation for the phased development of a new settlement of up to 2100 dwellings

I object to the inclusion of FWA/TFM in the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

1) I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt.

   The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt. FWA/TFM is prime green belt, and was given to the country for an airfield as part of the war effort, based on the promise that the land would be returned to the community after the need for an airfield had passed. This promise has been broken, and no effort has been made to see whether there is a moral or equitable duty to return this land to the existing community.

2) I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the Indeed, over 23% of the Plan's new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).

3) I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no street lights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

4) I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road

   I specifically object to:

   1. The lack of suitable public The local rail stations of Effingham Junction and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity
   2. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest
3. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them)
4. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements
5. The increased volume of car A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads
6. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars

5) I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).

6) I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously - air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU permitted Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation. In particular, two schools should not be planned in the FWA/TFM area which is known to have poor air quality, which will only be exacerbated by the planned development.

7) I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village's green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

8) I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, - now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC's Planning After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd's (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 9th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter. Those reasons remain valid, and there are no adequate ways to overcome them.

9) Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment.

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

• NEW A3 JUNCTION - the notion of a 4 way junction onto the A3 at Burnt Common would NOT alleviate any of the current traffic issues in and around Send and Ripley - on the contrary it would ATTRACT more traffic as it would be seen as an 'easy' option to using the current Ripley North bound and Burnt Common South bound access ramps on to the A3. Both Send & Ripley cannot take an increase in traffic without severe detriment to the quality of everyday life be it frustration in traffic jams or ill-health caused by increased pollution.

• DEVELOPMENT AT GARLICKS ARCH - This is a new proposed site and has not been consulted upon previously and no exceptional circumstances have been put forward to justify this inappropriate development within the Green The site has a particular conservation sensitivity as it is covered in ancient woodland where some trees are reported as 500 years old. The proposal includes for Industrial development which could easily be provided at nearby Slyfield Industrial Estate where current infrastructure could be upgraded to cope with such increase.
• LACK OF CONSULTATION - There are sites in the Draft Local Plan that were not included in the Regulation 18 draft such as Garlicks Arch, Winds Ridge and Send Hill and have NOT been considered upon previously. One of the sites is reported to be unsafe by way of land fill waste and is therefore unsuitable for development.

• SCHOOLS - there appears to be no provision within the Council proposals for any immediate provision for any new schools or extension to existing schools, most of which are already under extreme pressure through oversized classes and lack of funding.

• HEALTH SERVICES - there appears to be no provision in the Council proposals for any immediate provision for any new medical facilities such as Doctors Surgeries or extensions to existing facilities.

• TRANSPORT the introduction of a proposed 14,000 homes in the Borough will put an unacceptable and unsustainable pressure on public services that are already failing the public due to cut backs and lack of investment. Many residents will prefer to use their own vehicles to go even short distances and suffer the inevitable traffic jams, rather than use a public transport system that simply does not encourage its use.

I trust that the above points are clear and that my objection will be recorded along with the many thousands of others the Council will undoubtedly receive as a result of their unworkable and highly unpopular development plan.

1. GREEN BELT EROSION - Ripley, Wisley, Clandon and Send should not be removed from the Green Belt. Send provides a buffer between Woking and Guildford. The Green Belt was originally formed to avoid amalgamation of villages into towns and towns into cities, by unregulated development or Urban Sprawl. Much has been made in recent years of the plight of certain species of birds and reptiles and destruction of their habitats by development - and yet the Council are exacerbating this process in their wanton desire to take the easy and cheapest option and develop in the Green Belt - home to a myriad of Flora and Fauna. The Green Belt should be left alone and more use made of existing developed (brown field) land - a prime example being Wisley Airfield.

DISPROPORTIONATE DEVELOPMENT - The Council are proposing thousands of houses in Send, Ripley and Wisley, areas that already suffer horrendous traffic issues as main feeder routes to the A3 and M25. The whole road network is under extreme pressure during rush hours and in the event of traffic accidents or roadworks gridlock is often the result.

POLICY A42 – CLOCKBARN NURSERY, TANNERY LANE

- The increase in the number of residential units from 45 to 60 (+15) is over a 30% uplift on a relatively small site and will lead to a cramped overdevelopment and an unacceptable increase in hardstanding to accommodate the increased parking and access roads resulting in further erosion of the Green Belt.
- Tannery Lane is a narrow secondary road that in parts is almost a single track width and therefore traffic problems will be more frequent commencing with the construction of the development requiring large vehicles and plant to manoeuvre into and out of Tannery Lane.
- The junction of Tannery Lane with Send Road is very restricted and requires substantial improvement to accommodate the increased use and to provide adequate safety for both pedestrians and vehicles.
• The proposal would severely impact on the open aspect of the surrounding Green Belt and in particular the views from the River Wey Navigation.
• The increase in units now proposed by the Council completely ignores the hundreds of previous objections made by local people.
• Recent flooding issues in and around the immediate area highlight the need for a conscience approach to development and by increasing the number of residential units on this site the incidence of flooding will be increased.
• The recent approval of the planning application (14/P/02289) for the Cartbridge Traditional Narrowboat Basin on the River Wey Navigation, (construction works are now underway) already puts pressure on the Tannery Lane junctions with Polseden Lane and Send Road. Therefore the cumulative effect of both developments will result in an increase in the potential for accidents at the road junctions unless substantial highway improvements are made. Also there are over 50 parking spaces within the Cartbridge Basin application site which, together with the associated hardstanding, severely impact on the rural nature of the surrounding Green Belt area.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

POLICY A43 – LAND AT GARLICKS ARCH, SEND MARSH

• The proposal for 400 residential units and 6 travelling showpeoples plots on a Green Belt site is contrary to current policies and ignores the many thousands of objections previously made by local people.
• No ‘Special Circumstances’ exist or have been put forward to justify development on this Green Belt site.
• The development will put extreme pressure on local roads and when considered with the other nearby proposals for development currently being put forward by the Council in the Draft Local Plan, (both residential and commercial/industrial), will result in gridlock at peak times with the resultant detriment to the quality of life and environment in the area, particularly considering the impact that the proposed North and South slip roads on to the A3 would make by drawing more traffic on to the local road network.
• Residential development alongside major highways is known to cause health problems in the very young and old and if this site is developed the long term impact on the residents will in turn put more pressure on local and County Health facilities, particularly if the A3 slip roads abutting one side of the site, (as previously mentioned) are constructed thus increasing traffic flow around the site. The A3 is a major Trunk road that will inevitably become overloaded in the not too distant future given the lack of infrastructure improvements proposed by the Council to cope with the influx of traffic with regard to both proposed imminent and long term development.
• The site contains ancient woodlands and should be protected (and enhanced) against development that might impinge upon the quality of the surrounding area and adversely affect the survival of the trees which are regarded as an important amenity for the area and can be seen from distant views.
• Garlicks Arch adds to the important Green Barrier that separates the villages of Ripley and Send Marsh and any erosion of this will set precedent and eventually result in the merging of the two villages contrary to National Green Belt policy.
• The site is currently designated as within Flood Zone 2/3 and as such development within Flood Plains should be avoided. If development is inevitable then Surface Water mitigation/management must ensure that flood water is properly dealt with and NOT directed so as to cause flooding elsewhere on existing developed land.
• There is no proven demand to accommodate Travelling Showpeople in this area who, by the very nature of their business, will bring more traffic problems for the Ripley and Send villages when transporting very large vehicles to and from the site, where the visual impact of the vehicles and structures when stored, will be detrimental to the surrounding area.

POLICY A58 – LAND AROUND BURNT COMMON WAREHOUSE LONDON ROAD SEND

• The proposal for commercial/industrial development on this site is contrary to Green Belt policy.
• There are a number of suitable vacant sites and buildings in Slyfield and Guildford and there is no proven need to develop this essentially farmland site.
• The previous development proposal for this site in the 2014 Draft Local Plan was eventually deleted from that plan due to the objections raised. In the 2016 Draft Local Plan the proposal was re-introduced for a MAXIMUM development of 7000m², however in the current 2017 Draft Local Plan the proposal is for a MINIMUM of 7,000m² which could lead to a vast overdevelopment of the site with resulting negative impact on the quality of the surrounding area and the inevitable increase in traffic problems, particularly when considered with the many local developments currently being put forward in the 2017 Draft Local Plan and as stated above.
• The proposed development would be detrimental to the existing residential properties along this section of the London Road by way of increased noise, traffic, environmental and visual impact, including the potential for parked lorries and trailers when arriving at the site ‘out of hours’.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )
POLICY P2 – GREEN BELT – SEND BUSINESS PARK OMISSION

- It is noted in paragraph 4.3.15 that it is intended to inset (exclude) a number of developed sites from the Green Belt, Send Business Park in Tannery Lane being one of them even though there are no ‘Special Circumstances’ put forward to justify this.
- The site is a non-conforming use within the Green Belt however this alone does not justify its exclusion from the Green Belt, in fact there are a myriad of such sites throughout the entire National Green Belt.
- The site is NOT a major developed site within the Green Belt and therefore does not warrant exclusion. The group of existing buildings is not excessive and is surrounded by open fields and the River Wey Navigation therefore the site has an open character (an essential characteristic referred to in Policy P2 paragraph 4.3.12 and 14) and makes an important contribution to the Green Belt.
- If exclusion of this site from the Green Belt designation is intended to promote further development, residential or commercial, then this will only serve to increase the problems of traffic congestion and highway safety along Tannery Lane and its junctions with Poiseden Lane and Send Road particularly at peak flow times.

I trust that the above objections are self-explanatory and I would be grateful if the Council and the Planning Inspectorate would carefully consider the points raised in relation to the proposed alterations made to the 2017 Draft Local Plan and in securing a positive future for Guildford Borough and its residents.

1) I OBJECT to Send village being taken out of the Green Belt, the Green Belt was intended to be permanent and should remain so.

2) I OBJECT to building 45 houses at Clockbarn Nursery, Tanner Lane is far too narrow and the junction with Send Road very hazardous. Planning permission has been granted for 64 apartments at the Tannery site and for the marina both of which will add to more heavy traffic through the village.

3) I OBJECT to building 400 houses and industrial space at the Garlick Arches. The area is totally unsuitable for houses as the land floods and is also covered by ancient woodland.

4) I OBJECT to the development of 40 houses and 2 travellers pitches at Send Hill again the road is too narrow with single access.

5) I OBJECT to the new interchange with the A3 at Burnt Common, again Send would have to take extra traffic through the village, which would become gridlocked. noise pollution levels are already at excessive levels and would worsen.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the Policy A42 change at Clockbarn in Tannery Lane because the increase to 60 houses in place of 45 homes is excessive. Tannery Lane is extremely narrow and not wide enough to carry significant increases in traffic. It is already dangerous along the lane and it will impact the open countryside and will unnecessarily erode the Green Belt status of the area. The Marina development has already been approved and the area would be over-development.

I object to the Policy A43 change at Garlick’s Arch to allow for 400 homes and 6 Travelling Show people plots. This proposal will saturate our village as this number of houses is excessive and will destroy the ancient woodland that has existed for hundreds of years. Guildford Borough Council should be protecting this area. It will join up Ripley and Send villages unnecessarily and will erode the Green Belt and generate excessive traffic, blocking the already gridlocked roads. The area is prone to flooding and this proposal will increase the likelihood of further flooding. There is no demand for Travelling Showpeople plots in this area, and ‘no exceptional circumstances’ exist to destroy the Green Belt status of this location. There are other areas in the Borough available for development. This area is already over-burdened, the Doctors surgery and schools are struggling to cope with existing volumes as it is.

I object to Policy A58 at Burnt Common because it was deleted from the 2014 draft because of previous objections and there is no requirement in the area for a minimum of 7,000 sq m of industrial warehousing. It will impact the small surrounding roads, and the traffic will be further gridlocked. The Ripley exit off the A3 in both directions is already dangerous with cars speeding through the village to cut through Send and Ripley. There is no demand for industrial warehousing in this area and there are warehouses in Slyfield Green which are purpose built and empty. It will erode the Green Belt further and join up Ripley and Send villages unnecessarily.

I object to the proposal to inset Send Business Park from the Green Belt because it is in a restricted vehicular access area along Tannery Lane from both directions and further expansion and development will detract from the natural beauty of the area. The existing infrastructure is not sufficient to cope with any increase in traffic and building development. It will seriously impact the area of outstanding beauty along the Wey Navigation.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

1) I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.

- I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.
  - I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous
- I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan's new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).
  - I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London
  - I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:
    1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars
    2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads
      - The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements
      - The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them)
1. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest.

2. The lack of suitable public The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity.

- I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).

8} I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously - air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

9} I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village's green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

10) I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC's Planning Committee.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd's (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.

Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I was upset by and strongly object to Send being removed from Green Belt status. This will permanently alter the character of the village and will only open the way for yet more building development in the future. We live in Send and love the fact it is surrounded by fields which gives it its rural status. With building on the Green Belt land our village feel and status will be irreversibly lost. Green Belt is exactly what it says it is and is there to protect the nature of places, provide open green spaces and enhance the lives of those that live there. Once lost, it is gone forever!

I am concerned and strongly object to the way Guildford Borough Council have tried to 'sneak' these plans through without proper consultation.

Significant changes legally require full consultation under Regulation 18. Since the last consultation major development proposals have been added to the plans and the council are obviously trying to quietly push them through. The 2014 proposal for 430 houses went down to 185 in April 2016. These have now gone up to 485! Every major site proposed for development in Send has been changed and a massive new road junction added on. I am disappointed in the council's underhanded approach to the people of Send.

Send already struggles with the large amount of traffic driving through the village which of ten results in long queues and tail backs. The infrastructure will not be able to cope with all these new build proposals. You cannot just take a small village and dump hundreds of houses and large industrial developments onto it and expect it to work. There are not enough school places, it is already extremely difficult to get a doctor's appointment at the medical centre, the roads will be permanently grid locked and the status of village and village life will be gone forever. We do not wish to be an extension of Guildford but wish to remain a separate village with our own identity.

I strongly object to policy A43.30ha Land at Garlick's Arch. There is no need for more houses on top of the 13,860 already proposed by the borough. It is Green Belt protected by the NPPF which prevents the merging of settlements. It is covered in ancient woodland with trees dating back to the 16th century and once lost, is lost forever. The latest Employment Land Needs Assessment 2015 (ELNA) shows a reduction of 80% in required employment floor space from the previous draft plan. Therefore the proposed industrial development of 7000sq m is not needed. The obvious place for any new industrial development is at Slyfield, Guildford - an industrial site already set up and running. There would then be no need to have to build a new 4-way interchange onto the A3 at Burnt Common to serve this industrial development. Surely saving money!

I strongly object to the policy A44. 1.9 HA Land West of Winds Ridge and Send Hill. This has been designated for 40 homes and 2 traveller's pitches.

Where has this come from? It was NOT included in the regulation 18 draft and has NOT been previously consulted on. This is an area of unspoilt natural beauty and should not be destroyed. The subsoil is documented as containing unsafe land fill waste which is currently vented, thereby making it unsuitable for development. Anyone visiting the village will be aware of the enormous volume of traffic it experiences daily especially during morning and evening rush hours and school drop off and collection times. The junction at the bottom of Send Hill already struggles to cope. Adding yet more houses and traveller pitches (with caravans) will make this junction impossible to cope and dangerous. Send Hill is a narrow width single track country road and certainly not built for so much extra daily traffic. Surely common sense dictates this is not a sensible idea.

Thank you for taking the time to read my concerns. Please do not allow Guildford Borough Council to take away the village status of Send with its beautiful surrounding countryside.

I object to the methodology of drawing up the plan. Guildford Borough employs consultants who allegedly have planning expertise but have done so without taking account of Surrey County Council highway planners' views, or the costs involved in improving the infrastructure, currently out side their financial capability.
The methodology is also flawed as this plan has been formulated without regard to village Neighbourhood plans. Surely, logic would suggest planning is best formed by a bottom up approach, not top down.

I object to the 2016 Draft Local Plan as it has had no regard to schools required, additional medical or hospital facilities which would make a plan sustainable.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I was upset by and strongly object to Send being removed from Green Belt status. This will permanently alter the character of the village and will only open the way for yet more building development in the future. We live in Send and love the fact it is surrounded by fields which gives it its rural status. With building on the Green Belt land our village feel and status will be irreversibly lost. Green Belt is exactly what it says it is and is there to protect the nature of places, provide open green spaces and enhance the lives of those that live there. Once lost, it is gone forever!

I am concerned and strongly object to the way Guildford Borough Council have tried to 'sneak' these plans through without proper consultation. Significant changes legally require full consultation under Regulation 18. Since the last consultation major development proposals have been added to the plans and the council are obviously trying to quietly push them through. The 2014 proposal for 430 houses went down to 185 in April 2016. These have now gone up to 485! Every major site proposed for development in Send has been changed and a massive new road junction added on. I am disappointed in the councils' underhanded approach to the people of Send.

Send already struggles with the large amount of traffic driving through the village which often results in long queues and tail backs. The infrastructure will not be able to cope with all these new build proposals. You cannot just take a small village and dump hundreds of houses and large industrial developments onto it and expect it to work. There are not enough school places, it is already extremely difficult to get a doctor's appointment at the medical centre, the roads will be permanently grid locked and the status of village and village life will be gone forever. We do not wish to be an extension of Guildford but wish to remain a separate village with our own identity.

I strongly object to policy A43.30ha Land at Garlick's Arch. There is no need for more houses on top of the 13,860 already proposed by the borough. It is Green Belt protected by the NPPF which prevents the merging of settlements. It is covered in ancient woodland with trees dating back to the 16th century and once lost, is lost forever. The latest Employment Land Needs Assessment 2015 (ELNA) shows a reduction of 80% in required employment floor space from the previous draft plan. Therefore the proposed industrial development of 7000sq m is not needed. The obvious place for any new industrial development is at Slyfield, Guildford - an industrial site already set up and running. There would then be no need to have to build a new 4-way interchange onto the A3 at Burnt Common to serve this industrial development. Surely saving money!
I strongly object to the policy A44. 1.9 HA Land West of Winds Ridge and Send Hill. This has been designated for 40 homes and 2 traveller's pitches. Where has this come from? It was NOT included in the regulation 18 draft and has NOT been previously consulted on. This is an area of unspoilt natural beauty and should not be destroyed. The subsoil is documented as containing unsafe land fill waste which is currently vented, thereby making it unsuitable for development. Anyone visiting the village will be aware of the enormous volume of traffic it experiences daily especially during morning and evening rush hours and school drop off and collection times. The junction at the bottom of Send Hill already struggles to cope. Adding yet more houses and traveller pitches (with caravans) will make this junction impossible to cope and dangerous. Send Hill is a narrow width single track country road and certainly not built for so much extra daily traffic. Surely common sense dictates this is not a sensible idea.

Thank you for taking the time to read my concerns. Please do not allow Guildford Borough Council to take away the village status of Send with its beautiful surrounding countryside.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I strongly object to the proposal to inset Send Business Park from the Green Belt because:
• It is effectively an old non-conforming user in an area of outstanding natural beauty which will be lost forever with consequent impacts on the quality of life of future generations
• There is highly restricted vehicular access along Tannery lane - in both directions
• Once again, it eliminates the openness of the Green Belt and is inappropriate

Specifically, I strongly object to Policy A42 change at Clockbarn in Tannery Lane because:
• It will cause extreme congestion at the junction with the A247. Already, at certain times of the day during the working week the whole village is gridlocked. This proposal will only serve to exacerbate the problem
• It will remove greenbelt land which gives the village its 'village feel'
• It will damage open countryside views from the River Wey Navigation and create an eye sore
• It will risk increasing the likelihood of surface water flooding

I strongly object to Policy A43 change at Garlick's Arch because:
• There is no proven demand for Travelling Showpeople plots in this location
• It will cause the village to be 'over-developed' with the consequent impact on local services such as schools and health services which are already stretched
• It will join up the villages of Ripley and Send into one ribbon development and so defeat the key purpose of having a Green Belt
• It is a flood zone 2 area
• It will cause excessive traffic which will increase air pollution and cause congestion

I strongly object to Policy A58 at Burnt Common because:
• It seems unfair to resurrect this idea given all the previous objections resulting in it being deleted from the 2014 plan
• With the increased uncertainty caused by Brexit there is an anticipated decline in demand for industrial land in the South East
• The industrial estate in Slyfield and in other parts of the borough have spare sites and excess capacity
• The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not the proposed huge allocation of over 10 hectares at Send - and in the Green Belt
• Once again, the impact on congestion will be significant

2. Number of houses required

I disagree with the number of houses required in this plan.

Much uncertainty seems to surround the figure of 693 houses required (SI-IMA figure). This is double the figure quoted only 4 years ago. This figure proposes a disproportionate amount of development to the north of Guildford, which will result in serious affects for Burpham.

2. Gosden Hill Farm Development

I strongly disagree with the Gosden Hill Farm development.

The proposal of 2,000 houses for Gosden Hill Farm is outrageous. It will increase local traffic to such an extent that there will be considerable strain on the infrastructure of Burpham and surrounding areas.

Flooding As we were personally flooded in December 2013 (insurance claim £80,000), the source being the Merrow Lane culvert, we are extremely concerned that all this building on Gosden Hill Farm is going to affect the drainage of the site - which is grass at the moment and will be mainly concrete when it is built on. This will add to flooding risk, not only to the houses around us but to other parts of Burpham.

Sewage We are concerned about sewage for this site. Many parts of Burpham are under threat from Sewage spillage after heavy rain. Therefore, this must be one of the main considerations before anything is built on Gosden Hill Farm. New houses were allowed to be built in the New Inn Lane area and have made the problem much worse.

I strongly object to the 2016 Guildford Draft Local Plan on the following grounds.

1. Loss of Green Belt between Burpham and M25.

The plan does not offer sufficient evidence of exceptional circumstances to justify allocating Green Belt land for strategic developments.

In this plan there is a disproportionate level of development to the north of Guildford and the proposal for Garlicks Arch, Send, Wisley and Gosden Hill Farm will infill the green belt from the northern edge of Burpham right to the M25.

Consequently I object to the loss of Green Belt, especially the land for the Gosden Hill Farm development.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Appendix H: Maps - West Horsley South OBJECTION TO REMOVE THE HORSLEYS FROM THE GREEN BELT AND SPECIFICALLY TO THE WATERLOO FARM PROPOSED SITE.

I have recently moved into the area, and did so because of the countryside view open to the rear of my property, being the paddock of Waterloo Farm. I had no idea that within a matter of a few months I would be facing the prospect of potentially 120 houses being built to the rear of my property.

I would like to object to this potential site, as it would affect my privacy and light to the rear of my property. This area already suffers from drainage problems and the property to the rear is designated paddock. It would also majorly devalue my property, as it is the privacy and view that I bought my home for. We also have a multitude of wildlife to the rear of the property. Deer often venture into my garden, as well as pheasants, rabbits and many birds. Bats can often be seen in the early evening sky. I seriously doubt this would happen if the paddocks and open land are replaced by new homes.

Horsley is a quiet country village, and with the amount of new homes you hope to build, this will no longer be the case. This is not why myself, and many others, have moved into the area.

I do not believe that the local infrastructure can cope with the numbers of new houses you propose. The schools are full, roads in poor condition, medical facilities stretched, drainage in this area is extremely poor and there is little parking available already.

I WANTED TO ADD THE FOLLOWING TO MY OBJECTION BELOW:

I have now discovered that the land behind me (Waterloo Farm) had planning permission refused by the Council in 2014 for three detached houses to be built on my boundary for the following reasons:

R14/P/00012 on 27 Feb 2014:

THE PROPOSED DEVELOPMENT OF THREE DWELLINGS HAS THE POTENTIAL TO INCREASE THE RISK OF FLOODING IN AN AREA WITH A HIGH RISK OF SURFACE WATER FLOODING. NO INFORMATION HAS BEEN SUBMITTED TO DEMONSTRATE HOW THE DEVELOPMENT WOULD SUCCESSFULLY MITIGATE AGAINST FLOODING. THIS IS CONTRARY TO POLICY AND G1(6) OF THE GUILDFORD BOROUGH LOCAL PLAN 2003 (AS SAVED BY CLG DIRECTION ON 24/9/07) AND GUIDANCE CONTAINED IN THE NATIONAL PLANNING POLICY FRAMEWORK.

Further this site is constrained by:

- The main sewer along the campsite boundary.
- Sewers and surface water sewers, from Nightingale Crescent crossing the site.
- Flooding and waterlogged ground.
- Existing mature trees on the site and along the boundaries.

I would like to add that with recent weather which has included torrential rain and storms, this water runs all the way down Nightingale Crescent into my garden and literally floods the area around my home. On occasion we have been unable to leave our front door without wellingtons because of the pond that appears. Already this is a problem and will be even more so if this development occurs.
The inclusion of this triangle of land for such a small number of new houses, would have very little impact on your housing figures. It would result in the loss of the Green Belt and create undesirable back land development behind Waterloo Farm, which I have been advised is an important historic building.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT in the strongest possible terms to the above plan. It will impose a huge burden on drainage infrastructure, schools, the local roads, medical services, shopping, parking facilities and public transport and at the same time alter the whole character of the West Horsley area and its surrounding villages. At the same time the plan does not address the provision or even consider the need for expanding local services. While not opposed to limited brown field development I do OBJECT to changes to the current Green Belt. These are not necessary or desirable and there is too little attention given to the use of brownfield sites in Guildford city areas,

I particularly OBJECT to the method whereby this plan has regurgitated inaccurate, badly researched and unjustified information and is an obvious ploy to get around the previous objections voiced within West Horsley and, indeed, in all the villages affected.

I OBJECT to being forced to undertake this exercise again and that my previous OBJECTIONS have been put aside. This cannot be democratic.

I OBJECT to Policy Q: Green Belt and the Countryside: Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB)

I am totally opposed to the plan affecting all the Guildford Villages and to West Horsley’s removal from the Green Belt by insetting and extending the 2003 boundaries. There are no exceptional circumstances or other justification for the new Green Belt boundaries that will result from the proposed insetting. This study is flawed.

The West Horsley Parish is well established with low housing density settlements with a considerable number of historic buildings and the Council fails to make a case for locating large numbers of homes in the Horsley or neighbouring villages.
I OBJECT to the Polices S1 Presumption in favour of Sustainable Development, Borough Wide Strategy, HI Homes for all, H2 Affordable Homes.

No accurate or acceptable case has been made for provision for 13,800 new homes over the period 2013 to 2033. The number of homes is too high and unsustainable in Guildford's villages. The current infrastructure is strained and at breaking point and there are no plans for addressing the infrastructure.

The proposals for West Horsley are clearly unsustainable for the proposed high volumes of new housing development.

I OBJECT to the development of 385 homes on the proposed sites in West Horsley. The proposals are at much higher densities than currently in the village and will be totally out of character with the existing mix of different housing styles and the layout of the village.

I OBJECT particularly to the proposals for site A40 in that this is the area I know best. The A40 site is unsuitable for development and the Guildford Council has several times rejected applications to build on the site. It has a high water table, is prone to flooding in even medium rain fall and in high rainfall there are problems with flooding of the roads and the overflow of sewage. The work to make such a site suitable for development, even for a third of the homes specified would be out of proportion to any return on capital invested.

The drainage affects are acknowledged by the water authorities who point out that the downstream effects are sizeable and probably uneconomic.

Importantly this is an area of calm, peace and quiet within the green belt and I am reliably informed that there are several species of orchids growing and the land is full of wild life which needs preservation.

The development proposals throughout the village- and also in terms of the knock on effect of the Wisely Airfield proposals- is unsustainable in terms of schooling, drainage, roads capacity, shopping and Rail Station parking, and lack of public transport.

The roads are already at capacity and breaking up under the strain. Traffic uses Ockham Road North as a cut through/rat run when the A3 and M25 are busy or blocked (frequently these days) and this is acknowledged by Surrey County Council roads authority.
There is a major strain on schooling in the area and on medical services. There are few jobs in the area and the practicalities of commuting to London or, indeed to Guildford are heavily affected by the plan.

The strain on the current rail service is obvious and it all but impossible to park at the Horsley rail Station where the parking even after extension works is problematical.

I OBJECT on the grounds that there is no proven need for so many houses to be built in Horsley. It is totally unproven and risks the formation of a dormitory township devoid of infrastructure that could manage such an influx of people and cars.

Any forecast of housing needs is also rendered out of date by the current Referendum related to immigration which will lead to a much lower demand for housing in the future.

It is my understanding that in West Horsley the recent survey of the village in 2014 identified a limited need for only 20 affordable homes.

Guildford Council’s plans are highly suspect and need investigating in depth. Inquiries should be made into the reasons for the document which, for example, must have been completed before the democratic decision, widely applauded, to refuse planning for the Wiseley Airfield site proposal. Yet this proposal appeared again in the council’s plan. The allocation of developments to the various villages is dubious.

Why build on the Green Belt when there is room and land for development within the immediate area of the town of Guildford where it is likely there could be an increased demand.

The National Planning Policy Framework requires that new residential development must respect the character and density of housing in any areas and be limited in quantity by the availability of infrastructure and local facilities.

I couple with that the need and the desire of the people of the area to preserve the GREEN BELT.

OBJECTION TO REMOVE THE HORSELYS FROM THE GREEN BELT AND SPECIFICALLY TO THE WATERLOO FARM PROPOSED SITE

I currently live with my mum at [Response has been redacted due to statement containing personal data which cannot be disclosed due to the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998]. We moved here in February and I've been very happy here because we have lots of wildlife in our back garden. We often have deer in the asleep at our back door, as well as pheasants, owls, wood peckers, rabbits and we often see bats early in the morning and late at night. I love living here because we have lots of light in our back garden and a beautiful view of the paddocks, and it's very private. It's lovely to look out my bedroom window at the wildlife and gorgeous trees.

Unfortunately I have not been able to get into the local schools, as we've been told they are full. Raleigh School is on my doorstep but that is also full so my brother cannot attend.

So I'm objecting to you changing my back yard and making my community too busy. I like that it's quiet and has a lovely village feel.

I strongly object to the lack of immediate provision for new schools.
I strongly object to the lack of any immediate provision for Doctors Surgeries.
I strongly object to the lack of any immediate provision for a new hospital. The Royal Surrey hospital already serves a vast length of the A3 road as the next hospital going south is Portsmouth. The Royal Surrey hospital and other major hospitals situated in the county of Surrey are already stretched to the ultimate limits.
I strongly object to the lack of any immediate provision for new roads to link local and neighbouring towns. The existing roads are already grid locked not only at peak times but now throughout the day with the slightest incident that brings chaos to the local roads.
Junction 10 of the M25 the main hub for Heathrow and Gatwick airports is now regularly at a standstill throughout the day. The proposed 2016 Draft Local Plan would result in many thousands more vehicles (ie cars and commercial vehicles) attempting to get on the M25 at junction 10 and also using the local roads that link towns.
I strongly object to the lack of any immediate provision for new transport links. With grid locked roads new railway tracks will have to be laid. The London underground system will now need to expand into the Guildford Borough especially with a link to the airports also local towns and neighbouring borough towns as all of the current road structure will become impossible to use.

I strongly object to the 2016 Draft Local Plan for the following reasons.

I strongly object to all erosion of the Green Belt. Especially as the electorate in the last local elections were promised that the elected councillors would protect the Green Belt

I strongly object to any "in-setting" (ie removal) of any villages from the Green Belt. The proposed 2016 Draft Local Plan by these elected councillors will destroy the local villages of which they were elected on their promise to keep the Green Belt currently surrounding these villages.

Roads the traffic is already terrible here in the morning to the A3 and from 4pm to 7pm constant queues both to the A3 and from it through Burpham and as each house may have two cars chaos will ensue.

It’s no good having 2000 new homes (hopefully affordable not £800,000 to £1,000,000) until you have built schools first. There are no school places in Guildford, also need other infrastructure such as shops, church, parks etc.

2). I object to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2).

Removing Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt is unacceptable. These are villages that have always been surrounded by agricultural land that gives them their character. Whilst increasing population requires further housing development, large scale plans such as Wisley airfield and Garlick's Arch are inappropriate in such areas and removing these villages from the Green Belt is just an "underhand way" to allow such developments and more in the future.

3). I object to the congestion that the development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road structure improvement (Policy P3).

The roads around Clandon, Send and Ripley are already congested with frequent long lines of traffic queuing. Narrow roads such as Newark Lane and Rose Lane already struggle with the present amount of traffic. Crossing the road as a pedestrian in these villages can be dangerous. Walking from Grove Heath North to the High Street in Ripley requires crossing Rose Lane often between cars waiting in this road turning left or right into the High Street. This crossing of Rose Lane is not pedestrian friendly and one day someone will get hurt or killed. Any further increase in traffic will only make matters worse.

1). I consider the Local Plan as the development proposed is not sustainable (Policy S1).

13,860 new houses proposed is too many for this area. It will have a negative impact on villages such as Clandon, Send and my village Ripley. With no railway station in Send or Ripley, limited bus service, developments at Wisley Airfield and Garlick's Arch will require nearly all adults to own or use a car. I am already unable to park my car in Ripley for a short period to go shopping as all parking spaces (often including Ripley Green) are full. The parking area where White Hart Court used to be has been reduced and is always full. How can more cars help this situation?

5). I object to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2).

The proposal by Guildford Borough Council for 13,860 new houses without any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The proposals are for too much development in the north east of the borough (Wisley, Ripley & Send). I understand 36% of all the Plans new housing is proposed in this area, which has only 11% of the existing housing. Ultimately all this new housing will merge Wisley, Ripley, Send, Clandon all together and they will cease to be villages and become one large urbanisation!

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. 14. I OBJECT to Gosden Hill development being in the Local Plan The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.
Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43)

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)
It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

1. I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

   The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

   The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

   This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
1. POLICY E6 - The leisure and visitor experience

I OBJECT. Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.
2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.
3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a SouthWest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.
4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

I trust that the objections made above are fully taken into consideration and that the Plan is amended accordingly.

1. I OBJECT (POLICY H1 – Homes for all) Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.
Student accommodation should be provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

1. POLICY H3 – Rural Exception Homes

I OBJECT  This is a Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
1. I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added pollution and risk to injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

1. I OBJECT to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1)

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.
Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

1. I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

1. I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

1. I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

I OBJECT to the proposals to remove the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, together with sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43). National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’ and the land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached. GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
1. I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Objections to Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016) from Richard Baker

I OBJECT to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016). This Plan is unsustainable, unworkable and, in many provisions, unnecessary.

I set out below my objection to specific policies and matters within the Plan.

1. I OBJECT to the Local Plan as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are just unsuitable because they are unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

   a. The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

   b. The Housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

   c. The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any commonsense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour, commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

   These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

   It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill...
(Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result in coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule.

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick's Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

0 The 'objectively assessed need' figure of 693 homes a year is too high.

0 A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.

0 The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
  - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.

0 It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan's proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

I OBJECT to A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Glandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Glandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.
It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick’s Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of WEt Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data: 2010 -2014 from Crashmap data

- Glandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcoots Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents 2015
- 21 Oct 2015 - P2.47 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays

Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

2016

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street - P2.47 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Glandon London bound between P2.47 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Glandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the P2.47 through West Glandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Glandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.
The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Glandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham's sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Glandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Glandon towards East Glandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England's requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an 'aspiration' in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Glandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick's Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Glandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development on this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A2.47 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick's Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current 'soft' edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick's Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (BS). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brownfield site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick's Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site?

There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council's own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick's Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy 13). The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan.

I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development.

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick's Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will 'enhance' heritage assets which I fear is a developer's charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

I OBJECT to Development in urban areas and inset villages.

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick's Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. His unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development. If developed, the new employment site at Garlick's Arch, Send Marsh/Bumi Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrail (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick's Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick's Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace.

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick's Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment.

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick's Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment.

Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor 'attractions' and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment 'Disneyfication'. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many 'leisure and visitor attractions' already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan's explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough's prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.
2. To help make Guildford's river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high value To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.
3. To help private providers market local This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An 'English town break' (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit... to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre.

The policy 'vision' describes protecting the Guildford's unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council's own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group's proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford's character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

I OBJECT to Policy H1 - Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council's timidity is a case of 'regulatory capture' by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students are accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog's Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale value of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an 'affordable home' is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will 'affordable homes' be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure. Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the K2.47 through West Glandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Glandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as WEst Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Glandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough's infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan's determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council's methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy 11. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough's infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic.

It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council's control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25.

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick's Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns.

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that 'Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.' The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt.

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council's to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of "only" 1.6% of the borough's Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an 'acceptable' percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt.

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council's growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than on brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of 'About Guildford' (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the "insetting" of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them. I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the 'openness' of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF's other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To 'inset' two-thirds of the borough's rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough's location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed "insetting" and boundary extensions go ahead. This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17's aim of "empowering local people to shape their surroundings' and other NPPF provisions.
Paragraph 4.3.17 states that 'the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained'. I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called 'strategic sites' of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick's Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing does not constitute a 'special circumstance') to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC's Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick's Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick's Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding.

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development.

However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough's identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick's Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency's flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council's SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development 'should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking." As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of 'sustainable development' is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long term impacts.

The policy states that it aims 'to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area'. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as 'sustainable', in breach of the NPPF's most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy.

should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications 'wherever possible' and 'without delay' reveals the pro development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all. This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick's Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles.

These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy.

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the "West Surrey" tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, "West Surrey" is much too small. Half of Guildford borough's residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside "West Surrey". Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make "West Surrey" reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guildford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour's 'need'. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey's 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.
The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford's OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered 'sound'.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is 'deliverable' and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council's cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission.

Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important. The plan cannot be considered 'deliverable'. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected 'windfall' sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a 'plan' that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London's commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London's commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Glandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick's Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Glandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Glandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.
It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick's Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Glandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Glandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick's Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest 'value creation' areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

1. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents' Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. 'Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt." Summer 2016 edition of ‘About Guildford' (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.

2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.

3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road i National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

5. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.

6. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

7. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council's The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer's business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

8. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

9. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Pln consultation

10. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation

11. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound

12. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018

13. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars

14. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham

15. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Glandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework

16. The proposal for Garlick's Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18

17. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council's refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement 'Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay', the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

I wish to object to the Local Plan affecting Send on the following grounds:

1. OBJECT to the building on the Green Belt at Send at Garlick’s Arch, Clockbarn Nurseries and Send Hill because it is not justified by any special circumstances and the fact that Green Belt is meant to be permanent and not continually eroded.
2. OBJECT to the removal of Send from the Green Belt because the village and its countryside provides a necessary buffer between Woking and Guildford.
3. OBJECT to all the proposed sites in Send because they were not included in the previous consultation in 2014. Unlike the rest of the borough Send has not been properly consulted and all its sites have been changed substantially.
4. OBJECT to the proposed industrial development of 7,000 sq m at Garlick’s Arch because it is simply not required since the latest Employment Land Needs Assessment 2015 (ELNA) shows a reduction of 80% in required employment floor space from the previous draft plan. If there is a need for 7,000 sq m of industrial space it should be at Slyfield where there is a 40ha site available.
5. OBJECT to building 45 houses at Clockbarn because of inadequate access and traffic volume. Tannery Lane is far too narrow and bendy to take any more traffic. The junction with Send Road is already very hazardous for vehicles emerging into the main road. Planning permission has already been given for 64 houses at the Tannery and the marina will generate heavy traffic too. The road cannot take any more

6. I OBJECT to the complete failure of GBC to identify sufficient brownfield sites within the urban area which should be targeted first for development before the open countryside and the Green Belt and the failure to include the Town Centre Masterplan 2015 within the plan

7. I OBJECT to the large proposed development at of 2,000 houses at Wisley Airfield, 2,000 houses at Gosden Hill and 1,850 houses at Blackwell Farm because it will destroy large areas of Green Belt and agricultural land and produce congestion on the A3 and surrounding roads including Send.

8. I OBJECT to the fact that infrastructure requirements have not been properly considered and are inadequate to deal with proposed housing levels. Roads, doctors and schools will be unable to cope.

9. I OBJECT to the development of 40 houses at Send Hill due to its high quality Green Belt amenity within an area of beautiful countryside which would be spoilt. The subsoil of the existing site contains documented unsafe land fill waste which is currently vented. The proposal to include 2 Travellers Pitches is completely inappropriate due to the narrow width single track country road providing insufficient access to the site.

I also want to object to your hypocritical comments in your published newspaper regarding support for the green belt whilst simultaneously proposing to remove so many local villages from its protection.

Please ensure my objections are shown to the Planning Inspector and also provide confirmation that this objection has been received.

I have lived on Send Road/Send Barns Lane for the last 40 years and I have very serious concerns about the changes to the local plan that will significantly impact Send and the surrounding villages.

I object to the Policy A42 change at Clockbarn in Tannery Lane because:

• The increase to 60 homes in place of 45 homes is 33% more and too much
• It ignores all the hundreds of previous objections made by local people including myself.
• It will worsen access and traffic problems in Tannery Lane and at the A247 junction - there is simply no way this junction can take additional traffic.
• It will make erosion of the Green Belt in our village worse
• It will make surface water flooding, which is already bad, even worse
• It will impact open countryside views from the River Wey Navigation
• The schools in Send Barns Lane are already impacted by traffic and this causes issues at the beginning and end of the school day.

I object to the Policy A43 change at Garlick’s Arch because:

• It ignores all the thousands of previous objections made by local people
• There is no proven demand for Travelling Showpeople plots in this location
• It is beautiful permanent Green Belt and no "exceptional circumstances” exist
• It will cause over-development of our village and the number of homes is excessive
• It is exquisite ancient woodland that existed at the time of Elizabeth I
• It will join up Ripley and Send and defeat the key purpose of Green Belt
• It is subject to frequent flooding and is currently a flood zone 2 allocation
• It is contaminated by lead shot accumulated over fifty years
• It will generate excessive traffic that will block up the local roads of Send and Ripley - this is of significant concern to me as I live on Send Barns Lane, the traffic is already heavy and can also be very fast.

I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common because:

• It was deleted from the 2014 draft because of all the objections made previously
• The word "minimum" is a change from the previous "maximum" in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land
• There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units
• The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 10 hectares at Send in the Green Belt.
• The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock - this is a very significant issue.
• It will join up existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt

1. I object to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements the Plan depends on. There is no schedule for Garlick’s Arch (A43), so the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site. It is therefore not fit for purpose. Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report, which says that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, which is more than double the figure of 322 used in previous plans.

But because the Council will not publish the SHMA report, this figure cannot be verified. This lack of transparency is not right for consultation on the Plan, this is yet another example of the lack of transparency and the same can be said of the way that the Garlick’s Arch site was sprung on the locals.

Objections to Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016)

I object very strongly to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016).

I am objecting on the following points:

1. I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43)

Garlick’s Arch is protected from development as Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for it’s removal from the Green Belt (Policy P2). Central Government state clearly that housing need is not an exceptional circumstance. The inclusion of this site was added to the Local Plan at the last minute without any consultation or notification to the local residents and as a homeowner in the road that runs alongside this development the local infrastructure, air quality and ancient woodland the site would destroy have all been disregarded.

The Plan states the preference is to use of previously developed land, but GBC have removed a brownfield site at Burnt Common replaced it with Garlick’s Arch. No consultation took place on this, and GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not even cover Garlick’s Arch.

The site is not appropriate because:

- There is no sustainable transport infrastructure – the roads around the site, apart from the main road are little more than country lanes, at points only one car wide, as soon as the main road backs up, which it does at peak times, cars (including myself) head for the lanes and these will become impassable.
• The site is liable to frequent flooding, every time it rains the Portsmouth Road opposite the site floods despite improvements. At the end of Burnt Common Lane the gas mains becomes flooded regularly and this effects the entire road – check this with the Gas Board who have to pump it out.
• The site has Ancient woodland and is a wildlife habitat, but no wildlife report for the site is in the Plan, Kites, deer and many other species are found on this site.
• There are no plans to improve local schools, medical or utilities to cope – it almost impossible to get an appointment at the local surger as it is.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the fact that the site at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Farm are traversed by electricity pylons.

“A UK study of 29 000 cases of childhood cancer, including 9700 cases of leukaemia, found a raised risk of childhood leukaemia in children who lived within 200 m of high voltage lines at birth compared with those who lived beyond 600m (relative risk 1.7)

There was also a slightly increased risk for those living 200-600 m from the lines at birth (relative risk 1.2, P for trend < 0.01); as this is further than can readily be explained by magnetic fields it may be due to other aetiological factors associated with power lines.”

I wish these objections to be fully taken into consideration and that the Plan is amended accordingly.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
1. I object to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

North facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities, which do need to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic. E.g. all traffic from London/M25 to Woking would go through Burnt Common, Send and Old Woking. This is not sustainable as this cannot be improved. Once off the A3 at Burnt Common the roads through Clandon have pinch points where it is difficult to drive through if a lorry, coach or bus is coming the other way, this could cause an accident. The Send Road in the other direction is also narrow in places and the amount of extra traffic these new ramps will attract has not been investigated.

1. I object to the employment strategy and impact at Garlick’s Arch (A43) (Policies E2 and E5)

There is no need for new industrial sites at Garlick’s Arch (A43). There is an existing brownfield industrial site at Burnt Common that could easily accommodate the 7,000 sq m proposed. That site was removed from the Plan without any reasoning.
Furthermore the development at Garlick’s Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been there for decades, employing local people and are therefore clearly sustainable.

1. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

There is too much traffic in our villages already and this plan will cause more congestion in Ripley, Send and Clandon, with no plan to improve that.

The rural roads in this area are narrow, in poor condition and have no footpaths. 5000 more houses means dangerous and unsustainable traffic. Every time there is an accident on the A3 or the M25 the local roads become gridlocked. In the morning and evening the traffic queues through Ripley, along the A3 and onto the M25, more housing with thousands more cars will make the roads impassable.

The Plan does not identify adequate infrastructure improvements to support the huge scale of development, especially at Garlick’s Arch (A43), which has no infrastructure projects in the Infrastructure Schedule to support it. Local services, utilities and sewerage, doctors etc. are at or close to capacity.

There are no plans to improve the capability of the medical and police/emergency services to cover the 5000+ houses in the north east of the borough.

The A3 or M25 would have to be improved before any development is done. Highways England has no plans to even start considering improving the A3 before 2020. Clearly no real improvements are possible in the timeframe of this Plan so the developments at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), should not take place.

The Plan should develop the existing brownfield site at Burnt Common rather than developing Garlick’s Arch (A43). This is a smaller development in keeping with the local environment.

1. I object to development in areas, which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

The Plan does not take adequate account of flood risk as required by National Planning Policy.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is classified by the Environment Agency as being in a higher risk than the Council’s own assessment. This area has flooded many times in recent years and therefore the Council’s assessment is not good enough to be included in the plan. Just a few weeks ago the Portsmouth Road opposite the Garlick’s Arch site was flooded despite the improvements to the river that flows under the road. There are good reasons why I have to maintain a four foot deep ditch that runs alongside my house in Burnt Common Lane, building on the fields will just make the situation worse.

1. I object to the Local Plan as the development proposed is not sustainable (Policy S1)

13,860 new houses proposed is not sustainable – it will damage local communities by over development, especially Ripley, Send and Clandon. The local communities don’t need these houses. Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) have no railway stations and inadequate bus services, so almost every adult will have to have a car. The Plan has nothing to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch. The traffic on the local roads and on the A3 are backed up ready every morning and evening, what will thousands of more cars do for this area?

The development should be in urban areas where there is sustainable transport.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

GBC’s proposal for 13,860 new houses without any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The Plan is unbalanced across the borough; there’s too much development in the north east of the borough (Wisley [A35], Ripley/Send [A43] and Clandon [A25]). 36% of all the Plan’s new housing is proposed in this area, which has only 11% of the existing housing.

5,036 houses are proposed between the M25 and Burpham (about 5 miles) which will obviously lead to a merging urbanisation of identities the villages. This will also increase the amount of traffic heading to the M25, as these new developments will certainly attract commuters, and the there are already long tail backs on the A3 every morning onto the M25 disrupting local travellers and this will only get worse. The Council seem to have completely ignored these problems by promoting so many sites in such a short stretch of the A3.

I object removing Send Business Park from the Green Belt (4.3.15).

Send Business park is a very small collection of local businesses in a very rural area in the Green Belt. There can be no justification for its insetting (removal) from the Green Belt, and indeed GBC have not even attempted one. Therefore no “exceptional circumstances”, as required by the NPPF can be claimed.

1. I object to the unfair imbalance of the Plan across the borough.

With the removal of site A46 from the Plan (with its proposed 1100 houses) and reductions of housing planned in this version of the Plan in other parts of the borough the Plan has become even more biased against the North East of the borough. Guildford Borough is over 100 square miles. Of the 11350 homes proposed in the Plan, 40.6% (4613) are within 3 miles of Send Marsh, most of them on Green Belt. This is grossly unfair on an already overcrowded part of the borough. Why when connection is so bad on the A3 and surrounding roads in this area are you proposing a possible additional 22,000 cars.

I object to removal of Brownfield sites (A4) from the Plan

Site A4 in Guildford has been removed. This is a perfectly good housing site, within the town centre and therefore with sustainable infrastructure, and would make use of a brownfield site that is in need of redevelopment. The Plan has removed housing from this site, in favour of commercial retail – thereby effectively substituting Green Belt land for retail development, which is totally unacceptable. The amount of empty shops in Guildford, especially at the top of the High Street would surely be a good reason not to increase the retail provision in the town centre.

I object to the increase in housing proposed in Tannery Lane (site A42)

This has been increased by a third since the 2016 version of the Plan. This will have a significant impact on the already highly congested local rural road network around Send. This is in contradiction to section 2.14a of the Plan which states "Whilst most local roads are single carriageway, with a lane in each direction, it is at their junctions that the free flow of traffic is most often impeded during peak periods, in some cases resulting in significant delays.” And yet there is no proposals to improve the local roads, only to add more junctions with the A3, thereby increasing congestion on the Trunk and Local road network.

I object to the allocation of 6 Traveling Showpeople sites in A34 Garlick’s Arch

The allocation of 6 Travelling Showpeople plots is the designated formula for 1500-1999 homes on the same site according to the 2017 Local Plan. There should be no inclusion of any Travelling Showpeople plots in A43 Garlick’s Arch as this development site is for 400 homes and so is not compliant with the minimum of 500 in as stated in section 4.2.24 of the Plan.

I object to the potential and ill-defined increase in housing allocation at A43 Garlick’s Arch

The potential of an increase from 400 houses at site A43 Garlick’s Arch will be extremely harmful to the rural nature of the surrounding villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon and will cause coalescence of these villages.

The inclusion of site A58 Burt Common, removes the need for A43 Garlick’s Arch)

GBC’s own reasons for including Garlick’s Arch A43 in the 2016 version were

The site [A43] location affords greater separation between Send Marsh/Burnt Common and the proposed site allocation at Gosden Hill Farm, … (site allocation A25) [ than the Burnt Common site did ]”

The site [A43] provides the employment floorspace needed in the plan to help meet identified needs”

Since A58 Burnt Common is now in the Plan (2017) the separation issue is clearly being ignored as BOTH sites (which are almost contiguous) are in the plan; therefore GBC are not following their own guidelines and objectives.

Since A58 Burnt Common is now in the Plan (2017) more than the “required” industrial space is available there, so there is no reason for Garlick’s Arch to be included.

I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (A43 and A42)

The Foreword to the plan by Paul Spooner includes on page 5:

“We recognise that significant infrastructure upgrades are required to support existing communities and the planned growth of the borough. The delivery of sites allocated in this plan is contingent upon the provision of new infrastructure, which is a key theme of our Local Plan”.

The lack of any plan for either physical or green infrastructure improvement clearly contradicts this in respect of both A43 Garlick’s Arch and A42 Clockbarn Nursery, Tannery Lane, Send. Development of these sites without the contingent infrastructure would therefore be contrary to the stated aims and themes of the Plan, and should not go ahead.

I object to the proposal for a Waste Management Facility in Green Belt (A58)

The potential for a Waste Management Facility at site A58 Burnt Common is briefly mentioned, obscurely in policy 4.423a, and does not allow for full and proper consultation. These facilities are always highly contentious and the Council has a duty of transparency in this regard which it is, at best, neglecting.

I object the change in policy on affordable homes (Policy 4.2.23)

The previous version of the plan stated that “Developers will be expected to provide land for affordable homes at nil value”.

The 2017 version says:  Off-site provision or payment in lieu is expected to enable the same amount of additional affordable housing as would have been delivered on site.

So the developer doesn’t even have to provide any ‘affordable’ homes, just to make a negotiated payment to the Council. This is very unlikely to result in the construction of these ‘affordable’ homes.

Furthermore, the 2016 Plan used to state (section 4.2.40) “In general, a need to make profit over and above the standard developer’s profit in order to fund other community benefits will not be accepted as an abnormal cost [i.e. a reason for not delivering affordable houses]. That has now been removed, thereby accepting that needing to make greater than normal profit to be an acceptable reason not to deliver affordable homes. This is a shocking sop to the developers.

“A UK study of 29 000 cases of childhood cancer, including 9700 cases of leukemia, found a raised risk of childhood leukemia in children who lived within 200 m of high voltage lines at birth compared with those who lived beyond 600m (relative risk 1.7)

There was also a slightly increased risk for those living 200-600 m from the lines at birth (relative risk 1.2, P for trend < 0.01); as this is further than can readily be explained by magnetic fields it may be due to other etiological factors associated with power lines.”

I wish these objections to be fully taken into consideration and that the Plan is amended accordingly.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Objections to Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016)

I object very strongly to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016).

I am objecting on the following points:

1. I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43)

Garlick’s Arch is protected from development as Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances, which allow for its removal from the Green Belt (Policy P2). Central Government states clearly that housing need is not an exceptional circumstance. The inclusion of this site was added to the Local Plan at the last minute without any consultation or notification to the local residents and as a homeowner in the road that runs alongside this development the local infrastructure, air quality and ancient woodland the site would destroy have all been disregarded.
The Plan states the preference is to use of previously developed land, but GBC have removed a brownfield site at Burnt Common replaced it with Garlick’s Arch. No consultation took place on this, and GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not even cover Garlick’s Arch.

The site is not appropriate because:

- There is no sustainable transport infrastructure – the roads around the site, apart from the main road are little more than country lanes, at points only one car wide, as soon as the main road backs up, which it does at peak times, cars (including myself) head for the lanes and these will become impassable.
- The site is liable to frequent flooding, every time it rains the Portsmouth Road opposite the site floods despite improvements. At the end of Burnt Common Lane the gas mains becomes flooded regularly and this effects the entire road – check this with the Gas Board who have to pump it out.
- The site has Ancient woodland and is a wildlife habitat, but no wildlife report for the site is in the Plan, Kites, deer and many other species are found on this site.
- There are no plans to improve local schools, medical or utilities to cope – it almost impossible to get an appointment at the local surgery as it is.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

North facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities, which do need to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic. E.g. all traffic from London/M25 to Woking would go through Burnt Common, Send and Old Woking. This is not sustainable, as this cannot be improved. Once off the A3 at Burnt Common the roads through Clandon have pinch points where it is difficult to drive through if a lorry, coach or bus is coming the other way, this could cause an accident. The Send Road in the other direction is also narrow in places and the amount of extra traffic these new ramps will attract has not ben investigated.

1. I object to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3)

The Garlick’s Arch (A43) proposal would double the built area in the locality, and would irrevocably damage the character of the Ancient Woodland on the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees, habitats for deer and kites.

1. I object to the employment strategy and impact at Garlick’s Arch (A43) (Policies E2 and E5)

There is no need for new industrial sites at Garlick’s Arch (A43). There is an existing brownfield industrial site at Burnt Common that could easily accommodate the 7,000 sq m proposed. That site was removed from the Plan without any reasoning.

Furthermore the development at Garlick’s Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been there for decades, employing local people and are therefore clearly sustainable.

1. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

There is too much traffic in our villages already and this plan will cause more congestion in Ripley, Send and Clandon, with no plan to improve that.

The rural roads in this area are narrow, in poor condition and have no footpaths. 5000 more houses means dangerous and unsustainable traffic. Every time there is an accident on the A3 or the M25 the local roads become gridlocked. In the morning and evening the traffic queues through Ripley, along the A3 and onto the M25, more housing with thousands more cars will make the roads impassable.

1. I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1)

The Plan does not identify adequate infrastructure improvements to support the huge scale of development, especially at Garlick’s Arch (A43), which has no infrastructure projects in the Infrastructure Schedule to support it. Local services, utilities and sewerage, doctors etc. are at or close to capacity.

There are no plans to improve the capability of the medical and police/emergency services to cover the 5000+ houses in the north east of the borough.

1. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

The A3 or M25 would have to be improved before any development is done. Highways England has no plans to even start considering improving the A3 before 2020. Clearly no real improvements are possible in the timeframe of this Plan so the developments at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), should not take place.

The Plan should develop the existing brownfield site at Burnt Common rather than developing Garlick’s Arch (A43). This is a smaller development in keeping with the local environment.

1. I object to development in areas, which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

The Plan does not take adequate account of flood risk as required by National Planning Policy.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is classified by the Environment Agency as being in a higher risk than the Council’s own assessment. This area has flooded many times in recent years and therefore the Council’s assessment is not good enough to be included in the plan. Just a few weeks ago the Portsmouth Road opposite the Garlick’s Arch site was flooded despite the improvements to the river that flows under the road. There are good reasons why I have to maintain a four foot deep ditch that runs alongside my house in Burnt Common Lane, building on the fields will just make the situation worse.

13,860 new houses proposed are not sustainable – it will damage local communities by over development, especially Ripley, Send and Clandon. The local communities don’t need these houses. Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) have no railway stations and inadequate bus services, so almost every adult will have to have a car. The Plan has nothing to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch. The traffic on the local roads and on the A3 is backed up ready every morning and evening, what will thousands of more cars do for this area?

The development should be in urban areas where there is sustainable transport.

1. I object to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

GBC’s proposal for 13,860 new houses without any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The Plan is unbalanced across the borough; there’s too much development in the north east of the borough (Wisley [A35], Ripley/ Send [A43] and Clandon [A25]). 36% of the entire Plan’s new housing is proposed in this area, which has only 11% of the existing housing.

5,036 houses are proposed between the M25 and Burpham (about 5 miles), which will obviously lead to a merging urbanisation of identities the villages. This will also increase the amount of traffic heading to the M25, as these new developments will certainly attract commuters, and the there are already long tail backs on the A3 every morning onto the M25 disrupting local travellers and this will only get worse. The Council seem to have completely ignored these problems by promoting so many sites in such a short stretch of the A3.

I object to the amendments to the Local Plan policy A43 changes at Garlick's Arch.

You have totally ignored the 32,000 comments made by the local people and are not representing the wishes of the electorate that put you in office.

You have included provision for travelling show people where no demand has been made at this location.

This is an area of ancient woodland included in the Green Belt and you have shown no 'exceptional circumstances' to build on this area.

To put 400 homes in such a small area is excessive and will join Ripley, Burnt Common and Send together which will take away the character of the villages around Guildford which is a feature of this area.

This area, especially where it joins onto the Portsmouth Road is liable to flooding and it has effected the gas main several times on the corner with Burnt Common Lane and further built development will make this problem worse as there will be less ground to soak up the rain, and is currently a zone 2 allocation.

The fields at Garlick's Arch are contaminated with years of lead shot.

The traffic situation in the area id already at capacity at certain times of day and when there are traffic problems on the A3 and M25 and adding thousands of cars in this area will only cause gridlock.

I object to the amendments to the Local Plan policy A58 changes at Burnt Common, London Road.

1. It was deleted from the 2014 draft because of previous objections.
2. The word 'minimum' is a change from the previous 'maximum' in the 2016 plan and there has been a decline in demand for industrial land.
3. Slyfield has empty sites and industrial units and therefore further provision destroying Green Belt is unnecessary.
4. The effect on the small country roads, especially through Clandon and Send will cause problems for lorries.

I object to the exaggerated ambition for growth. This will ruin Guildford.

Related to the above, development should not be given a favourable assumption. Traffic frequently grinds to a halt as it is. Where are all these people and cars supposed to go? I object to the strategy.

The numbers in which the whole thing is based and the calculations based on them seem to be hidden away. I object to this. The supposed need for housing for a growth in population is too high. What about Brexit? House prices become inflated. I object that young families, people born in Guildford and people earning normal salaries are priced out. These people need homes before catering to more executive housing. I object to building on the green belt and in the country rural areas. There seems to be plenty of brownfield but it is in little "pockets" and so not as profitable for developers.

Where has quality of life been factored in? The frustration of all the time spent sitting in traffic-jams deters people from going out. That is a fact. I am an asthma sufferer and the traffic fumes in stationary traffic are really bad.

Where you have so many people having to live crowded in with parents and people who can only afford to rent one room, this is a bad quality of life. We seem to be going backwards. It is too much growth for the wrong reasons and intended to be put in the wrong places. I object to this.

Visitors will not want to come here if they can not move on the roads and it becomes like Croydon. People do not seem to want to use the shops we already have. We do not need more shops. I object to more space being planned for offices, shops, warehouses.

P.S. My car journeys are mainly to and from work, also in Guildford. It is too far to cycle and there is no bus.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I am a resident in West Horsley I want to comment on the 2016 new Local Plan.

The plan has identified 4 main sites in the village for housing development with a total of 385 new houses. As we have nearly 1000 existing houses this would mean an increase of about 40%. I am objecting to this very large and unsupportable increase in houses in the village. I appreciate the need for additional houses in the Borough and that our village, and indeed other villages, should take its fair share which should be about 3%, that is 30 new houses. These additional houses could be built without affecting the infrastructure of our community. A 40% increase would put an unsustainable strain on roads, schools, medical services, and drainage.
I also strongly object to the proposal to build on the Green Belt land around our village. Our fair share of 30 new houses could be built within the existing village settlement boundary without any need to build on Green Belt land.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I should like to write to express my opinion on the proposed development within the village of West Horsley. Having lived in the village now for 18 years I have experienced the pressures that are already on the services, roads, parking, schools and medical services. An increase in the number of homes of 35%, which is proposed, would put a phenomenal strain on all the above services with the roads especially being unsuitable for such a large increase in the inevitable number of cars and service vehicles that would be required. Many of the roads could not be widened or improved to cater for such an increase in traffic flow. Mentions in the plan do not include the detail of how developments of services within the village will be managed.

In recent years the area has become a magnet for cyclists travelling into the area from a considerable radius because of its rural roads and villages. This is encouraged locally and governmentally. With more traffic on the roads, the potential for accidents will be magnified dramatically.

Of particular concern is the suggestion that West Horsley will be removed from the Green Belt, despite earlier promises that the Metropolitan Green Belt would be protected. The settlement boundaries do not need to be extended if proper use is made of the already available land and a proportionate number of houses (2%) agreed as West Horsley’s share of the number of homes requiring to be built. The number of houses actually required for people choosing to live in the village is very far short of the proposed submission as demonstrated by the neighbourhood plan. (20 affordable homes)

Finally, but of great concern to the villagers, is the strain that will be put on the drainage system. Already sewage overflow problems occur in the neighbourhood and the network would certainly not cope with the demands of so many new homes.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Appendix H: Maps - Send Marsh/ Burnt Common
Having lived at the above address my whole life, I have spent my childhood playing in the fields and woodlands, and been able to enjoy growing up in a village community which will be lost if the proposed developments go ahead. The traffic has increased already, and the roads are not designed to allow for even more traffic that this will cause.

My objections are;

I OBJECT to the removal of 15 villages, including Ripley and Send, from the green belt. This will lead to wholesale, and often inappropriate developments.

I OBJECT to the fact that GBC have not followed the correct process for Send and Ripley developments. Any significant changes to the 2014 proposals, such as the proposal development of Garlicks Arch, should have required another full consultation, which did not happen. This invalidates the whole process.

I OBJECT to the fact that GBC have failed to provide sound evidence in terms of the Employment Land Needs Assessment which shows that industrial space at Burnt Common IS NO LONGER NEEDED.

I OBJECT to Policy A43.30 the proposed development of Garlicks Arch designated for 400 houses and an industrial estate. This is a new site not included in the Regulation 18 draft and has NOT been consulted on previously. It is not only permanently protected green belt but also a site of ancient woodland with some trees planted in the 16th century.

I OBJECT to policy A43.30 the development of new four way interchange onto the A3 which would mean that narrow Send Road (A247) would be the main route for traffic leaving the M25 and A3. It is already crowded and vulnerable to traffic jams. Further traffic from this development would result in permanent gridlock. It simply would not work.

I OBJECT to policy A44 which would see 40 homes and two travellers' pitches on land west of Winds Ridge and Send Hill. This was again a NEW site NOT included in 18 draft and therefore has NOT been consulted on previously. Once again this is Green Belt land partly containing unsafe landfill. Access is by a narrow lane which could never take the volume of traffic that would ensue from traveller's pitches.

I OBJECT to the fact that the Local Plan takes no account of schools, doctors surgeries and roads that are already operating at full capacity. Another 4000 houses in this area with a conservative estimate of a further 8000 cars would be catastrophic.

The purpose of this email is to register my objection to the proposal (contained in your new local plan) to remove Green Belt protection for the village of Chilworth.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Objections to Guildford Borough Council draft Local Plan and to the inclusion in the plan of Site Allocation A35 - the Former Wisley Airfield - for a new settlement with 2,000 dwellings.

I wish to make the following observations:

- The area serves a vital role in preventing urban sprawl from London and a development would create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford.
- No exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the site from the Metropolitan Green Belt.
- There is ample brownfield land in urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land.
- The plan calls for Ockham, a hamlet of 159 residences to be merged into a development, on presently open land, with 2,000 dwellings and other urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.
- Hatchford, south of the M25, has some 60 residences off narrow Ockham Lane that would be greatly affected by the proximity of development.
- Object to the potential harmful impact on transport, local roads and road safety by the suggested development. The result of an additional 2,000 homes would be an estimated 4,000 additional cars together with other vehicles, including HGVs, to service the development.
- Cobham is the closest shopping centre to the proposed development. The village could not cope with the additional traffic and car parking involved in serving some 5,000 additional occupiers at the site and would experience a significant increase in stationary/idling traffic at peak times and at junctions.
• There would be an increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25 and the junction of those as well as local roads. The current planning application by RHS Wisley would already have significantly added to visitor traffic. Any proposed secondary schooling would add additional congestion.
• There is lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley could not cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity. In the refused planning application there had been a suggestion that Cobham & Stoke D’Abernon Station could be used. That or use of stations further north at Weybridge or Walton would increase congestion and pollution on local roads in Elmbridge. In terms of traffic movement we are already at a standstill.
• Air pollution in the north of the Borough of Guildford and the south of the Borough of Elmbridge and particularly near the M25/A3 junction already exceeds EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic would worsen the situation, affecting the health of all current and future residents.
• Little or no consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site and the area around it, taking account of the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).
• In coming forward with this site no consideration has been given to the wildlife, some of which is already endangered.

My Objections are supported by the unanimous rejection of application no 15/P/00012 by the Planning Committee at Guildford Borough Council on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of Planning Officers. The Planning Report identified the serious concerns now being highlighted. I believe I’m correct in saying no members on that committee were in favour of that application. If that was the case its obvious that any future application would receive the same decision and be turned down, not just on Green Belt grounds but also on the many other problems that exist in relation to this site which I have listed above.

This site should be removed from your Local Plan.

1. I object to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report, which says that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, which is more than double the figure of 322 used in previous plans.

But because the Council will not publish the SHMA report, this figure cannot be verified. This lack of transparency is not right for consultation on the Plan.

1. I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43)

Garlick’s Arch is protected from development as Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for it’s removal from the Green Belt (Policy P2). Central Government state clearly that housing need is not an exceptional circumstance.

The Plan states the preference is to use of previously developed land, but GBC have removed a brownfield site at Burnt Common replaced it with Garlick’s Arch.

The site is not appropriate because:

- There is no sustainable transport infrastructure.
- The site is liable to frequent flooding
- The site has Ancient woodland and is a wildlife habitat, but no wildlife report for the site is in the Plan.
- There are no plans to improve local schools, medical or utilities to cope.

1. I object to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

North facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities, which do need to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic. E.g. all traffic from London/M25 to Woking would go through Burnt Common, Send and Old Woking. This is not sustainable as this cannot be improved.

1. I object to the employment strategy and impact at Garlick’s Arch (A43) (Policies E2 and E5)

There is no need for new industrial sites at Garlick’s Arch (A43). There is an existing brownfield industrial site at Burnt Common that could easily accommodate the 7,000 sq m proposed. That site was removed from the Plan without any reasoning.

Furthermore the development at Garlick’s Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been for there decades employing local people and are therefore clearly sustainable.

1. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

There is too much traffic in our villages already and this plan will cause more congestion in Ripley, Send and Clandon, with no plan to improve that.

1. I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1)

The Plan does not identify adequate infrastructure improvements to support the huge scale of development, especially at Garlick’s Arch (A43) which has no infrastructure projects in the Infrastructure Schedule to support it. Local services, utilities and sewerage, doctors etc. are at or close to capacity.

There are no plans to improve the capability of the medical and police/emergency services to cover the 5000+ houses in the north east of the borough.

The A3 or M25 would have to be improved before any development is done. Highways England has no plans to even start considering improving the A3 before 2020. Clearly no real improvements are possible in the timeframe of this Plan so the developments at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), should not take place.

1. I object to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

The Plan does not take adequate account of flood risk as required by National Planning Policy.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is classified by the Environment Agency as being in a higher risk than the Council’s own assessment. This area has flooded many times in recent years and therefore the Council’s assessment is not good enough to be included in the plan.

I object very strongly to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016).

These are my main reasons/ I object on these grounds / …

1. I object to the Local Plan as the development proposed is not sustainable (Policy S1)

13,860 new houses proposed is not sustainable – it will damage local communities by over development, especially Ripley, Send and Clandon. The local communities don’t need these houses. Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) have no railway stations and inadequate bus services, so almost every adult will have to have a car. The Plan has nothing to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch.

The development should be in urban areas where there is sustainable transport.

1. I object to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

GBC’s proposal for 13,860 new houses without any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.
The Plan is unbalanced across the borough; there’s too much development in the north east of the borough (Wisley [A35], Ripley/Send [A43] and Clandon [A25]). 36% of all the Plan’s new housing is proposed in this area, which has only 11% of the existing housing.

5,036 houses are proposed between the M25 and Burpham (about 5 miles) which will obviously lead to a merging urbanisation of identities the villages.

I am writing to add my support to the objections of local residents to the proposed development of various areas of Send Village.

Please find my objections below:

- I OBJECT to all erosion of the green belt
I object to site A43 Garlick’s Arch that is proposing 400 new houses
  ◦ The site is often prone to flooding
  ◦ There is already huge amounts of pressure on the Send doctors surgery in attaining appointments, this will only make it worse
  ◦ There is also lack of places available at local schools
  ◦ Traffic is already always bad through Send dip, this is only going to get worse. I work in Guildford town centre, only a few miles away from Send however this often takes over 20 minutes to only reach the A3 at Burntcommon due to heavy traffic

I object to the development of 40 houses and 2 travellers’ pitches at Send Hill
  ◦ This is an extremely inappropriate location

I object to 45 new houses being built at Clockbarn Nursery
  ◦ This also is an inappropriate location due to the large amounts of traffic, and inadequate access. With the 60 or so apartments already granted permission, this will enhance traffic greatly. The area cannot take any more increases in traffic

I object to a new interchange with the A3 at Burnt Common
  ◦ This is already prone to huge amounts of traffic and congestion, this would only increase. Noise and pollution is already an issue around this area

I object to site A45 The Talbot
  ◦ This is overdevelopment in a conservation area

I object to the limited consultation period

I object to the lack of immediate provision for new schools

I hope you take my objections into consideration and that they are passed on to the appropriate councillors.

I object to Send Village being removed from the Green Belt. The green belt was intended to be permanent, as required by the National Planning Policy Framework, and there are no special circumstances to justify abandoning it.

I object to building 45 houses at Clockbarn Nursery because of inadequate access and traffic volume in the lane. Tannery Lane is too narrow and twisty to take any more traffic and the junction onto Send Road is already dangerous.

I object to building 400 houses and 7000 sq meters of industrial space at Garlicks Arch, opposite Send Marsh Road. The site floods and is covered by ancient woodland. Industrial space is not needed in the village and additional traffic in the village will be unsafe.

I object to a new interchange with the A3 at Burntcommon. Send village cannot cope with the extra traffic from the proposed 2000 new houses at the Wisley Airfield, 2000 houses at Gosden Hill, Burpham and 1850 at Blackwell Farm. Send Road will become gridlocked, noise and pollution levels are already too high and will increase and the road will be unsafe for our children to walk near.
I object to the development of 40 houses and 2 travellers pitches at Send Hill. It is an inappropriate location because of the narrow width of single access country road with insufficient access. Any development would spoil beautiful countryside and kill off our wonderful wildlife.

Please leave our beautiful village and Green Belt alone, I request that my comments are shown to the Planning Inspector.

SITES

1. Sites in East and West Horsley

I OBJECT in particular to including Sites A36-41 (East and West Horsley). This is a back-door way to creating a mega-village – essentially, a soulless new dormitory town.

Building 533 new houses on these 6 sites, plus at least another 90 on small sites is (a) excessive in absolute terms and (b) disproportionate relative to the rest of the borough. It will destroy the rural character of these communities.
Under the plan, rural West Horsley will take 35% of new homes, urban Ash and Tongham 16% and Guildford urban area only 11%. The total number of homes in West Horsley will increase by 35%, which is disproportionate when measured against the overall increase in housing across the borough and particularly in Guildford town. The need for so many houses to be built in West Horsley over the first 5 years of the Plan period 2018 to 2033 is totally unproven.

The West Horsley Parish Council and Surrey Community Action Housing Survey: May 2014, identified a limited need for some 20 affordable homes for local people who want to remain in the village, i.e. for young people and for elderly people who wish downsize to a smaller home.

These sites will put unsustainable strain on local facilities and infrastructure, including public transport, parking, schooling, medical facilities, sewage, surface drainage and shops. For instance:

- Thames Water has advised that the current wastewater network will not cope and that the foul drainage system all the way to the treatment works North of Ripley will need to be upgraded.
- Local Schools such as The Raleigh School and the Howard of Effingham are already full and oversubscribed. The plan’s stated intention to reduce traffic on the A3 and its strategic aim that primary schools should be within walking distance will not be met.
- The plan’s Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C) imagines an “East Horsley and West Horsley traffic management and environmental improvement scheme between 2019 and 2023 by Surrey CC” but gives no details. The proposed level of housing can only harm the local environment, not “improve” it.

The harmful impact of these sites is enhanced by the proximity of the so-called Wisley Airfield site (Three Farms Meadow), with over 2,000 new homes only 2 miles away, which will, amongst other things, affect and further damage the local roads, with ever increasing pot-holes.

Collectively, these 6 sites militate against NPPF paragraph 81’s encouragement of access to the Green Belt and its amenity and recreation value. This has been a success story in the Horsleys, with the creation of an amenity wood and community garden, the purchase of adjacent fields (on the eastern side of Ockham Road North) by local residents in order to preserve their open aspect, well-maintained pitches for local football and cricket clubs, public tennis courts, open space for a high-quality campsite (at Waterloo Farm) used by many tourists and the approval of plans for a “Theatre in the Woods” – making West Horsley the only village in Surrey with an opera house. The open nature of West Horsley determined that a long portion of the 2012 Olympic cycle races passed through the village. This route has since been adopted by cyclists as a permanent asset, including the annual Prudential cycle race. These and future examples of “positive planning” depend on protecting the Green Belt to maintain the openness and attractiveness of the local landscape and avoiding the urbanisation and traffic congestion that Sites A36-41 will bring.

By surrounding Waterloo Farm campsite with 120 new houses, Policy A40 on land to the North of West Horsley will make this rural tourism amenity unviable. This will all accord with developers’ plans, since the site would then be vulnerable to infilling with yet more housing.

Finally, 40% of the development will be classified as affordable (80% of the market value.) Affordable for whom I ask? Certainly not affordable for a great number of people including first time buyers and will not be responding to local need as demonstrated by The West Horsley Parish Council and Surrey Community Action Housing Survey: May 2014. The Key Evidence document Guildford Borough Economic Strategy 2013-2031 makes no case for locating large numbers of homes in West and East Horsley or neighbouring villages.

The first line of Policy P2 states, “We will continue to protect the Metropolitan Green Belt against inappropriate development.”

There is no justification for the proposed large-scale inequitable development within West Horsley, especially the removal of the Green-Belt status, changing beyond all recognition, the rural village settlement which will impact negatively on a whole range of really important matters, some of which have been alluded to earlier on. I would agree to some development but not of this magnitude.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
Herewith my Objections to the above Plan:

1. Green Belt sites

I OBJECT to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. This ignores the tens of thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014.

All Green Belt sites should be removed from the plan until “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven, as stipulated repeatedly in the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF 2013) which makes clear ‘that most development in the Green Belt is inappropriate and should only be approved in very special circumstances’.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
It is really disappointing to see that Guildford Borough Council has not sought to constrain its overall housing growth in comparison with other many other councils who have, in order to protect the Green Belt. For years, Green Belt has been wholly protected and should continue to be. It has many proven benefits both for the health and wellbeing of people, and environmental factors. It's not necessary, flawed evidence continues to be used to justify overexpansion.

I therefore object wholeheartedly to no revised GBC changes being proposed since the 2016 consultation to insetting East & West Horsley from the green belt. Greenbelt boundaries should not be moved to cater for this over expansion of development which is not required.

The impact of these far reaching proposals is having a negative impact on many people in the Horsleys, living with this uncertainty over a prolonged period of time. Thousands of people have previously submitted comments on the plans, have the majority of these views being taken note of and implemented? Is there a report which reflects what the majority of views are and whether these have been addressed?

2) This proposed development will further congest our roads

   Travel time to work along the A3 has increased dramatically over the past 2 years,
   My business has suffered as patients are unable to arrive on time for early appointments
   The slightest problem on the major access roads causes huge gridlock and traffic chaos again impacting my business
   Appointments have been lost due to this congestion resulting in reduced business efficiency
Extra load on the road from the proposed development can only add to the problem and will seriously mean my consideration of relocating away from Guildford.

As a resident of Ripley and also a BUSINESS OWNER AND EMPLOYER in the area I am strongly objecting to the DRAFT LOCAL PLAN for the following reasons

I object to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements the Plan depends on. There is no schedule for Garlick’s Arch (A43), so the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site. It is therefore not fit for purpose.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report, which says that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, which is more than double the figure of 322 used in previous plans.

But because the Council will not publish the SHMA report, this figure cannot be verified. This lack of transparency is not right for consultation on the Plan.

1. I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43)

Garlick’s Arch is protected from development as Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for it’s removal from the Green Belt (Policy P2). Central Government state clearly that housing need is not an exceptional circumstance.

The Plan states the preference is to use of previously developed land, but GBC have removed a brownfield site at Burnt Common replaced it with Garlick’s Arch.

The site is not appropriate because:

• There is no sustainable transport infrastructure.
• The site is liable to frequent flooding
• The site has Ancient woodland and is a wildlife habitat, but no wildlife report for the site is in the Plan.
• There are no plans to improve local schools, medical or utilities to cope.

North facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities, which do need to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic. E.g. all traffic from London/M25 to Woking would go through Burnt Common, Send and Old Woking. This is not sustainable as this cannot be improved.

There is no need for new industrial sites at Garlick’s Arch (A43). There is an existing brownfield industrial site at Burnt Common that could easily accommodate the 7,000 sq m proposed. That site was removed from the Plan without any reasoning.

Furthermore the development at Garlick’s Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been for there decades employing local people and are therefore clearly sustainable.

The A3 or M25 would have to be improved before any development is done. Highways England has no plans to even start considering improving the A3 before 2020. Clearly no real improvements are possible in the timeframe of this Plan so the developments at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), should not take place.

1. I object to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

The Plan does not take adequate account of flood risk as required by National Planning Policy.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is classified by the Environment Agency as being in a higher risk than the Council’s own assessment. This area has flooded many times in recent years and therefore the Council’s assessment is not good enough to be included in the plan.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I object very strongly to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016).
These are my main reasons/ I object on these grounds / …

1. I object to the Local Plan as the development proposed is not sustainable

13,860 new houses proposed is not sustainable – it will damage local communities by over development, especially Ripley, Send and Clandon. The local communities don’t need these houses. Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) have no railway stations and inadequate bus services, so almost every adult will have to have a car. The Plan has nothing to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch.

The development should be in urban areas where there is sustainable transport.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

GBC’s proposal for 13,860 new houses without any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.
The Plan is unbalanced across the borough; there’s too much development in the north east of the borough (Wisley [A35], Ripley/Send [A43] and Clandon [A25]). 36% of all the Plan’s new housing is proposed in this area, which has only 11% of the existing housing.

5,036 houses are proposed between the M25 and Burpham (about 5 miles) which will obviously lead to a merging urbanisation of identities the villages.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I object to the 2016 Draft local plan in particular how it will affect the residents of Burpham with the Gosden Hill Farm development.

Here are my thoughts:

Why is G.B.C not objecting to the numbers of houses expected to be built by central government as other local areas have done.

The planned development on Gosden Hill Farm will double the number of houses already in the whole of Burpham.

The traffic is already at a standstill served time a day in Burpham without all the extra traffic problems around Guildford and how to solve them.

There has been insufficient thought given to issues of road infrastructure, schools, doctors and the extra input on the already overstretched Royal Surrey Hospital.

I also object to this being built on Green Belt and it will take away the buffer between us and neighbouring villages. This is a loss of the countryside which you promised to protect.

Can the utilities, drainage, water, electricity etc be sustained on such a large development.

Overall this plan has not been thought out thoroughly and I completely reject it.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
Dear Council members,

I have lived in Normandy for thirty years, it is a lovely village community and the fact that it is surrounded by green belt has kept the people close and friendly with each other, it is in other words a typical English village, with a village school, doctors and village hall. The roads are narrow and twisty and classified as lanes with pavements mostly only on one side of the lane.

Your proposed plans, to drop into the centre of the village a "small town", doubling the size of the village with over a thousand houses and a fifteen hundred pupil secondary school have absolutely shocked and horrified the people of Normandy.

The proposed site A46 is classified as green belt and the effects such a development would have on the village are catastrophic. The roads are struggling to cope with rush hour traffic now and both junctions onto the A323 are often congested and prone to minor accidents. The increased volume into such a tiny area would have a huge impact on the lives and environment of everyone in the village. The need for a secondary school has not been proven with plenty of available spaces in other schools in the surrounding area and the impact on these existing schools, reducing their intake of pupils and therefore funding, would have a very detrimental knock on effect.

This plan for Normandy is madness, and we wish you to reject it,

The draft plan indicates that West and East Horsley are to be removed from the Green Belt. This is a throwback to the 1940s when there was a plan to urbanise the villages and build a new town - the final decision to build at Crawley saved the Horsleys.

The current plans seem to indicate that 385 new homes would be built in West Horsley and a further 100 on the plot A39. I understand that East Horsley will have an additional 148 homes built.

I do not believe the roads, parking, drainage and schools will be able to cope. Should just 100 of the proposed new homeowners in the Horsleys wish to commute then the station car parks at Horsley and at Effingham Junction will not have the capacity - at present they are virtually full by 9.00am.

There must be some building but ideally for the benefit of the local community, be they properties for starter homes or for the elderly to downsize. We do not need a further influx of residents from London - particularly with the parking capacity at the stations.

Policy A43. I OBJECT to Garlick's Arch being built on.

This is greenbelt land and will be completely destroyed if there are 400 houses and industrial and warehousing developments built there. There is no exceptional circumstances to build on this land. There is no need for industrial developments in Send, build at Slyfield where one already exists. Trees cannot be replaced quickly and act a noise barrier to the A3. There is also not enough Secondary Schools in the area to cater for that many extra people. Policy P2. I OBJECT Send should not be removed from the Green Belt

Is states as follows:

"The Government attaches great importance to Green Belts. The fundamental aim of Green Belt policy is to prevent urban sprawl by keeping land permanently open; the essential characteristics of Green Belts are their openness and their permanence."

Guildford Borough Council is ignoring this wish by the government, given it is a Conservative Council I feel this is showing further disagreement within the Conservative party not required at such time, while also ignoring the wishes of local residents.

I also note that Areas of Outstanding Natural Beauty are ignored for building on, yet Green Belt is, both should be protected or destroyed, that is discriminating against the hidden beauty of the Send area which must be protected.

I object to Guildford Borough Council's draft Local Plan proposals to build 1,800 houses, an industrial park and a highway on the slopes of the Hog's Back at Blackwell Farm, which will:

- destroy views from the Hog's Back ridge - a nationally designated Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty

- remove 72 hectares of scenic farmland and additional ancient woodland from the green belt

- increase tailbacks on the A31 and traffic congestion

- result in rat-running through local roads

- add to Guildford pollution

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

Firstly, as a matter of principle, the Green Belt was intended to protect existing built up areas from encroachment. If pieces are to be taken from it for further building, then there will eventually be no Green Belt left to be encroached upon. Before building plans are even considered a political decision needs to be made as to whether or not we should have Green Belts at all.

An area protected by a Green Belt is totally different from an area which is not so protected. People have moved into this area precisely because it is protected by a Green Belt. If the Green Belt is diminished in any way, then existing residents will have been robbed of a vital property right.

Property rights are an essential part of the Rule of Law. As such they are a political matter, and their diminution is a matter for a political decision. They cannot be taken away as part of some bureaucratic building plan. If the Green Belt is to be diminished, then we need a political decision as to what exactly are the status of Green Belts, and how much, if any, reliance can be placed upon them by the people of this country.

The proposed diminution of agricultural land raises similar issues. As I understand it, our country only produces 54% of its food, the rest being imported. There is nothing so important to a population than the security of its food supply, so that this is a political issue of the first importance.

We should make a political decision as to the sources of our food, and what part of it should be locally produced. That should be decided first, before there is any diminution in available agricultural land. It should not be decided upon as part of a building plan, driven by bureaucrats.

3) The areas designated in the plan for building purposes are areas of outstanding natural beauty, including ancient woodlands and heritage sites. Our country has already been more than sufficiently vandalised during the industrial revolution and afterwards. A halt must be called sometime, or else the entire country will be smothered in buildings. On those grounds alone we oppose this plan.

I object to policy A43 change at Garlicks Arch for the following:

The proposal to build 400 new homes will result in excessive traffic throughout the Send & Ripley roads which are already overcrowded. The residents of these 400 homes will require amenities in the local area such as doctors & dentists surgery which are currently struggling to keep up with current demand. A doctors appointment can take up to a week to secure.

The proposal for travelling showpeople plots has increased since the last plans and there is no evidence any plots are required in the Send area.

The Green Belt and woodland around Garlicks Arch is irreplaceable, loss of it will result in the joining up of the villages of Ripley & Send defeating one of the key purposes of the Green Belt.

This proposal was removed from the 2014 planning draft because of the objections made at the time.

Sadly it has returned and has changed from a 'maximum' of 7000sq m to a 'minimum' of 7000sq m, there are empty sites on the established Slyfield Industrial site which surely support the evidence that there is a decline in the demand for industrial land.

If the new site is built once again the resulting traffic will cause unacceptable levels of gridlock which will increase pollution and noise.

I object to POLICY D1 - Making better places

• There is no reference to vernacular or historic design guidelines, even in Conservation Areas. Most of the borough, especially the rural areas, has vernacular design guidelines that are available to give suggestions as to appropriate design. These should have mandatory planning force.
• The monitoring of this policy is inappropriate. Why should this policy result in a reduction of the number of appeals for poor design?

I object to POLICY D3 - Historic environment

- Supports overdevelopment: you can’t “enhance” history. Doesn’t ban private interests from trying to make aggressive profits from privatising and commercialising public historic assets.
- Doesn’t ban development near historic assets.
- Development close to historical assets is harmful and should be expressly prohibited. Fails to meet the requirements of NPPF 126, 131, 132, 133.

I object to POLICY D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

- No commitment to expand social housing or accommodation for people who can’t afford so-called affordable homes.
- Not enough new homes in urban areas, despite demand and need for urban regeneration and protection of Green Belt.
- Objectives for inset villages cancelled out by plans for excessive housing growth there.
- Too much emphasis on traditional shops, when a lot of this sector is in terminal decline.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to POLICY E1 - Meeting employment needs

- The evidence base is unreliable;
- There is unclear differentiation between B class uses;
- Only high value-added business uses, contributing to a modern “knowledge economy”, are desirable, not low-grade, low-employment warehousing which is also land hungry;
- Industrial and commercial businesses must be concentrated in the urban area or existing business parks (e.g. Slyfield) not in the rural environment which the infrastructure is unable to support;
- The rural environment must support micro- or high-tech businesses, agricultural industries, and tourism, and these sectors must not be damaged by general industrial development which is inappropriate.

I object to POLICY E2 - Location for new employment floorspace

- It would be more sensible to confine all new office and research and development (use Class B1a and B1b) floor space to Guildford town centre.
- I oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

I object to POLICY E5 - Rural economy

- Incompatible with high housing numbers proposed for rural areas elsewhere in the plan.
- Insetting and settlement boundary extension endanger appropriate rural activities listed that depend on maintaining rural areas’ character.
- Town-centre uses for rural areas contradict government’s localism policy and need to consult and protect village environments.

I object to POLICY E6 - The leisure and visitor experience

- Danger of overdevelopment: success doesn’t depend on building “attractions” which can harm heritage and rural settings. No case made for creating new ones.
- No policy of opposing reduction in rural hotel capacity.
- No definition of what added value interventions by Council can make to normal visitor market mechanisms.
- No policy of supporting Guildford countryside as its prime leisure and visitor asset, whose value rises as London gets bigger and busier.
- No vision of what the ideal visitor experience of the borough actually is and how to support its various elements.

I object to POLICY E7 Guildford Town Centre

- No statement in policy wording of value of Guildford’s rural setting and views.
- No consideration of Town Centre Master Plan, GVG proposals or station redevelopment plans.
- Proportion of new housing in town far too small. Development pushed into countryside, ruining the latter and harming urban regeneration.
- No brownfield register.
- Too much big retail, despite online shopping revolution and decline of traditional high streets internationally. Futile to try to turn Guildford into Woking or Kingston.
- No measures to support small, niche retailers in town, e.g. through business rates.

I object to POLICY H1 – Homes for all

• The policy doesn’t set any constraints on building.
• Housing mix based on growth and demographic assumptions and unreliable SHMA that weren’t put out to formal public consultation and wasn’t scrutinised by Councillors.
• I support higher density development in the urban area
• Fails to compel University of Surrey to use its thousands of planning permissions and existing space, such as car parks, for student accommodation.
• Lets University off the hook of accommodating all its students, so as to free up houses for the most needy in town.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )

I object to POLICY H2 – Affordable homes

• Using the official definition of Affordable is not appropriate. ‘Affordable homes’ in this area are not affordable! Pushing for these homes just means pushing for more development.
• The viability clause lets developers off the hook of providing even these (non-) affordable homes. It is too open to manipulation.
• Contradicts government policy to develop less advantaged regions of the UK. People don’t have to live and work in Guildford but should be encouraged to move to cheaper, less congested areas.
• This policy won’t affect market forces or house prices. Guildford is too small and too near London to influence these, however many homes it builds.

I object to POLICY I4 Green and blue infrastructure

• Infrastructure considered here as an afterthought, rather than pre-condition of development. Should be a key issue for the rest of the plan.
• Excessive housebuilding in countryside not supported by any funding or provision for infrastructure.
• Heavy focus on building on greenfield sites inefficient and unnecessary: cheap for developers but much more expensive for the public who have to fund the infrastructure.
• Draft CIL scale discourages use of brownfield land first.
• No plan for organic increase in existing traffic congestion, let alone once thousands of houses are built across the countryside. Local roads hardly considered. Green Belt being eroded before road widening/improvement plans certain, encouraging over-development of greenfield sites.
• All Green Belt sites should be removed from the plan until “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established.

I object to POLICY P2 – Green Belt

• No declaration of support for protecting the Guildford Green Belt, contrary to NPPF and government statements.
• No evaluation of value of local Green Belt as a public and private asset: it’s just treated as potential building land with a few inconvenient restrictions.
• Impact of Green Belt development on local agriculture ignored.
• Impact on rural leisure and tourism ignored.
• Impact on flood control ignored.
• Impact on carbon sink and knock-on effects for air pollution and climate change ignored.
• Impact on biodiversity ignored.
• Impact on natural heritage ignored.
• Impact on water catchment ignored.
• Impact on room for public space amenities (parks, cemeteries, waste facilities etc) ignored.
• Impact on rural business (e.g. mineral mining, film making) ignored.
• Impact on natural landmarks and views ignored.
• Harm to public health and wellbeing (physical, psychological) ignored.
• Allows excessive levels of development in breach of views expressed in last consultation and Conservative Party manifesto commitments at the last local elections.
• Has allowed ruling Councillors to argue that there is an acceptable percentage of Green Belt that should be sacrificed to development, when no such rule exists in the NPPF.
• Ignores alternative approaches, such as fair burden-sharing under which settlements would undertake to accommodate new development in proportion to their size.
• Disproportionate amount of development (most of it, in fact) to be in Green Belt. Too few new homes in urban areas where most people (especially the young and less privileged) want to live. This will act against much needed urban regeneration.
• “Insetting” of most villages disproportionate and unjustified in terms of their contribution under the NPPF to the purposes of the Green Belt. Based on flawed Green Belt and Countryside Study. Idea that most Guildford villages do not contribute to “openness” is subjective.
• Major settlement extensions allow indiscriminate housebuilding, as irregularly shaped villages are squared off to enclose green fields.
• Overall harm to Guildford Green Belt unjustified by any objective development need post-Brexit.
• Ignores most of NPPF 17 stipulations.

• Gives Ash and Tongham more protection than rest of borough, including existing Green Belt. But they don’t contribute to preventing London sprawl.
• Special treatment of ward represented by current Council Leader and his predecessor. Politically biased.
• A minor extension of Green Belt in one place does not justify its major destruction elsewhere (the inset villages).

I object particularly to the proposed development at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm. The developments are out of proportion to the surrounding area and do not qualify for exceptional circumstances required to take them out of the Green Belt. In addition, I object to the planning policies as follows.

I object to POLICY S1 – Presumption in favour of sustainable development

- No definition of sustainable development given, no reference to its importance in the NPPF, no guidelines for applying it to planning.
- No mention of Green Belt, Guildford’s greatest legacy by far to Sustainable Development. No commitment to protecting it.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )

I object to POLICY S2 – Borough Wide Strategy

- No justification given for 13,860 housing need figure. Figure based on a secret formula used by consultants and never seen by anyone on the Council or by the public. Council has failed to seek its disclosure.
- 13,860 figure confuses the OAN with a housing target. No definite housing target given, leaving too much scope for the Council to make one up. I can’t understand how we’re being consulted when we don’t know how many houses the Council want to build, taking all the constraints into account.
- Figures based on a Housing Market Area that ignores 2 neighbouring districts (Rushmoor and Mole Valley) and is much too small, since most people commute or travel far outside the Area to shop or study. This distorts the figures: no reason why Guildford needs to build nearly twice as many large housing estates as the rest of Surrey put together, or half of all sites over 100 units.
- High numbers involved would transform the character of the borough from mainly rural/Green Belt to urban, creating a corridor of development out of London as per Woking or Croydon.

I object to Policy A58 change at Burnt Common - now a minimum of 7,000 sq m of industrial or warehousing

The word 'minimum' has been changed from 'maximum' in the 2016 plan. There are more appropriate alternative locations rather than using green belt land for industrial and warehouse development. The impact on local roads from increased traffic will be huge.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the removal of villages from the Green Belt.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:

I object to the disproportionate distribution of houses across Guildford Borough, by far, the North East has taken an unsustainable number, in an area where country lanes are narrow and volume of traffic now using through routes makes roads gridlocked at rush hour.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I object to the methodology of drawing up the plan. Guildford Borough employs consultants who allegedly have planning expertise but have done so without taking account of Surrey Cow1ty Council highway planners' views, or the costs involved in improving the infrastructure, currently out side their financial capability.

The methodology is also flawed as this plan has been formulated without regard to village Neighbourhood plans. Surely, logic would suggest planning is best formed by a bottom up approach, not top down.

I object to the 2016 Draft Local Plan as it has had no regard to schools required, additional medical or hospital facilities which would make a plan sustainable.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I have viewed the new proposals under the GBC local plan 2016 and I am writing to object to the removal of Chilworth Village from the Green Belt.

Although I appreciate the council is under pressure to find new land to accommodate further housing I believe there is plenty of brown field sites still available to develop.

The loss of green belt status will make a materialistic difference to the Village of Chilworth which has successfully accommodated new developments at Haywards Corner and Titan Sheds.

I'm am particularly concerned about the potential to develop the fields at the end of Manor Lane. This site lacks adequate access and all previous plans have tried to accommodate an unacceptable high level of housing which will impact negatively on this local beauty spot not least the historic Meadows Cottage.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

There is no schedule for Garlicks Arch (A43) so, the plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and therefore it is not fit for purpose

I object to the figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlicks Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43)

Garlicks arch is Green Belt and has ancient woodland and has a thriving wildlife habitat, which should be protected. There is no infrastructure, it floods and where are the plans to improve local schools, public transport and medical facilities?

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)
This is disastrous as the increased volume of traffic would impact the local communities. The increased traffic from London (M25) to Woking would go through Burnt Common, Send and Old Woking, which currently cannot cope with the existing traffic. This is unsustainable

Damage will be caused to the ancient woodland of oak trees at Garlicks Arch site (A43) proposal

I object to the employment strategy and impact on Garlicks Arch (A43) (Policies E2 and E5)

The development will result in the loss sustainable existing successful businesses, which have been employing local people over many decade

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

This will cause more congestion to the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon, which have poor condition narrow roads and no footpaths, which are dangerous. More houses will increase this danger and unsustainable volumes of traffic

I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads A3/M25 (Policy 12)

Realistically and ideally, both the A3 and M25 need improvements before any developments commence and with Highways England not considering improving A3 before 2020, this clearly identifies the proposed developments at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlicks Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) as not taking place and proceeding.

I trust that you will take my points into consideration as this is so important to me and to many, many other local people who enjoy living in our beautiful Green Belt.

I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy 13)

The increased congestion that will arise from the massive proposed developments will in turn lead to increased air pollution which will have damaging effect on local residents and their health
