Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as Ill as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as well as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

• A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
• The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  ◦ failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  ◦ issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
• It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.
I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays

Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
• 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burtncommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
• 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.
A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy A43

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces
Pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3)

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will “enhance” heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/Disneyfication/. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale value of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of... unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to other towns, and within the London Commuter belt, no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this is a Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.
I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

I OBJECT in the strongest possible terms to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016). This Plan is unsustainable, unworkable and, in many provisions, unnecessary.

I set out below my objections to specific policies and matters within the Plan.

In particular, I am greatly dismayed by the extent to which this version of the Local Plan is the same or worse than the version on which the previous consultation exercise was conducted. This rather makes a mockery of the use of the word ‘consultation’, making it seem merely a legal box-ticking exercise. I remember the arguments in favour of the previous plan being adopted were mainly that it was preferable to set our own plan than have one imposed on us by central government. I note that this argument is not being used this time, presumably because it is no longer valid, the government and the economic situation in which it operates have changed enormously. Yet no alternative compelling argument has been advanced in favour of a vast increase in development of the area.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

2. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.
2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.
3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt. Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.
3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.
4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018
5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham
7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework
8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.
9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.
10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens
11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.
12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.
14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.
15. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.
The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

I object to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)
The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)
The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan. The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43).

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

Furthermore, several electricity pylons run through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of „through“ traffic. The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I object to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1). If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable!

I object to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick's Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition. I object to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as Ripley, already suffer from lack of parking space. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists ride through the village on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1)

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have serious doubts about the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre in Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Funding for police services is constantly being reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2). There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situation worse.

I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)
Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health.

I object to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)
I object to the proposals to remove the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, together with sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick's Arch (A43). National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these villages and the land to be taken from the Green Belt. There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached. GBC's Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick's Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site. Rather than developing Garlick's Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

I object to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)
National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.
The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough's identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.
The site at Garlick's Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency's flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council's SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. As this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay, the SFRA is clearly not fit for purpose and needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I object to the Local Plan as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)
The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.
The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact upon existing local communities by over development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities. The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) are in unsustainable locations. They do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are already few and far between so residents will have to be using their cars. These sites are just unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.
The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion, particularly Ripley High Street which already suffers mile long tailbacks at peak times. More cars of the road will mean even worse acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)
The borough wide strategy is not well thought through. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.
It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of about 5 miles. It will result in coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.
The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as III as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as III as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.
4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
  - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
- It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 – 2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Higheatts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays

  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.
The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.
Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3)

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

- I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

- The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

- The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/”Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale vale of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being “closely related”. In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt.

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5 states that “... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt.” This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt.
There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London’s commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.
The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.
2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as Ill as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as Ill as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
  - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
- It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick’s Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 – 2014 from Crashmap data
- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays
  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).
The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.
Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3)

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will “enhance” heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Comment ID: PSLPP16/14181  Respondent: 15601217 / Patrick Barrass  Agent:
I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatcher’s, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should be provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university’s ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale value of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford’s relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations Ire available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.
The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt.

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere: unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) does the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London's commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Cladon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Cladon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as III as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as III as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
  - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
- It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.
I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick’s Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays

  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
• 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
• 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.
A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council’s eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3)

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will “enhance” heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment “Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.
2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.
London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students are accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale vale of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy H3

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt.

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.
I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be recommissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

<td></td>

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.
The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guildford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London's commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere.
Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

I need to object to the proposal in the Local Plan to build 1,100 new homes and a secondary school in the Normandy and Flexford area (site 368).

My main concern if this construction goes ahead, is that a pleasant rural community will become an urban sprawl. This area is part of Surrey Hills Area of Natural Beauty, but the wonderful views looking up to, and down from the Hogs Back will disappear.

The wildlife will also disappear as the building work destroys the hedgerows and grasslands which form their natural habitat. The numbers of small mammals, birds and bees will all be heavily reduced. Wildlife in the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area will likewise be severely affected as it is just one kilometre away in Ash and Pirbright.

My second cause for concern is the lack of suitable infrastructure to cope with a development of this magnitude. The roads bordering the site will not cope with the extra traffic which will definitely be generated. Westwood Lane on the west is only a C road, while Glaziers Lane on the east is just an unclassified D road. Both roads have railway bridges which limit the traffic flow. These roads are already very busy, especially during rush hour. The addition of heavy lorries initially to build the development, followed by thousands of cars driven by users of the development, will soon cause gridlock.

So to summarise, please do not let a beautiful rural area, which is a haven to wildlife, become a heavily congested urban sprawl, just because it is a convenient place to build the majority of houses demanded by government.

I object therefore to the number of developments planned in such a relatively small area. The infra-structure in and around Send and Ripley, can only just about cope at present! An appointment at our local Doctors surgery can mean a wait of well over a week. The local schools are stretched to find places for the local children and then there's the traffic! The roads around Send and Ripley are constantly gridlocked in the morning and the roadways themselves are damaged through volume of traffic and lack of maintenance. With that in mind, how on earth are we going to accommodate another several hundred homes!

I object to the lack of foresight given to the infrastructure required to accommodate all these additional families, where would the children go to school? I am writing to object most strongly to the proposed local plan. I currently live with my family in Send Marsh and commute to Westcott for work every day.

The proposed construction of hundreds of houses in and around Send Ripley Merrow and the Clandons, will create a density of housing and therefore increased traffic and unsustainable pressure on local services that would be unsafe and down right irresponsible.

My main concerns:
* I object to the erosion of the Green belt. The villages of Ripley, Wisley Clandons and Send, are apparently earmarked to lose their Green Belt status. This is outrageous. Property in this area commands high prices, this is because of the location. Residents accepted the inflated price in return for being able to live in a pleasant semi-rural location, with the knowledge that as there was green belt land in the area it would not change too drastically or become over developed!

I object to the fact that we have been given very little time to digest what the planners have put forward, and put forward our thoughts on the proposals!

I object to the council viewing our villages as the answer to the housing needs of the area. The transport links from Send and Ripley are poor to say the least. The buses run once an hour, so without a car to get to a railway station, or towns such as Woking or Guildford would be very difficult. So how are all these new home owners going to get to work as with the increased traffic no one would get anywhere there'd be total chaos!

Objections to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Local Plan (June 2016) and to the continued inclusion in the plan of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA), now known as Three Farms Meadows (TFM) –

Allocation A35 - for the phased development of a new settlement of up to 2100 dwellings

As a regular visitor to the area, where many friends live, I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

- I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.
- I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.
- I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans.
- I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).
- I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

- I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:
  1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars
  2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads
  3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements
  4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them)
  5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest
  6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity

- I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).

- I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

- I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

- I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, - now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.

Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Gosden Hill development being in the Local Plan. The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.
Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43)

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)
It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition of north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of 'through' traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
POLICY E6 - The leisure and visitor experience

I OBJECT. Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.
2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.
3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a SouthWest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.
4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT (POLICY H1 – Homes for all) Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.
Student accommodation should be provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

I OBJECT This is a Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added pollution and risk to injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

    1. I OBJECT to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1)

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

I OBJECT to the proposals to remove the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, together with sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43). National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a 'special circumstance’ and the land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached. GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. I believe this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the Local Plan as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are just unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

1. The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

2. The Housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

3. The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common-sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

OBJECTION TO “THE GUILDFORD PLAN” – JUNE 2016” (sent by email)

As a very frequent visitor to see my brother, sister-in-law and nephew who live in West Horsley, I am dismayed at the proposals for future housing developments in the West and East Horsley parishes contained in the “Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites – June 2016” (The Guildford Plan).

The proposal that you can increase the number of households by 35% is hard to comprehend particularly when there seems to have been little or no consideration in “The Guildford Plan” of the effect such a huge increase will undoubtedly have on the local infrastructure and services.

As a Surrey resident myself, I understand the need for building more affordable housing in the County, but the proposals on the scale set out in the Plan are way in excess of what is acceptable and sustainable.

In view of my observations set out above, I strongly object to the proposals set out in the “The Guildford Plan” and urge the Council to have a serious reconsideration about the numbers and sizes of developments proposed and come up with a much more realistic Plan in keeping with the local infrastructure, services and rural setting.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

1) I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.

2) I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. This site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.

3) I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans.
4) I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the Borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).

5) I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

6) I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:

   1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars.
   2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads.
   3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements.
   4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them).
   5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest.
   6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity.

7) I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).

8) I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

9) I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

10) I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, - now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.

Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

In addition the sites of Wisley Airfield and Garlicks Arch must not be removed as their development as it would ruin the local area’s environment visually and environmentally. It would become more urban rather than a green environment, which Ripley is so admired for. As required by the National Planning Policy there are no exceptional circumstances for the above sites being removed from the Green Belt.

The 13,860 extra houses is not sustainable, my village of Ripley and local villages of Send and Clandon will be damaged, we don’t need these extra houses in our local area. The plan lacks any infrastructure improvements for Garlicks Arch. This development must surely be more suited to an urban area with transport already on hand.

Re: Objection to Guildford Borough Council draft Local Plan (June 2016)

We strongly object to the inclusion in the Guildford Borough Council draft Local Plan (June 2016) of Site Allocation A35 namely the Former Wisley Airfield for a new settlement of 2,000 dwellings. For the following reasons:

- The Former Wisley Airfield should NOT be removed from the Green Belt, as it serves a vital role in preventing urban sprawl from London and a development there would create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford.
- No exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the site from the Metropolitan Green Belt.
- There is ample brownfield land in urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land.
- Such a development would have harmful impact on transport, local roads and road safety. The result of an additional 2,000 homes would be an estimated 4,000 additional cars together with other vehicles, including HGVs, to service the development.
The increased traffic would cause congestion and danger on the narrow rural roads in Ockham, Hatchford, Downside and Cobham. Cobham is the closest shopping centre to the proposed development – Cobham Village could not cope with the additional traffic and car parking involved in serving some 5,000 additional occupiers at the site and would experience a significant increase in stationary/idling traffic at peak times and at junctions.

Due to the absence of cycling paths and the lack of footpaths (and the space to provide them) the assertion that the development would result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking is unbelievable. The increased traffic would add danger to cyclists and pedestrians (including those already increasingly using local roads for recreational purposes).

There would be an increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25 and the junction of those as well as local roads. Any proposed secondary schooling would add additional congestion.

The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley could not cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity. In the refused planning application there had been a suggestion that Cobham & Stoke D’Abernon Station could be used – that, or use of stations further north at Weybridge or Walton, would increase congestion and pollution on local roads in Elmbridge.

Air pollution in this area in the north of the Borough of Guildford and the south of the Borough of Elmbridge and particularly near the M25/A3 junction already exceeds EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic would worsen the situation, affecting the health of all current and future residents.

Insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site and the area around it, taking account of the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).

The area is a haven for wildlife, some of which is already endangered. The introduction of residences would mean the import into an ecologically sensitive area not only of humans and their increased footfall, but also of pets, and cats and dogs in particular, that can have a devastating effect on wildlife. Protected species on and near the site and wildlife corridors would be destroyed.

On 8th April 2016, there was unanimous rejection of application no 15/P/00012 by the Planning Committee at Guildford Borough Council on the recommendation of its Planning Officers. The Planning Report identified the serious concerns now being highlighted above.

Gosden Hill (policy A25) The scale of the development proposal and its potential impact on the A3 and other local roads is a major concern. The provision of a rail link may help to partially alleviate the problem, but the number of houses proposed is far higher than is suitable for the location and unless the development is invisible from the A3 then it will detrimentally affect the appearance of the borough as a predominantly rural area.

Garlick’s Arch (policy A43) This was a very late and very major change to the Local Plan proposals does appear to have not followed the correct due process so should be removed. The proposal to build circa 400 houses and 7,000sq.m. light industrial/storage, warehousing Green Belt land, lying outside the Send Marsh/Burnt Common village boundary, defies all logic. This area which includes ancient woodland is a refuge for wildlife and a clear separation for the A3 and the village. It was also never considered as a Potential Development Area within the Council’s ‘Issues and Options report’ or identified for development in the 2014 consultation. In 2014 the Council rejected a planning application from ‘Oldlands’ to build 25 houses in this location on sound planning grounds, so the council should not now consider the construction of 400 houses and 7,000sq.metres of employment space there? There is insufficient infrastructure to support such a development. Send Marsh/Burnt Common has one just petrol station with a small shop, one local doctors’ surgery that is full, no schools and the local roads are already filled to capacity especially the Clandon Road. Any development in this area would be totally inappropriate and would be detrimental of Send Marsh/Burnt Common as a village. The housing proposal alone would add a 41% (960) increase to the existing population of 2,341. The proposed would significantly detract from the open countryside aspect and add dramatically to the existing road use.

New north and southbound slip-roads to and from the A3 to the A 247 Clandon Road (policy A43a) This proposal will encourage additional traffic along the very narrow, winding A247 Clandon Road and the Send Barns Lane/Send Road leading to Woking, the traffic along both of which are already at capacity. Send village is a ribbon development of housing along both sides of Send Road, so there is no scope to widen it, and where it ends at the Old Woking roundabout none of the connecting roads can be widened to ease congestion because of the existing surrounding buildings.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

The new boundaries proposed for insetting the villages of Send and Send Marsh/Burnt Common from the Green Belt (policy P2). The boundaries drawn enclose huge areas of open spaces that should be retained as Green Belt land and not developed at any time in the future. The village boundaries should be much more closely circumscribed to prevent urban sprawl and retain their village identity. With a presumption for development within these ‘inset’ areas, the proposed enclosures would encourage over-development and expansion of the villages in the future and completely ruin their essentially rural nature.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

• Amount of new housing far exceeds local need.
• Housing density excessive when compared with existing development.
• Would transform the Horsleys into a sizable town, something for which no case is made.
• No local support.
• Collective impact of these 6 sites on a small part of the borough not considered. Should not be treated as isolated, separate sites.
• Total amount of new building out of scale with the planned development elsewhere the borough, especially less sensitive urban areas not protected by Green Belt.
• Sites unsustainable. Key infrastructure lacking. No adequate provision is made to increase it – e.g. poor wastewater capacity, lack of schools, absence of traffic management plan, flooding.
• No account taken of additional impact of Wisley Airfield site on Horsleys.
• Extension of settlement boundaries too permissive. Horsleys characterised by streets with development along only one side of the road. Policies allow too many adjacent green fields to be developed by squaring off boundaries and claiming they don’t contribute to Green Belt “openness”.

• Green Belt gap with neighbouring settlements hugely narrowed, especially if Wisley Airfield is built on.
• Will harm compliance with NPPF 81 – e.g. by making cycling (including Prudential cycle races) too dangerous, ruining the rural setting of Waterloo Farm campsite, destroying the ambience of Grange Park Opera’s new “Theatre in the Woods”.
• Policy A40 especially unviable because of high water table and poor drainage, leading to regular winter flooding.
• Safe access and egress at Site A40 unachievable, owing to flooding, high speed limits, poor sight lines, narrow access to existing properties, inadequate pavements for elderly and schoolchildren, increasing use by recreational cyclists etc.

- Should not be in the plan for all the reasons the Planning Committee rejected the identical recent proposal by Wisley Investment Properties.
- Irregularity of including this policy in the plan 24 hours before this planning application was rejected (like extending the time allowed for the developers to present their application).
- Unacceptable Conservative Party links between the developers and the Council.
- No Green Belt “exceptional circumstances” presented.
- Not a brownfield site as stated – only 15% of it.
- Proposed SCC waste site ignored.
- Loss of farming land.
- Too near RHS Wisley and Thames Basin Heath SPA.
- SANG would harm on SPA.
- Unacceptable increase in air pollution.
- No existing public transport and stations miles away.
- No proper traffic data.
- Housing density far too great.
- Over 2,000 houses will swamp and destroy Ockham conservation area, with impact on listed buildings.
- Access confined to inadequate narrow lanes.
- Water table and surface water flooding not considered either for site itself or for downstream areas on River Mole.
- Major impact on neighbouring villages, especially Horsleys.
- No assessment made of collective impact on area of this and 6 Horsley sites.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

• Using the official definition of Affordable is a joke. Affordable homes round here are not affordable! Pushing for these homes just means pushing for more development.
• The viability clause lets developers off the hook of providing even these (non-) affordable homes. Too open to manipulation.
• Contradicts government policy to develop less advantaged regions of the UK. People don’t have to live and work in Guildford but should be encouraged to move to cheaper, less congested areas.
• This policy won’t affect market forces or house prices. Guildford is too small and too near London to influence these, however many homes it builds.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
• It loosens the criteria by allowing “market housing” and development that changes the housing mix. Developers would be able to override NPPF 2 “exceptional circumstances” and other restrictions to build large houses in the Green Belt.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:

• Infrastructure considered here as an afterthought, rather than pre-condition of development. Should be a key issue for the rest of the plan.
• Excessive housebuilding in countryside not supported by any funding or provision for infrastructure.
• Heavy focus on building on greenfield sites inefficient and unnecessary: cheap for developers but much more expensive for the public who have to fund the infrastructure.
• No plan for organic increase in existing traffic congestion, let alone once thousands of houses are built across the countryside. Local roads hardly considered. Green Belt being eroded before road widening/improvement plans certain, encouraging over-development of greenfield sites.

• Gives Ash and Tongham more protection than rest of borough, including existing Green Belt. But they don’t contribute to preventing London sprawl.
• Special treatment of ward represented by current Council Leader and his predecessor. Politically biased.
• A minor extension of Green Belt in one place does not justify its major destruction elsewhere (the inset villages).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
• Numbers based on growth and demographic data now invalidated by Brexit.
• No justification given for 13,860 housing figure. Figure based on a secret formula used by consultants and never seen by anyone on the Council or by the public. Council has failed to seek its disclosure.
• 13,860 figure confuses the OAN with a housing target. No definite housing target given, leaving too much scope for the Council to make one up. I can’t understand how we’re being consulted when we don’t know how many houses the Council want to build, taking all the constraints into account.

• Figures based on a Housing Market Area that ignores 2 neighbouring districts (Rushmoor and Mole Valley) and is much too small, since most people commute or travel far outside the Area to shop or study. This distorts the figures: no reason why Guildford needs to build nearly twice as many large housing estates as the rest of Surrey put together, or half of all sites over 100 units.

• High numbers involved would transform character of the borough from mainly rural/Green Belt to urban, creating a corridor of development out of London as per Woking or Croydon.

Objections to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Local Plan (June 2016) and to the continued inclusion in the plan of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA), now known as Three Farms Meadows (TFM) –

Allocation A35 - for the phased development of a new settlement of up to 2100 dwellings

Dear Sirs,

I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

1) I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.

2) I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.

3) I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans.

4) I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).

5) I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

6) I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:

1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars
2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads
3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements
4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them)
5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest
6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity
7) I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).

8) I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

9) I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

10) I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.

Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT ESPECIALLY TO 6 POLICIES: A36, A37, A38, A39, A40 & A41: • Amount of new housing far exceeds local need. • Housing density excessive when compared with existing development. • Would transform the Horsleys into a sizable town, something for which no case is made. • No local support. • Collective impact of these 6 sites on a small part of the borough not considered. Should not be treated as isolated, separate sites. • Total amount of new building out of scale with the planned development elsewhere the borough, especially less sensitive urban areas not protected by Green Belt. • Sites unsustainable. Key infrastructure lacking. No adequate provision is made to increase it – e.g. poor wastewater capacity, lack of schools, absence of traffic management plan, flooding. • No account taken of additional impact of Wisley Airfield site on Horsleys. • Extension of settlement boundaries too permissive. Horsleys characterised by streets with development along only one side of the road. Policies allow too many adjacent green fields to be developed by squaring off boundaries and claiming they don’t contribute to Green Belt “openness”.

I OBJECT TO site A43a the on and off ramp at Burnt Common/Clandon – this will increase traffic problems, not help them! There will be a catastrophic increase in traffic resulting from spreading new housing estates across the area. Infrastructure considered here as an afterthought, rather than pre-condition of development. Should be a key issue for the rest of the plan. • Excessive housebuilding in countryside not supported by any funding or provision for infrastructure. • Heavy focus on building on greenfield sites inefficient and unnecessary: cheap for developers but much more expensive for the public who have to fund the infrastructure. • Draft CIL scale discourages use of brownfield land first. • No plan for organic increase in existing traffic congestion, let alone once thousands of houses are built across the countryside. Local roads hardly considered. Green Belt being eroded before road widening/improvement plans certain, encouraging over-development of greenfield sites.

I OBJECT TO POLICY P2 – Green Belt. I object to the insetting of 14 villages from the Green Belt, and the proposal that infilling is acceptable within a further 12 villages within the Green Belt. I am concerned that “infilling” is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Essentially, all the villages within the Green Belt are now vulnerable to extensive further development. Green Belt is supposed to be protected as a matter of national and local policy, but this policy seeks to justify development in a supposedly protected area, in breach of local manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation.

I OBJECT TO any ‘in-setting’ (ie removal) of any villages from the Green Belt. Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy A26 Blackwell FarmThere is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints. Blackwell Farm is located entirely within the green belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Blackwell Farm performs all five functions of green belt, and fulfils purposes 1, 3 and 5 very strongly. Purpose 1 - “checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas”. There is huge pressure to develop on the western edge of Guildford; the University of Surrey has stated publicly that its key objective is to develop the whole of its landholdings, stretching west to Flexford Farm. This, combined with the indefensible boundary being proposed (a hedgerow rather than the existing belt of ancient woodland), will put more of the green belt and the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) at risk of future development. Purpose 3 “assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment” - the proposed movement of the green belt boundary on the west of Guildford to allow for development of the University in 2004 resulted in the encroachment on countryside and the loss of working farmland (including some Grade 2) at Manor Farm. The proposed future change in the boundary would result in further encroachment and the loss of farmland including further Grade 2. The proposed road development with access road from the A31 would also effectively cut off farm access to the south of the development area leading to further urban influence on this countryside. The University’s stated key objective is to develop land, which includes Chalkpit and Wildfield farms leading to the risk of further boundary change and further encroachment in future years. Purpose 5 - “assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land” Whilst all green belt assists towards this purpose, the ownership of this land by the University of Surrey with its extensive landholdings within the urban boundary (including land it leases to the Hospital and Holiday Inn, the Surrey Research Park, Hazel Farm as well as two large campuses) means that the location of Blackwell Farm within the green belt plays an even greater and direct role in encouraging the more efficient usage of urban land. Stopping development on Blackwell Farm would result in the University of Surrey investing in, and regenerating, land in its ownership and delivering its commitments following the 2003 boundary review (including 270 homes for key workers, 3,125 student residences and releasing further accommodation at Hazel Farm). The University has 17 hectares of surface car parking that could be built over with offices and flats. This is a more sustainable option than building over open farmland (largely grade 2 and 3a) within the green belt. The Blackwell Farm development would result in harm to the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), harm to an Area of Great Landscape Value (AGLV), and harm to the setting to the AONB. (Blackwell Farm forms the views into and out of the Hogs Back ridge). The NPPF is clear that AONBs should be afforded the highest level of protection in relation to landscape and scenic beauty. All development proposals within and adjacent to the AONB must conserve or enhance its special qualities. The NPPF also makes it clear that applications for major development in the AONB will be refused unless exceptional circumstances are demonstrated and the development is proven to be in the public’s interest. Guildford Borough Council has not shown that the proposed housing development or the extension of the Research Park, or the proposed link road from the A31 to Gill Avenue, is in the wider public interest. Indeed, the increased traffic through the already congested Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which would result from the development, would impede emergency vehicles travelling to the Hospital and this would be very much against public interest. GBC’s Policy P1 states that, “The Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) will be conserved and enhanced to maximise its special landscape qualities and protect it from inappropriate development. All proposals will be considered against whether they conserve and/or enhance the setting and views of the AONB”. I question how the proposal to carve a new two-lane carriageway through the AONB fits this policy, or meets para 115 of the NPPF? Finally, nearly the whole site has been identified as a “candidate area” for AONB status in the Landscape Evaluation Study commissioned by Compton, Worplesdon and Wanborough parish councils. Therefore, the entire site should be treated as though it is within the AONB during this local planning process. The access to the proposed Blackwell Farm site will put additional peak hour pressure on two of Guildford’s worst congestion “hot spots”: the A31 (Hog’s Back) and the Tesco Roundabout on Gill Avenue. GBC’s proposal to create a new major route into Guildford from the west at, or close to, the Down Place private driveway, and to make this the main access to the planned Blackwell Farm development, does not appear to have been thought through. There are queues stretching back from the Farnham Road Bridge as far as the Down Place driveway entrance most weekday mornings and any traffic generated by the new development would not be able to clear the junction. In order to accommodate the volume of traffic using the new junction (generated by residents of the new housing estate, employees at the Surrey Research Park, Hospital and University, and visitors to the new school/supermarket), there would almost certainly need to be a roundabout (rather than the proposed traffic-light controlled junction) and GBC has ruled out a roundabout on grounds of landscape impact and traffic. The secondary access to the site at Gill Avenue also presents problems, and as GBC states in its Transport Assessment (14.9.5), changes planned for the Tesco roundabout will not mitigate against the increased level of traffic through the junction as a result of the Blackwell Farm development, and this in turn will impact on the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction, which serves the Royal Surrey County Hospital. I question whether it is responsible to allow a development that would impede emergency access to an A&E department and a major incident unit. The traffic impact resulting from the development of Blackwell Farm on the strategic road network would not appear to be properly assessed but it would be alleviated in part (but not completely) by widening the A3. However, timing and funding for this work is unclear so there would be many years of traffic chaos before any widening took place (if indeed it does). More significantly, the widening of the A3 would create noise and environmental impact on the neighbouring residential areas of Onslow Village and Beechcroft Drive and a six-lane highway would cause greater severance between Guildford and Blackwell Farm and areas to the west. The NPPF states in Section 6 para 47 that local authorities should “identify a supply of specific, developable sites or broad locations for growth, for years 6-10 and, where possible, for years 11-15”. In a footnote to this, it further adds, “To be considered developable, sites should be in a suitable location for housing development and there should be a reasonable prospect that the site is available and could be viably developed at the point envisaged.” I consider that the proposed access arrangements to Blackwell Farm are wholly inadequate for a development of this scale and thus the site cannot be “viably developed”.

I object to the removal of land from Greenbelt for the provision of two traveler pitches on Puttenham Heath Road to 'enable delivery'. The area warrants Green belt status and should remain in Green Belt. Removal is a big step towards the eventual development of permanent accommodation, which would result in loss of the two pitches.

I object to Policy D1 Making better places. I object to the absence of any reference to vernacular or historic design guidelines, even in Conservation Areas. Most of the borough, especially the rural areas, has vernacular design guidelines that are available to give suggestions as to appropriate design. These should have mandatory planning force. The monitoring of this policy is inappropriate. Why should this policy result in a reduction of the number of appeals for poor design? Should it not result in better-designed buildings?

I object to Policy D2 Sustainable design, construction and energy. Sustainability should be an overarching ambition, conditioning the whole local plan and running through it, as claimed in the NPPF, “like a golden thread”. It should be set out clearly in Policy S1, not buried away as a minor detail in Policy D2. This policy amounts to “greenwashing”, expounding aspirational environmental targets while ignoring the plan to build dormitory towns across the Green Belt that are environmentally and socially unsustainable. These settlements will bring vastly increased car use and will lead to unacceptable traffic congestion, overstretched social infrastructure, and more greenhouse gas emissions, noise and light pollution. This policy should not be just about saving energy but about preserving the borough’s stock of natural capital, especially the countryside, from attempts to rig the housing market. This policy’s emphasis on Combined Cooling Heating and Power and communal heating networks is difficult to understand, since no such networks are available locally.

I object to policy D3 Historic Environment

This policy clashes with the strongly pro-development agenda of the rest of the plan and fails to address the contradiction. History is unamenable to improvement, so the policy should commit the Council firmly to protecting and preserving our heritage assets from development. Instead, the specific policy pledge to “support development” that might “enhance” heritage assets leaves wide scope for abuse in the form of destructive commercialisation and financial leveraging of relevant sites. This policy is based on the false premise that Guildford’s heritage is inherently in decay. This is a developer’s charter – a short step away from the idea that the historic environment needs to pay its way to be preserved. The Council’s reviews of Guildford Museum and the Electric Theatre support this interpretation. Whatever the “reasoned justification”, the actual policy wording in the blue box leaves too many loopholes. Development close to historical assets is harmful and should be expressly prohibited. This policy fails to meet the requirements of NPPF paragraphs 126 and 131-133.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy D4 Development in urban areas and inset villages

This policy does not address the opportunity for building in the urban area. The plan envisages that 40% of homes built will be “affordable”, but this does not provide any accommodation for low-paid workers, for example, those on the minimum wage, who cannot afford to buy so-called “affordable” homes or pay an “affordable” rent. There is a need for some expansion in social housing, especially in urban areas, where there is a greater concentration of low-paid workers such as those employed in the retail, warehousing and distribution sectors (all of which this plan aspires to expand). The number of homes planned in the urban area is much too low. There is a glaring need for regeneration in many urban areas, particularly Guildford Town Centre but this is ignored in favour of building homes on green-field sites instead. This will not address urban housing needs. It is also unsustainable, since building outside the town does disproportionate harm to road traffic, air quality and overstretched infrastructure. The plan envisages a large expansion of the retail sector, but this is hard to justify because the sector is in rapid and continuous decline. THE BROWNFIELD OPPORTUNITY Yes, we need a new Local Plan for our borough in order to provide a development strategy within which we can accommodate our local housing, economic and environmental needs. But first we must make good use of our urban brownfield before we consider building in the Green Belt or countryside. Paragraph 80 of the NPPF clearly states that Green Belt serves a key purpose, “to assist in urban regeneration, by encouraging the recycling of derelict land and other urban land”. In order to comply with central planning policy we need a brownfield strategy that states clearly. “We are committed to a brownfield first initiative whereby all applications on previously developed land are given fast track priority and every facility to promote development for residential purposes and employment purposes in order to satisfy the needs of local people. In parallel a low CIL incentive should be given for all residential development on brownfield land. In response to the detailed objections received in the Regulation 18 process of the 2014 Local Plan and also in accordance with government policy a Guildford brownfield land register should be urgently compiled showing address, ownership, occupier, current use and detailed planning brief.Perhaps someone could be appointed at GBC with a clear briefing to deliver brownfield targets of housing and employment space.GBC needs to accelerate the residential redevelopment at Woodbridge Meadows, Walnut Tree Close and the Station within the next 5 years.GBC needs to examine the residential development opportunity of the 25.7 acres of car parks in GBC ownership do not consider that the target of 1,172 homes in the town centre takes account of the need and demand for housing or the opportunities that brownfield sites present for increasing the residential development in the core of the town which will in itself help to sustain the retail core by increased economic impact. The Town Centre policy needs to maximise the potential for residential development on brownfield and include as an absolute minimum the 2,551 units proposed in by Allies and Morrison for the town centre included in the masterplan 2015 which has recently been adopted by GBC. The reality is that the Town Centre has the capacity for significantly more homes. See details on GGG website - Guildford Greenbelt Group.

I object to policy E1 sustainable employment. I note that there is a significant reduction of between 71% and 79% in the previous job target and resultant 79% reduction in employment space in response to the many objections lodged in 2014 against an unsubstantiated agenda for economic expansion in the last draft and based on new findings by Aecom in the latest ELNA 2015. I have concern as to the ill-informed clustering of all B classes in terms of the clarity of market evidence required to inform effective planning and a failure to provide a clear understanding of business needs required under Section 160 of the NPPF. I also note the dramatic reduction in assessed demand by two Employment Land Needs Assessment Reports carried out under the same terms of reference within a period of 2 years which calls into question the general reliability of the process of collection and interpretation of data in the overall forward planning process by GBC. I am concerned however that the research undertaken by Aecom is generally superficial and lacks sufficient detail and analysis between B1a, B1b, B1c, B2 and B8 use classes and that no reliable individual analysis has been undertaken of the widely different supply and demand dynamics of office, research and development, light industrial, general industrial and warehousing and distribution floor space. No proper analysis has been made of data held by GBC in respect of different B classes in terms of planning applications granted or evidence gathered by the economic development function at GBC and no robust assessment of local market demand apart from fairly brief references to freely available market research undertaken by commercial estate agents such as Lambert Smith Hampton covering a much wider area.GBC appear to fail to appreciate the fundamental rationale of the Use Classes Order as a planning tool in terms of useful property market research or forward planning. What we are left with is a fairly clumsy and poorly informed plan which clusters B classes without any appreciation of widely different employment impact and economic sustainability. E.g. B1 generates at least 5 times as much employment as B8. The lack of appreciation as to the opportunity for widely different uses being generated within B class clusters defeats the whole point of proper planning of employment uses and can significantly endanger previously good planning put forward in the previous 2003 plan. E.g. the creation of a research and development park linked to the University but now has the threat of being downgraded into a general business park (see below). Little regard has been given in the plan to the economic reality of falling demand for B2 industrial space which is clustered with other B classes almost randomly throughout the plan. Little regard is given to the opportunity of B1b space as an opportunity for research and development which needs to be nurtured and preserved without the detrimental and confused clustering with other B classes both in terms of planning and promotion of a research hub. I note that the past trend of expansion of Office/
R &D is 0.43% pa over the period from 2004 to 2012 derived from VoA analysis and that the calculated annual floor space demand is 0.7% over the plan period up to 2033. I support the concept of seeking increased investment in our local knowledge-based, high technology economy. This will provide well paid, creative jobs and generate the funding necessary to pay for the infrastructure and environment this sort of industry requires. We need to distinguish between wanting to increase the added value of the economy and physical expansion, especially given the scarcity of land in Guildford. Guildford is not the place for large space hungry businesses. So I should target high added value small and medium sized enterprises rather than the headquarters of larger corporations.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy E2 location for new employment floor space I object to the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm and I do not believe there are exceptional circumstances to justify incursion into this permanent and high quality area of Green Belt. The Surrey Research Park currently extends to 65,000 sq m. There is already granted consent to expand to a further 9,000 sq m (14%) The past trend of expansion of Office/R &D is 0.43% pa over the period from 2004 to 2012 based on ELNA 2015 derived from VoA analysis. The ELNA 2015 calculated annual floor space demand is 0.7%. The data point for our analysis is today in 2016 so we have 17 years to go to the end of the plan period. The necessary growth in floor space over the plan period is therefore 17 years x 0.7% = 11.9%. There is currently 14% expansion space already available. The proposal by GBC to expand the 65,000 sq m by 9,000 sq m (existing allocation) with an additional 35,000 sq m amounts to an increase of 67% of the Research Park which is not required. The Research Park is currently developed at a density of 25% plot ratio. The majority of existing buildings are 2 stories giving a developed floor space plot ratio of 12.5%. The existing Research Park has the opportunity to markedly increase its density without infringing any Green Belt land nearby. Any density increase would be cost effective for the use of all existing infrastructure and would also have the potential to match the existing densities of existing academic buildings on the university campus which are three to four times higher. Together with the existing expansion of 14% through existing consents and the opportunity to increase its density the Research Park has ample capacity to expand to embrace new demand for B1b uses linked to the university. A preferred location for increased B1a and B1b space would be in the Town Centre close to housing and a convenient transport hub.

I object to Policy E3 maintaining employment capacity I object to the ill-informed policy of resisting change of use from B1a to residential because it flies in the face of positive property market solutions for the regeneration of brownfield land. It is also contrary to current government policy which has recently been reaffirmed and permits a change of use from B1a (offices) to C3 (residential). I believe that the existing government policy which has recently been made permanent of allowing change of use from B1a to C3 is sound. Many office buildings reaching an age of more than 30/50 years become redundant in terms of energy compliance making them illegal to occupy for employment purposes and the cost of refurbishment makes them redundant and uneconomic. The reality of market demand is that the gross development value of refurbished residential space is in excess of the gross development value of refurbished old office space in many locations (this gross development value assessment is supported by the analysis by property consultants GVA in the supporting evidence within the Allies and Morrison Masterplan for Guildford dated 2015). To resist change from B1a to C3 is contrary to the concept of brownfield first for residential development schemes. To resist change from B1a to C3 in Strategic or Significant Employment Sites is contrary to the concept of integrated mixed use communities whereby the journey to work is minimised. London has led the way with significant residential schemes being created from redundant office stock. A good example is the South Bank in London adjacent to Waterloo Station where in 2005 the Shell Centre has been converted into flats. Another example is the 2000 scheme at Metro Central Heights at Elephant and Castle where the old Alexander Fleming House was converted to 435 flats by St George. GBC needs to adopt more modern trends and policies.

I object to policy E4 Surrey research Park. I support the maintenance of research, development and design activities, in any science, including social science, that is complementary to the activities of the University of Surrey at the Surrey Research Park. I object however to the completely unnecessary expansion of the Research Park into a larger Business Park. I believe that the planning policy going forward for the Surrey Research Park should be to maintain and enhance the integrity of its research base allowing for the economic value add to the local economy of knowledge and technology transfer from the University. I believe that B1b (should be the primary use class for the Research Park and that applications for B1a should be resisted due to the danger of dilution of the core purpose and reputation of the park. I object to the inclusion of B1c uses which is inappropriate and unnecessary. Research parks based on the early UK technology transfer exemplars of the Cambridge and Oxford need careful monitoring, nurturing and protection to ensure the integrity and quality of the park is maintained and the park continues to be a destination for innovation and enterprise. There is a danger for research parks to be overwhelmed by short sighted development opportunities being taken by park managers provided by standard office activities and administrative functions which in time turn them into standard business parks which can be found anywhere in the country. Their relative low density and attractiveness make them targets for “any other” office user Research parks that lose their way stop being the location of choice for new innovative enterprises. I hope the Surrey Research Park in Guildford remains focussed on a broad spectrum of scientific research including computer science, bio-chemistry, design, space-science, eco-science, health science, software development, laser technology, media-science, artificial intelligence, robotics and super-manufacturing Monitoring indicators should include new start-ups and new patents created Facilities should be provided whereby new small businesses can secure premises under subsidised licence fee arrangements with no onerous rent or lease commitments I support the idea of a variety of sizes of unit including some small units (between 15 – 80 sq m) bearing in mind one workstation is 10 sq m Consideration should be given to the concept of shared “enterprise hubs” where individuals can take pay as you go workstations in shared spaces similar to touch down business centres similar to the “enterprise village” concept object to the policy of any new extension of the research park more than the existing 14% already provided for within the park or within the footprint of the park The Surrey Research Park currently extends to 65,000 sq m There is already granted consent to expand to a further 9,000 sq m (14%) This space has been available for 10 years and is still to find a taker The past trend of expansion of Office/R &D is 0.43% pa over the period from 2004 to 2012 based on ELNA 2015 derived from VoA analysis The ELNA 2015 calculated annual floor space demand is 0.7% The data point for our analysis is today in 2016 so we have 17 years to go to the end of the plan period The necessary growth in floor space over the plan period is therefore 17 years x 0.7 = 12% which is less than the current expansion space of 14%. The research park is developed at a plot ratio of 25%. This could be increased to 50% within the same footprint of the existing park without damage to its amenity. The actual current land use for development in the park is in fact only 12.5% because most buildings are 2-storey.

I object to policy E5 Rural Economy In my opinion this policy should only apply to small-scale development in rural areas which means development of less than 100 sq m (gross) which is in keeping with and the permanence and amenity of the green belt. Use of rural areas for town centre uses without applying the sequential approach is against the principles of localism that require local people to be consulted and heeded, not ignored. Villages need protecting in terms of both design and scale and character. Previous commitments to improved high-speed broadband and mobile phone coverage have now been diluted, despite general support. This disregards the responses from the 2014 public consultation.

The consultation process was not well publicized; many Parish Councils had no idea of this. The emphasis on voluntary efforts and greater community efforts is far removed from reality for this 'solution' was presented for almost every aspect of rural life from managing crime to looking after elderly to education and more besides. Villages by nature are usually small and the percentage of the population who are able to do voluntary work is smaller still. The solution is therefore unworkable. The results of the consultation were not publicized but were instead collated and summarized and bore no resemblance to the submissions I had sight of.

I object to policy E6 the leisure and visitor experience. I believe that the importance of a visitor attraction hub could be much better articulated. Guildford has great potential to become a “must see” destination for tourists and visitors. Surrounded by the natural beauty of the Surrey Hills, it is already distinguished as an historic county town. The historic part of the town should be exploited to the full creating a real sense of vibrancy and atmosphere. This should be linked to the attractions of the Museum, the Castle, the Wey and the historic High Street including its views of the Hogs Back.

The historic part of the town should be exploited to the full creating a real sense of vibrancy and atmosphere. This should be linked to the attractions of the Museum, the Castle, the Wey and the historic High Street including its views of the Hogs Back.

The economic impact would create big advantages for both the leisure and the niche speciality retail sectors in the town. Given the local and wider catchment of the town Guildford should strive for high quality definition making it a great centre for people to live in and visit. Guildford the historic “Gateway to the Surrey Hills” has far more potential than Guildford just any other stereotypical centre found anywhere around London. Re-branding walks, such as a new “Pilgrims Trail” similar to the Patriots trail in Boston USA with marked yellow footsteps leading from the station to the River and up through the historic heart of the town. There is a need to make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms. There is a need to help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to RHS Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a SouthWest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently bypass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

THE TOWN CENTRE OPPORTUNITY

I do not consider that the target of 1,172 homes in the town centre takes account of the need and demand for housing or the opportunities that brownfield sites present for increasing the residential development in the core of the town which will in itself help to sustain the retail core by increased economic impact. What the town centre needs in terms of urban regeneration and to attain a thriving night time economy is more residential development. The Town Centre policy needs to maximise the potential for residential development on brownfield and include as an absolute minimum the 2,551 units proposed in by Allies and Morrison for the town centre included in the masterplan 2015. The reality is that the Town Centre and other areas of brownfield in the borough has the capacity to provide significantly more than this.

I object to policy H1 Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set any rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions. The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated. I support higher density development but not high-rise development (ie over 10 floors) in the urban area close to transport hubs to facilitate modal shift e.g. 20 minutes’ walk of Guildford railway station. Student accommodation should provide for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and underused surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back. Surrey University has 17 ha of car parks that could provide all the student accommodation required above it, with parking beneath. Guildford borough already has a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Overprovision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy H2 Affordable homes. “Affordable” homes, under national definitions, means homes that are sold or rented at 80% of market value. Even if 70% of these are rented as proposed, the level of market prices in the South-East means (even post-Brexit) that these homes will remain well beyond most people’s means and that starter homes will not become available for local people. In addition, the viability clause (4.2.40) means that in practice the policy could be unenforceable. Private financial viability has no place in a public policy and should be removed. It is a get-out-of-jail-free card for developers that will sacrifice countryside for no local benefit. I question the assumptions that seem to underlie this policy: that people have a right (rather than a legitimate aspiration) to own a home; that they should be encouraged to live locally in enormous debt (contradicting the Government’s policy of encouraging labour mobility and development in poorer regions, where homes are cheaper); that increasing local house-building will reduce overcrowding and congestion (rather than simply suck more people into the borough); and that it will stem the rise in house prices (even though 13,860 new homes will be a drop in the ocean, given that prices are determined by an infinite demand-pull from London, whose population is increasing by 100,000 a year, and by the currently low cost of capital for overseas and other buyers). The weak mechanisms proposed in the plan might influence the market in a more remote part of the UK, but not here. This policy’s version of “affordability” is just a smokescreen for pushing through more development generally. Building more homes in Guildford cannot increase real affordability given the overhang of the London market.

I object to policy H3 Rural Exception Homes. This is a type of Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix”, this can include “market” housing – i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means expensive executive homes. This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions. The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognising this as a key issue, the plan makes too many assumptions, not least being the verbal promise that development will not take place without infrastructure preceeding it. It is not clear how this will happen and is not in the Plan, as it should be, if it is achievable. The highways network is under stress at peak times in many parts of the borough. Queuing is the daily experience of drivers going to and from work. The local plan recognises the problems in para 2.14. Much of the road network is single-carriageway, and junctions act as constraints. The key evidence on future traffic conditions is provided in the Strategic Highway Assessment Report (SHAR) which summarises the results of the tests carried out by Surrey County Council at the request of GBC. Five scenarios were examined using SCC’s strategic traffic model. Scenario 1 contains all developments and planning permissions from 2009 to date. As such it corresponds to today’s circumstances, and describes the current unsatisfactory traffic conditions in peak periods. Scenario 5 represents the position at the end of the plan period, including all development and highways schemes in the local plan. The results of the analysis show that there will be widespread congestion in the morning peak hour across the network. The key strategic routes, the A3 through Guildford NE bound, and the M25 between Junctions 10 and 11, are shown to be at or over capacity. The summary network statistics presented in the SHAR, while useful, require some interpretation because the analysis of vehicle-hours is derived from link speeds only, and does not reflect junction delays and queues. The tables that show the ratio of flow to capacity and level of service are especially helpful to gaining an understanding of the conditions on the network in the forecast. Where the forecast traffic volume is above or close to capacity, flow becomes unstable and there is congestion. The SHA results provide evidence that, in 2031, congestion will be worse than it is today on much of the network. It is the case that the traffic modelling does not take into account the potential for increased use of other modes, but the trip rates used for developments already have built in the typical level of use of other modes, and services will be required to meet that need. It is also the case that the model does not allow for park and ride, which would improve matters in the town centre, as discussed below. In order to gain an insight into conditions across the network, it is necessary to combine information from several tables in the SHAR. Table 4.5 shows that the M25 and A3 will be at capacity in Scenario 5. The other roads that will have poor levels of service include those in Table 4.5 but also those in 4.12 (except the A3) and those in Tables 4.3 and 4.4 with levels of service E and F that will not be given some relief by improvement of the A3 in Scenario 5. Paras 4.10.3, 4 and 5 point out that there will be increased congestion. Given that the starting point is unsatisfactory, there can be no expectation that the schemes in the Infrastructure Development Plan will provide an overall improvement. There will be some local benefits, such as the Ash rail bridge for example, but in general conditions will be as bad and in many places, such as Compton Village, worse. So the statement in the SHAR para 4.2.5 that ‘the combined mitigation as reflected in Scenario5...indicates that at the strategic level it accommodates the additional PSLP demand’ needs qualifying – ‘at the cost of a lot of queuing’ and makes no mention of the impact this will have on pollution, which is already a known problem at the A3 end of Compton. The cumulative effect of the additional traffic generated by the developments in the local plan will be to increase congestion, even with the proposed highway schemes in place. More detailed analysis of the junctions and queuing is required. So we question the conclusion that the developments would have “an acceptable impact on the capacity of the highway networks in terms of the policy test set in paragraph 32 of NPPF”. Appendix 3 of the Transport Topic Paper shows the phasing of housing development and transport infrastructure. The major scheme being considered for the A3 between the A31 and the A320 is scheduled for delivery in the period 2023/24 to 2027/28. The strategic developments at Blackwell Farm and Gosden Hill Farm are shown as being phased in from 2021/22 onwards. The Garlick’s Arch development is shown as starting in 2019/20. Therefore, there will be a period in which the existing A3 has to cope with the additional demand arising from those developments before extra capacity is provided. The following comments regarding the strategic sites are taken from the SHAR: Blackwell Farm – there will be congestion at the A31 junction, and the problems at the Tesco junction, and the Egerton road/Gill Avenue junction (para 4.9.5). Traffic is likely to access the Surrey research park and the RSC through the development (para 4.7.3) Gosden Hill Farm – there will be an increase in traffic through Burpham. There will be pressure on the A3100/B2234 roundabout (paras 4.7.6, 4.7.7 and 4.7.8). Wisley – traffic will increase on minor roads to gain access to the A3 (N and S bound) and other routes (para 4.7.11). The development will add more traffic to the A3. The Burnt Common slips help alleviate the traffic through Ripley according to the model, but queuing on the A3 could mean this does not happen (para 4.7.14) Normandy/Flexford – the report has little to say about the impact of this large development. The increase in flow on Westwood Lane is noted (para 4.5.7). Tables 4.10 and 4.11 show junction delay reducing at the Woodland Lane, B3000 junction, but an increasing at the Puttenham Hill/ Millbrook junction. Ash – development in Ash is not specifically addressed, but there are major increases in traffic on a number of roads. The new rail bridge will bring relief (but traffic will move to the next junction). Slyfield – there are no remark relating to SAR, and as there are no additional trips shown in and out of the Slyfield residential zone in Tables 3.3 and 3.4, it is possible that this development has been omitted. There is a significant increase in trips to and from the Slyfield industrial zone, which will impact on the A320 and Clay Lane. Town Centre – the report has very little to say about the town centre. It is evident that the model is forecasting severe congestion on the approaches to the town centre, such as the A281, the A31 Farnham Road, and Woodbridge Road for example. No mitigation measures are planned. And in the Transport Strategy, GBC states that the intention is to adopt Allies & Morrison’s Scenario 2 which would have the effect of significantly reducing the capacity of the town centre road system. The implications have not been examined, but traffic using the A281 from Waverley, for example, would be affected.

The B3000 will be severely affected by development schemes and will not benefit from road improvements. It is essential that the impact of all change to road networks are looked at in conjunction with one another for any survey to be meaningful. The local plan does not state an objective for congestion. The two strategic objectives that are included for infrastructure refer to supporting sustainable development and delivering a balanced system. However, in para 2.15 there is an aspiration expressed about opportunities ‘to improve the performance of the road networks through transport infrastructure and service improvements’, which taken with the previous paragraph includes reducing congestion. The evidence so far shows that this will not happen. The mitigation proposed is not sufficient to overcome the problems that will be caused by the level of growth in the local plan. Congestion will worsen. The network will lack resilience and be vulnerable to disruption due to incidents. Minor roads will have to cope with a lot more traffic, for which they are unsuitable.

I object to policy i2 Supporting the Department of Transport’s “Road Investment Strategy” This policy is too vague and unrealistically optimistic. Decisions by Highways England on improving the strategic road network (the M25 and A3) are still years off. The Council have suggested a very expensive tunnel under Guildford, but there is no evidence to show that this is a realistic option. Even if Highways England accepted this (which is highly unlikely in the post-Brexit public spending climate) it would not be built until the end of the plan period at the earliest. Other, less expensive A3 improvements, and changes to the Junction 10/Heathrow stretch of the M25, will also take years to agree and complete. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is foolhardy. Surrey is the most congested county in England, with 683 people per square kilometre, compared with an English average of 413. This policy will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone). This is a major development constraint that should have been applied to the OAN to constrain the housing target.

I object to policy I3 Sustainable transport for new developments. This is another aspirational policy, not grounded in the practical realities of daily life. It consists of a standard, box-ticking list of local government measures unrelated to the specifics of the plan. Like infrastructure, transport appears to be an afterthought; the policy fails in its essential job of guiding planning decisions, since it assumes development of any kind can be supported by sustainable transport. The sustainability of the dormitory settlements which the Council want built across the countryside depends on a general “modal shift” from private car use to walking, cycling and public transport. This is unrealistic. The proposed sites are often miles away from the nearest railway station. Bus services even in the largest villages are almost non-existent – just one bus to and from Guildford each day in the Horsleys and none at weekends. Since bus services depend on profitability, they cannot be expanded and the Council are not proposing to subsidise new ones. Rural buses are too slow anyway for busy people. Most rural roads in the borough are narrow, winding, hilly, potholed, muddy and unlit. Many flood badly and have no footpaths. The desired modal shift would require a comprehensive co-ordination of bus and train timetables with services every few minutes, seven days a week, to stops within walking distance of every home in the borough. This kind of integrated public transport system has been achieved in Switzerland, for instance, but only at huge public cost and thanks to a political consensus supporting state ownership of trains, buses and the post office, which delivers rural passengers as well as mail. There is absolutely no chance of this in the UK. The vast majority of the borough’s residents are not, in practice, able to cycle. This includes children, the elderly, commuters who have to look smart, the infirm, the unfit and people carrying goods or shopping of any kind. Dependence on walking and cycling discriminates against these groups, which include some of the most vulnerable members of the community. It is socially unjust. One in two working people in Guildford commute for up to 3 hours a day. They will not leave their cars for even part of their journey if it means longer travel times. Park-and-rides are a welcome part of the transport mix but are too slow for commuters and others on a tight schedule. For an adult couple going shopping it is still cheaper to park in town. I like the idea of water buses but have concerns over the reality. The Wey is narrow and, with a river speed limit of 4mph, boats are too slow for anything but recreation. Except on the tideway, not even the Thames has such services. The addition of two new stations appears attractive but will slow down train journeys, which are already slower than at any time since the 1930s. Knock-on effects on localities where the new stations are built have not been worked out or presented. Ie. Cost of housing will increase.

I object to policy I4 green and blue infrastructure. This policy is a box-ticking exercise with no teeth to it. It sits oddly with the plan’s onslaught on the Green Belt. The plan to build on large areas of countryside and to inset villages will cancel out any benefits from extending the principle of enhancing biodiversity beyond Biodiversity Opportunity Areas. There is no mention of the value of wildlife gardening to biodiversity or the important role that larger gardens play in a village setting. ABSENCE OF POLICY ON RIVER WEYI object to the omission of a policy for the River Wey which was included in the previous local plan. The existing policy G11 from 2003 Local Plan should be included so that development within the River Wey corridor will only be permitted provided that: It protects or improves the special character of the River Wey and the Guildford and Godalming Navigations, in particular their visual, setting, amenities, ecological value, architectural and historic interest; The special character of the landscape and townscape in the corridor is protected or improved; Views both within and from the corridor which contribute to this special character are protected or improved; Where appropriate, public access is provided to and along the River and the Navigations. The Nature Conservation value of the site is protected or improved.

GREEN BELT SITES

I object to ALL Green Belt sites allocated for development in the local plan object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development, however, it does identify the principle of development and uses.” This ignores the tens of thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. This amounts to a war of attrition by the Council in conjunction with developers, since many busy residents are tired of repeating the same comments as it appears to be a waste of time and effort. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. All Green Belt sites should be removed from the plan until “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy P1 Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding National Beauty. This policy weakens existing protection when it should strengthen it. It is dependent on the Surrey Hills Management Plan. The latter welcomes housing development. Even major (undefined) development in the AONB would be permitted if exceptional (undefined) circumstances could be demonstrated. Much of my concern stems from the loose wording of the Policy, which in some places renders the policy ineffective, for example: “All proposals will be considered against whether they… ““All development proposals within and adjacent to the AONB will be expected to conserve or enhance its special qualities” Terms such as “considered” and “expected” are not strong enough in prohibiting development proposals that do not conserve and enhance the AONB, and it is likely that developers will be able to use this loose wording to their advantage. Of particular concern is the paragraph 3, which begins: “Whilst the AONB designation does not preclude specific types of development in the Surrey Hills and proposals will be assessed on their individual merits…” This whole opening clause is unnecessary and almost invites development proposals. I believe that it should be deleted, and the sentence should therefore begin: “There is a presumption against major development in the AONB in accordance with NPPF.” In addition to the weakness of the language, I am also concerned that the AONB criteria listed in the policy are not the most important ones in determining whether a planning application should be approved. Aside from the one outlined in the first bullet point (which relates to the AONB setting) none of these criteria is concerned with the key characteristics of AONB, ie landscape character, scenic beauty, important views, tranquility etc. Whether or not a development supports the rural economy or provides public access are of far less national importance than preserving the quality of the landscape itself. I believe that the AONB Policy in the Draft Plan 2014 provided greater protection to the AONB, and would like to see the following sentences reinserted: “The national significance the AONB will be afforded the highest level of protection and only proposals which can be sensitively amalgamated into the area and which complement and enhance the character of the AONB will be considered” “Proposals within the AGLV which would have a negative impact upon views into and out of the AONB and which do not respect the setting, will not be acceptable” In accordance with the most up to date Minerals and Waste Plan, safeguarding of applicable land within the AONB and/or AGLV may be necessary and deemed appropriate. Finally, I would like to see a clause which gives protection to the candidate areas for AONB status in the forthcoming Surrey Hills AONB Boundary Review. This should include Blackwell Farm which was recently reviewed by an Independent consultant and deemed worthy of inclusion as a candidate. I consider that all land that has been assessed as meeting the latest Natural England criteria for AONBs should be subject to the same level of protection as an AONB, not just land that has been designated AGLV.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to Policy P2 green belt This policy states, “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” This is a misleading statement. The policy wording is weak in support of the Metropolitan Green Belt even though the latter forms 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. It is precious beyond the short-term demands of the present Government’s policy or a 15-year local plan. As noted under Policy S1 above, it is a solemn legacy to future generations – an asset and amenity that belongs as much to Londoners and the whole nation as to the people who live in it. Once gone it is gone forever. It is not the Council’s to give away. Policy P2 completely fails to appreciate the importance and permanence of the Metropolitan Green Belt and the fact that it has been around for a long time and it needs to be permanently protected. It was actually established in a local act of parliament in Guildford under the London Home Counties (Green Belt) Act 1938 and subsequently in the 1944 Greater London Plan to contain the outward sprawl of London. The boundaries of the Green Belt through Guildford Borough were later defined in the 1987 Local Plan, forming part of a 19-24km concentric belt around London. The Green Belt is intended to check the unrestricted sprawl of built up areas; to prevent neighbouring towns from merging into one another; to safeguard the countryside from encroachment; to preserve the setting and special character of historic towns; and to assist with urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. The principles of the Green Belt designation were outlined within Planning Policy Guidance 2: Green Belts (PPG2) and are found within the National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF). The Metropolitan Green Belt is an exemplar of good planning and the envy of planners throughout the world. Policy P2 omits any assessment of the Green Belt’s value. The Green Belt is not just empty space but is an inhabited, working environment that safeguards a certain stock of natural capital. Building on it involves high opportunity costs, including an irreversible loss of:

1. Agricultural production
2. Rural leisure and tourism amenities
3. Water catchment
4. Flood control
5. Biodiversity
6. Natural heritage
7. A carbon sink for air pollution
8. Room for public facilities such as parks and burial grounds
9. Profitable film locations (e.g. Shere)
10. Future economic potential such as mineral extraction (even fracking)
11. Natural beauty, landmarks, open space, rural views and sight lines
12. Benefits to public health and wellbeing, physical and psychological (as well expressed in the NPPF)

As a matter of law and national and local policy, these assets should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultations. It is quite incorrect to argue, as the Council do, that the plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. In reality the figure is nearer 7% when insetting, infilling and settlement boundary extensions are included. More importantly, there is no “acceptable” percentage (in the NPPF or anywhere else) of Green Belt that may be sold. I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost hell bent on self-defeat. I believe this policy is based on a flawed Green Belt and Countryside Study that, according to one Conservative Councillor, was irregularly commissioned by Council officers without the authority of Councillors. To “inset” two thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, although they would quickly destroy them if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

I object to the removal of over 400 hectares of Green Belt land in and around Blackwell Farm to facilitate further development of Surrey Research Park and for 1800 homes. Over 60 hectares were removed from Green Belt 12 years ago for the same developer (Surrey University) who has yet to fulfill their planning obligations. This valuable land has been squandered with over 17 acres of surface car parking and as one of the key features of Green belt is its 'permanence' this second request for yet more Green Belt land to be released in such a short space of time, with all the outstanding issues that remain makes this all the more objectionable.

Furthermore I object on grounds of the impact this development will have in terms of congestion on our highways, these issues have been highlighted under 'infrastructure'.

I object to policy P3 Countryside (i.e. beyond the Green Belt) This is more protective – as a policy – than the proposals for the AONB and the Green Belt, so is anomalous. I am not in favour of building on this area, since urban, brownfield areas are sufficient to meet all reasonable housing targets. There is no need to build on any green fields if brownfield, previously developed land is used efficiently (without garden-grabbing). This policy refers to the countryside near Ash and Tongham (see paragraph 4.3.28). This area does not justify stronger policy protection than any other part of the borough. The fact that the current and previous Council Leaders represent it should not give it preferential status: “we will seek to limit any development in the countryside unless it can be demonstrated that it is necessary in that location”. Green Belt and AONB areas should by definition have higher levels of protection than non-Green Belt areas. It should also be noted that Ash and Tongham lie beyond Guildford far away from London and therefore make no contribution to controlling Metropolitan urban sprawl, that is presumably why Ash and Tongham are not in the Green Belt already. This policy, however, attaches higher priority to preventing the “coalescence between the Ash and Tongham urban area and Aldershot” than it does to the primary purpose of the Metropolitan Green Belt, which is to stop London sprawl. I agree to the prevention of coalescence but this should apply to all villages including East and West Horsley and Flexford and Normandy.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to policy P4 Flood risk and water source protection zones Urban development on existing hardstanding would not create additional flood risk, especially where there is scope for improved flood resistance measures to be included in the design. Sites such as Woodbridge Meadows Industrial Estate and the Arriva bus depot, on the River Wey bank, are potential high-value brownfield sites that would not be available for housing if this policy is implemented. It is not the footprint of existing buildings that should limit future development, but the extent of existing hardstanding. Tarmac and concrete do not act as functional floodplain, and some land with hard standing close to the river, within the town centre and within easy walking distance of the railway station, provides an excellent opportunity for real urban regeneration that could protect the surrounding countryside.

I strongly believe that this policy should not be used as a convenient excuse not to build on the extensive area of brownfield sites between the station and Ladymead. Any new development in this area could easily be built on stilts with flood resistant ground floor parking in areas that are identified as high flood risk. This area has been built over successfully over the last 50 years. We do not need to stop now.

I do not support building directly on (as opposed to over) flood plain as the land is effectively a soak away, but intelligent architecture has been dealing with this problem for many decades in other parts of the UK and the globe.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy S1
I object to policy S1 as stated and the presumption in favour of sustainable development. The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. No definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The promise “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area” omits to recognise that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. It does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the tough choices Councillors will face, it is without value. Under this policy, any development will qualify as “sustainable”, thereby failing to apply the NPPF’s most important guideline.

The most gaping hole in Policy S1 is the Green Belt. As an inter-generational covenant (enshrined in primary legislation) to protect green areas in perpetuity, the Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice. It is the envy of the world. Policy S1 should commit to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections, setting at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The plan’s contempt for Green Belt constraints is amply demonstrated in later policies. The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals this draft plan’s pro-development bias. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.3.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy S2

I object to policy S2 the Borough Wide Strategy and the commitment to build 13,860 homes based on the Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) 2015 prepared by GL Hearn. The OAN “objectively assessed need” figure in the SHMA of 693 homes a year is far too high I am very surprised and concerned that GBC have adopted the OAN of 13,860 homes as the housing target without any application of constraints as required under the National Planning Policy Framework and the National Planning Policy Guidance.

The scale of the housing number proposed, inevitably increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole. Other local planning authorities appear to take a more balanced view in their approach to planning. The Woking Core Strategy 2012 applies a constraint of 50% from the 594 new homes identified in their own SHMA. “It should be noted that local evidence (Strategic Housing Market Assessment - SHMA) highlights a need for an additional 499 new affordable homes every year in the Borough and a total of 594 new homes every year when taking into account demand. Given the level of environmental constraints present in the Borough, it is considered that the provision of an average of 292 dwellings per annum represents a reasonable level of housing growth for Woking and is deliverable.” Historically GBC have correctly applied constraints on housing numbers to protect the Green Belt. The Surrey Structure Plan 1994 advocated a general slowing down in the rates of development “because of the environmental constraints which exist in the County, including Green Belt”.

This slowing down was reflected in the requirement that Guildford Borough should accommodate a net increase of 3,800 dwellings between 1991 and 2006. This was a lower rate of development than in previous years. It is interesting to note that the Structure Plan at that time expected sufficient land to arise within the urban areas to accommodate this requirement. However it would appear that today GBC have effectively ignored the real potential of the urban area to provide for housing. At the same time GBC have adopted a radically different approach to the policy of the Council over the last 20/30 years and are now ignoring government policy in relation to the Green Belt. A detailed and comprehensive professional review of the SHMA dated June 2016 by NMSS an independent expert firm dealing with housing and demographics procured by Guildford Residents Association (GRA) has concluded that the OAN figure should be revised down from 693 homes per annum to 510 homes per annum. The 41 page report by NMSS which can be found on the GRA website entitled “A Review of the West Surrey SHMA as it relates to the Objectively Assessed Housing Needs of Guildford”.

It was a real community effort. It was paid for by over separate 20 Guildford Residents Associations and Local Parish Councils none of whom were convinced that the SHMA report procured and presented by GBC was accurate or transparent or accessible in a meaningful way. So they clubbed together and collected contributions from many hundreds of Guildford residents to try to find out the truth of the housing need figure presented in the Local Plan. The NMSS report includes detailed analysis and financial modelling and was prepared by Neil McDonald. He is an independent adviser and commentator on housing demographics. He works with local authorities and others on the estimation of housing need and related issues. He was a civil servant and policy adviser to Ministers for over 30 years, the last 10 advising on housing and planning issues within the Department of Communities and Local Government. His 7 years as a Director at DCLG included a posting as Director, Planning Policy and a period as Chief Executive of the National Housing and Planning Advice Unit. NMSS found that the SHMA used in the Local Plan incorrectly adds extra homes to its basic demographic projection to allow for improving affordability of housing, increased student numbers and economic growth. The report found that none of these additions were justified based on the evidence presented within the SHMA.

The report concluded amongst other matters that:

The affordability of housing in Guildford is no worse than in other Surrey districts and boosting supply beyond the demographic OAN would not result in a noticeable improvement in affordability but simply in more people moving to the area.

There are reasons for believing that the SHMA’s estimate of the number of homes needed for students may be too high and that an adequate provision for students is already included in the demographic OAN. The report advises that the Council should commission a separate student housing need figure for Guildford given the distorting effect of students on our overall OAN. It envisages that, once this exercise is undertaken, improved accuracy means the overall OAN would be likely to reduce still further.

The SHMA seeks to estimate the number of homes needed to support employment growth using employment rate assumptions that are inconsistent with the employment forecasts. This produces misleading results. An analysis of the Cambridge Econometrics and Oxford Economics forecasts using employment or economic activity rate assumptions consistent with the forecasts suggests that in neither case is there a need to provide more housing than suggested by the demographic analysis. Indeed, in both cases a smaller population growth (and hence fewer homes) could support the jobs growth that is forecast. A further independent report was procured in 2016 by the Campaign for the Protection of Rural England CPRE from Richard Bate of Green Balance, an independent consultancy with expertise in demographic and housing matters to carry out a review of the GL Hearn SHMA.

The report by Green Balance runs to 37 pages and its findings are that the OAN for homes in Guildford should be reduced from 693 per annum to 481 because:
1. the vacancy rate figures should be taken from local government annual records rather than from the 2011 Census. This would reduce vacancy rates to 2.9% in Guildford.

2. there should be no increase for affordability above basic demographic change.

3. there should be no increase for Student housing and it was considered unrealistic that the University should be allowed to exert such substantial pressure on the domestic housing market.

4. the use of employment-led forecasts should be abandoned using purely household projections instead which are more reliable as a form of prediction.

Two completely independent expert reports are surprisingly consistent in their findings. In broad terms a figure of approximately 500 homes per annum would appear to be a correct estimate of OAN for Guildford. However, this is before constraints are applied to arrive at an acceptable housing target. The SHMA is based on pre-Brexit projections for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards. It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld by GBC and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The figure of 13,860 new homes is unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinised by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. Both the National Planning Policy Framework and National Planning Policy Guidance provide a clear policy direction that the overall housing target should be reduced by a variety of constraints to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors. I have corrected this omission below. Infrastructure policies should be planned at the same time as Local Plans but in this case they have effectively been left out and are not sufficiently developed. The Framework also makes clear that, once established, Green Belt boundaries should only be altered in exceptional circumstances, through the preparation or review of the Local Plan. Unmet housing need (including for traveller sites) is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt and other harm to constitute the “very special circumstances” justifying inappropriate development on a site within the Green Belt.

THE NEED TO APPLY CONSTRAINTS

Ministerial guidance in relation to building on the Green Belt is clear:

1. “the single issue of unmet need - is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt and other harm to constitute the “very special circumstances” justifying inappropriate development in the Green Belt” – Nick Boles to Sir Paul Beresford MP 7th February 2014.

2. “we were always very clear that we would maintain key protections for the countryside, and, in particular, for the Green Belt. The Framework makes it clear that a Green Belt boundary may be altered only in exceptional circumstances and reiterates the importance and permanence of the Green Belt” – Nick Boles to Sir Michael Pitt, Planning Inspectorate 3rd March 2014.

3. “Planning Guidance, updated in March 2014, also states that unmet housing need is unlikely to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt to constitute the very special circumstances justifying inappropriate development within the Green Belt” – Nick Boles to Sir Paul Beresford MP 18th June 2014 70% of the sites put forward in the Local Plan are in the Green Belt which flies in the face of current government planning policy. The National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF), National Planning Policy Guidance and case law make it clear that Green Belt is an absolute constraint on housing supply.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to adjust boundaries. Other constraints under the NPPF include assessments of sustainability, strategic flood risk assessment, physical constraints on land use and infrastructure constraints (this can include road congestion, schools, drains, power supply and medical requirements). Constraints should be applied to the Objectively Assessed Housing Need (OAN).
However this itself is overstated and should be reduced from 693 per annum to 500. In view of the comments above it would appear logical to apply CONSTRAINTS in line with government policy to a corrected OAN, of approximately 50% to account for the fact that 89% of the borough is in the permanent Green Belt and development is not supported by adequate major infrastructure. This reduction is in line with the constraints percentage of 50% applied by Woking Borough Council. This would result in a more acceptable and practically achievable HOUSING TARGET of 250 homes per annum which over a 20-year period would be 5,000 homes. All of these homes could be built in the existing urban brownfield areas of the borough and would in part satisfy the 20,000 objections made by residents to the 2014 draft plan and also relieve the additional problems of inadequate infrastructure. It would also mean that there is currently 8.5 years supply of housing (2131/250) which is made up of existing permissions granted (1,518) and completions made (613) during 2013/2015. (Monitoring Report by GBC 2015) The Brexit vote may have strengthened government policy further. Theresa May, the new prime minister, announced on 11 July that she is personally committed to protecting the Green Belt once she takes office. Whilst I have many significant objections to the GBC Local Plan I applaud the policy statement by GBC in their Monitoring Report, “We will continue to monitor the use of previously developed land, and continue to identify as many opportunities as possible for redevelopment of previously developed land.” I believe it will be to the benefit of all residents if GBC can apply themselves vigorously to this endeavour in order to protect the Green Belt.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 1: The evidence base and submission documents

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Key parts of the evidence are still missing, flawed or based on withheld assumptions. The Strategic Housing Market Assessment overstates need, the Green Belt and Countryside Study uses a flawed approach, and the Transport Assessment is too late and incomplete to be relied upon to inform the Plan.

The Plan excludes the Town Centre Master Plan, which plays a pivotal role and fails to address the results of infrastructure difficulties, or use these and Greenbelt to constrain the level of development.

The Employment Land Needs Assessment

I object

This document omits many important points that are to be addressed at a future stage. The information is, however, very relevant and necessary and without it the document is weak on evidence. The overview given does not assess the capacity of existing supply to accommodate future growth. The paper acknowledges that almost 9% of commercial premises are empty and this somewhat flies in the face of arguments to vastly increase the volume until the reasons are understood. Around 30% of businesses are considering leaving Guildford (congestion being cited as a reason). There are also issues with planning permissions being granted to convert office space to residential, whilst at the same time it is argued that more offices are needed? The contradictions appear to indicate that policies related to this need firming up and that the evidence is incomplete.

I disagree with 40% of land in the town centre being given over to retail as there is no evidence that Guildford will 'buck the national trend' in terms of declining high-street sales, as has been suggested by Cllr Furniss. Guildford urban area ranks no 1 in terms of being the most sustainable location in the borough and, as housing is a priority, there should be more than 1,172 residences in the town centre.

I object to Policy E4 (expansion of the Surrey Research Park into the Blackwell Farm) The existing Research Park has been built at a very low density (25% plot ratio), which is very low for an urban extension. The majority of existing buildings are 2 storeys giving a developed floor space plot ratio of only 12.5%.

The existing Research Park has acres of surface car parking, which provides it with the opportunity to markedly increase its density without infringing any Green Belt land nearby. Any density increase would be cost effective for the use of all existing infrastructure and would also have the potential to match the existing density of the neighbouring academic buildings on the university campus at Manor Park, which is five times higher.

Together with the existing expansion of 14% through existing consents and the opportunity to increase its density, the Research Park has ample capacity to expand to embrace new demand for B1b uses linked to the university, without utilising additional land.

Infrastructure

I object

The infrastructure schedule makes reference to 'improvements' without saying what they are. It includes a junction at the Guildford end of the A31, and another junction at Tongham. No evidence or traffic modelling data is available to demonstrate whether these 'improvements' will indeed improve anything at all given the additional traffic that will be generated by the new developments included in the plan. The Highways Assessment indicates that, even with these 'improvements', the level of congestion on the A3, A31, the B3000 and A25 will leave these roads over capacity and congested.

Constraints should be applied to the housing need/number as a full application of the overinflated number will have a severe detrimental impact on our road network. Smaller housing estates may be more difficult financially, but they would have less impact on infrastructure and could be considered where infrastructure already exists. The borough has many acres of surface car parking which, if replaced by multi-storey versions, and combined with current Brownfield sites, would free up enough land to build housing where it is wanted and needed and not on valuable Green Belt. There would be no need to build high-rise style development in Guildford town, which we don't support, but we do believe that buildings of 6-10 storeys (with underground parking) would be in keeping in some urban areas (where they don’t impinge on important vistas). [Some existing buildings already reach 5-7 levels in height].

The traffic maps omit the area south of Guildford borough completely and the lack of detail about impact on the B3000, a strategic route, is highly questionable, particularly as there are no solutions in place to deal with the impact. I am particularly concerned that, after the main highways routes of M25, A25, and the A320, the B3000 will incur the greatest increase in flow as this road is already close to capacity, with tailbacks at peak times. The road is no longer fit for purpose and modelling shows that developments planned, and the introduction of a new westerly route through Blackwell Farm, will severely worsen the situation, whether major work takes place on the A3, or not.

The Highway Assessment

I OBJECT

The strategic highway assessment requires a great deal more work and hence I OBJECT to the inclusion of this as evidence.

The B3000 runs through Compton, a small village with many listed buildings, most of which are very close to the road. The road already carries in excess of 5 million vehicles a year with average flow rates exceeding most A roads. It is the only settlement area in the borough where pollution levels exceed EU regulations and it is close to capacity now, with tailbacks at peak times, which add to the pollution problem. [see legal section]

The study is highly misleading. It refers to a figure of zero additional traffic from scenario 3, which includes the traffic from the strategic sites, one of which is partly in Compton. The assessment does not make it clear that the modelling is extremely limited and only includes impact on developments within the immediate area. Blackwell Farm is excluded from Area 107 (part of Compton) as false boundaries have been set. I believe that the impact from the strategic sites will be far-reaching and will most certainly impact Compton and beyond. Each village needs to be able to see the impact that development will have.

The Highways Assessment concentrates on peak time traffic only and gives no indication of overall volume increases or traffic type using specific routes outside peak hours. Understanding of the overall increase is important, as there is a bridge on the B3000 between Artington and Compton, which has a width restriction and may also require a weight restriction as it needs replacing within the next 2 years and no funding has been set aside for this. Instead Network Rail, SCC, GBC and Waverley BC continue to battle over responsibility for, and scope of, the project.

It appears that traffic data has been collected at different times of the year and over varying time scales in order to provide averages. This method of data collection can underestimate measurements by at least 30%.

Furthermore, I have been told that the person responsible for ratifying traffic data at Surrey County Council (SCC) has been off sick for over a year and that, whilst the daily data boxes continue to collect data, that data has not been collected or analysed for 2015. The data put forward for Compton's B3000 was based on a 3-week period in January and, as this was not representative, we understand it was removed. That said, the year-on-year data is for different periods and different times, varying from a few weeks in winter to longer periods over many months. I would like a more robust approach to traffic data collection.

The cumulative effect of the additional traffic generated by the developments in the proposed submission Local Plan will be to increase congestion, even with the proposed highway improvement schemes in place. More detailed analysis of the junctions and queuing is required. We question the conclusion that the developments would have An acceptable impact on the capacity of the highway networks in terms of the policy test set in paragraph 32 of NPPF. We do not believe that the impact on the B3000 will be acceptable, as it is already operating beyond capacity, and this situation will be made much worse following the mitigation proposed for the A3.

The Highways Assessment is limited to 30 results. Roads have been omitted from the report and it is unclear whether findings for the B3000 (also referred to as The Street B3000) are in fact from the Street or the roundabout from which there is a feeder road to Godalming via Priorsfield Road.

The table comparing scenarios and the impact on traffic is difficult to decipher. Scenario 1 includes current planning permissions plus Waverley's strategic sites. This shows an increase of just 9 vehicles per hour at peak times on the B3000. The next scenario 2 is the same, but includes GBC's strategic sites. Given that there is a strategic site in Compton of 1,800 homes and another of 1,000 at Normandy, the expectation would be for the volume to be not only higher, but considerably higher. The result is however, ZERO. We understand that this is because the impact measured is only from the immediate area and, as Blackwell Farm has been removed from the village for modelling terms, this does not give a realistic result. The omission of the Town Centre Master Plan and its impact on the roads further diminishes the integrity of this Highways Assessment.

Even without the full impact being understood, it is clear from the scale of development on the west of Guildford (1,800 homes at Blackwell Farm, 1,000 homes at Normandy, 1,300 homes at Ash, 3,800 homes in the Aldershot urban area, 1,200 homes at Borden) that the increase in traffic on the B3000 and other main routes would be severe.

The Highways Assessment shows that as a result of the proposals put forward in this draft of the Local Plan the B3000 will suffer the highest increase in flow rates at peak times (after the M25, A320 and A25. It also reveals that traffic flows would increase if the A3 was widened, as the A3 would then attract more traffic via the B3000. Despite this, there are no solutions planned to mitigate the situation and we are therefore strongly objecting to the level of development and in particular strategic development at Blackwell Farm as outlined in the Local Plan.

The proposal to introduce a new route to Guildford town centre from the west via Blackwell Farm has been ill thought out. The volume of traffic that will use this new ‘rat run’ through the new development and the university campus/business park, has been underestimated. There will be problems for traffic wishing to exit the new development in both directions during peak hours - traffic is frequently queueing for miles along the A31, and the Tesco roundabout is one of the worst bottlenecks in Guildford. The knock-on effect on the Egerton Road/Gill Avenue junction would impede emergency vehicles getting to and from the hospital.

The 4-way junction on the A31 has no detail at all and the concern is that permission in principle will be given to the site in the hope that these problems are surmountable. If they are insurmountable, which I believe they are, then enormous amounts of Green Belt land within the setting of the Surrey Hills AONB will have been sacrificed for nothing. The 4-way junction, if it goes ahead, is likely to be huge and, due to its elevated position, will cause significant harm to the AONB in terms of landscape and light pollution.

The Highways Assessment has many limitations, not least being the absence of the Town Centre Master Plan, which includes potential road closure and re-routing. Compton is likely to be very much affected by any reduction in road capacity in the town centre and it is important that we are presented with the whole the picture.

The Assessment acknowledges that not all impacts of proposed Blackwell Farm development have been modelled and that, due to the emphasis on the A31 and the A3, not all roads were included.

The report concludes that the improvements to the A3 are necessary to maintain adequate flow rates on the strategic network. Further work is needed to determine what impact any widening or junction improvements will have on local roads, and what will be done to mitigate against the increased flows through Compton, particularly given that a section of the B3000 though the Village is anticipated to become an Air Quality Management Area. GBC has resisted requests by members of the PC to have the northern end of The Street made an AQMA, but readings of nitrous oxide in this area are well above EU legal limits.

There is little information about the tunnel but the map indicates that one access / egress point will be in Compton near the A3, although no land has been safeguarded for this purpose. This is likely to have the same impact as the improvements to the A3, i.e. increased traffic (and pollution) through Compton.

The Spatial Hierarchy

The spatial hierarchy, which outlines Guildford's preferred strategy, does not match up with the proposed plan. The hierarchy places Brownfield sites (including those on Green Belt) as a priority, but the Plan has 66% of development on Greenbelt and only 34% on Brownfield. The hierarchy lists Guildford town and urban areas as a priority followed by inset villages and identified Green Belt villages. A relatively small percentage of housing is allocated for Guildford town (the most sustainable location) and Green Belt areas, such as Blackwell Farm, with high sensitivity have been classified as within the 'Guildford urban area' when they are in fact in the open countryside. We are told that only 1.6% of the 89% Green Belt has been earmarked for removal and that the 6% removed via insetting doesn't count as these villages are already developed. If this is the case, why list them in 4.1.16 of policy s2 - Spatial Strategy?

4.18 The preferred options cannot accommodate all that Guildford 'needs'. This is untrue. Two specialist consultants have independently critiqued the OAN and both question the level of uplift and the use of ONS data without full correction for changes and anomalies. They refer to 'double accounting' as the uplift is introduced at several stages and the assumptions that result in the final OAN are not explained. See comments on Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA).

Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA)

I Object

The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.

A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the SHMA method should be changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects of students on the figures.

The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to:

- failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
- issues with the way it considers students and affordability, and
- flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.

It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

Two additional reviews of the SHMA reach similar conclusions, one having been produced by CPRE and the other by Cllr. David Reeve.

The Land Assessment

I object

The exclusion of sites of 5 dwellings or fewer from the list might make administration easier, but the addition of these sites plus windfalls and outstanding (but current) permissions gives rise to a higher number of dwellings than is actually needed. There is therefore no justification for release of all the Green Belt put forward.

The criteria used to include or exclude sites because of this study lack consistency, with many sites excluded as 'unsuitable' with no further explanation offered (many of which were in the urban area of Ash). The assessment lacks objectivity and detail.

Green Belt & Countryside Study

I object

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Study does not value appropriately the “fundamental aim” of Metropolitan Green Belt or look strategically at options for developing in major settlement areas beyond the Green Belt. It is pointless for London to apply constraints to protect its Green Belt if areas within it, such as Guildford, choose to ignore this option. It is the same Green Belt and serves the same purposes, all of which are acutely valuable.

The way Green Belt is parcelled up and scored is invalid: serving 2 Green Belt functions well is as legitimate as serving 3 to 5 functions less effectively. The Green Belt sensitivity analysis is not a valid basis for informing decisions. This method also omits purpose one, on the basis that all Green Belt sites encourage regeneration of urban sites. This should not be excluded for it is valid and could even be argued to be particularly valid in areas close to the town. Boundaries used for Blackwell Farm were neither permanent nor defensible.

Proposed removal from the Green Belt of a number of relatively small sites where development of an exceptional nature has taken place, plus adjoining land, has lost sight of the scale at which Green Belt is effective.

Assessment of which villages to take out of the Green Belt does not adequately consider that villages contribute to the openness of the Green Belt, as seen from surrounding AONB.

A key principle of Green Belt is its permanence. The University Consultants stated this 13 years ago when seeking permission to take Manor Farm out of the Green Belt to create Manor Park. They reassured residents that the boundary would not be frequently moved and that Blackwell Farm would be opened up to the public for “informal recreation”. The same Consultant has now repeated this promise in putting forward the University plans to develop on Blackwell Farm, saying that the new boundary would be permanent for at least 25 years!

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

The Plan preparation process has had inadequate regard for national policy, which attaches “great importance” to the “openness” and “permanence” of Green Belt. The test of “exceptional circumstances” that might justify allocating Green Belt land for development in a Local Plan has not been rigorously and transparently applied at a strategic level.

The Sustainability Appraisal seems to have lost sight of the concept of Sustainable Development as described in the National Planning Policy Framework to the extent that we question whether it complies with the requirement.

The report states that there are no pollution issues in Guildford. This is not true. The A3 end of the B3000 exceeds Eu regulations and this should be flagged in

The 2015/2016 air quality management report has not yet been published and this will/should include an area at the A3 end of Compton, which exceeds the recommended max NO2 reading. One year results for NOx are 48.728 with high’s of 68 using National bias adjustment.

Clr Furniss indicated that the location of the test tubes may have made them invalid, but measurements show that they were positioned correctly and monitored for over a year by GBC environment officers, who have now added additional monitoring devices (See Annex 2 – Correspondence between Cllr Curtis and Cllr Furniss). This area qualifies as an air quality management area (AQMA) and it is disingenuous to omit this from the report or to use an old report on the basis that the 2015 report is not yet published, as the problem is known and recognised by the environment department within GBC.

The traffic survey shows increases in overall flow at the B3000 monitoring point, of values between 5.6% and 16.5%. This would severely impact flow, which is not in line with National Policy as further congestion would exacerbate the current air quality issues as the A3 end of the Street.

I do not believe that a regulation 19 consultation is appropriate. Whilst few changes have been made, additional sites have been included without opportunity for regulation 18-consultation input.

The video used and paid for by GBC and taxpayers is biased towards development, and hence raises questions over the validity and legality of such marketing campaigns. All the individuals featured in the video, with the exception of one nurse have previously spoken in the Council Chamber in favour of house building/building on Blackwell Farm; and there is not a single voice representing protection of the Countryside or outstanding landscapes.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object

The plan is not so much positively prepared as avariciously prepared. I do not consider that it is reasonable to take on unmet need from neighbouring authorities, which have given greater protection to their Green Belt if it means our own is compromised on the scale being put forward.

I believe that constraints should be applied to the housing target, which we understand equates to the objectively assessed need (OAN) as no reasonable constraints have been applied. The constraints that could and should be applied are Greenbelt and considerable infrastructure issues. The solutions suggested to accommodate the inordinate levels of growth are both inadequate and costly and the net result will be serious debt for many years if not generations.

It was recommended by landscape consultant Alison Farmer Associates that the area known, as Blackwell Farm should be considered in the AONB boundary review, yet it was omitted in Surrey CC’s landscape evaluation. This meant the Parish Councils of Worplesdon, Compton and Wanborough had to fund an independent review to ascertain whether the area was a contender for AONB classification. The survey was carried out by in May 2016 by Land Management Services Ltd, which concluded that most of the 265 hectare farm was of a landscape and scenic quality that merited inclusion within Natural England’s revised Surrey Hills AONB boundary.

It raises serious question about the soundness of the evidence base when Surrey CC says that it only has to account for evidence submitted and not for that omitted? The area within the proposed development site at Blackwell Farm should now be considered by Surrey Hills as part of the AONB boundary review and land to the west should remain undeveloped, as it is important to the setting of the AONB.

The plan is not justified. Residents groups have suggested other strategies but these have not been tested or considered against the current trajectory, which has remained largely unchanged since day one.

Many aspects of the Plan were strongly objected to in 2014 and not only have these points been ignored, they have in fact been embellished or made worse. I refer to the points that GBC referred to in their own summary, which stated that most people objected to the scale of development and the harm to the Green Belt. At that time there were 4 strategic sites and now there are 5. At that time approx 50% of development was in Green Belt and now it is 66% with only 34% on previously developed sites. 58% of development is on just 5 sites.

A more realistic appraisal of the town centre with more multi-storey car park development and less retail would make way for a greater percentage of housing in the town centre, which is after all the most sustainable and sought after area. Additionally, greater pressure must be placed on the University to house more students at Manor Park in order to free up affordable rented accommodation in the town for key workers.

There is a conflict of interest when the developer (University) drags its feet over the provision of promised student accommodation (thereby putting pressure on the housing market) whilst at the same time seeking permission to build 1,800 new homes to help Guildford's need? The University is at least five years behind with programme of building student residences and staff housing. It is widely agreed among residents groups that the University must fulfil all of its current building plans and substantially increase the proportion of students on campus. If the University built the outstanding units, the housing need would reduce substantially yet much of this is omitted from the outstanding permissions list?

GBC has approached development without applying constraints that are applicable such as Green Belt and infrastructure. It is wholly inappropriate to build a Plan without constraints when there is widespread opposition to this approach. Furthermore, there are serious doubts over the validity of the objectively assessed housing need. Housing need underpins the entire plan, and we are being asked to accept the figure of 693 on trust. Without an understanding of the methodology behind the OAN, the public cannot 'buy into' this figure, especially as it has been illustrated by two reputable professionals that there have been errors such as 'double accounting', which has resulted in uplift. Both consultants have concluded that a more accurate figure would be around 500 new homes pa and the most recent one, which was done in pre Brexit-June 2016 acknowledges that due to the high number of International students here in Guildford a student SHMA would better inform this plan. Both consultants feel that the current SHMA is flawed and that the OAN of 693 is too high. These reviews will be submitted by CPRE and the GRA and we support the findings of both.

Putting 58% of development on 5 sites, which are within the Green Belt, or largely within the Green Belt, is not consistent with national policy. The definition of 'exceptional' is forming an exception or rare instance; unusual; extraordinary. What possible exceptional circumstances can justify 3 sites of approx 2,000 each and two of 1000 each, on Green belt. This makes a mockery of the term ‘exceptional’?

The plan has a maximum number and a hefty buffer. It has underestimated windfalls and overestimated need. It is likely therefore that if one of the major sites fails to come through, the Plan could still succeed in terms of numbers, but would fail in terms of impact on infrastructure and reliance on aspirational, but distant 'yet to be discussed' schemes such as railway stations, making the plan undeliverable. If more people are not given the opportunity to live in Guildford town, the night time economy cannot grow and if the gamble to use 40% of the land for retail fails, shops will close and we will have created a leafy green ghost town, whilst the villages outside the town will have changed beyond all recognition as the impact of urban sprawl takes its toll.

The plan puts many eggs into 5 baskets with 58% of all development on just 5 sites. If these are not deliverable, the plan will fail. This strategy has been roundly criticised by Inspectors in other parts of the country.

Taking on such a high OAN without scrutinising it and then taking land out of Green Belt to fulfil it, and using developer funding to secure infrastructure (which reduces significantly the proportion of affordable housing delivered) is destructive and risky.

It is inconceivable that 5 sites between 1,100 and 2,000+ each can be built on Green Belt land without affecting the purposes of the Green Belt.

AONB should be given the highest protection. Despite being put forward for AONB review Blackwell Farm was omitted and an independent consultant had to be commissioned by local parish councils. The findings showed that the area met Natural England’s latest criteria for AONB and should not therefore be developed but should instead be properly recognised.

The proposal at Blackwell Farm has been reduced from 2100 to 1800 to take account the impact on future AONB or for views in and out of the existing and future AONB from public areas as determined by planning policy. It is feared that if this site were approved and if access could be made possible without causing serious problems to the surrounding road network, that the AONB in this location would undoubtedly be destroyed.

GBC argues that it is necessary to remove more than 1.6% of its 89% Green Belt and to remove more than 6% of its Green Belt from villages (by way of inserting) in order to meet its need, yet at the same time the Council advocates making an additional area Green Belt? The area of land being put forward for inclusion within the Green belt is on the same ridge as two areas of Green Belt it wishes to remove (Normandy & Blackwell Farm). This approach lacks consistency.

Cllrs Paul Spooner and Matt Furniss have stated clearly that there will be no development without supporting infrastructure and that the infrastructure must come before, or alongside, development. It is difficult to see how this will materialise as developers’ CIL contributions (which will fund infrastructure) are paid from profits made from the development. This statement appears to be unenforceable and could offer false reassurance to residents who may support the Plan on this basis.

Developers are being asked to fund large amounts of infrastructure. They will offset this against any agreement for affordable housing and it is highly possible that affordable housing will not be built or that only a small proportion will be built. This was one of the key drivers and is factored into the housing need, yet may not be delivered. Where is the general analysis to see what level of affordable housing might actually be delivered given the level of infrastructure needed to implement this level of development on new sites?

The omission of the Town Centre Master Plan (on the basis that this has different timescales) invalidates two key components of the Plan - the Infrastructure and Highways assessments. The suggested road closures in the town centre and the resulting re-routing of traffic should be factored into the highways assessment, but they are currently omitted. The consequences of this could render the whole Plan undeliverable and I don't believe the Plan can be approved without factoring in the Town Centre Master Plan.

GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA), which CPRE and GRA consider unsound. The methodology for the uplift and assumptions made have not been made available and thus the openness and transparency required for public understanding as outlined in the NPPF has not been adhered to.

I understand that Highways England will not start to consider its intentions as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018. It is difficult to see how plans can be approved without the inclusion of this information.

Network Rail has not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow, nor have we been told where the station car park would be situated nor how the railway bridge between Merrow and Burpham would be re-constructed to take the additional traffic. Likewise, there are no detailed plans for the railway station at Park Barn and Network Rail has not confirmed the status of either. These schemes must have a sounder footing to be included in the Plan if they are to be used to justify large developments nearby.

The access to, and from, Blackwell Farm (via the A31) has not been thought through. There proposed new route will likely be used as a rat run to the A3/Guildford, but this will put pressure on a congestion hot spot, and result in increased traffic at the Compton turn-off and Down Lane (home to Watts Gallery). It is also recognised that congestion at the Tesco roundabout will be made worse and this area is already subject to considerable problems. Additional traffic via the business park from Blackwell Farm will add to congestion at the Egerton roundabout and impede access for emergency services to the hospital.

The proposal at Blackwell Farm has been reduced from 2100 to 1800 to take account of the AONB, but this does not account for views in and out of the AONB from public areas.

The greenbelt sensitivity study is not objective. The reference to Blackwell Farm as 'South West Guildford Urban' is totally misleading as it is unadulterated countryside that fulfills all the purposes of Green Belt. I consider this Study, which was the subject of much criticism in the last plan, to be flawed, yet it remains in this Plan. Why?

The damage caused to the Green Belt by the addition of Blackwell Farm would outweigh benefits gained from development, as there is ample space and lapsed planning permission on the existing Manor Park land for development for student accommodation, which would free up affordable rented accommodation in the town.

The proposal for Garlic Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any consultation under Regulation 18.

No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Guildford citizens.

No land has been safeguarded for a tunnel, which would show a real intent.

This consultation included 'significant changes' according to GBC, although most residents would strongly dispute this. Some key reports were added and 6 weeks was not long enough to properly digest the information and impart this to residents. Many additional questions had to be asked and many points required clarification, which essentially meant adequate information, was not made available until two thirds of the way through the consultation.

The level of objection at the 2014 consultation was considerable - these objections have NOT been dealt with, but have been carried through to a regulation 19 consultation, undeterred. This is not in the spirit of Localism or the NPPF.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Cooperation is a two-way street. Guildford objected to Waverley's plans for Dunsfold on the grounds of increased traffic and in the same submission referred to positive consideration of unfulfilled OAN. Guildford also refers to its duty to consider Woking's unfulfilled housing. Guildford does not have land to spare to assist Waverley or Woking without taking vast amounts of land out of Green belt, which is protected by the NPPF. Greed is not 'an exceptional circumstance' and if both Woking and Waverley (and indeed London as it is the Metropolitan Green Belt) prefer to protect their Green Belt then the question must be asked as to why Guildford is happy to relinquish its Green Belt land, especially in the face of strong public opposition.

Many also question the choice of just Woking and Waverley as partners in the SHMA as there are considerable links with Aldershot and Farnborough in Rushmoor, which have very different needs and their inclusion could have provided a better balance.

Comment - Localism

The Plan is supposed to be informed by residents and by parish councils and residents' groups and their input used to formulate the Local Plan, not for it simply to be presented to them and objections and subsequent input ignored. Despite a great deal of effort from these groups and many like-minded responses, the Plan has not taken their concerns on board. The Plan has barely changed since day one and residents feel their views have been ignored and that the consultations have not been genuine. To add insult to injury, some of the key points raised have actually been exacerbated or made worse, such as the scale of development and harm to the Green Belt and issues over infrastructure.

The NPPF is open to interpretation, but it is our belief that GBC has chosen to interpret it in a way that lacks objectivity in an effort to appease developers in order to avoid costly court cases at a later stage. GBC has cited cases where development has been granted in an effort to justify this pro-development stance but has failed to balance this against the many sites where development has been refused.

To gain true public reaction, material presented has to be factual and unbiased and written without jargon and acronyms. This has not been the case. A degree of 'double speak' has led to absurdities such as 'affordable housing' which is over £300,000 i.e. ten times the average salary; 'safeguarding' which does not mean protection of land as most people would think, but rather potential future development and 'insetting' which means removal? It is recognised that these terms are not locally derived but all the same they are confusing for most of us.

Some Councillors have shown a lack of knowledge about environmental matters. Cllr. Gunning - webcast 24th May section 7 - 3:39

'About ancient woodlands, of course they are very attractive things, but they are ancient and trees don't last forever, so can we be practical about ancient woodlands and consider their value or their life, I should say, their life'

May 11th - Cllr Ellwood announced that he couldn't understand what all the fuss was about pollution as his Mother had lived (presumably unaffected by it) under the flight path at Heathrow?

Whilst people have been encouraged to take part in consultation, objectors have been subjected to name calling and public humiliation. There are too many examples to list and so I am listing the most recent. http://www.guildford-dragon.com/2016/07/10/letter-not-surprised-mr-patons-comparison/#comment-157440

The Local Plan has divided communities and highlighted weaknesses and alliances, which have resulted in a breakdown of trust between residents and those whose job it is to implement the Plan.

The Plan has been roundly criticized and objected to and yet it is presented to us once again. Many feel the consultations to date have been worthless and feel they have already made their points, which were ignored and will not therefore be making them again as they fail to see the point?

It simply is not possible to address infrastructure shortfalls by building in the hope that developers contributions will cover the costs as the level of development needed negates any benefits gained and in many cases, the situation is made worse.

Central government funding is needed to address current problems so that funding from development can be used to implement additional infrastructure needed to make new sites viable without damaging their surroundings. It must be accepted that geography and lack of previous investment leaves some areas with less opportunity to do this than others.

I object to Wisley Airfield being developed with over 2,000 new houses. It is too many in a very small village of outstanding natural beauty.

I object to this development on the grounds that roads are narrow and already have too much traffic from A3 and M25. I am a regular visitor to this area with my wife's parents in the village and myself having been brought up in Wisley.

No Schools could cater for this many homes and Howard of Effingham and other surrounding schools already have waiting list. This will change the whole area and I strongly object to this development.

Secondly, I specifically object to policies A36, A37, A38 A39, A40 and A41. The proposed developments will utterly change, irrevocably, the nature and character of the villages of East and West Horsley.

What is being proposed - more than 500 homes and a 35% increase - changes the Horsley’s from a village into a small town overnight. To my mind this is crazy, insensitive, unjustified and sadly, plain wrong.

Also, the scale of the proposed developments, and % increase in the housing stock, is utterly out of proportion with what is being proposed elsewhere in the Borough

Finally, I also object to Policy A35 (WISLEY AIRFIELD). I don’t believe this should be in the plan for all the same reasons the Planning Committee rejected the ?identical recent proposal by Wisley Investment Properties. ?This is not a brownfield site as stated – only 15% of it. Anyone that has been on the A3/M25 Junction recently will know how impossible it is to join the motorway with existing traffic volumes, access is confined to inadequate narrow lanes and there is no existing public transport and no train stations in the locality.

Fourthly, the infrastructure is already overloaded and no consideration has been given to already overstretched medical and educational facilities nor to the reality of what the extra housing and cars means for the existing community - in terms of congestion, pollution and quality of life - all of which would be degraded by these plans. On this basis too I object to the proposals.

Thirdly, I object to the erosion of the Greenbelt - these proposals do not meet the “exceptional circumstances” requirements. It is the role of this generation of leaders to protect the green belt for the next generation, not destroy it.

I note with interest that the Conservative Party manifesto at the 2015 General Election committed a Conservative Government to “prioritise brownfield development”.

It said: “We will ensure that local people have more control over planning and protect the Green Belt.

They said they will encourage more neighbourhood planning and protect the Green Belt. “Neighbourhood planning gives more power to local people, allowing them to play a much stronger role in shaping their areas.”

I assume that, having been voted in on this basis, that pledge will be honoured.

The scale and location of the proposed developments in the Horsley’s are not on and I object to them.

I would urge you to remember that “place” is important, it is deeply ingrained in our human psyche, and it would be dangerous for political leaders to overlook that fact. When people feel ignored, feel they are being trodden over roughshod, in the end they rebel - as has been demonstrated in the EU referendum. When elections come, people won’t forget.

Firstly, the overall number of new homes proposed across the borough seems grossly inflated to me, not reflecting projected population growth or demand. I am sure that, post-Brexit, the Borough Council would want to take time in reassessing many of their growth assumptions, which seemed flawed even before the Referendum.

Infrastructure Proposals: The plan appears to lack any specific infrastructure proposals to address the existing Road Surface Conditions, Road Congestion, Road Drainage, Primary School Provision, and Medical Facilities, let alone address the obvious increased strain on all these issues that will be imposed by the proposed housing developments.

Myself and family members use the roads to commute to work in London, using the A3, and to North West London, using the M25. There are already significant congestion issues arising at M25 junction 10, particularly during term times, and a significant expansion of traffic threatens to gridlock the road network quickly. This problem is exacerbated by the exceedingly poor nature of most of the roads, being both narrow for passing and beset with potholes creating danger. During heavy rainfall many of the main arterial roads leading in and out of the village become flooded.

The fundamental nature of the current road infrastructure is primarily rural, with several adopted roads and many private roads that have been established and maintained by the residents. An impact assessment of the effect of significantly increased traffic volumes would therefore seem to be essential to any Local Plan and its omission is therefore a real concern that fundamentally undermines the proposals.

Greenbelt Protection: I note that approximately 65% of the proposed developments will involve breaching current Green belt boundaries, and this appears to conflict with the Council's own policies. The compromise of Greenbelt boundaries is also a matter worthy of National concern, and at least worthy of a collective and integrated consideration by London and South East Boroughs. Any proposals that potentially impact upon the existing Metropolitan Greenbelt should be subject to much more detailed environmental and socio-economic impact assessment, and Stakeholder consultation, than is contained within the current Local Plan proposals

The above principle reasons are - in my view - sufficiently fundamental to undermine the integrity and adequacy of the current Proposed Submission Local Plan.

Detailed proposals within the plan - particularly including the proposed housing development of Land at the site of the former Wisley Airfield - therefore lack foundation, and if permitted to proceed will have unpredicatable and irreversible effects upon the character and viability of the area as a functioning and stable community. I therefore STRONGLY OBJECT to these proposals

To whom it may concern

In regards to the planning consultation for the area of Send and in particular the Send Hill proposal I wish to strongly object on the following grounds.

The proposal is not in keeping and sympathetic to the area as stated. The proposed is an over development squeezing far too many new small homes in a very limited space. 40 new homes would mean a prospected 80 number cars. Where would 80 cars park? This additional traffic would have a vast negative impact to the Send Hill road and again not be “sympathetic to the surrounding area”. This land is currently used by local residents for recreational walking and nature observing. Wood peckers, Owl’s Bats and badgers are all regularly seen here along with many other forms of wild life such as the protected May bug. The loss of their habitation could never be sympathetically catered for and would clearly be detrimental to their survival. The land is currently used as common land and should remain so as this is actually the only green open space for the local residents to use. The addition of two traveller’s pitches would unfortunately immediately degrade the neighbourhood and again I do not see how anyone can argue that this is in keeping with the local area and its residents. Send villages road network and infrastructure is already at a capacity that exceeds that of the size of the village current road network as Send and its back road are used on mass as a trunk road through into Woking and beyond.

I wish to add further notes:

1. I object to the removal of Send from the Green Belt because the village and its countryside provides a necessary buffer between Woking and Guildford.
2. I object to the building on the Green Belt at Send at Garlick’s Arch, Clockbarn Nurseries and Send Hill because it is not justified by any special circumstances and the fact that Green Belt is meant to be permanent and not continually eroded.
3. I object to the exaggerated “housing need” figure of 13,860 which is far too high and results in the completely unnecessary development of the Green Belt. The way students, economic need and affordability are calculated inflates the housing need.

4. I object to all proposals to build on the Green Belt at Send and elsewhere in the borough because all the development that is really needed can be accommodated in Guildford’s urban brownfield areas much closer to existing transport hubs.

5. I object to the proposed new interchange onto the A3 at Burnt Common because it would be disastrous for Send and the (A247) would be gridlocked all day.

6. I object to the proposed new interchange onto the A3 at Burnt Common because the Transport Evidence is incomplete and unreliable and shows there will be congestion because Send would be used as a cut through to the A3/M25.

7. I object to all the proposed sites in Send because they were not included in the previous consultation in 2014. Unlike the rest of the borough Send has not been properly consulted and all its sites have been changed substantially.

8. I object to the development at Garlick’s Arch for 400 houses because it was sprung on the village at the last moment with only 2 weeks’ notice and without any prior consultation and is not required in terms of housing need either for the village or the borough.

9. I object to the proposed industrial development of 7,000 sq m at Garlick’s Arch because it is simply not required since the latest Employment Land Needs Assessment 2015 (ELNA) shows a reduction of 80% in required employment floor space from the previous draft plan. If there is a need for 7,000 sq m of industrial space it should be at Slyfield where there is a 40ha site available.

10. I object to the development at Garlick’s Arch because the site has a particular conservation sensitivity since it is covered in ancient woodland. Trees which existed in the 16th century would be endangered. The site is also subject to flooding.

11. I object to building 45 houses at Clockbarn because of inadequate access and traffic volume. Tannery Lane is far too narrow and bendy to take any more traffic. The junction with Send Road is already very hazardous for vehicles emerging into the main road. Planning permission has already been given for 64 houses at the Tannery and the marina will generate heavy traffic too. The road cannot take any more.

12. I object to the development of 40 houses at Send Hill due to its high quality Green Belt amenity within an area of beautiful countryside which would be spoilt. The subsoil of the existing site contains documented unsafe land fill waste which is currently vented. The proposal to include 2 Travellers Pitches is completely inappropriate due to the narrow width single track country road providing insufficient access to the site.

I object to the fact that 70% of the proposed 13,860 houses are targeted at the Green Belt strung along the A3 which will destroy the open amenity of the borough and produce gridlock on the A3 and surrounding roads including the A247 which are all already at 100% capacity.

I object to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report, which says that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, which is more than double the figure of 322 used in previous plans.

But because the Council will not publish the SHMA report, this figure cannot be verified. This lack of transparency is not right for consultation on the Plan.

I object to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements the Plan depends on. There is no schedule for Garlick’s Arch (A43), so the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site. It is therefore not fit for purpose.

I object to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

North facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities, which do need to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic. E.g. all traffic from London/M25 to Woking would go through Burnt Common, Send and Old Woking. This is not sustainable as this cannot be improved.

I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43)

Garlick’s Arch is protected from development as Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for its removal from the Green Belt (Policy P2). Central Government state clearly that housing need is not an exceptional circumstance.

The Plan states the preference is to use of previously developed land, but GBC have removed a brownfield site at Burnt Common replaced it with Garlick’s Arch.

The site is not appropriate because:

- There is no sustainable transport infrastructure.
- The site is liable to frequent flooding.
- The site has Ancient woodland and is a wildlife habitat, but no wildlife report for the site is in the Plan.
- There are no plans to improve local schools, medical or utilities to cope.

I object to the employment strategy and impact at Garlick’s Arch (A43) (Policies E2 and E5)

There is no need for new industrial sites at Garlick’s Arch (A43). There is an existing brownfield industrial site at Burnt Common that could easily accommodate the 7,000 sq m proposed. That site was removed from the Plan without any reasoning.

Furthermore the development at Garlick’s Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been for there decades employing local people and are therefore clearly sustainable.

I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

There is too much traffic in our villages already and this plan will cause more congestion in Ripley, Send and Clandon, with no plan to improve that.

The rural roads in this area are narrow, in poor condition and have no footpaths. 5000 more houses means dangerous and unsustainable traffic.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1)

The Plan does not identify adequate infrastructure improvements to support the huge scale of development, especially at Garlick’s Arch (A43) which has no infrastructure projects in the Infrastructure Schedule to support it. Local services, utilities and sewerage, doctors etc. are at or close to capacity.

There are no plans to improve the capability of the medical and police/emergency services to cover the 5000+ houses in the north east of the borough.

The A3 or M25 would have to be improved before any development is done. Highways England has no plans to even start considering improving the A3 before 2020. Clearly no real improvements are possible in the timeframe of this Plan so the developments at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), should not take place.

The Plan does not take adequate account of flood risk as required by National Planning Policy.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is classified by the Environment Agency as being in a higher risk than the Council’s own assessment. This area has flooded many times in recent years and therefore the Council’s assessment is not good enough to be included in the plan.

I object to the Local Plan as the development proposed is not sustainable (Policy S1)

13,860 new houses proposed is not sustainable – it will damage local communities by over development, especially Ripley, Send and Clandon. The local communities don’t need these houses. Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) have no railway stations and inadequate bus services, so almost every adult will have to have a car. The Plan has nothing to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch.

The development should be in urban areas where there is sustainable transport.

I object to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

GBC’s proposal for 13,860 new houses without any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The Plan is unbalanced across the borough; there’s too much development in the north east of the borough (Wisley [A35], Ripley/Send [A43] and Clandon [A25]). 36% of all the Plan’s new housing is proposed in this area, which has only 11% of the existing housing.

5,036 houses are proposed between the M25 and Burpham (about 5 miles) which will obviously lead to a merging urbanisation of identities the villages.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

In regards to the planning consultation for the area of Send and in particular the Send Hill proposal I wish to strongly object on the following grounds.

The proposal is not in keeping and sympathetic to the area as stated. The proposed is an over development squeezing far too many new small homes in a very limited space. 40 new homes would mean a prospected 80 number cars. Where would 80 cars park? This additional traffic would have a vast negative impact to the Send Hill road and again not be “sympathetic to the surrounding area”. This land is currently used by local residents for recreational walking and nature observing. Wood peckers, Owl’s Bats and badgers are all regularly seen here along with many other forms of wild life such as the protected May bug. The loss of their habitation could never be sympathetically catered for and would clearly be detrimental to their survival. The land is currently used as common land and should remain so as this is actually the only green open space for the local residents to use. The addition of two traveller’s pitches would unfortunately immediately degrade the neighbourhood and again I do not see how anyone can argue that this is in keeping with the local area and its residents. Send villages road network and infrastructure is already at a capacity that exceeds that of the size of the village current road network as Send and its back road are used on mass as a trunk road through into Woking and beyond. We understand that that there are already plans to builder a number of homes at he bottom of Send Hill within the existing School grounds of St Bede’s. So the proposed is an over development of this immediate area.

I wish it to be noted that this is yet another attempt to over develop this area. Would you please advise when will the council stop threatening the residents of Send Hill?
I wish it to be noted that the Council has subjected this community to far too much repeated duress due to these numerous and repeated threats / attempts to ruin the local area and its green belt countryside. This has many detrimental impacts to those subjected to this process such as added stress, mental health certainly to the vulnerable and elderly. The council have a moral duty here to the residents of Send Hill of which it is clearly treating unfairly.

I am sure no one would object to sensible planning or development of which this is clearly not.

I wish to add further notes:

1. I object to the removal of Send from the Green Belt because the village and its countryside provides a necessary buffer between Woking and Guildford.

2. I object to the building on the Green Belt at Send at Garlick’s Arch, Clockbarn Nurseries and Send Hill because it is not justified by any special circumstances and the fact that Green Belt is meant to be permanent and not continually eroded.

3. I object to the exaggerated “housing need” figure of 13,860 which is far too high and results in the completely unnecessary development of the Green Belt. The way students, economic need and affordability are calculated inflates the housing need.

4. I object to all proposals to build on the Green Belt at Send and elsewhere in the borough because all the development that is really needed can be accommodated in Guildford’s urban brownfield areas much closer to existing transport hubs.

5. I object to the proposed new interchange onto the A3 at Burnt Common because it would be disastrous for Send and the (A247) would be gridlocked all day.

6. I object to the proposed new interchange onto the A3 at Burnt Common because the Transport Evidence is incomplete and unreliable and shows there will be congestion because Send would be used as a cut through to the A3/M25.

7. I object to all the proposed sites in Send because they were not included in the previous consultation in 2014. Unlike the rest of the borough Send has not been properly consulted and all its sites have been changed substantially.

8. I object to the development at Garlick’s Arch for 400 houses because it was sprung on the village at the last moment with only 2 weeks’ notice and without any prior consultation and is not required in terms of housing need either for the village or the borough.

9. I object to the proposed industrial development of 7,000 sq m at Garlick’s Arch because it is simply not required since the latest Employment Land Needs Assessment 2015 (ELNA) shows a reduction of 80% in required employment floor space from the previous draft plan. If there is a need for 7,000 sq m of industrial space it should be at Slyfield where there is a 40ha site available.

10. I object to the development at Garlick’s Arch because the site has a particular conservation sensitivity since it is covered in ancient woodland. Trees which existed in the 16th century would be endangered. The site is also subject to flooding.

11. I object to building 45 houses at Clockbarn because of inadequate access and traffic volume. Tannery Lane is far too narrow and bendy to take any more traffic. The junction with Send Road is already very hazardous for vehicles emerging into the main road. Planning permission has already been given for 64 houses at the Tannery and the marina will generate heavy traffic too. The road cannot take any more.

12. I object to the development of 40 houses at Send Hill due to its high quality Green Belt amenity within an area of beautiful countryside which would be spoiled. The subsoil of the existing site contains documented unsafe land fill waste which is currently vented. The proposal to include 2 Travellers Pitches is completely inappropriate due to the narrow width single track country road providing insufficient access to the site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Allocation A35 - for the phased development of a new settlement of up to 2100 dwellings

I object as a local resident to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

1) I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.

2) I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.

3) I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans.

4) I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).

5) I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

6) I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:

1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling.
2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes.
3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham.
4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians.
5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network.
6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham.

The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars.

would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads

the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them) the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest. Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity.

7) I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).

8) I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

9) I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

10) I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee. After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8 the April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter. Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

Objection to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Local Plan (June 2016) and to the continued inclusion in the plan of the former Wisley Airfield (FWA), now known as Three Farms Meadows (TFM) - Allocation 35 - for the phased development of a new settlement of up to 2100 dwellings

Dear Sirs,

I would like to register my objection to the above draft local plan for the following reasons:

Green Belt:

I object to the proposals to build on Green Belt land and understand that green belt boundaries can only be altered in exceptional circumstances and I do not believe that there has been any demonstration of the special circumstances required in this case. The development would be a massive encroachment of the Metropolitan Green Belt and would as I understand it be inappropriate development (as defined by law) within that.

There are many brownfield sites which are more appropriate for redevelopment which are currently not being utilised.

I object to the removal of Wisley Airfield from the Green Belt and believe the protection of green belt land to be important for many different reasons and feel strongly that this proposed development would have an adverse impact on the surrounding area: it would lead to the urbanisation of a rural area of which there are not many near and around London, it would have a negative impact on wildlife, in particular in leading to the loss of habitat for a number of protected and endangered species and would lead to a loss of green space currently enjoyed by walkers, horse riders and cyclists amongst others.

Additionally, I am concerned that election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.

Impact on the local area:

I have lived on Ockham Lane for 10 years and have seen the number of new homes and volume of traffic increase substantially in the area during this time. The proposed housing density and multi-storey buildings in these proposals are out of keeping with the surrounding rural area and there is already an obvious strain on the local infrastructure with problems related to roads, traffic and parking and severe pressure on local services including those provided by doctors, dentists, shops and schools.

I am concerned that insufficient consideration has been given to the ability of the local infrastructure to cope with the additional homes and the associated developments and vehicles that will come with them, the detrimental impact on road safety and the negative impact on current residents within the area. The major increase in traffic to and from the site is not compatible with the narrow country lanes in the area and will exacerbate the current traffic issues and congestion. Traffic is already frequently at a standstill in the area and such a significant increase in the volume of cars can only lead to further traffic issues in an already over-crowded area.

I object to the proposed number of houses, the disproportionate allocation of housing and housing density planned for this part of the borough which is out of keeping with the rural area. In light of the recent Referendum and the UK's forthcoming withdrawal from the EU it is clear that there will be smaller numbers of migrants coming to the UK and therefore less pressure on housing and a reduced need to build new homes.
Consideration does not appear to have been given to the negative impact of such a substantial increase in population to the existing residents of Cobham, Downside and Hatchford. I am concerned that the impact on light pollution, traffic and infrastructure has been significantly underestimated and that suggested measures in mitigation are inadequate.

Additionally, insufficient consideration appears to have been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site (site of special scientific interest (SSSI) etc) and air quality concerns and the serious concerns raised by many authoritative sources including Highways England, Thames Water and the Environment Agency amongst others.

Other concerns:

I am concerned by the fact that a developer has been trying to gain planning permission for these exact proposals for several years and that it is therefore expedient for these original proposals to be utilised, rather than this site being selected, objectively, as an appropriate site for development. I am concerned that the council is now putting these proposals forward having vigorously and unanimously objected against them only two or three months ago citing many of the serious concerns I and other local residents are raising in our objections.

I am concerned about the fact that these plans do not meet the needs and wishes of the local communities as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan and the unacceptable level of stress that these and the previous proposals have placed on many local residents for many years.

In summary, I am concerned that this is not the right place for additional housing and development and that the impact and above issues have not been properly thought through and are unacceptable to those living in the area. I would be grateful if these concerns could be taken into account and hope that the former Wisley Airfield will be removed from the plan.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Over the past years considerable houses have been built, both villages, but at a moderate rate. This has resulted in turning a peaceful place, into a busy and at times a congested and much noisier place to live. Without any major improvements in the roads and services, in particular the amount of car parking available near the shops.

Whilst accepting the need for some continued piecemeal small scale developments, the proposals for the size of developments you propose, are unacceptable if the village is to remain an attractive place to live.

You have not provided the reasons for the removal of the Horsleys from the GREEN BELT, other than your own drive to met unrealistic Government targets. We are well aware of your proposals for other near by sites, which if proceeded with will place further strain on the roads and other services in this area. Only the other day I could not make a appointment at the Surgery without a six day wait to see a doctor

Garlick's Arch is Green Belt and has ancient woodland and has a thriving wildlife habitat, which should be protected. There is no infrastructure, it floods and the the Draft Local Plan Infrastructure schedule does not provide for this site at all.

I object to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

This is disastrous as the increased volume of traffic would impact the local communities. The increased traffic from London (M25) to Woking would go through Burnt Common, Send and Old Woking, which currently cannot cope with the existing traffic. This is unsustainable.

I object to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3)

Damage will be caused to the ancient woodland of oak trees at Garlicks Arch site (A43) proposal, and the loss of green space and amenity

GBC has not published any details as how the 693 houses figure was arrived at, and has not applied any of the applicable constraints to it. This lack of transparency is not acceptable in a public consultation.

There is no schedule for Garlicks Arch (A43); the plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and therefore it is not fit for purpose

There is too much development in Wisley (A35) Ripley/Send (A43) and Clandon (A25). The plan is unbalanced with over 5,000 houses proposed between M25 and Burpham, which will merge all the villages and their identities. This is unfair and unreasonable.

The increased congestion that will arise from the massive proposed developments will in turn lead to increased air pollution which will have damaging effect on local residents and their health.

The development will result in the loss of existing local successful businesses, which have been employing local people over many decades, and are therefore sustainable.

The current and existing services are over-stretched now, so where are the infrastructure improvements to support the enormous proposed developments, including medical, public transport, schools?

Both the A3 and M25 need improvements before any developments commence. This is clearly not going to happen in the timescales of the plan, so the proposed developments at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlicks Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) should NOT take place.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I would like to register my objections to the proposed draft plan and the removal of East and West Horsley from the Green Belt. Detailed Objections below:-

Transport

I object to the draft local plan because of the strain it would put on the rail service. I use the train into London regularly and they are already very crowded before 8.30am in the mornings. The trains would not be able to cope with the increase in passengers with the proposed development. In addition you already struggle to park in the station car park at Horsley and this will only get worse. There is currently nowhere to extend this car park so it will just be nightmare trying to use the train.

Traffic & Parking

I object to the draft local plan because of the increase in traffic and the strain put on the road infrastructure and and parking. A lot of local roads are already in a poor condition and increased traffic will put additional strain on them. Parking at Horsley & Effingham junction stations (which is already at capacity), the shops, medical centre and at the village halls will all be adversely affected. I already struggle to park at the medical centre for some appointments and have had to park ‘unauthorised’ at the East Horsley village hall or in a side road.

Doctors Services

I object to the draft local plan because of the strain that will be put on the Medical Centre. It is very difficult to get an appointment at short notice already and the proposed increase in houses and consequently people will exacerbate the situation.

Loss of Green Belt land:

I object to the removal of East and West Horsley from the Green Belt because this is a beautiful area of surrey and if we continue to build on our countryside it won’t be many decades before we have none left. Getting out in the countryside has really good health benefits both mentally and physically, turning East and West Horsley into a built up area will have an adverse affect on the lives of all the people who live here.

Letter of Objection East & West Horsley Draft Local Plan

I would like to register my objections to the proposed draft plan and the removal of East and West Horsley from the Green Belt. I have detailed my objections below:

Loss of Green Belt land

I object to the removal of East and West Horsley from the Green Belt because it is simply not necessary, and it would change the nature and feel of the villages. The Green Belt was created for a reason, to provide a break from the ever growing conurbation of London and to provide a natural area to promote wildlife for all to enjoy. There is still a need for this. The area is used extensively for walkers and cyclists already and the countryside needs to remain open for these activities.

Doctors Services

I object to the draft local plan because the doctors’ surgery in East Horsley is already pretty much at capacity and adding more patients would result in unacceptable delays for appointments and service, possibly leading to the threat of life.

Transport

I object to the draft local plan because there simply isn’t capacity on the rail network to satisfy the expected needs of new commuters. The station car park is at capacity and many rush-hour trains are already close to full.

Traffic & Parking

I object to the draft local plan because the size and capacity of the roads isn’t capable of coping with the additional traffic caused by additional housing. Extra local traffic would cause further pot-holes to the already worn roads. Traffic at rush-hour/school times is already causing queuing at main junctions.

- I object to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1). There is no question that this will cause more congestion to the villages of Ripley and Send, which have poor condition narrow roads and no footpaths, which are dangerous. More houses will increase this danger and unsustainable volumes of traffic. This is a massive concern as today I live off Ripley and am already concerned about the level of traffic, in particular at peak hours. The traffic queues are already unacceptable.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

- I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy II). The current and existing services are over-stretched now, so where are the infrastructure improvements to support the enormous proposed developments, including medical, public transport, schools? I have read other peoples concerns in this regards and can only agree.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

- I object to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads A3/M25 (Policy12). I have already commented on this above. Both the A3 and M25 need improvements before any developments commence. This is clearly not going to happen in the timescales of the plan, so the proposed developments at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlicks Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) should NOT take place. This is the Green Belt and should be protected from further development, especially as it is already quite overbuilt for being countryside.

I request that you take note of my objections and look forwards to receiving an update on the deliberations on this matter.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
- I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy 13). The increased congestion that will arise from the massive proposed developments will in turn lead to increased air pollution which will have damaging effect on local residents and their health. Already the air quality is already affected by the vicinity of the A3.

- I object to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2). I object and find it completely unacceptable to remove Ripley, Send and Chandon from the Green Belt, in addition to Wisley Airfield (site A35) and Garlicks Arch (site A43). These are all critical for the local communities and the beauty of the area. It is also my understanding that there are no exceptional circumstances (as required by the National Planning Policy) for these villages and sites being removed. This cannot be granted without the consent of the local community.

- I object to development in areas at risk of flooding (Policy P4). The Environment Agency classifies the site at Garlicks Arch (A43) as being in a higher risk than the Council's own assessment. The plan does not take adequate account of the flood risk as required by National Planning Policy, especially as this area has flooded many times in recent years. Flooding has been a particular concern in 2013 and 2015, with considerable damage to properties in the areas. I do not want this exacerbated.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I am writing to object to the Local plan being proposed for Guilford in 2016 for the following reasons, which I know are shared by many local residents:

- I object to the local plan as the development proposed is not sustainable (Policy S1). In particular, the volume of proposed housing will very clearly damage local communities especially in Ripley and Send and is not sustainable due to lack of infrastructure. There are no rail stations near the proposed developments and no plans to improve the local roads. I have a particular concern about the lack of facilities and pressure to force more primary schools, doctors and dentists on the local community. Moreover, I expect there to be thousands of extra cars going through the villages with no possibility of significant improvements to local roads. How can this be considered acceptable??

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I OBJECT TO POLICY A35 (WISLEY AIRFIELD): • Should not be in the plan for all the reasons the Planning Committee rejected the identical recent proposal by Wisley Investment Properties. • Irregularity of including this policy in the plan 24 hours before this planning application was rejected (like extending the time allowed for the developers to present their application). • Unacceptable Conservative Party links between the developers and the Council. • No Green Belt “exceptional circumstances” presented. • Not a brownfield site as stated – only 15% of it. • Proposed SCC waste site ignored. • Loss of farming land. • Too near RHS Wisley and Thames Basin Heath SPA. • SANG would harm on SPA. • Will aggravate traffic jams at A3 roundabout and M25 Junction 10. • Unacceptable increase in air pollution. • No existing public transport and stations miles away. • No proper traffic data. • Housing density far too great. • Over 2,000 houses will swamp and destroy Ockham conservation area, with impact on listed buildings. • Access confined to inadequate narrow lanes. • Water table and surface water flooding not considered either for site itself or for downstream areas on River Mole. • Major impact on neighbouring villages, especially Ripley, Send and the Horsleys. • No assessment has been made of the collective impact on the area.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to A43a - the on and off ramp at Clandon – this will increase traffic problems in the villages, not help them, and increase the speed and density of the traffic through our villages and past local schools, as well as increase noise and pollution levels which are already at excessive levels.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I OBJECT to the development of 40 houses and 2 travellers pitches at Send Hill – this is an unsuitable location due to the narrow single access country road. The subsoil of the land is documented as unsafe landfill.

- Amount of new housing proposed far exceeds local need.
- Housing density excessive when compared with existing development.
- Would transform Ripley and Send into a sizable town, something for which no case is made.
- No local support.
- Collective impact of these 4 sites on a small part of the borough not considered. Should not be treated as isolated, separate sites.
- Total amount of new building out of scale with the planned development elsewhere the borough, especially less sensitive urban areas not protected by Green Belt.
- Sites unsustainable. Key infrastructure lacking. No adequate provision is made to increase it – e.g. poor wastewater capacity, lack of schools, absence of traffic management plan, flooding.
- No account taken of additional impact of Wisley Airfield site on surrounding villages.
- Extension of settlement boundaries too permissive.

- Green Belt gap with neighbouring settlements hugely narrowed, especially if Wisley Airfield is built on.
- Will harm compliance with NPPF 81 – e.g. by making cycling (including Prudential cycle races) too dangerous, ruining the rural setting of Waterloo Farm campsites, destroying the ambience of Grange Park Opera’s new “Theatre in the Woods”.
- Policy A40 especially unviable because of high water table and poor drainage, leading to regular winter flooding.
- Safe access and egress at Site A40 unachievable, owing to flooding, high speed limits, poor sight lines, narrow access to existing properties, inadequate pavements for elderly and schoolchildren, increasing use by recreational cyclists etc.

I OBJECT TO POLICY D3 (HISTORIC ENVIRONMENT): • Supports overdevelopment: you can’t “enhance” history. I OBJECT TO POLICY E1 (EMPLOYMENT):

• Too much encouragement to low added-value employment that’s needed elsewhere in the country.

• Fails to differentiate this from appropriate rural business.
• Too much encouragement of warehousing, for which Guildford is too congested.

I OBJECT TO POLICY E6 (LEISURE AND VISITOR EXPERIENCE): • Danger of overdevelopment: success doesn’t depend on building “attractions” which can harm heritage and rural settings. No case made for creating new ones. • No policy of opposing reduction in rural hotel capacity. • No definition of what added value interventions by Council can make to normal visitor market mechanisms. • No policy of supporting Guildford countryside as its prime leisure and visitor asset, whose value rises as London gets bigger and busier. • No vision of what the ideal visitor experience of the borough actually is and how to support its various elements.

I OBJECT TO POLICY E7 (TOWN CENTRE): • No statement in policy wording of value of Guildford’s rural setting and views. • No consideration of Town Centre Master Plan, GVG proposals or station redevelopment plans. • Proportion of new housing in town far too small. Development pushed into countryside, ruining the latter and harming urban regeneration. 4 • No brownfield register. • Too much big retail, despite online shopping revolution and decline of traditional high streets internationally. Futile to try to turn Guildford into Woking or Kingston. • No measures to support small, niche retailers in town, e.g. through business rates.

Most people can’t or won’t walk or cycle – commuters in a hurry, the elderly, children, people who are unwell or unfit, people carrying heavy shopping or other goods. i.e. most residents! • Town’s eye view of transport. Ignores scarcity of existing rural public transport and commercial unviability of increasing it. I OBJECT TO ALL POLICIES INVOLVING BUILDING IN THE GREEN BELT: • No “exceptional circumstances” shown, numbers excessive and the clearly expressed views of residents in previous consultations ignored.

I OBJECT to A43 Garlick’s Arch – the site floods and is covered in ancient woodland. The industrial space is not needed and if necessary could be accommodated at Slyfield. With proper use of brownfield sites this Green Belt site is not needed.

I OBJECT to A43a - the on and off ramp at Clandon – this will increase traffic problems in the villages, not help them, and increase the speed and density of the traffic through our villages and past local schools, as well as increase noise and pollution levels which are already at excessive levels.

I OBJECT to A45 the Talbot – this is overdevelopment in a conservation area.

I OBJECT TO ALL POLICIES INVOLVING BUILDING IN THE GREEN BELT: • No “exceptional circumstances” shown, numbers excessive and the clearly expressed views of residents in previous consultations ignored.

I OBJECT TO POLICY P2 (GREEN BELT): • No declaration of support for protecting the Guildford Green Belt, contrary to NPPF and government statements. • No evaluation of value of local Green Belt as a public and private asset: it’s just treated as potential building land with a few inconvenient restrictions. • Impact of Green Belt development on local agriculture ignored. • Impact on rural leisure and tourism ignored. • Impact on flood control ignored. • Impact on carbon sink and knock-on effects for air pollution and climate change ignored. • Impact on biodiversity ignored. • Impact on natural heritage ignored. • Impact on water catchment ignored. • Impact on room for public space amenities (parks, cemeteries, waste facilities etc) ignored. • Impact on rural business (e.g. mineral mining, film making) ignored. • Impact on natural landmarks and views ignored. • Harm to public health and wellbeing (physical, psychological) ignored. • Allows excessive levels of development in breach of views expressed in last consultation and Conservative Party manifesto commitments at the last local elections. • Has allowed ruling Councillors to argue that there is an acceptable percentage of Green Belt that should be sacrificed to development, when no such rule exists in the NPPF. • Ignores alternative approaches, such as fair burden-sharing under which settlements would undertake to accommodate new development in proportion to their size. • Disproportionate amount of development (most of it, in fact) to be in Green Belt. Too few new homes in urban areas where most people (especially the young and less privileged) want to live. This will act against much needed urban regeneration. • “Insetting” of most villages disproportionate and unjustified in terms of their contribution under the NPPF to the purposes of the Green Belt. Based on flawed Green Belt and Countryside Study. Idea that most Guildford villages do not contribute to “openness” is subjective. • Major settlement extensions allow indiscriminate housebuilding, as irregularly shaped villages are squared off to enclose green fields. • Overall harm to Guildford Green Belt unjustified by any objective development need post-Brexit. • Ignores most of NPPF 17 stipulations.

Politically biased. • A minor extension of Green Belt in one place does not justify its major destruction elsewhere (the inset villages).

I OBJECT TO POLICY S2 (BOROUGH-WIDE STRATEGY): • Numbers based on growth and demographic data now invalidated by Brexit. • No justification given for 13,860 housing figure. Figure based on a secret formula used by consultants and never seen by anyone on the Council or by the public. Council has failed to seek its disclosure. • 13,860 figure confuses the OAN with a housing target. No definite housing target given, leaving too much scope for the Council to make one up. I can’t understand how we’re being consulted when we don’t know how many houses the Council want to build, taking all the contraints into account. • Figures based on a Housing Market Area that ignores 2 neighbouring districts (Rushmoor and Mole Valley) and is much too small, since most people commute or travel far outside the Area to shop or study. This distorts the figures: no reason why Guildford needs to build nearly twice as many large housing estates as the rest of Surrey put together, or half of all sites over 100 units. • High numbers involved would transform character of the borough from mainly rural/Green Belt to urban, creating a corridor of development out of London as per Woking or Croydon.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

- I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.
- I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.
- I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans.
- I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).
- I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.
- I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:
  1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars
  2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads
  3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements
  4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them)
  5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest
6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity.

7. Whilst I live in Elmbridge I consider that this proposal will severely impact Cobham and Stoke D'Abernon as well. Its inconceivable that Cobham will not suffer substantially increased traffic, to the railway station in particular which is bound to share some of the load with the designated stations.

8. I also regularly enjoy the tranquil environment of the public footpaths across this local area and shudder to contemplate the impact of the equivalent of a new town being squeezed onto this site.

- I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).
- I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.
- I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/
  TFM, protected.
- I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, - now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd.’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.

Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows),
Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
  - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
- It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy A25
I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 – 2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

2015

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays

  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).
The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.
Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will “enhance” heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.
2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.
3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.
4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale value of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and... with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt.

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.
I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as ill as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as ill as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.
The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy S1

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.
This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guildford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London’s commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.
1. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

<tr>
<th>Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()</th>
</tr>
</thead>

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. "Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt." Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.
2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.
3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.
3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.
4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.
5. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
6. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
7. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
8. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018
9. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
10. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham
11. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework.

12. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.

13. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

14. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens.

15. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.

16. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

17. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

18. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.

19. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.
This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

There is only a vague mention of schools in the Definitions under Policy II Infrastructure and Delivery

- We already have a lack of state primary school places in the village. For example, our daughter was on a waiting list to get into The Raleigh primary school until the very last moment when someone else decided to send their child to Glenesk. We were very close to having to drive our daughter from West Horsley to a different town for a school place, which when both parents have to work would have been a life damaging inconvenience. The new developments would be putting any new families that could actually afford to live there into this awful situation. The Raleigh - which serves children from West and East Horsley - has been full every year for many years.

- Howard of Effingham secondary school places are already limited and other secondary schools mean much longer commutes (in terms of both time and distance) from West Horsley village. We moved here on the basis that our children would be able to attend the local schools, and have made huge sacrifices to do this. We barely managed for our daughter to get accepted into The Raleigh, and can only hope she will make it to Howard. The proposed increase in housing in West Horsley (and East Horsley) simply does not address the already acute shortage of local school places for existing residents/housing.

- Glenesk and Cranmore private schools situation in East and West Horsley are also at or very near full capacity each year. Pupils attending there travel for up to 14miles to attend, adding to a high volume of traffic to and from each school twice a day on Ockham Road North and the A246 respectively. A large increase in other road users in the area will aggravate this situation considerably.

Medical facilities

- Whilst we live in West Horsley, we can’t even use the local Kingston Avenue Medical Centre and have to travel to Send. As far as we understand, Kingston Avenue Medical Centre is already at capacity and can’t even serve existing local residents such as ourselves. Only a possible extension to Kingston Avenue is mentioned, it doesn’t sound sufficient given the existing situation.

- The planned population increase for the Borough (in excess of Government ONS forecasts) will require a major extension of the Royal Surrey Hospital to cope as well.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
Waste Water Infrastructure

- Sewage overflow problems already exist in the Ockham Road North/Green Lane area. Guildford Borough Council has already been advised that the area’s wastewater network is unlikely to be able to support the demand from the proposed developments. The foul drainage system from West Horsley to the treatment works north of Ripley will need to be upgraded to handle this demand. Advice from Thames Water is that they need a 2 to 3 year lead-in period to install necessary wastewater network and treatment capacity after planning permission for a development is granted.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
Roads and Transport Infrastructure

- The rail station car park is normally full on weekdays. If the village population were to increase there will be added pressure on this already full parking scenario, and on traffic movements to/from Horsley station to drop off/collect travellers, commuters and school children.

- Traffic generated from the proposed new development will be significant, given most households in rural areas have 2 and often more cars. Journey times will increase significantly on local roads. The roads, by the way are already in a shocking state in terms of potholes.

- Increased traffic will also pose a safety issue to pedestrians. In some places the pavements are already very narrow and an increase in traffic increases the likelihood of an accident in these areas.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Policy P1 - Presumption in favour of Sustainable Development, Policy S2 - Borough Wide Strategy, Policies H1&H2 - Homes for all & Affordable Homes

- Policy S2 states provision will be made for 13,800 new homes over the Plan Period 2013 - 2033. The number of homes it too high and unsustainable for Guildford’s villages. The Site Allocations list totals 12, 698

- West Horsley village expansion would be unsustainable for the proposed high number of new houses - we already have very limited local services (no post office, one small shop with barely any nearby parking, limited bus services)

- The proposed development of 385 homes on 4 proposed sites are at much higher densities than currently exist in the village - they will be out of character with existing densities and existing mix of housing styles. They won’t fit the village.

- The homes building proposals will not be sustainable in terms of roads capacity, shops, parking, schooling, drainage, parking in East Horsley (station and shops), or public transport.

- No proof has been put forward for why so many homes need to be built in West Horsley over the first 5 years of the pLan period 2018 - 2033. In fact, The West Horsley Parish Council and Surrey Community Action Housing Survey : May 2014 identified a limited need for approximately 20 affordable homes for local people who want to remain in the village (young people and elderly downsizers).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
In reference to: Policy P2 - Green Belt and the Countryside, and Policy P1 - Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB)

- The proposed plan is not in-line with continuing to “protect the Metropolitan Green Belt against inappropriate development”
- I am opposed to West Horsley village being removed from the Green Belt by insetting and expanding the 2003 Local Plan Settlement Area boundaries. No justification is given, exceptional circumstance or otherwise, for the New Green Belt boundaries that will result from the proposed insetting of the two parts of the village from the Metropolitan Green Belt.
- The Green Belt and Countryside Study is flawed
- West Horsley’s current Settlement Area boundaries (ref 2003 Local Plan) do not need extending
- West Horsley receives a significant number of recreational visitors (including cyclists, and walkers) throughout the year. This is due to the current housing density settlements, variety of historic buildings and position on the north side of the North Downs, partly in the Surrey Hills AONB. The proposed plan would negatively affect the enjoyment gained by these visitors.
- The Key Evidence document ‘Guildford Borough Economic Strategy 2013-2031 does not make any case for locating large numbers of homes in West and East Horsley or neighbouring villages. In fact, the proposed new economic development site proposals are on the opposite side of the Borough to West Horsley!

As a resident within the Ripley Greenbelt I strongly object to the local plans for removal of the green belt for development. As an ecologist, I object to this based on the effect it will have on local wildlife populations and habitats, with regards to hedgehogs, badgers and rare bat species in the area. Along with the aforementioned points I object for the following reasons:

1- the loss of any Greenbelt area is a sad thing
2- any in-setting of any village from the green belt is unthinkable to those that live here and adore the tranquility of the countryside
3- it creates disproportionate amounts of development across the borough and puts pressure on sounding roads and amenities
4- there was a very limited consultation period for the plan
5- the inclusion of new sites was given with less than two weeks notice
6- where are the numbers that state we need this vast amount of housing in the area
7- where is the evidence for the increased capacity towards schools, hospitals and other local services
8- where are the ecological reports stating that the site is clear for development
9- you want to destroy one of the last untouched spacious areas in Surrey that make it desirable- people won't be here if you build over what attracts them

The whole plan is a travesty and has caused discord across the borough. These villages have stood in scenic land and protect space from the London sprawl for 100's of years, what gives you the right to sign away the land for profit?

Please, read and listen to those of us that will be affected by this. Hasn't this country suffered enough loss already this year. Make the right choice.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Objections to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Local Plan (June 2016) and to the continued inclusion in the plan of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA), now known as Three Farms Meadows (TFM) –

Allocation A35 - for the phased development of a new settlement of up to 2100 dwellings

I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

• I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.
• I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.
• I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans.
• I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).
• I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

• I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:
  1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars
  2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads
  3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements
  4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them)
  5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest
  6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity.
  7. Our Queen’s speech at the opening of Parliament one month ago our queen said “a promise to ensure transport and buses will not be reduced and this would be for the Mayor to ensure” - proposed local bus services have been proposed locally and now we hear the same for many train services.

• I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).

• I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

• I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

• I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, - now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPI) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.

Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

• I object to all the proposals mentioned above and we feel because of the result of the recent Referendum result it is imperative for the Guildford Borough Council to go “back to the drawing board” to reassess the numbers of properties which would be needed within Surrey together with providing information on infrastructure and additional facilities required. These numbers of properties required will certainly be extremely different to the calculations made before the Referendum!
I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I am writing to voice my objections with regards to the proposed plans as detailed below:

1. I object to the Local Plan with regard to the amount of house building that is planned in East and West Horsley. This will have cause irrevocable damage to the community and character of these two villages and the surrounding area. This extra amount of houses is wholly inappropriate for villages of this size.

1. I also object to the extra traffic these plans will bring into the area. Most of the roads around here are quite narrow and not suitable for a large influx of traffic on a daily basis. The Ockham access to the A3 is already congested in the morning and this will only make matters worse, leading to more accidents and hold ups.

3. I also object to the removal of the protection of the Green Belt, for the areas around The Horsleys, Effingham, Ripley, Clandon and Send. This will see the extension of urban sprawl out from Leatherhead and along the A3. Our British Wildlife is already under increasing pressure from changing farming practices and loss of habitat, especially hedgerows and this kind of development will only continue that decline due to more loss of habitat and bio diversity. Plans for house building should be utilising Brownfield sites such as the one at Burnt Common, rather than carving up our Green Belt. Also, the directive from The Government, clearly states that housing need is not sufficient cause to encroach on the Green Belt.

1. I object to this Guildford Borough Wide Strategy of a proposed 13,860 new houses without any constraints. This is wildly different from many other Borough Councils in Surrey. Also, there appears to be a disproportionate amount of development earmarked for this area, as it represents 36% of the total housing planned for the whole Borough and the area around here is only a small proportion of the whole Borough area.

I certainly hope that common sense will prevail and a consideration of what we will lose as a Borough if this the erosion of the Green Belt is allowed. If this plan goes ahead the generations to come will suffer from the lack of green space and countryside within easy reach of their homes. Once the Green Belt has gone it can not be replaced, it will be gone forever!

I object to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

This is disastrous as the increased volume of traffic would impact the local communities. The increased traffic from London (M25) to Woking would go through Burnt Common, Send and Old Woking, which currently cannot cope with the existing traffic. This is unsustainable.

I object to the Policy A42 change at Clockbarn in Tannery Lane because:

- Yet again you are ignoring the clear concerns of local people. Why?
- Tannery lane is not appropriate for the development you seem determined to allow. Why don’t you come and have a look at the narrow nature of the lane (it is a lane) that is wholly unsuitable for the amount of additional traffic that would be generated.
- There is a 33% increase in homes. Why? This ignores the wishes of local people and exacerbates the above problems.
- The permanence of the open River Way countryside will be permanently lost. Quite clearly that is counter to the key tenets of the NPPF. There are no exceptional circumstances.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to Policy A58 at Burnt Common because:

- It was deleted from the 2014 draft because of all the objections made previously
- The word "minimum" is a change from the previous "maximum" in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land
- There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units
- The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 10 hectares at Send in the Green Belt.
- The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock
- It will join up existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I object to the proposal to inset Send Business Park from the Green Belt because:

- It is effectively an old non-conforming user in an area of outstanding countryside adjacent to the beautiful Wey Navigation
- There is highly restricted vehicular access along Tannery Lane in both directions
- Further expansion or development at this location detracts from the openness of the Green Belt and is inappropriate.

I feel we are fighting against a route that you are taking that appears entirely fait accompli. Why this is the case is hard to fathom. Once you lose the Greenbelt and impose what it is you are proposing in the countryside you lose forever what makes this area special. Not just for residents but for those who visit and for future generations.

Stop for just a moment to consider the enormity of what it is you are proposing and what value you propose to destroy.

We are residents of [Response has been redacted due to statement containing personal data which cannot be disclosed due to the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998], Normandy and currently have difficulty accessing our driveway during the day due to the high volume of traffic in the area and particularly during peak travel times. We believe that the addition of 1,100 new houses in the area will make this situation considerably worse. The plans don’t appear to have addressed the road infrastructure in order to accommodate what could be an additional 2,000 or more cars using the local road system.

We moved into this area in order to enjoy the semi-rural nature of this location and believed that this would be protected by being designated greenbelt. Whilst we accept that new housing is necessary, we feel that 1,100 homes is disproportionate to the size of the village and will significantly change the whole culture of the area.

My wife and I would like to communicate our support for the removal of site A46 and A47 for 1,150 homes from the local plan. We believe that the local infrastructure and particularly the road system would not be able to support such a development.

When we moved to this area it was largely because of the surrounding open spaces and countryside. We therefore object to the removal from the green belt of homes in Guildford road, the northern end of Glaziers lane, Flexford, Walden Cottages and Palm House Nursaries traveller site as it would lead to much higher density developments and spoil the character of the local area. The gradual erosion of the green belt to developers trying to make a fast buck is something we expect our local politicians to defend us from.

We understand the requirement for some local house development and, speaking as residents who's homes access directly on to Guildford road, we believe that road improvements are already needed. The ridiculous queues caused by the level crossing at Ash station are not acceptable and if more homes are developed it would bring rush hour traffic to a standstill and we would become prisoners in our homes.

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)
The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)
- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
  - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
- It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.
The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm. The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure. It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford. The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt. The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement. Note the following accident data: 2010-2014 from Crashmap data

- 2010 – 2014 from Crashmap data
  - Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
  - Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
  - Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
  - Tythebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents
  - 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays
  - 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
  - 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
  - 20 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
  - 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below). The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF. The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West...
Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond. Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel. The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained. The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools. Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day. Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost. There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size. Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development. The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London. The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants. The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley. If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development. A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km. Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3. Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch. The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car. The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site. The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site. It is understood the Council’s eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development.
However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road.

Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians. The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford. Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2). The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016. Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site. National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3). The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4). This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3). The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4) It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a) The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved. This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3)
I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages
The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development. The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)
I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, 7 pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3. I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a nonsustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development. If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site. The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)
I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)
Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.
The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm. Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm. Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:
1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference.
2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.
3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.
4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre
The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy. There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside. There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area. The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.
The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF. The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions. The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated. I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London. Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back. It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly. Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40. In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale vale of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative nondevelopment uses. It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter 11 belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand. In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income. And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price? As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions. The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments. The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.)

The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist. The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist. The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.) The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal. The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy 11) our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.
Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.
I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces. Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems. With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan. The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians. The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements. This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number. The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen. Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable. Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all. Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways. Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site. Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services. Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable. There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)
I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).
Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan. There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)
Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

Document:  Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy P2
I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)
This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development. The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the 5 borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites. I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this. I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them. I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions. Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth. In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ’special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever. There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached. GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.
1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.
2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.
3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as III as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as III as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.
4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change. The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding. The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts. The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline. Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development. The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all. This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17. The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy. The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities. The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided. The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
2. POLICY S2
I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)
The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey. The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously. The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West, but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market. 3 These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced. The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”. The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important. The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN I re not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal. It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London's commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited. This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another. It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough. The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant. The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population.
   Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.
2. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account. The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on. That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land. Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal. As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant. The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:
1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.
2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.
3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt. Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

5. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.

6. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

7. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

8. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

9. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation.

10. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation.

11. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound.

12. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018.

13. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars.

14. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham.

15. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework.

16. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.

17. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

18. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens.

19. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.

20. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

21. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

22. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.
23. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate. This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough. The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan. Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages. This is not cooperation by any definition. In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as ill as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as ill as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
• A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
• The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  ◦ failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  ◦ issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
• It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I wish to register my objection to your Local Plan and specifically to the Gosden Hill proposed development and its effects on the surrounding area.

I was brought up in West Clandon, attended Kindergarten there, went to school in Guildford and had my first jobs in the town. Both my brothers attended school in Ripley. My mother still lives in, and we all still regularly visit, the same house that she and my father purchased 56 years ago in 1960. It was a village without much traffic and the whole area was very green and wooded.

A huge increase in traffic is one of the obvious changes in that time and the Gosden Hill Development would increase the already huge numbers of cars dramatically. In my own street in Sussex, there has been a threefold increase in cars in the past few years and soon to be more with teenagers learning to drive, and the same will happen on any development. The Street in West Clandon is narrow and winding and already busy as a through road. It is not suited to large amounts of traffic. The A3 is a very busy road and even 20 years ago when driving to Clandon from London there were invariably delays, often long. Just a few years ago, we were witness to an accident at Burnt Common roundabout as a car with hit by a lorry, lifting the car off the ground.
With regard to services at Gosden Hill, even now providing enough water to houses presents problems without extra housing developments. Disposal of waste water and sewerage and the provision of electricity and gas will be a strain on overburdened resources. The Grid struggles at times already to provide enough electricity.

The Green Belt, which is being destroyed, was created to provide a green lung around towns so that people could get fresh and healthy air. This is needed more and more as the population increases and more countryside disappears under housing schemes.

I understand that an industrial unit is also intended at the same site – one sees these buildings left empty for years on end and I feel that building another cannot be necessary.

If the Gosden Hill development proceeds, it will damage entire surrounding areas with the knock-on effect of more cars crammed onto already log-jammed roads, the need for but lack of healthy air and green spaces, and the destruction of land for any future agriculture.

I would, therefore, urge you to reconsider your proposals. Set out below are further objections in more detail.

I OBJECT in the strongest possible terms to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016). This Plan is unsustainable, unworkable and, in many provisions, unnecessary.

I set out below my objections to specific policies and matters within the Plan.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.
Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

2015

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays
  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.
Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.
I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)
Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3)

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will “enhance” heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.
There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.
I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale value of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 &
M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.
The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guildford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London’s commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere.
Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

I wish to voice my very great concern that this proposed development site remains part of the Draft Local Plan on the basis of its potential effect on air quality.

1. On 9th February 2016 the European Lung Foundation produced a paper following a study conducted in Canada on the effect of maternal diesel particulate inhalation during pregnancy resulting in a significantly increased incidence of neonatal and childhood The summary of this paper is attached for information.
2. Guildford Borough Council undertook an air study in 2013 the results of which are also appended.
It revealed that station 5 (Junction 10 M25/A3 - Wisley) had the highest air pollution recorded of all stations tested.

1. Further evidence of this was also produced by:-
   1. Surrey Your Air Millennium Report
   2. Surrey Future Congestion Programme 2014
   3. A3 corridor improvement appendix.

2. Within my former practice as a GP with a special interest in paediatrics, I have hitherto been all too well aware of the hazard to young children in pushchairs of inhaling diesel particulates causing resultant childhood asthma.

3. This latest research suggests a whole new level of threat to the unborn infant based on maternal diesel particulate exposure during.

4. The traffic implications of the additional 2,100 new homes planned for the Wisley Airfield site will inevitably increase air pollution in a place which already has the most significant air pollution in Surrey.

5. In turn this will produce a substantial increase in serious child health consequences.

For this reason alone the site should be removed from the proposed Draft Local Plan.

1. At no stage during the previous draft local Plan process and subsequent consultation was this site proposed for consideration; now suddenly it has been included in the present draft Local Plan increasing the development burden within West Horsley.

2. The site to the south of East Lane adjoining Lollesworth Lane is an important green space to be viewed and enjoyed when traversing East Lane in either direction.

1. This site is unsustainable and unsuitable for the proposed density of development due in part to its green belt status; in part to infrastructure fragility and incapacity (drainage and road surfaces - both already failing due to lack of ongoing expenditure to improve capacity).

Village expansion is unsustainable. With only one small shop, no post office, a very limited weekdays only bus service through the village, it is clearly unsustainable for the proposed high volumes of new housing development

1. The development of 385 homes on the 4 proposed sites are at much higher densities than currently exist in the village settlement and will be totally out of character with the existing mix of different housing styles and layout of the
2. The homes building proposals are unsustainable in terms of schooling, drainage, roads capacity, shops, parking in East Horsley (shops and station and public transport
3. The need for so many houses to be built in West Horsley over the first 5 years of the Plan period 2018 to 2033 is totally unproven.

The West Horsley Parish Council and Surrey Community Action Housing Survey conducted in May 2015 identified a limited need for some 20 affordable homes for local people who want to remain in the village, i.e. for young people and for elderly people who wish downsize to a smaller home

I would like to object to the proposed housing plan on the land of Guildford cathedral. Already we have major pedestrian problems as well as obscured views when leaving our driveways. We are living on a semi rural road, which already has its problems, including drainage. I'm also not happy with the cathedral not wanting access from its main entrance whilst they are happy to burden their immediate neighbours with the added traffic and obscured views.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

 I object to the figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

GBC has not published any details as how this figure was arrived at, and has not applied any of the applicable constraints to it. This lack of transparency is not acceptable in a public consultation.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

 I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlicks Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43)

Garlick's Arch is Green Belt and has ancient woodland and has a thriving wildlife habitat, which should be protected. There is no infrastructure, it floods and the the Draft Local Plan Infrastructure schedule does not provide for this site at all.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I object to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

This is disastrous as the increased volume of traffic would impact the local communities. The increased traffic from London (M25) to Woking would go through Burnt Common, Send and Old Woking, which currently cannot cope with the existing traffic. This is unsustainable.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:

I object to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3)

Damage will be caused to the ancient woodland of oak trees at Garlicks Arch site (A43) proposal, and the loss of green space and amenity

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:

I object to the employment strategy and impact on Garlicks Arch (A43) (Policies E2 and E5)

The development will result in the loss of existing local successful businesses, which have been employing local people over many decades, and are therefore sustainable.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
 I object to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

This will cause more congestion to the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon, which have poor condition narrow roads and no footpaths, which are dangerous. More houses will increase this danger and unsustainable volumes of traffic

 I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1)

The current and existing services are over-stretched now, so where are the infrastructure improvements to support the enormous proposed developments, including medical, public transport, schools?

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
 I object to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads A3/M25 (Policy12)

Both the A3 and M25 need improvements before any developments commence. This is clearly not going to happen in the timescales of the plan, so the proposed developments at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlicks Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) should NOT take place.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:

 I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy 13)

The increased congestion that will arise from the massive proposed developments will in turn lead to increased air pollution which will have damaging effect on local residents and their health.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:

 I object to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

I object to removing Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, in addition to Wisley Airfield (site A35) and Garlicks Arch (site A43)

There are no exceptional circumstances (as required by the National Planning Policy) for these villages and sites being removed.

 I object to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

There is too much development in Wisley (A35) Ripley/Send (A43) and Clandon (A25). The plan is unbalanced with over 5,000 houses proposed between M25 and Burpham, which will merge all the villages and their identities. This is unfair and unreasonable.

I support the policy of retaining this land for Allotment use. The half allotment that our family (with Rebecca aged 5 and Daniel aged nearly 3) shares with another family (with Kaitlyn aged 5 and Elena aged 2) provides us with food, exercise, intergenerational company and contact with nature (the children find the bee hives fascinating). Kaitlyn is very much looking forward to working on St Joseph's School plot soon. I find the allotment provides me with a bit of peace away from the family where I can unwind for an hour during schooltimes. One elderly allotment holder holds the same allotment that his father had before him - that soil is special! Our neighbour is aged 85 and we try to help each other with knowledge or muscle.

We have heard that lower vehicular access to Westborough allotments is under threat. My children cannot walk the distance from home to the other entrances. I would have to drive with them, which would add to traffic and defeat the point of getting them out exercising in the fresh air. I also sometimes have to drive onto the plot in order to deliver manure in quantity. The top entrance is not an option as the car would never make it up the hill (if it got down without incident).
The environment of the city would be a lot less green and happy without the allotments. More allotments would be good. I offer my strong support for POLICY A21 (Westborough Allotments) and support POLICY I4 (Green and Blue Infrastructure) in its aim of enhancing biodiversity. "Allotments" needs to be specifically included in the list of green spaces in the definition of "green and blue infrastructure" in para 4.6.31 of the draft plan (page 116).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Objections to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Local Plan (June 2016) and to the continued inclusion in the plan of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA), now known as Three Farms Meadows (TFM) – Allocation A35 - for the phased development of a new settlement of up to 2100 dwellings

I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

- I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.
- I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.
- I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans.
- I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).
- I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.
- I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:
  1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars
  2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads
  3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements
4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them)
5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest
6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity
   • I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).
   • I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.
   • I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.
   • I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.

Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I am writing to object, in the strongest terms possible, to Guildford Borough Council’s draft Local Plan proposals to build 1,800 houses, an industrial park and a highway on the slopes of the Hog’s Back at Blackwell Farm. I live on High View Road, and chose to live in this location in Guildford in order to be close to natural beauty, which will be destroyed if these plans are agreed.

I believe that if this Plan is agreed, the cost to the environment and ancient woodland will be extremely high, destroying natural habitats. The beautiful scenery and the area’s history will be destroyed. Another major concern is the increase in traffic problems that this will cause. The A3 and A31 are regularly overloaded as it is, with long traffic jams occurring every day. To add the traffic associated with 1,800 houses and an industrial park to this area will be catastrophic, and the increase in pollution will be very damaging to the whole town.

My husband and I chose to move to Guildford because we love it. We love the town centre, and the beautiful green areas surrounding it; for us, Guildford has the perfect balance – particularly the Hogs Back area where we live, which has been designated as an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty. If this plan is agreed, sadly, we will definitely look to move out of Guildford. We sincerely hope it will not come to this. Please listen to the views of the people who live in Guildford and love the town, and please put the beauty of the town, and the importance of the environment, before profit. I believe that the University has other options they could pursue, instead of encroaching on green belt land.

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements the Plan depends upon. I am shocked to learn that there is no such schedule for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which indicates to me that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure that is required for this site. This cannot be tenable and is not fit for purpose.

The Plan's proposed growth is based on the SHMA report which says that 693 homes per year are required by the borough, which is more than double the figure of 322 used in previous plans.

However, as the council with not publish the SHMA report, this figure cannot be independently verified. This lack of transparency is farcical and disables fair consultation.

Garlick's Arch is protected from development due to its Green Belt status. There are no exceptional circumstances which allow its removal from the Green Belt (Policy P2) - Central Government clearly state that the need for new housing is not an exceptional circumstance.

The Plan clearly states the preference is to use previously developed land, but Guildford Borough Council have removed a brownfield site at Burnt Common, and replaced this with Garlick's Arch.

The Garlick's Arch (A43) proposal would double the built area in the locality, and I fear this would irrevocably damage the character of Ancient Woodland located here, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

There is no discernable need for new industrial sites at Garlick's Arch (A43) because there is already an existing brownfield industrial site located in Burnt Common that could easily accommodate the 7,000sq m proposed - why was this site removed from the Plan with no reason given?

I use the current businesses and strongly object to their livelihoods being put in jeopardy by this Plan. They have been trading for many years, employ local people and are clearly sustainable.

Given the scale of development planned, the A3 and M25 would have to be improved before any such development is done. Highways England have no plans to even start considering improvements to the A3 until at least 2020. Clearly, no tangible improvements will be possible in the timeframe of this Plan and so developments at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick's Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) simply should not take place.

These huge developments that are being planned particularly here in the NE of the borough will clearly add to the current traffic congestion and further contribute to greater levels of pollution which are bound to have a detrimental effect on local residents and the health of their families.

I object to the removal of Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, along with the sites of Garlick's Arch (A43) and Wisley Airfield (A35) and the subsequent urban sprawl that threatens them. There are no exceptional circumstances that warrant the removal of these villages and sites - as required by the National Planning Policy.

It is therefore logical for the Plan to develop the existing brownfield site at Burnt Common rather than Garlick's Arch (A43).

Over-development of our area will heavily impact Ripley, Send and Clandon, due to the sheer number of houses proposed - (13,860). Both Garlick's Arch (A43) and the old Wisley Airfield (A35) have no accessible train stations as well as inadequate local bus services. It is therefore inevitable that there will be many more cars used in the area. Additionally, the Plan contains nothing that will improve infrastructure to improve Garlick's Arch. It therefore makes more sense for this development to be sited in urban areas where sustainable transport links are already in place.

Guildford Borough Council's proposal for 13,860 new houses without any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, differs from the plans of all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The Plan shows great imbalance across the borough with too much development in the North-East of the borough (Wisley A35), Ripley/Send (A43) and Clandon (A25) - a staggering 36% of all the Plan's new housing is proposed in this area which currently has only 11% of the existing housing.

I am very concerned that 5,036 new houses proposed between the M25 and Burpham (a distance of about 5 miles in total) will obviously lead to merged urbanisations that will engulf our villages and wipe away our identity.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that "allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development." However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether "exceptional circumstances" existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as III as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as III as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless "exceptional circumstances" for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each
Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

The "objectively assessed need" figure of 693 homes a year is too high.

A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.

The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows, issues with the way it considers students and affordability and flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.

It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

2015

21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays
Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.
No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an "aspiration" in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current "soft" edge approach to Guildford.
Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brownfield site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will "enhance" heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1).

I OBJECT to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I OBJECT to the location for new employment floor space (Policy E2).

I OBJECT to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floor space will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floor space to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor "attractions" and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/"Disneyfication". Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many "leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An "English town break" (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens... and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy "vision" describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all.

Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support with caution higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of "regulatory capture" by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students are accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale vale of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove "exceptional circumstances."

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations Ire available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.
The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be "closely related" Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove "exceptional circumstances." The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the narrow A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and West Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In the latter, where we live there are stretches of the main road without any pavements at all which makes it especially dangerous for pedestrians already. Access onto the road from the junior school, the church, vicarage, garden centre, Clandon Park, village hall, British Legion Club, the 2 pubs, nursing home and golf course are poor and potentially dangerous.

In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.
I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills.

It was part of the Olympic cycling route which has made it even more popular. With not any proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. I repeat that in the case of West Clandon the street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy 11. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy 11 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.
Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and accidents are common. Any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that "Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health." The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of "only" 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an "acceptable" percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have... answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the "insetting" of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the "openness" of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To "inset" two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed "insetting" and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of "empowering local people to shape their surroundings" and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that "the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained." I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy S1

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development "should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking." As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of "sustainable development" is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims "to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area". This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as "sustainable", in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications "wherever possible" and "without delay" reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT in the strongest possible terms to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016). This Plan is unsustainable, unworkable and, in many provisions, unnecessary. It is plainly hopelessly cobbled together and misplaced on many levels.

It will ruin many local villages and lose some of our precious Green Belt which is meant to be sacred for very good reasons. Once built upon there will be no going back!

I set out below my objections to specific policies and matters within the Plan.

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the "West Surrey" tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, "West Surrey" is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside "West Surrey". Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make "West Surrey" reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s "need". Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered "sound".

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is "deliverable" and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered "deliverable". In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected "windfall" sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a "plan" that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN Ire not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London's commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.
The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

2. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

"Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt." Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.

The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.

The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.

The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation

Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018

Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars

The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham

The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework

The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.

The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens

In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.

The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.

The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): (No)

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan must be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

1. I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.

2. I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.

3. I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans.

4. I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).

5. I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

6. I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:
   1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars
   2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads
   3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements
   4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them)
   5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest
6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity

- I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).
- I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.
- I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.
- I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, - now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.

Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlicks Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43)

Garlick's Arch is Green Belt and has ancient woodland and has a thriving wildlife habitat, which should be protected. There is no infrastructure, it floods and the the Draft Local Plan Infrastructure schedule does not provide for this site at all.

I object to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a).

This is disastrous as the increased volume of traffic would impact the local communities. The increased traffic from London (M25) to Woking would go through Burnt Common, Send and Old Woking, which currently cannot cope with the existing traffic. This is unsustainable.

I object to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

There is too much development in Wisley (A35) Ripley/Send (A43) and Clandon (A25). The plan is unbalanced with over 5,000 houses proposed between M25 and Burpham, which will merge all the villages and their identities. This is unfair and unreasonable.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1) Unnecessary Secondary School in Normandy:

Both King's College and Ash Manor Secondary Schools are significantly under-subscribed. The existing headmasters are looking to the council to allocate extra funds to improve their existing schools. Not build new ones.

It is highly unlikely that 1100 new homes + existing Normandy homes will produce enough pupils for this new school + the environment effects of additional traffic on the already poor roads.

2) Fairground Pitches:

We already have an encampment for Fairground people, which I believe has at least 200 people living there on the edge of Normandy. This is "our fair share" within Guildford Borough. Plus we already have at least 3-4 Mobile home sites also.

3) Retail Space:

I have been a Normandy resident since 1961. For whatever reason, the existing villagers have let 10 retail business / post offices fail over the years. People just shop at supermarkets / retail parks or online.

4) Traffic Chaos:

Traffic in Normandy is frequently chaotic due to cars diverting from the A31 and A331 when there are incidents. They'll go along the A323 or Westwood Lane (to the A331). Coupled with difficult access to Wyke Primary School (which has doubled in size in the last 5 years), the impact of a 1,500 student is simply unimaginable. This would completely blight the lives of everyone in the village, with Gridlock.

5) Infrastructure - Sewage & Drainage Issues:

The sewage system in Normandy has been problematic since Orchard Close / Orchard Way was developed in 1960. Combined with Culls Road / Christmas Pie area, it is totally inadequate. What on earth would the infrastructure cost of such a basic need for hygiene & sanitation be?
The problem is compounded by a high water-table which over the years has eventually led to a Flood Forum, chaired by our MP, Jonathan Lord being set up. Logically, any increase in housing stock & other buildings will have a catastrophic effect on drainage capacity.

6) Infrastructure - Railway Bridges

The 2 railway bridges (Glaziers Lane & Westwood Lane) have been identified as problematic by Network Rail for over a decade. In particular, the bridge in Westwood Lane is a death-trap with an awkward exit from Beech Lane, and an awkward “road kink” in the design of the bridge which has caught people out with catastrophic effect.

TO SUM UP:

I thoroughly refute the proposal for what I consider to be gross over-development of Normandy, given all its infrastructure inadequacies of roads / bridges / sewage & drainage. Also, it is totally unacceptable to house any further fairground families. The village has more than its fair share. Instead, I propose that we continue at a similar rate of in-filling of about 150 residential properties over the lifetime of the plan (15 years), which must include some badly-needed starter homes.

I understand that Guildford borough council needs to provide more social and affordable housing, however I object to the large strategic developments at Wisley airfield, Garlicks arch and Gosden Hill as I fail to see what the requirement for large volumes of affordable and social housing is in the undeveloped areas of the borough where there is no employment, no transport and little services. It would be better to provide more affordable and social housing near developed areas where facilities, and employment opportunities are available and where people looking for affordable homes actually want to live.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I object the the development of the strategic sites at Wisley Airfield, Garlicks arch and Gosden Hill as the the road infrastructure does not have capacity to cope with any medium let alone large developments of the proposed scale.
2. I object to the inclusion of the Wisley airfield site and Garlicks Arch as strategic sites due to the congestion on local roads at all times of day. For instance it is often hard to pull out of my home onto the main road in Ripley due to a continual flow of traffic, adding more residents to the local area will result in a large increase in the number of accidents, especially as the roads are narrow.
3. I object to the Strategic sites as the road network that currently exists is barley maintained by the council, an increase in the traffic and number of HGVs using the roads will result in further deterioration. The road infrastructure is incapable of handling the increase demand during the construction phase without significant investment and will be in an even greater state of disrepair once an extra circa 2000 cars are using them daily. I3
4. I object to the inclusion of Wisley airfield and Garlicks Arch in the local plan due to them being in unsustainable locations regarding public transport. Neither location has a suitable train station located within realistic walking or cycling distance, this means only bus services and cars are feasible.

I object the the inclusion of the large strategic sites as insufficient parking will be provided, the village of Ripley already has problems with residents parking on pavements, there is not enough space to support additional vehicles which would be here. Additionally the parking at local stations is insufficient, a multistory car park would need building at each station to accommodate even one of the smaller proposed strategic sites

I object to removing the local villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Greenbelt. This proposal interferes with the purpose of the greenbelt which is to prevent urban sprawl and removing the villages would seem to be encouraging an urban sprawl and directly damaging the integrity of the greenbelt.

I object to the size of the proposed developments at your strategic sites of Wisley airfield, Garlicks Arch and Gosden Hill because all of these sites are bigger than the villages that are established and they will overshadow them. I understand that some development is required but it should be in proportion to surrounding established villages to complement and improve instead of overdeveloping the area.

I object to your allocation of a large portion of housing development within a small geographical area of the borough. Focusing on only producing large sites with the sole purpose of making it easier for the developer should not be the basis for planning permission approval. Consideration should be given to the location of any site greater than one hundred houses as the local transport infrastructure is incapable of absorbing the increased demand

Objection to the inclusion in the Draft Local Plan (June 2016) of Site Allocation A35 - the former Wisley Airfield - for a new settlement with 2,000 dwellings

We wish to register our objection to the proposal to remove the former Wisley Airfield from the Metropolitan Green Belt in the Guildford Local Plan and make the site available for large scale housing development.

We believe that the new and exceptional circumstances required in law for such a change have not been established. We further believe that there are many opportunities in the Borough for housing development in established urban areas without the need to destroy an essential safeguard to the environment of all of us.

This change to the Local Plan would have a serious, negative impact on local communities including our own in Cobham. As the nearest town of any size to the new development Cobham would become the first port of call for many of the services required by those living in the new homes. Our already overstretched roads and public transport links would come under ever greater and unsustainable pressure. We are in no way geared up for such an increase in population and the demands that would accompany it.
The historic communities close to the site - most notably, but not exclusively, the small village of Ockham - would be engulfed in the new town which includes, in a recently presented proposal, buildings of five stories. The rural character of these communities would be destroyed and the result would be a denser concentration of people here than is found in many of our major cities. This reality alone would be sufficient grounds for the strongest objection to the proposed change.

It has been seriously proposed that the new community on the airfield site will turn significantly to walking and cycling rather than depending on road transport. One only has to look at the volumes of traffic currently using our local road network to realise how unrealistic that suggestion is. Our present roads do not cope with the demands that current traffic levels make of them. How much worse - and how considerably less safe - will the addition of substantial numbers of extra vehicles make? Such a development could well lead to more than 4,000 additional private cars trying to use our roads plus all the commercial vehicles needed to service such a new town.

People today assume they will be able to use their cars. It would, in our opinion, be unrealistic to approve a plan based on a belief that cycling and walking will provide an answer to our infrastructure limitations.

Wisley Airfield is not the right place for large scale housing development. We object strongly to the proposed change in the Guildford Borough Local Plan that would prepare the way for such a development and remove the protection to our Green Belt that has served us well for so long.

As a regular visitor to the area, I would like to raise my objections to Guildford Borough Council's Draft Local Plan. My son and his family live in the East Horsley. I visit weekly to look after my grandchildren and therefore also the area’s facilities. I also live in Surrey, on the border between Camberley town and Frimley village. Since moving in over 30 years ago, I have seen first-hand what a dramatic change housing and development can make on an area; transforming from being relatively quiet to becoming a major conurbation.

There are few places in the South of England that are as beautiful and charming as the countryside and villages of the Surrey Hills. Unlike the area around Camberley, I was under the impression that the green belt would protect the welfare of grandchildren, the well-being of the village communities and an area of outstanding natural beauty. The proposed plan seems intent on destroying, rather than protecting the area’s character.

The proposed increase in housing would have a severe negative impact, and seems far too large for such small villages. Changing village and green belt boundaries should not be allowed. Transport and roads will not be able to cope with the step change increase in use, from the moment the construction starts. Roads area already in poor condition, there are limits on how village roads can be developed and there will be no way to ‘bypass’ the traffic away. The infrastructure impacts seem to be underestimated or unplanned for; overfilled schools, medical facilities where it is hard to get an appointment and even drainage.

This is disastrous as the increased volume of traffic would impact the local communities. The increased traffic from London (M25) to Woking would go through Burnt Common, Send and Old Woking, which currently cannot cope with the existing traffic. This is unsustainable.

I object to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

I object to removing Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, in addition to Wisley Airfield (site A35) and Garlicks Arch (site A43)

 I object to the local plan as the development proposed is not sustainable (Policy S1)

There is too much development in Wisley (A35) Ripley/Send (A43) and Clandon (A25). The plan is unbalanced with over 5,000 houses proposed between M25 and Burpham, which will merge all the villages and their identities. This is unfair and unreasonable.

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
• It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

• Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
• Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

2015
- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays

  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size. Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.
The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)
The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3)

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

I OBJECT to Policy D3 - Historic environment

I object to this policy as it is very weak and I do not think it is clear enough in its support for the conservation of the historic environment. It provides for development which will “enhance” heritage assets which I fear is a developer’s charter as it leaves plenty of room for abuse.

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale vale of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford’s relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”
The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.
Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy P2

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from... the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as Ill as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as Ill as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.
Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy S2

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guildford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London's commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

1. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.

2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.

3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements. Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.

2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018
5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham.

7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework.

8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.

9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.

10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send, and Ripley citizens.

11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councillors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.

12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.

14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.

15. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.
Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

I am horrified at the plans for building in the Horsleys where we have lived for many years. We chose to live here as they are villages, not towns. The Conservatives at the last election promised to keep Horsley in the green belt and protect it. How can we ever trust politicians who renege on their promises? The number of houses that your draft plan says is needed is based on growth that is now not valid as we have left the European Union.

The local roads are now full of traffic and will be unable to cope with lots more cars. The schools and doctors are full. Junction 10 on the M25 is very often blocked - it will be unable to handle significantly more traffic.

We want to continue to live in a village where we can have lots of open spaces to walk with children and dogs. We do not want the spaces filled with lots of rabbit hutch houses with postage stamp gardens. Houses like that are still going to be unaffordable for youngsters.

Why doesn't the government develop less advantaged regions of the UK?

I object to all policies involving building in the green belt. Why were the clearly expressed views of residents in previous consultations ignored?

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

• I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.

• I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.

• I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans.

• I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).

• I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

• I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:
  1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars
  2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads
  3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements
  4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them)
  5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest
  6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity

• I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).

• I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

• I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

• I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.
Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough, since this figure is too high and not supportable (Appendix D)

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
  - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
- It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.
The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough. This is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Gosden Hill development being in the Local Plan. The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip road to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.
Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which raise health and safety issues.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy A43

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43)

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is for making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced by a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light to local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hour no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylons run through the site, and these will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The proposed addition of north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc.) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT. Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a SouthWest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

I OBJECT to this policy. It is a Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added pollution and risk to injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon, The Street only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements. I have personally witnessed HGVs mounting the pavements on many occasions because they are unable to pass oncoming traffic any other way on this narrow road. Only last week one HGV only narrowly missed one of our neighbours who was walking with her children on the way to school.

1. I OBJECT to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1)

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick's Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states: “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

I OBJECT to the proposals to remove the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, together with sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43). National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’ and the land to be taken from the Green Belt). This yet another example of an ill thought out plan and approach. Once taken the Green Belt is lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl with these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost - to the serious detriment of residents and visitors to the area - and the countryside encroached. GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site. Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. This is nonsensical. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact to existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles putting even greater pressure on the road infrastructure. These sites are just unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

2. The Housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. Given the result of the EU Referendum this now needs to be reconsidered.

3. The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guildford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result will be a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Objections to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Local Plan (June 2016) and to the continued inclusion in the plan of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA), now known as Three Farms Meadows (TFM) – Allocation A35 - for the phased development of a new settlement of up to 2100 dwellings

I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

1) I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.

2) I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.

3) I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans.

4) I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).

5) I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

6) I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:

   1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars
   2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads
   3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements
   4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them)
   5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest
   6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity
7) I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).

8) I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

9) I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

10) I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, - now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.

Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

I am writing to object to the proposals to remove West Horsley village from the Green Belt by insetting and adding up to 385 homes to four Development sites in the village as laid out in The Guildford Plan.

The proposals as set out in The Guildford plan fail to provide adequate justification or exceptional circumstances for the proposed insetting of West Horsley and will only serve to have a significant detrimental effect on the village and its environment. Also, the proposed addition of 385 homes is completely inappropriate for the size of the village and would not be sustainable for the following reasons:

• The burden on local infrastructure would be unsupportable. Many roads and lanes are narrow and already congested with traffic at peak times queuing to pass through the village. Even the limited public transport service struggles to pass through the village uninterrupted which causes congestion and delays.
• The small village shop will be closing soon which will result in West Horsley village residents having to travel to East Horsley more frequently to shop. Parking facilities near and around the main parade of shops at Station Parade, East Horsley are already often full during most times of the day.
• It is difficult to make appointments at the Medical Centre in Kingston Avenue if you need to seek medical advice less than two weeks in advance. The planned population increase would impact on the Centre’s capacity to cope with resident’s needs. Parking at the Medical Centre is also currently under significant pressure, the car park is frequently full making access to it very difficult and frustrating.
• Several roads throughout the village frequently flood after severe bouts of wet weather and drainage is a constant problem. I am concerned that the construction of nearly 400 additional properties would only serve to make the situation much worse and negatively impact the local infrastructure and environment.
• Other facilities in the village (e.g. the village hall, local churches and halls) are well used but parking at these sites is either non-existent or inadequate for the number of cars that need to be parked. The consequences of this is already causing problems because cars are being parked in lanes nearby (especially Silkmore Lane, where I live) or in The Street which results in through-traffic being unable to pass through the village on both sides of the road.

Planning Practice Guidance as outlined in the National Planning Policy framework states that once Green Belts have been defined, local authorities should plan positively to enhance its beneficial use (p 81) and that new boundaries should only be established under exceptional circumstances (p83). It also states that local planning authorities should take into account the need to promote sustainable patterns of development (p84). I believe The Guildford Plan is categorically not achieving this and entirely fails to make a justifiable case for locating such large number of homes in West Horsley.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
I am writing to strongly object to the proposed submission of the Guildford Local Plan (2017) in relation to housing development sites in West Horsley village. Although two sites have been removed (A36 and A41) from the previous local plan, the proposal of four sites (A37, A38, A39 and A40 adding up to approximately 395 new homes) is still completely inappropriate for the size of the village and would not be sustainable for the following reasons:

- The burden on local infrastructure would be unsupportable. Many roads and lanes are narrow and already congested with traffic at peak times queuing to pass through the village. Even the limited public transport service struggles to pass through the village uninterrupted which causes congestion and delays.
- The only shop in West Horsley, which is a specialist cheese shop, does not provide a wide enough range of goods for peoples’ basic needs. Village residents have to travel to East Horsley to shop. Parking facilities near and around the main parade of shops at Station Parade, East Horsley are already often full during most times of the day. The addition of nearly 400 extra dwellings (which would be at the very least an extra 800 people and possibly that many cars) would create unsustainable pressures on the local infrastructure.
- The planned population increase would severely negatively impact on the Medical Centre’s capacity to cope with resident’s needs. Parking at Horsley Medical Centre is currently under significant pressure as it is, the car park is frequently full making access to it very difficult and frustrating.
- Several roads throughout West Horsley village frequently flood after severe bouts of wet weather and drainage is a constant problem. I am extremely concerned that the construction of nearly 400 additional properties would only serve to make the situation much worse and negatively impact the local infrastructure and environment.
- Other facilities in the village (e.g. the village hall, local churches and halls) are well used but parking at these sites is either non-existent or inadequate for the number of cars that need to be parked. The consequences of this is already regularly causing problems because cars are being parked in lanes nearby (especially Silkmore Lane, where I live) or in The Street which results in through-traffic being unable to pass through the village on both sides of the road.

In addition to this, I wish to register my objection to the proposal to extend the village boundary into green belt land behind the houses on the west side of Silkmore Lane. This opens up the extremely unwelcome possibility of development rights on rural land which I strongly feel will be detrimental to the character of West Horsley village.

I believe The Guildford Plan (2017) entirely fails to make a justifiable case for locating such large number of homes in West Horsley. I feel it also categorically contravenes the requirement by law to ‘promote sustainable development through the balancing of social, environmental and economic considerations to achieve the best overall outcome’. The proposals of adding so many extra dwellings in West Horsley village is not sustainable and does not balance social and environmental considerations at all.

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43)

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT. Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a SouthWest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT (POLICY H1 – Homes for all) Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT This is a Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added pollution and risk to injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

I OBJECT to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1)

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.
Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?.

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

I OBJECT to the proposals to remove the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, together with sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43). National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’ and the land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached. GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are just unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.
The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT in the strongest possible terms to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016). This Plan is unsustainable, unworkable and, in many provisions, unnecessary.

My main objection is one of principle to the proposed building over of valuable greenbelt land, especially when it consists of farmland or woodland. Once built upon it can never be replaced. Future generations will not thank us for facilitating the spread of urban sprawl. And I also object to landowners converting such farmland/woodland to uses such as golf courses (having been refused planning permission for housing) in the hope that they will subsequently, eventually, get such permission - I am thinking of the example of Clandon Golf course outside Merrow, which has never built a club house or made any great efforts to be a profitable golf course.

Secondly, as a long term resident of West Clandon, I am worried about the effects this plan will have upon traffic volumes through our village both from the point of view of road safety on the A247 (a well documented problem) and with a view to air quality concerns. The A247 is already very busy and too narrow for some of the vehicles using it.

Thirdly, as a resident of Guildford, I object to a Local Plan based upon a housing requirement derived from assumptions which have not been clearly explained via a process that is not clear. I suspect that the housing number is overstated and that we really need more smaller homes in existing town centres (i.e near shops/transport links/local jobs), rather than the larger more profitable homes the builders would prefer to build on greenfield sites.

Lastly, I object to having to repeatedly object to much the same Local Plan as last time around despite the numerous objections made then.

I set out below my objection to specific policies and matters within the Plan.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy S2
1. The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

2. The Housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

3. The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any commonsense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.

The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:
1. I object to the changed policy A25 Gosden Hill for the development of 1700 homes which is still far too much.
2. There is no need for housing on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
3. Gosden Hill is located entirely within the Green Belt. No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore development here does not meet paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. Furthermore, Gosden Hill performs all five functions of green belt.
4. The site has no provision for foul or surface water sewerage and adjoining sewerage is at capacity.
5. The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure. It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.
6. The development of this site cannot be sustainable and will cause massive congestion onto surrounding roads. The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will exit straight on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon.
7. I object to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through Send and West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).
8. The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.
9. A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

1. I object to the changed policy A43 Garlick’s Arch for 400 homes and 6 travelling show people pitches
2. It ignores all the thousands of previous objections made by local people
3. There is no proven demand for travelling show people plots in this location
4. There is no need for putting houses on this site because the local plan housing target is incorrect and inflated and ignores constraints.
5. The allocation of 28.9 ha is an excessive land grab into the Green Belt. If we take a normal density of 30 homes per ha and it is at the end of the day proven that there is a need for 400 homes in this location the land
12. I object to the proposal to remove Garlick’s Arch from the Green Belt. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for this land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever. There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and the neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in West Clandon, Send and Ripley will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

13. I object to the potential loss of Ancient Woodland on the site. The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees that existed in the year 1600.

14. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1). Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road and Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

15. Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Ripley, and Send are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition. I object to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

16. Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, already suffer from parking problems. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

17. With some 5000 houses being proposed close to the villages of West Clandon, East Clandon, Send and Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become a popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the village on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

18. The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the roads becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.
19. I object to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1). Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

20. Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

21. Many of the utilities in the West Clandon, East Clandon, Burpham, Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

22. Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

23. I object due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2). There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

24. I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3). Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health.

25. I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43). Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

26. It is clear that with this site being added at the eleventh hour and no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

1. I object to Policy A 58 at Burnt Common and to the proposed inclusion of Burnt Common as an Industrial Strategic Employment Site
2. This previous allocation for B1c, B2 and B8 development was removed from the 2014 draft due to all the objections made previously.
3. The word “minimum” is a change from the previous “maximum” in the 2016 plan and since that time there has been a decline in demand for industrial land. This change alone is unacceptable since even if there was a need to build 7,000 sq m at Burnt Common this development would only require 1.4 ha at a standard plot ratio density of 50% not 9.26 ha. There is no justification for zoning an additional 7.86 ha in the Green Belt.
4. There is in fact no justification for building any more industrial development in the borough particularly at Burnt Common. The current industrial pipeline of granted consents of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space is double the 19,000 sq m said to be needed by Aecom who justify the need for new space on top of the existing pipeline by a completely unsubstantiated suggestion that “there is the possibility that some pipeline developments may not come forward at all, or be developed in different quantities by use class than has been consented.”
5. There is no need to build industrial or warehouse development in the middle of the Green Belt when Slyfield and Guildford still have empty sites and industrial units.
6. The 2017 Employment Land Need Assessment shows a reduction in demand to 3.9 hectares for industrial land for the whole borough not a huge over allocation of 9.26 hectares at Send in the Green Belt.
7. The Employment Land Needs Assessment update 2017 (ELNA) states “that the pipeline for employment floorspace defined by planning permissions yet to be implemented and prior approvals suggests the potential for an additional 33,607sqm of B use class floorspace to come forward. This figure comprises a net loss of 4,750sqm of B1a use class floorspace and a net gain of 38,357sqm in B1c, B2 or B8 use class space.”
8. 38,357 sq m of B1c, B2 or B8 use class is quite sufficient supply for the plan period and is in fact more space than the 3.9 ha of industrial land that is said to be needed for the plan period by Aecom. Since if you were to develop 3.9 ha at a plot ratio of 50% it would provide new industrial development of 19,000 sq m approximately half of current planning permissions granted. This does not justify the need for new development of industrial space on the Green Belt in such areas as Burnt Common.
9. The reality of demand for industrial space is that it is both nationally and locally in decline and this is evidenced by old existing permissions that have not been taken up and developed. The ELNA alludes incorrectly to the poor quality of existing space being a “constraint” on supply and fails to acknowledge that this assertion cannot apply to potential newly developed space e.g. the undeveloped pipeline of 38,357sqm.
10. The impact on small surrounding roads will create traffic gridlock.
11. It will join up existing villages and defeat the purpose of the Green Belt.
12. The ongoing poor quality of the updated research undertaken by Aecom in the Employment Land Needs Assessment 2017 does not support industrial development on land in the Green Belt at Burnt Common.
13. The Aecom research is generally superficial and lacks sufficient detail and analysis between B1c, B2 and B8 use classes and no reliable individual analysis has been undertaken of the widely different supply and demand dynamics of light industrial, general industrial and warehousing and distribution floor space.
14. The potential inclusion of a waste management facility mentioned at paragraph 4.4.23a lacks enough detail for proper consultation and is completely inappropriate.

The Plan now states: “the presumption in favour of sustainable development will not automatically apply to policies relating to sites protected under the Birds and Habitats Directives and/or designated as Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSIs), land designated as Green Belt, Local Green Space, the Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, designated heritage assets and locations identified as at risk of flooding.”

Gosden Hill and Blackwell Farm (both currently in the green belt) are called “urban extensions” surely a euphemism for urban sprawl! Garlick’s Arch and Burnt Common developments take land from the green belt to extend Ripley/Send. One of the important specific purposes of the green belt is to prevent urban sprawl.

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

I object to the evidence - GBC have failed to provide sound evidence in terms of the Employment Land Needs Assessment 2015 (ELNA) which shows an 80% reduction in employment space from the previous ELNA carried out by GBC in 2013. This means that industrial space at Burnt Common is no longer needed. as numbers from the Strategic Housing Market Assessment 2015 (SHMA) are highly questionable. The number of foreign students has been wrongly used to inflate the need. The required number of 13,860 houses in the local plan is exaggerated. If the population is to grow by some 20,000 in the plan period, 8,000 new home homes are actually needed (based on 2.5 persons per home). The Green Belt does not need to be built over. 50% of the new homes could be built on brownfield sites. GBC's Transport Assessment was not even available to councillors for the vote taken on May 24th, havinf been published on 6th June. The overload to the infrastructure has been given scant consideration.

I object to the building of 45 houses at Clockbarn Nursery because of inadequate access and traffic volume. Tannery Lane is far too narrow and twisty to take any more traffic. The junction with Send Road is already very hazardous for vehicles trying to join the main road. Planning permission has previously been granted for 64 appartments at the Tannery and for building the Marina, both of which will generate additional heavy traffic. The lane simply cannot take any more. The junction is already too dangerous and will be made much worse.

I object to Policy A43 - 30ha land at Garlick's Arch, Burnt Common designated for 400 houses and 7,000m2 of industrial and warehousing. There is no need for any more houses on top of the 13,860 already proposed for the Borough. This site is new and was not included in the Regulation 18 draft and has not been consulted on previously. It is Green Belt permanently protected by the NPPF which prevents further merging of settlements. There are no exceptional circumstances. The site has a particular conservation sensitivity since it is covered with ancient woodland. Trees which existed in the 16th Century would be gravely endangered. The proposed industrial development of 7,000m2 is simply not required since the last ELNA in 2015 shows a reduction of 80% in required employment floor space from the previous draft plan. If there is a need for 7,000m2 of industrial space it should be at Slyfield. A new four-way interchange onto the A3 at Burnt Common would be disastrous for Send. The traffic in Send Road (A247) would be gridlocked all day. Send would become the through route to Woking for traffic leaving the M25 and A3, the proposed 2,000 houses at Wisley and the 2,000 houses at Burpham. The village of Send simply could not take this.

I object to Policy A44 - 1.9ha land west of Winds Ridge and Send Hill designated for 40 homes and 2 Travellers pitches. This site is new and was not included in the regulation 18 draft and has not been consulted on previously. Development for housing is inappropriate due to its permanent Green Belt status and high quality Green Belt amenity within an area of beautiful countryside which would be spoilt by any development. The subsoil of the existing site contains documented unsafe landfill waste which is currently vented. The proposal to include 2 Travellers pitches is inappropriate due to the narrow width single track country road providing insufficient access to the site.

I object to Policy P2 - Send should not be removed from the Green Belt. Send provides a buffer between Woking and Guildford. The particularly vulnerable areas of land being taken out of the Green Belt include (i) the land behind the school, including playing fields and woodland; (ii) the land to the right of Cartbridge by the Wey Navigation up to the new boundary fence with Vision Engineering; (iii) land to the left of Cartbridge going up to the old depot on the Wey navigation.

I object to Guildford Borough Council having not followed the correct process. Since 2014 GBC has changed every major site in Send proposed for development, and have now added a massive major new road junction. The 2014 proposal for 430 houses went down in April 2016 to 185, and has now gone up again to 485. These significant changes require another full consultation under regulation 18, not the short cut of regulation 19 which GBC are trying to get away with. This invalidates the whole process.

Object to Send Village being removed from the Green Belt. The green belt was always intended to be forever as required by the National planning Policy Framework, and there are no special circumstances to justify the green belt being lost in part. The green belt in Send creates a divide between Woking and Guildford and should this be built on this divide will be lost forever. The protection of the green belt was promised by both local councillors and central government and development and development of Clockbarn Nursery, Garlicks Arch, Send Hill, A3 Burnt Common interchange would breach this promise.

I object to the construction of 45 new houses of Clockbarn Nursery because of very poor access and the increased traffic volume. Tannery Lane is not fit for purpose to take additional traffic, especially with previous planning being given for 64 apartments and the Marina at the Tannery. The lane will not be able to take any more than this plus the junction onto Send Road is already hazardous and extra traffic on this junction will make matters much worse.

I object to the building of 400 houses and 7000sq metres of industrial spaces at Garlicks Arch, opposite to Send Marsh Road. The site is liable to flooding and is covered in ancient woodland. The industrial space is not required in Send, any further industrial space should be sited at Slyfield in Guildford. Proper use of brownfield sites would eliminate the need to develop on Green belt sites.

I object to development of 40 houses and 2 travelers pitches at Send Hill. The single access narrow country road in not appropriate for access. The subsoil at the proposed site contains unsafe landfill waste which has been registered at GBC. Any development would spoil the beautiful countryside at this site.

I object to a new interchange with the A3 at Burnt common because Send would have to take traffic from the proposed 2000 new homes at Wisley Airfield and 2000 homes at Gosden Hill in Burpham and 1850 at Blackwell Farm. The increased traffic would cause the already strained Send Road to become gridlocked and noise and pollution levels would become intolerable. This can not happen.

Please accept this as an OBJECTION to policies A43 and A43a of the Proposed Submission Guildford Local Plan. I will elaborate on the detail of the objections below, but I wish to state that I was extremely disappointed by the sudden and inexplicable removal of the Burnt Common Nursery site to the southeast of the Garlick’s Arch site; especially since this site had been included in previous drafts of the Local Plan and I understand that Guildford Borough Council had also highlighted it as key to meeting the industrial needs of the Borough:

1. Burnt Common Nurseries has previously been developed and as such constitutes ‘brown field’ development with no loss of valuable agricultural land.
2. The site is effectively screened from the A3, the B2215 (London Road) and from the A247 (Clandon Road). These three roads also form definitive boundaries to the site to prevent further ‘development creep’.
3. The site already includes c.50,000 ft² of industrial units. The landowner/potential developer has produced a scheme to bring further employment to the area through a sympathetic, landscaped industrial development. This is readily deliverable.

4. The same landowner has proposed a scheme of c.100 houses adjacent to the village but screened from existing properties. The access is good, the scheme is readily deliverable, the scale of the development is sustainable for the local village and, to the best of my knowledge, the local population are broadly supportive of this proposal.

Instead of including this readily deliverable mixed employment/residential scheme, Policy A43 is proposed instead:

1. With no apparent consultation, the village of Send Marsh is now confronted by a scheme to add c.400 houses and 75,000 ft² of industrial space on green belt land with no overriding justification.

2. The 30 ha site is not screened in any way from the A3 (which would cause significant traffic noise and disruption to future inhabitants), the B2215 Portsmouth Road or from the houses in Burnt Common Lane.

3. The site currently constitutes agricultural land (and not a paddock as suggested), plus woodland which is believed to date to the C.16th. No justification has been provided for the development of this area or for the loss of important habitats and mature trees; but these significant issues do call into question the overall deliverability of the scheme.

4. The site is in Flood Zone 3. No detail has been provided as to how this is to be addressed in order to permit development; but this, again, suggests that the site is not readily deliverable.

5. Regarding residential development and the risk of electro-magnetic radiation, the site is traversed by high voltage power lines and pylons forming part of the National Grid.

6. 400 houses are likely to add over 1,000 people to the local community. There is no mention of how this many families will be accommodated by the existing schools, shops, doctors, dentists and other infrastructure. Furthermore, public transport is limited, so it can safely be assumed that the majority of these houses will have one or two cars each with associated parking and congestion issues; especially at peak times.

7. It is not clear how 400 houses can be situated on this site, plus the development of some 75,000 ft² industrial space; how the two can be separated and how safe access for both users can be provided.

8. There is no mention within the Draft Local Plan that Policies A43 and A43a are apparently connected due to the owners of Garlick’s Arch gifting the land for the slip roads on condition of receiving planning permission for housing. This, in itself, calls into question the motivation for inexplicably dropping the Burnt Common Nursery site and including a significantly less deliverable and sustainable alternative.

9. Due to the costs of the construction for the on/off slip roads detailed in Policy A43a, it is questionable whether they will ever be constructed. In the event of the Borough Council/Highways Agency having both the funds and the motivation to build the slip roads in the future, the land could be acquired at that time by commercial agreement or CPO as required. There is no need for the Borough Council to involve itself in a dubious linked-transaction that could give rise to questions about collusion.

To conclude, a mixed use redevelopment at the site of the former Burnt Common Nurseries is supported.

Policy A43 and its conjoined policy A43a is opposed.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I have been a resident of Send for 20 years. I am incensed at these plans. You have no idea, or do not care about the impact on the villages that these plans will have. Ill-conceived plans - you are destroying peoples way of life and reducing the buffer zone between Woking and Guildford. I am outraged by this. It is irreversible what you are planning on doing, do you not understand what you are doing? Do not hide behind the ‘we need extra housing’ excuse to cover up on your failure to fulfil the Green Belt promise. This is about money and contracts! Last year we had the destruction of woodland off Send Road to build a factory and now this.

1. I object to Send being removed from the Green Belt. The Green Belt was established as a permanent feature required by the National Planning Policy Framework and not something that can be taken away under pressure from property developers, unjustified government targets or a Borough Council who prefers to develop in the areas that they believe will give them the least resistance.

There are no special circumstances to justify Send losing its Green Belt status and as a buffer to separate Guildford from Woking it is essential that its Green Belt status be retained.

Local councillors and central government gave a clear election promise to protect the Green Belt. The current proposals renege on those promises.

1. I object to building 45 houses at Clockbarn Nursery. This is a ridiculous idea. Tannery lane is a narrow and bendy road joining Send Road at a very difficult and potentially dangerous junction. The traffic in Send is already heavily congested and further traffic emerging from Tannery Lane will only make this worse. Traffic improvements at the junction will not help, as the congestion is the result of bottlenecks at both the Burnt Common and Old Woking roundabouts. The future traffic has already been exacerbated by planning permission for 64 apartments and a marina further down Tannery Lane.

1. I object to building 400 houses and 7000m² of industrial space at Garlick’s Arch. Ancient woodland! Subject to flooding! Plenty of brownfield sites already available in the borough! Slyfield is already the industrial centre of Guildford Borough so why create another one especially as there is an over supply of industrial space in the area at the moment and for the foreseeable future. In addition, Guildford’s housing plan requirements have been shown to be grossly exaggerated and when challenged, the council refuses to release their calculations.

1. I object to the development of 40 houses and 2 travellers’ pitches at Send Hill. Another ridiculous idea. As with the Clockbarn proposal, the affect of the additional traffic on the already congested Send Road will be significant and unacceptable. Send Hill is also a narrow residential lane and will be badly affected by the additional traffic.

1. I object to a new interchange with the A3 at Burnt Common. I have already described how Send Road is heavily congested especially at peak times. By creating a new interchange at Burnt Common this will choke Send Road and the Village with additional traffic to and from Woking. Not only will this become the new rat run into Woking from the A3 and the M25 but will also have to contend with additional traffic from the proposed 2000 houses at Wisley, 2000 houses at Gosden Hill and 1850 houses at Blackwell farm. This on a road that is already heavily congested.

I urge you to reconsider before inflicting irreversible damage to our communities - because that is exactly what you will be doing.

I write as required ahead of 18 July 2016 to object to the Draft Local Plan currently available for comment.

I have lived most of my life in Send Marsh. I visit regularly from my principal London working week residence.

Please confirm receipt of this letter and take regard of my submissions as follows:

- I object to removal of Send Village from the Green Belt
- I object to removal of Ripley and Send Marsh from the Green Belt

---

473 of 2988
I object to removal of Ripley from the Green Belt

The previous draft local plan was withdrawn after generating widespread local opposition. Mole Valley MP Sir Paul Beresford observed:

“This catalogue of errors and omissions has led to a situation in which the Local Plan as presented has no detectable support from Guildford residents and has managed only to anger and worry so many of those who stand to lose the unique and valuable rural village lifestyle they currently enjoy in the Mole Valley Wards of Guildford Borough”.

Sir Paul’s commentary applies to the revised plan.

I object to this new or second Draft Local Plan (as Sir Paul anticipated it) because Guildford Borough Council still has not recognised local feeling and opinion in formulating it. I object to the failure to consult in any responsible way and to the approach taken for all of the reasons recited by Sir Paul which seem to have been ignored in compiling the new or second Draft Local Plan.

Infrastructure in Send, Ripley and Send Marsh and Clandon being already overloaded such that the smallest disruptions cause gridlock over much of our essentially rural roads network please also note that:

I object to an expanded A3 interchange at Burnt Common,

I object to housing and business development proposed for land described as Garlick’s Arch,

I object to housing development at Clockbarn Nursery,

I object to housing development at Send Hill, all of these sites being unsuitable and in the Green Belt.

The rural character of these villages will be destroyed if these plans proceed as proposed.

I look forward to hearing from you.

I am objecting most forcefully to destroying the Green Belt as outlined in the Guildford Local Plan (June 2016). This contravenes the whole purpose of it and makes no sense at all.

The removal from the Green Belt of parts of Ripley, Send, Clandon and Garlic Arch would be detrimental to the health and welfare of the residents.
With the development of Wisley Airfield the impact on the local road system would overload the capacity and cause gridlock.

Has the impact of these developments considered the need of schools, hospitals and other amenities.

Once the Green Belt has been concreted over it will never be replaced.

I can not agree with any of the proposed developments

I am emailing to object to the GBC plan as it is currently framed because I do not believe the strategy and sites as a whole to be sound. As a local resident, I am particularly concerned about the plan to build 2,000 houses on the Gosden Hill Farm site. This development impacts on all policies (except for numbers 5, 9 and 11) detailed in the Evidence Base. Although Guildford needs more schools and housing, it first urgently needs an effective approach to traffic management through the town and the A3. The Plan fails in its Duty to provide a sound solution to the traffic problems that will follow from another 2,000 houses and associated cars in the Clandon/Burpham area.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Attached documents:

According to the most recent ONS Neighbourhood Statistics, Burpham contains 2,425 dwellings. The proposed development on Gosden Hill represents an enormous increase of 82.5% in the number of dwellings which will inevitably have an impact on a wide environment. It is the duty of GBC to manage that impact effectively and appropriately. Quite apart from the destruction of green-belt land and village character of the neighbourhood, and, notwithstanding the massively increased pressure on provision of adequate water, sewage and power services, the impact on road transport will be unbearable.

I OBJECT to the proposed boundary change to move the settlement boundary westwards from the houses on the west side of Kingston Avenue to the tree line running along the parish boundary on the west edge of Kingston Meadows which would result in taking all of Kingston Meadows out of the green belt.

I have lived in Old Rectory Lane East Horsley for nearly 38 years, my property edges onto the Kingston Meadows we have the right to a gate opening (and pay annually for this) onto this wonderful open community space which is so well loved and used by Horsley residents and friends.

The circle of trees that was planted by the council when the decision was made to keep this land as open space, still shows the intention for this use.

the playground, exercise equipment, tennis courts, BMX track, all contribute to that feel.

Dog walkers and local exercise classes all make good use of this space.

In the spring the meadows are full of wildflowers, the occasional deer and no doubt, plenty of wildlife "out of hours" our children used to run free, and now the next generation comes to visit, open the gate to run off with a football.

The meadows also get extremely wet, almost flooded, I would worry what would happen to my property if there was any change to the existing use.

even with a small ditch outside our garden, we still get water standing within our property.

No sound reasons have been given for the proposed extension of the boundary, which seems to be aimed solely at increasing the land available within the settlements for future additional development. Moving the green belt boundary westwards does not constitute an 'exceptional circumstance' under the NPPF rules and as such I believe this to be an invalid proposal.

Therefore I OBJECT TO THIS PROPOSED BOUNDARY CHANGE facilities.

? The local primary school (The Raleigh) is oversubscribed - even children living in the Horsleys cannot all obtain a place. This school and the two independent schools create high volumes of traffic approaching and through the village. The Howard of Effingham School secondary school is also oversubscribed. The proposed development of over 500 additional homes in East and West Horsley will result in hundreds of additional school-aged children in need of a school place. This is unachievable.

? There are only two roads through the Horsleys, they are both narrow and unlit and both are crossed by low narrow railway bridges. Most residents would have to commute to work via A3 or A246 or drive through East and/or West Horsley to get to the station or school. An increase in population will cause serious transport problems which would be challenging to overcome given the limited routes through the villages and their narrow width.

? The proposed development is disproportionate increasing the village by some 35% and by building at a higher density that is characteristic of the village. Development of the proposed sites is unnecessary and illogical.

? Fields and gardens alongside Ockham Road North flood regularly and the water table is high for the majority of the year. If site A40 is developed this will exacerbate the impact on neighbouring areas. Flood mapping in the consultation document recognizes this problem but the site remains as one for potential development. I am puzzled how houses can be sold in good faith with this risk.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

The consultation does not deal adequately with infrastructure demands. Roads (especially the A3) in and around Guildford are increasingly congested as are commuter trains. Parking in Guildford and at stations is increasingly difficult and expensive. Parking at The Royal Surrey Hospital is now at the stage where outpatients need to allow 20 minutes just to find a space. This reflects the excellence of the services the hospital provides and it will need to be extended to serve the residents of 14,000 new homes.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
In the plan 65% of the new houses proposed are to be built on Green Belt in some locations, the proportion is much higher. This cannot be allowed to happen.

The purpose of the Green Belt is to confine development to designated areas and to specifically protect other areas. Government policy is to preserve and protect the Green Belt and the London Mayor very recently reinforced that planning policy must respect the Green Belt which has five purposes:

• to check the unrestricted sprawl of large built-up areas;
• to prevent neighbouring towns merging into one another;
• to preserve the setting and special character of historic towns; and
• to assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment;

Government has stated that the construction of new buildings should be regarded as inappropriate for the green belt because one of the characteristics of the green belt is its permanence. The effect of building on this land, especially at a high density, cannot be reversed - trees, plants and animal habitats are lost and the character of the locality is irreversibly damaged.

It is essential that the assumptions underlying the stated need for nearly 14,000 additional homes are transparent and open to scrutiny. These assumptions should now be reviewed in the light of the outcome of the Referendum on leaving the EU as this could well reduce the demand for homes in commuter towns. The document emphasises the need for homes for all and to have homes that are flexible to meet changing needs but how this will be achieved is not explained.

1. I object to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

I object to removing Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, together with sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and the resulting urban sprawl. There are no exceptional circumstances for these villages and sites being removed, as required by the National Planning Policy.

The Plan should develop the existing brownfield site at Burnt Common rather than developing Garlick’s Arch (A43).

1. I object to the Local Plan as the development proposed is not sustainable (Policy S1)

13,860 new houses proposed is not sustainable – it will damage local communities by over development, especially Ripley, Send and Clandon. The local communities don’t need these houses. Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) have no railway stations and inadequate bus services, so almost every adult will have to have a car. The Plan has nothing to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch.

The development should be in urban areas where there is sustainable transport. Traffic congestion, air quality is already a problem, and a loss of habit is seriously worrying.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

- I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.

- I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.

- I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans.

- I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).

- I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

- I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:
  1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars
  2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads
  3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements
  4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them)
  5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest
  6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity

- I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).

- I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

- I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

- I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, - now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.
Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I would like to object very strongly to the latest draft of the GBC local plan.

This still proposes to inset East Horsley from the Greenbelt. The development of 100 homes is proposed near Horsley station and over 2000 on the Wisley Airfield. The village of East Horsley (and surrounding villages such as West Horsley, Effingham and Ripley) do not have the infrastructure in terms of transport (roads, parking or rail), schools or medical facilities to adequately meet this increased demand.

57% of new housing proposed is on land that is currently categorised as Greenbelt and this is, quite frankly, shameful as this land is land that was supposed to be protected for future generations.

Since Brexit, forecasts of increasing population numbers have been significantly reduced. The ONS forecast is now only forecasting 10.4% for Guildford, which still intends to increase its housing stock by 22%. This doesn't seem to make sense?

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
The land on the slopes of Stag Hill was designated Protected Open Space in 2003. There is no good reason to change this now. Guildford town centre needs its green spaces protecting, not eroding, especially in light of the vast tracks of housing development along the river / railway.

In addition the change of status would impact on the local community and the very unique nature of the Ridgemount / Arlesford environ, where an almost country side feel has been established in the heart of Guildford. The hedgerows backing onto the Cathedral fields are very much part of this, as is the housing only on one side of the road. Plus the views of the Cathedral from the opposite slopes of the Downs are magnificent and need protecting from urban sprawl.

I would significantly question the rationale for this change which seems to be purely based on the Cathedral's planning application to develop the site. It seem to be an example of cronyism.

It is very evident that this site is not appropriate for building due to (i) its history of problems relating to subsidence and drainage, (ii) extensive piling would be required to develop with consequent repercussions on neighbouring houses in Ridgemount, Arlesford Road, Benbrick Road, Stag Hill, and Scholars Walk, (iii) the rainwater run-off from the site has caused drainage and minor flooding issues, particularly affecting Ridgemount, which would be exacerbated by further development, (iv) there is a well-documented traffic problem in this area which is only going to be made worse by the proposals for development of Guildford Park Car Park and Guildford Station. The addition of 100 houses on the Cathedral hill site will add in excess of 150 vehicles to this already problematic scenario, and (v) the reason for change of status is political rather than the suitability of the site for housing.

I therefore object to the change in status of this site to C3 housing on the grounds that it is inappropriate for development due its location, and any development would have a negative impact on the surrounding community.

I am very disturbed and perturbed by the Guildford Borough Council plan.

I have resided in Ripley over the past nine years with my family.

The idea of all erosion of the Green Belt is shocking.

I object to any removal of any villages from the Green Belt. Once the Green Belt is lost we could never get it back. This cannot be.

The idea of the volume of houses proposed in the plan is outrageous. The area is totally unsuitable for the volume of people and traffic that your plan has proposed. Chaos for our local road network would be inevitable.

The lanes and country roads are not suitable for the volume of people and cars that you are planning to bring into the area and surroundings.
I am also very concerned and object to the last minute inclusion of new sites included in the plan with less than two weeks notice. Why and how did this happen?

Has there been any thought that new schools and Doctors Surgeries would be need to be provided for the vast volume of people that would be in the area?

As you can see by my points of view to the Guildford Borough Council plan, I have many heartfelt objections.

SAVE THE GREENBELT!

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

The housing numbers proposed are for nearly 14,000 homes over 15 years from 2016 to 2031. This number is too high. The model used to calculate the number has not been seen or the assumptions tested by the council or any of its officers. It has been, on numerous occasions shown to be flawed by various 3rd parties. This housing target will result in the borough’s permanent resident population increasing at 4.5 times the rate of population increase during the period 2001 to 2011. This population growth, by definition, is excessive and unsustainable for a gap town with many environmental, physical and infrastructure constraints.

Over 70% of the proposed housing is planned for land currently in the Green Belt. Housing need is not a reason in law for protected green belt land being used. It is perverse for so much housing to be planned for the green belt. Clearly, the green belt has not been used as a constraint as clearly set out in Government advice, planning policy guidance, the NPPF, case law, election manifestos and Ministerial letters to MPs.

For West Horsley this is reflected in a 35% increase in the number of houses within 3-5 years of a plan being adopted.

1. NO EXCEPTIONAL CIRCUMSTANCES

The local plan proposes nearly 9000 new homes to be built on Green Belt land (compared with ~ 50 000 current homes in Guildford, so approx. equal to 18% of the existing homes in the borough) – a huge proportion. The National Planning Policy Framework (NPPF) requires any change of Green Belt boundaries to demonstrate exceptional circumstances. Unmet housing need is NOT an exceptional circumstance in law. No exceptional circumstances have been disclosed. So the Green Belt boundaries should NOT be changed through the plan making process.

1. BROWNFIELD AVAILABLE

There is brownfield land available in the town centre which is being earmarked for commercial development rather than for housing. This is enough to meet our real needs for affordable local homes. There are enough vacant commercial sites to cope with genuine business need, and we have enough retail capacity already, so urban brownfield/derelict land should be used for housing.

1. DRAINS, WATER SUPPLY, FLOOD RISK, CONGESTION

Our drains, our water supply, our medical facilities and our roads cannot cope with the proposed number of new homes. Building this number of homes will lead to flood risk here and downstream (along the Wey and Thames). The planned development on Green Belt is therefore unsustainable.

In conclusion, I must ask you to revise the housing number, and to amend the Local Plan to utilise brownfield land rather than green field sites.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the expansion of commercial land in the urban area losing the potential for further housing. Policy E7: Guildford Town Centre

There is no reliable evidence provided that the retail core of the Town Centre can support expansion of 45,000 sq m of additional retail space at North Street.

Online retail is set to account for 21.5% of total retail sales by 2018 from 12.7% in 2013, the highest online retail share in the world according to the Centre for Retail Research. March 2016, online sales rose 12.3%, and it was the third consecutive month in which more than 20% of all non-food shopping took place online, (British Retail Consortium and accounting firm KPMG) With such a high retailers will need just 70 high street stores to create a national presence compared to 250 in the mid 2000’s. An expansion on such a scale is negligent when the Council claims to be in such desperate need for housing.

Retail is a declining industry and should not be invested in by the Borough at the expense of housing in the most sustainable urban location, near employment and transport hubs.

I object to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

The huge developments being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion and to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health. It has been shown that Wisley already has NOX levels above the EU legal limits and by law a school cannot be located in this area as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

Our Green Belt is precious. It is what protects London from urban sprawl; it preserves air quality; it prevents flooding; it is the city’s playground. It is for us to conserve and protect it. There are 5 legal purposes for Green Belt, and it meets them all:

- To check the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas
- To prevent neighbouring towns merging into one another
- To assist in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment
- To preserve the setting and special character of historic towns
- To assist in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land.

This policy is flawed and should have been amended. In the last consultation just six individuals, out of the c.7,000 of those who took part in the consultation, supported the policy. Another 20 comments of support were from organisations such as: the University of Surrey, local councils (including Guildford), consultants (e.g. Savills) or landowners. But of the 1,371 who commented on the green belt policy 1,332 (97%) were against.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I object to the Local Plan as the development proposed is not sustainable (Policy S1).

13,860 new houses proposed is not sustainable – it will damage local communities by over development, especially West Horsley, East Horsley, Normandy, Ockham, Ripley, Send and Clandon. The local communities don’t need these houses. Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) have no railway stations and inadequate bus services, so almost every adult will require a car.

The development should be in urban areas where there is sustainable transport. West Horsley for example will see the number of housing increased by 35% within 3-5 years of the plan being adopted. The number and density of housing is not in keeping with the local area and is therefore against policies within the NPPF.

The Plan includes some targets for housing need, which are exaggerated because of some flawed assumptions - as demonstrated by other experts (GRA Report). Also Guildford is not choosing to constrain its overall growth as other places in Surrey are doing legitimately and thereby coming out with lower needs. I would urge Guildford to adopt the practice of other boroughs in the county, particularly given the constrained geography of Guildford as a gap town.

It seems to me that Guildford is using this plan to identify all potential greenfield sights in this plan and leaving nothing to future generations- a flawed policy. We should be exploring the use of brownfield site and looking at the housing stock that is actually needed. The entire student population can and should be accommodated on the Campus site leaving large amounts of housing available for rental in the town. Allowing homes for the elderly will potentially free up family houses and at the same time address the growing problems of isolation in old age in Guildford and surrounding areas.

I am writing to object to the proposed development in Normandy and Flexford which will mean the complete destruction of its rural environment. I appreciate that more housing is required but the scale of this proposal can only result in a chaotic situation for Normandy.

The traffic situation is already getting out of hand - with queues often forming to get on to the Aldershot Road.

Has consideration been given to the excessive noise and pollution which will undoubtedly result from a development of this size?.

Will the Normandy Surgery be able to cope with the vast increase in numbers?

I worry also about the destruction to wildlife in the area.
My home has been subject to a bit of flooding during the past 5 years. I have now put in place gulleys etc. to try to prevent this happening again. Am I now to be concerned about what might happen if this development goes ahead. Drainage problem??

I understand that there are schools in the area around this Parish which are undersubscribed, so do we need another school?

Our precious countryside needs protection.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

• disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
• directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
• ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
• adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )
I understand that Guildford are trying to provide more homes for younger people in the area and whilst this is a good and needed plan, I have to object due to the fact that NO account has been made for the road infrastructure around Guildford and particularly my village of Compton, where I live on the main street through Compton. Our village life has been ruined due to the heavy traffic on this B Road! More houses will exacerbate this problem as rarely do drivers do even the 30 Mph, asked for.

The council have consistently ignored our requests about this and I have to object to the development which seems to exceed the number of houses that I feel that field could accommodate comfortably and for quality of life. I believe 1,800 are planned with an 'industrial park' added to it? Down Lane, running on one side of the field is already a small road as you know and can't handle the numbers you seem to expect as this road will be used.

For our problem in Compton, please immediately place a 25mph zone from Cyprus Farm to just beyond St Nicholas Church or even Lemon Tree Restaurant. Which is to be enforced by a camera at all times. We need an electronic board at either end permanently showing 25 mph. We also need a pedestrian crossing immediately outside Mission Cottage gate to go over to the right hand side of Eastbury lane, presently has no pavement area and this can be built on this corner (I could show you) there is nothing there except an impromptu flower bed, this crossing must have a traffic light. More and more of us, who have no driveways are forced to park our cars in Eastbury Lane and it is DANGEROUS! to cross this road as the traffic does not slow down. I have elderly relatives and a newborn grandson. I don't allow my family to cross this road, we have to use the layby outside my neighbours house - 'the old post office', I have to drop them off, as well as heavy shopping and then park my car in Eastbury Lane. A walk into my village is fraught with worry as large lorries Sainsburys and Waitrose vans etc., drive very close to us on the pavement, they need to slow down.

It is very very obvious that if Guildford County Council want to provide more homes, then massive investment needs to be given for a series of tunnels under the south and east of Guildford linking up the A3 with Godalming and the Shalford, Cranleigh and Dorking areas. We are in a conservation area but this is completely wrecked by the traffic. You can't have it both ways. Show me the investment and plans for the traffic, then I will show you support for what you are trying to do if the numbers and plans make sense. We are not unreasonable but the council is ignoring us and you are ruining the quality of our lives, putting our lives in danger and affecting our house prices by the heavy traffic involved. I cannot support this at the present time and I OBJECT.

I write to support the need to preserve all the allotments that we have in Guildford. Allotments give people the opportunity to have recreational benefits without costing them a great deal. They are areas of peace and tranquility which allow people to relax and unwind after busy work days. My husband has had an allotment for just one year, but has seen already the benefit in helping him relax and be less stressed.

It is not only people who benefit by the existence of allotments, they are a haven to wildlife and oasis of green in the ever-increasing proliferation of housing needs.
I would urge you to resist the temptation to build on allotment land for new housing however attractive that might be from a commercial point of view.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the scale of the proposed building expansion on green belt land in Normandy, labelled A46/A47 on the strategic plan for the reasons listed below.

As a resident of Normandy for more than 40 years I treasure the rural aspect that harbours ancient woodlands, protected species, charitable enterprises and provides an oasis of calm traditional countryside that serves the 3 sizeable towns that surround it—Guildford, Farnham and Aldershot. The footpaths and woods are well used by walkers who use the short train journey from the above towns to reach and enjoy open countryside.

I do recognise the need for the provision of more varied housing, not only to fulfil the needs of the strategic plan but also to keep the village vitalised, but this should not be at the expense of the preservation of our green belt and the swamping of the existing village and residents. We do not need an extensive retail space as there are several in the area plus small supermarkets. We already provide space for fairground storage and travellers’ accommodation, more of which are included in the plan which seems excessive.

The proposed development would more than double the housing stock in the village. Once this land is built on it will forever change the environment and character of the area and we will be left with one big urban sprawl. We should protect the spaces we have and look to infill in already developed areas or build small contained developments that will enhance the environment instead of destroying it.

• The infrastructure cannot support this plan in any way. The village is sandwiched between the A31 and A323, two small country lanes, Wanborough Hill and Glaziers Lane connect these 2 roads. They also also serve the A3 and provide an access route to the M25, Blackwater Valley Route and M3. If anything unusual happens on these roads, such as road works, accidents, floods, the whole village becomes gridlocked as traffic attempts to find alternative routes. So a large part of my objection is based on the fact that our roads could not support the traffic from another 1000+ houses, and there seems little scope for altering these in any significant way.

• The proposed land for the development is green belt land. It is proposed that by building a secondary school this would override the protection that this status offers it. There is no proof that a school is needed in this area as the local schools are NOT fully subscribed. Incoming students from outside the area would create more traffic on already overcrowded roads. There is an argument that the train station would provide a good transport link for both commuters and students but the cost of train tickets, especially for a family with more that 1 child, are prohibitive.
I have no technical knowledge but from walking the footpaths, woods and fields for the last 40 years I know how soggy and wet the ground all around is, even in the summer time. This does not bode well for the developments. How will the ground water round the buildings be dispersed and how will the environment be affected by the extra ground works that will be needed to service the needs of the housing. Will you be building houses that in the future will be white elephants as they could be uninsurable or unsustainable due to flood/water threat.

A final point is the disruption that such sustained building would make on the area for several years, with heavy works vehicles that would put additional strain on small country lanes and overcrowded local roads and cause distress and inconvenience to the local community should the development as proposed go ahead.

To sum up I believe that this development as proposed is led not by the need of the community, either local or wider, but by greed of a few developers.

The council should try a more imaginative and sustainable plan and I object to the plan as proposed.

 I object to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

This is disastrous as the increased volume of traffic would impact the local communities. The increased traffic from London (M25) to Woking would go through Burnt Common, Send and Old Woking, which currently cannot cope with the existing traffic. This is unsustainable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report, which says that 693 homes a year are required by the borough. This is more than double the figure of 322 used in previous plans.

Garlick’s Arch is protected from development as Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for it’s removal from the Green Belt (Policy P2). Central Government state clearly that housing need is not an exceptional circumstance.

The Plan states the preference is to use of previously developed land, but Guildford Borough Council have removed a brownfield site at Burnt Common replaced it with Garlick’s Arch.

The site is not appropriate because:

- The site is liable to frequent flooding
- There are no plans to improve local schools, medical facilities or other utilities to cope with the development.
- There is no sustainable transport infrastructure.
- The site has Ancient woodland and is a wildlife habitat, but no wildlife report for the site is in the Plan.

North facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would have a disastrous impact on local communities. Without additional measures to improve traffic flow around the Burnt Common round-about the addition of the slip roads will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic that will turn an already busy round-about into traffic jam hot spot.

This is not sustainable as this cannot be improved due to housing developments around the round-about.

There is no need for new industrial sites at Garlick’s Arch (A43). There is an existing brownfield industrial site at Burnt Common that could easily accommodate the 7,000 sq m proposed. That site was removed from the Plan without any reasoning.

Furthermore the development at Garlick’s Arch would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been for there decades employing local people and are therefore clearly sustainable.

The Plan does not identify adequate infrastructure improvements to support the huge scale of development, especially at Garlick’s Arch (A43) which has no infrastructure projects in the Infrastructure Schedule to support it. There are no plans to improve the capability of the medical and police/emergency services to cover the 5000+ houses in the north east of the borough.

I object to the removal of Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, together with sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and the result will be an urban sprawl. Like many other residents I chose to move to Ripley because it was in the Green Belt.

Section 4.3.12 quotes “only those villages whose open character makes an important contribution to the openness of the Green Belt should be included in the Green Belt”.
Ripley, Send and Clandon all meet this criterion. If this was not so, why were these villages part of the Green Belt in the first place? To suggest otherwise is just a matter of opinion and not a statement of fact. There are no exceptional circumstances for these villages and sites being removed, as required by the National Planning Policy.

Building 13,860 new houses in such a small area is clearly not sustainable. The over development of Ripley, Send and Clandon will effectively turn them into one conurbation. The local communities don’t need these houses. Where is the transport infrastructure for the Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) developments? They have no railway stations and inadequate bus services, so almost every adult will have to have a car. The Plan has nothing to improve the infrastructure for Garlick's Arch.

The development needs to be relocated to urban areas where there is sustainable transport.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
GBC’s proposal for 13,860 new houses without any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The Plan is unbalanced across the borough. There is far too much development in the north east of the borough (Wisley [A35], Ripley/Send [A43] and Clandon [A25]). 36% of all the Plan’s new housing is proposed in this area, which has only 11% of the existing housing.

5,036 houses are proposed between the M25 and Burpham (about 5 miles) which will obviously lead to a merging urbanisation of identities the villages.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

The Raleigh School in Horsley is full every year and secondary school places are limited at the Howard of Effingham. Further development in surrounding area would result in families who have lived in the village for a number of years not being able to send their children to the local school which is totally against the ethos of a village community.

The villages of Horsley offer a small Post office and library to the local residents. Any significant increase in the local population would put extensive pressure on these facilities. Parking is also very difficult at all times of the day in and around the villages. Again, an increase in people wanting to use the village presents parking challenges as there is no obvious area of where extensions can take place and will also increase congestion. There are a lot of elderly people and children who visit both of the East Horsley village parades and an increase in traffic poses significant safety risks.
The Horsley medical centre in Kingston Avenue already services a large number of patients but it is extremely busy and it is often difficult to get appointments. An increase in the local population would further exacerbate this issue and also put additional pressure on the wider health service and the Royal Surrey County Hospital.

In conclusion, although I appreciate a need for housing within Surrey, the quota that has been identified for the Horsleys, Ockham and surrounding areas is a significantly unfair proportion. As I have mentioned in my correspondence, the proposals will have a significant degrading to the well being of the residents of the area and destroy the habitat, charm and character of the villages.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

The area is not designed to take a huge influx of residents or vehicles. There is often flooding in the area, draining is insufficient and the infrastructure and road network is barely able to cope as it is.

Flooding of Ockham Road, the roundabout at Ockham Park (at the site of the Wisley proposal), Plough lane, Old Lane, Lower Road in Effingham are specific examples where there was significant flooding in the last two years which has caused damage to property, vehicles, roads not to mention the additional congestion this caused. The proposals that are suggested in the latest application do not go far enough to resolve any of these issues.

The roads in the area are not suitable for the additional volume of traffic and I would classify a number of them as country lanes. There are real examples of where roads are breaking up, repeated potholes, drains sinking as well as being dug up for utilities repairs and hence can barely cope with the current situation. Examples are Ockham Road (both North and South), Forest Road and the Drift.

As a keen cyclist, these poor road conditions make it challenging enough to ride on and I have significant concern on my safety should there be additional traffic on the roads, particularly as I have mentioned above that they are winding country lanes.

The proposal of the additional housing plus support and delivery vehicles would create a significant increase in traffic volume. The 2011 census indicated an average car ownership of 1.51 per household and no doubt that figure has risen since thus causing a significant increase in road users which the local infrastructure cannot support. As a daily user of the A3 and M25, the congestion is already extreme. During the week, traffic is already queuing for the M25 by 6.45am and this is likely to get worse should these proposals go ahead.

I believe the proposal to put these additional houses on the edge of the A3 / M25 will have severe impact on this already stressed journey and there are no proper proposals put forward to help justify or accommodate.

The rail network does not fair much better with trains to London already at capacity. During the week, the car park at both Horsley and Effingham Junction are busy to full. No doubt residents of the proposed developments would wish to use these stations and so would result in insufficient parking / cycle park facilities. Again, the proposal does not offer any suitable sustainable alternatives which would be acceptable from an environmental perspective or to the local residents and infrastructure.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Protection of the Greenbelt

This proposal is a massive encroachment of the Metropolitan Green belt and the size of the development is totally inappropriate. The development will fundamentally change the character of the surrounding villages and will result in over development of an area which can be classified as an area of natural beauty.

The villages are set in a parish of well established, well spaced out, low rise housing with a considerable number of historic buildings. The developments as proposed would destroy the character and charm of the area that the residents of Horsley and surrounding areas have respected, protected and loved for decades.

I have previously commented and objected to recent planning proposals of this scale. The creation of a ‘town’ on the Wisley airfield will destroy a site of Nature conservation importance, create additional pollution and adversely impact the tranquillity and character of the local area.

The new proposal of houses in Horsley and the surrounding villages further creates a detrimental environment from a social and environmental perspective

I grew up in East Horsley and after careful saving, was fortunate to return to live in the village to where I consider home, offering the peaceful lifestyle I require and raise my own family. Any developments in the area will considerably change this profile and potentially threaten my lifestyle choice.

Objections to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016) and to the continued inclusion in the plan of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA), now known as Three Farms Meadows (TFM) – Allocation A35 - for the phased development of a new settlement of up to 2100 dwellings

I STRONGLY OBJECT to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

• I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs. I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety.

• I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).

• I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

• I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

• I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, - now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

• After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.

• Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

As a regular visitor and former resident of East Horsley, I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

• I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.

• I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretching from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.

• I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans.

• I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).

• I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

• I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:
  1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars
  2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads
  3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements
  4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them)
  5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest
  6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity

• I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).

I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.
2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as ill as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as ill as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
  - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
- It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

2015

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays
  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

2016

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital  Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.
The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)

The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement- often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for “Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:
1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a luxury and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale vale of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to other towns, and within the London Commuter belt, no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this is a Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.
The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy ID1
I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 &
M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans.
This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt.” This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.
There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.
I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contrac- ted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London’s commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighboring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result in coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.
The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

1. I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and is therefore not fit for purpose.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

   ° A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.

   ° The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,

issues with the way it considers students and affordability and

flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.

It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

The plans, particularly with regards to the proposed developments around West Clandon, are totally disproportionate to the existing communities and infrastructure and would hugely change the character of our villages, destroy the character that is cherished by so many;

The Street in West Clandon (A247) is not appropriate for increased traffic (which would inevitably result from the proposed developments at Garlick’s Arch and / or additional access to / from the A3 at Burnt Common. In particular the road is extremely narrow in several places, has numerous houses with driveways that need to use mirrors to see traffic coming down the road; has dangerous and poor visibility junctions at the station and at the Onslow Arms pub/restaurant and following the 2012 Olympic Games the A247 has seen a huge (and in my view very welcome) increase in road cyclists using the road to access the Surrey Hills from Woking and further afield. For all of these reasons any plans that would increase traffic flow on this road would heighten danger both to road traffic and to residents of West Clandon who need to access and cross the road on a daily basis.

The Street in West Clandon is also inappropriate for increased traffic due to the pedestrian use – the village is spread along the road so residents need to walk along the footpaths but these are also narrow in places (in particular near the school), they are only on one side of the road or the other in several places necessitating residents to cross the road frequently; and for example the church car park is across the road from the church itself – with corners creating poor visibility and a dangerous situation for elderly or less mobile residents attempting to cross the road. The number of places that crossing the road is an issue are too numerous for pedestrian crossings to be a realistic solution.
The scale and location of the proposed developments would result in the loss of treasured and unique green belt land for ever – ill thought through and unnecessary intrusion into the Green Belt will result in permanent loss for future generations;

Objections to Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016)

I OBJECT in the strongest possible terms to the Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan (June 2016). This Plan is unsustainable, unworkable and, in many provisions, unnecessary.

I set out below my objection to specific policies and matters within the Plan.

My KEY OBJECTIONS are as follows:

• The plans, particularly with regards to the proposed developments around West Clandon, are totally disproportionate to the existing communities and infrastructure and would hugely change the character of our villages, destroy the character that is cherished by so many;

• The Street in West Clandon (A247) is not appropriate for increased traffic (which would inevitably result from the proposed developments at Garlick’s Arch and / or additional access to / from the A3 at Burnt Common. 14. I OBJECT to Gosden Hill development being in the Local Plan. The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space, and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip road at Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the Doomsday book and beyond. It would be hugely detrimental to the rural feel of West Clandon and the agricultural outlook from the boundaries of the village.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will increase traffic on the A3, which already has stationary traffic every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.
If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have significant health and safety issues.

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3)

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43)

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, potentially capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).
This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylon runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

1. I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition of north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of “through” traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved. THIS PROPOSAL APPEARS NOT TO HAVE BEEN PROPERLY THOUGHT THROUGH.

This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy D3
I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3)
I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.
The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

1. I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)
If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.
The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site. Any increase in traffic will adversely impact the A247 through West Clandon (see my opening comments). In addition, given rail transport links to Guildford, Woking and Greater London local employment appears a secondary priority not sufficiently pressing to risk the future of the Green Belt for future generations for.

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace at Garlick’s Arch – Site A43 (Policy E2)

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch in the Green Belt.

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )
1. POLICY E6 - The leisure and visitor experience

I OBJECT. Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for over-development. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already and West Clandon already sees regular visits from Inner London schools training for Duke of Edinburgh awards and from Ramblers. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability. The unspoilt views from the North Downs over Green Belt villages protects the environment that these visitors come to see.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a SouthWest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.

4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

I trust that the objections made above are fully taken into consideration and that the Plan is amended accordingly.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT (POLICY H1 – Homes for all) Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.
I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should be provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students were accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back. The Hog’s Back is a stunning landscape which should not be damaged.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. POLICY H3 – Rural Exception Homes

I OBJECT This is a Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I STRONGLY OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. Please refer to the key points highlighted at the beginning of this letter. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion and difficulties/danger in accessing, crossing or simply walking along the road. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic, more parking problems and significantly greater danger to pedestrians, car users, residents and visitors trying to access the road and the numerous cyclists now using the roads as routes in to the Surrey Hills as a result of the Olympic legacy.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added pollution and risk to injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements or when pedestrians need to cross from one side of the road to the other (for example at the station entrance).

1. I OBJECT to the lack of proper infrastructure planning for sites (Policy I1)

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of The Royal Surrey Hospital in Guildford, how is this to be assessed and remedied?

1. I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

1. I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

I OBJECT to the proposals to remove the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon from the Green Belt, together with sites of Wisley Airfield (A35) and Garlick’s Arch (A43). National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’ and the land to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken the green belt is lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached. GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
1. I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site. Situated as we are so close to the North Downs we are very aware of the ability of water levels to rise in this site very quickly.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT to the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are just unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.
The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and West Clandon already suffer from congestion. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion and greater pollution. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

1. I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

   1. The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 housing being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.
   2. The Housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.
   3. The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is no justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

   These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guildford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

   It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.
The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

G. Duty to Cooperate – My Objections

The NPPF states para 155: “Early and meaningful engagement and collaboration with neighbourhoods, local organisations and businesses is essential. A wide section of the community should be proactively engaged, so that Local Plans, as far as possible, reflect a collective vision and a set of agreed priorities for the sustainable development of the area, including those contained in any neighbourhood plans that have been made.”

The changes in this latest version of the Guildford Local Plan show little or no willingness of Guildford Borough Council to reflect a collective vision. Despite the many thousands of responses to previous versions of the Plan which overwhelmingly rejected building on Green Belt land this latest version has as much, if not more, building on the Green Belt and increased problems of infrastructure and traffic which will bring increased noise and air pollution and danger to residents.

I object to the inclusion of the land at Garlicks Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common and Ripley (A43)

Garlick's Arch is Green Belt and has ancient woodland and has a thriving wildlife habitat, which should be protected. There is no infrastructure, it floods and the the Draft Local Plan Infrastructure schedule does not provide for this site at all.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

This is disastrous as the increased volume of traffic would impact the local communities. The increased traffic from London (M25) to Woking would go through Burnt Common, Send and Old Woking, which currently cannot cope with the existing traffic. This is unsustainable.

I object to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads A3/M25 (Policy12)

Both the A3 and M25 need improvements before any developments commence. This is clearly not going to happen in the timescales of the plan, so the proposed developments at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlicks Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) should NOT take place.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I write to object to the inclusion of this site again in the latest draft of the Local Plan as a strategic site for development. A planning application for this site in effectively the same terms was decisively rejected a few weeks ago on clear and logical grounds. It is difficult to understand what could have changed in that few weeks. The arguments against building in the Green belt remain the same. The site can only be removed from the Green Belt on exceptional circumstances and the Local Plan provides no details as to what these may be. Unfulfilled housing need is not an exceptional circumstance for these purposes. I also object to the inclusion of this site on the grounds of poor sustainability. There are no transport links or other services such as schooling, shopping or medical services which means that these will have to be provided by the existing stretched services in the surrounding area or provided from new. The number of houses proposed can only generate ia massive increase in vehicle use of the local narrow roads and add to the existing problems at the A3/M25 junction 10. At an average of two cars per dwelling, there will be an increase of some 4000 extra vehicles on local roads. There will also be many more passengers on the trains at East Horsley and Effingham stations at both of which there is almost no excess parking available now. The same difficulty will arise in relation to parking at the shops in East Horsley. As the area immediately surrounding the site is prone to flooding, the proposed development will require extensive improvements to surface and waste water infrastructure to cope with the much increased surface water run off and extra foul waste. The existing infrastructure simply cannot cope with such an increase in population.
Ockham village currently numbers 159 dwellings and its present setting will effectively disappear if this site is developed as proposed. The concept proposed is completely out of keeping with the established pattern of development in the area and would be the largest in Guildford Borough other than Guildford itself with a density would be about 49 dwellings per hectare. East Horsley is presently the largest settlement outside Guildford town, having 1760 homes at a density of 8.1 dwellings per hectare. The disparity is stark and emphasises the fact that the proposed development is wholly out of local context. It even appears to breach Guildford Borough Council's own proposed Housing Policy (H1). I also object to the allocation of housing in this part of the Borough which is disproportionate in relation to the Borough as a whole. Calculation shows that 23% of the Local Plan's new housing is proposed in the localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys and of this 65% is allocated to the former Wisley Airfield. This is wholly unreasonable and unjustified by the Local Plan.

Nothing is being put forward following last year's Consultation to improve the sustainability of the proposed West Horsley development sites and it is questionable whether it meets National policy requirements. The West Horsley Parish Council response to the consultation states that neither they nor, they believe, was any other parish council invited to "engage in early essential collaboration" as advised in the NPPF Plan Making - Local Plans. It is entirely probable that every home on the West Horsley sites will need a minimum of one car (and maybe even two) to enable residents to get to shops, medical centre, library and Horsley Station, regardless of how much pressure is applied to adopt cycling and walking as the preferred means of travel - even now cycling and walking in these lanes is dangerous at any time. I wholly agree with my Parish Council in rejecting the proposed 35% growth (which seems grossly disproportionate) in our village housing stock on unsustainable sites over the first 5 years of the plan.
The housing numbers proposed in the draft Local Plan continue to be unsound in that they remain derived from a flawed Strategic Housing Market Assessment. The Independent review of these assessed housing needs set out in Appendix 1 to the West Horsley Parish Council response of 18 July 2017 to the present consultation suggests that there are significant errors in the OAN West Surrey SHMA. which, if accepted, would significantly lower the numbers of houses required. As before, there is nothing in the Local Plan which indicates that any housing proposed to be built in either of the Horsleys will be of the kind actually required by the villages.

The recent successful appeal for the creation of SANG in Long Reach in West Horsley (not in the Local Plan as such) was said to be justified by the needs of Guildford and surrounding area. This is laughable for managed space in the form of an urban park does not replace actual countryside which has been built over.

I continue to object to the lack of provision for sustainability, be it in housing, transport or in other aspects of the current draft of the Local Plan.

I continue to object to the inclusion of policy A35, Three Farms Meadows, in the draft Local Plan. Much of the above general comment is also applicable to this site. Primarily, the proposal removes 3.1h of land from the Green Belt without any justification. There are no special reasons for this as such for it is effectively unsustainable because of its location and the constraints of the site. Junction 10 of the M25 is already unworkable at times and even the proposed improvement of the junction (how many years away?) will not alter the totally restricted access to this site from the A3/M25. In this respect, it will rely at that end on the same junction on the A3 as RHS Wisley, a major visitor attraction with its own plans for expansion. The access at the other end of the A35 site is from narrow country lanes and any substantial increase in traffic including bus services there will make them even more dangerous than they are now and increase the deterrent effect on walking/cycling to the sewerage, lack of medical service, schools, transport connections in the surrounding areas as well, all contributing to the site's total unsustainability.

Quite apart from the wholly unsustainable nature of the site on all levels. any substantial development of it, such as that presently proposed and under appeal, will have an overwhelming effect on the Horsleys and other nearby villages, already faced with proposals for their own expansion in the draft Local Plan.

Despite the volume of comments received, I object to the fact that no change has been made to the proposal that the Horsleys should be both removed from the green belt and that the settlement boundaries be extended at the same time. I welcome the reduction by 90 in the number of new homes projected for west Horsley but the draft plan still proposes far too many new homes on green belt land and, additionally, the east side of the borough is now to take an even greater proportion of these. should not Guildford follow the choice of many reduced objectively assessed housing target will mean that Guildford will have grown by nearly 25%, nearly double the prediction for the growth of Guildford made by the office for national statistics, by 2034 (the end of the Plan Period).

Having appraised the proposed plans for West and East Horsley, Ockham and Wisley I am horrified by the scale of the proposals - these will alter the character of the villages for ever plus put an enormous strain on the ever burgeoning demand currently expected of the facilities and utilities.

The safety of the villagers should be re-considered in view of the increased volume of road traffic on very narrow twisty roads that are already under strain due to previous in-filling/developments plus from the effect this number of people will have on the level and standard from the Doctors, schools, utilities, amenities, rail transport, road links etc. These are currently full or at bursting point. Many of them are limited by the size of their sites or capacity they were built to take.

The villagers have made a deliberate choice to live in small villages and certainly speaking for myself, I do not take kindly to having the area developed in such a huge way. As far as I can see they can only be detrimental on so many levels; and for these reasons I request you re-consider your proposed plans for these lovely villages. They were not meant to take the volume of people you are proposing to accommodate.

I am writing to object to the plans to the insetting of Chilworth and the removal of Green Belt status on grounds of:

1. Loss of countryside in the beautiful Tillingbourne valley.
2. Intolerable increase in levels of traffic through small communities.
3. Loss of individual character of Surrey villages
I have been a resident in Chilworth for twenty years, having been attracted here by the specific character of the village, namely a single string of houses lining New Road (A248). This enables wonderful access to walking on many footpaths in the lovely unspoilt countryside along both sides of the Tillingbourne valley, including the Down's link, of which many locals and visitors to the area take full advantage.

The unique character of the village has recently been more widely appreciated with the essential clearing work of the heritage site at the old Gunpowder factory works, around which the village originally sprung up. Much money, time and effort has gone into the reclamation from thick undergrowth of the old works and a newly installed information trail is designed to encourage more visitors to come and enjoy the historical significance of our village, once famous throughout Europe. It really is a picturesque setting alongside the Tillingbourne river, with views to St Martha's hill and church having been opened up. A launch event is scheduled for September.

However, since moving here, I have witnessed a steady increase in the amount of traffic on New Road, which peaks at school dropping off and picking up times due to Chilworth infant school and the Tillingbourne middle school situated at either end of the village, both of which are popular schools locally. This causes long queues through the village. There really is no other way for the traffic to go, apart from along New Road. Due to a programme of infilling over recent years, with the development around Chilworth station and St Thomas's Close among others, the increase in traffic has been inevitable such that new residents complain that Chilworth, once a quiet little village, now has a real traffic problem.

Encouraging more visitors to the old Gunpowder works, though welcomed by the locals many of whom have been involved as volunteers in clearing the area, will further add to this traffic congestion.

The loss of Green Belt protection in the area surrounding Chilworth would be devastating, leading to the possibility of Chilworth being subsumed into Blackheath, Albury, Shalford or Wonersh and an intolerable increase in traffic through these small communities. Each of these villages has it's own specific identity and charm, the loss of which would be seriously detrimental to the overall beauty and attractiveness of the Surrey Hills.

I urge the planners and Guildford Borough Council to reject this plan.

We object to Guildford Borough Council’s changes to the draft Local Plan and the inclusion of Blackwell Farm as a development site [Policy A26 & para. 4.1.9], which:

- disregards an independent expert landscape study, which demonstrates that part of the sites merits Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty status following Natural England’s forthcoming boundary review [para. 4.3.8]
- directs more office space to an extended business park [Policy E4], which will increase peak time congestion – particularly around the hospital and A&E – and will also encourage rat-running through residential areas
- ignores independent expert traffic studies, which show the impact of development at Blackwell Farm on the local network and question the viability of the development [2.14a]
- adds to air pollution in neighbouring areas, which already exceed safe EU limits for Nitrous Oxide.

I object to The New Local Plan regarding the developments proposed with the Horsleys, as well as enlarging the village boundary and removing them from the Green Belt.

Over 500 new homes in the area would have a massive impact on our villages. Bringing 1000 cars, or more, to an area with few pavements, streetlights would bring dangers to pedestrians and cyclists. The railway station car parks are already at capacity, few local buses, and so cars would be used by new residents.

Our villages are important to us, we moved here to live in an area of beauty and peace, slightly removed from urban towns. The infrastructure of our villages would not be able to support the needs of 1000 plus new residents.

The housing provision proposed in the plan should take account of the latest nationally based household projections and the housing provision proposed in Policy S2 for the plan period (2013-2033) should be increased to a minimum of 17,000 new homes. Provision for the additional new homes should be based on a strategic review of the policy constraints around Guildford.

Such a review should take account in particular travel distances to the town centre and other strategic employment locations.

Re: Objection to Guildford Borough Council draft Local Plan

(June 2016) and to the inclusion in the Plan of Site Allocation A35 – the former Wisley Airport – for a new settlement of 2000 dwellings

Dear Sirs,

I am writing to express our extremely serious concern about the above proposal. I realise that we are not Guildford residents but this proposal would affect us much more directly than most people living in Guildford for a number of reasons.
We are very much aware of the vital importance of the Green Belt, which is extremely important for the quality of life in our area. No exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant the removal of the former Wisley Airfield from the Metropolitan Green Belt which in our view should not be tampered with, especially as sufficient brownfield land is available for development elsewhere.

Ockham, Hatchford and Downside would be completely dwarfed by the huge number of dwellings proposed. The size of some of the buildings would appear to be much more suited to an urban environment than a small village and the number of properties would be quite disproportionate to the area proposed. The roads, many of which are small country lanes, are totally inadequate to cope with the huge extra volume of traffic generated, which would also adversely affect air quality in our area which, we understand, already exceeds EU recommended limits particularly round the A3/M25 junction. This would have a detrimental effect on our health. There would be considerably increased danger to pedestrians and cyclists by the huge volume of cars and lorries which would be generated by such a large development and there is no adequate public transport available to cope with such numbers.

All our local services would be stretched far beyond their capacity to cope. Cobham is already very congested with limited parking and this is the obvious place for people from such a development to shop and attend doctors surgeries, dentists, etc. We simply can’t cope with such an increase, which would change the whole character of the area very much for the worse, also having a very damaging effect on local wildlife.

We would urge you very strongly indeed to reject this proposal especially in the light of the unanimous rejection of application no 15/P/00012 by the Planning Committee at Guildford Borough Council on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of planning officers with the above serious concerns being highlighted.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)

- The “objectively assessed need” figure of 693 homes a year is too high.
- A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
- The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
  - failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
  - issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
  - flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
- It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

I OBJECT to all strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that as Ill as being entitled to do this the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. The scarcity of sites outside the Green Belt as Ill as infrastructure (most notable roads) considerations all represented constraints which should have been taken into account in determining the final housing number. Accordingly in this regard our objection to the allocation of Green Belt sites is twofold. First I believe constraints should have been applied. Secondly I believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. Even if having properly applied constraints there is a need to develop in the Green Belt then specific Green Belt sites should not be included in the plan unless “exceptional circumstances” for development are proven in relation to that specific site, as stipulated repeatedly in the NPPF. The Green Belt should trump short-term considerations such as perceived housing need, as case law has established. There needs to be a specific balancing exercise conducted on each Green Belt site weighing the harm to the Green Belt against the very special circumstances which are argued in favour of development at that particular site. There is no evidence this has been done. Instead the council have appeared to say that having chosen a housing needs figure and decided it cannot be met without building on Green Belt then there is no need for any further consideration and any convenient Green Belt site can be allocated for building at will.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.

It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick’s Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarn Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

2015

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays
Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

2016

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 28 April 2016 A3 West Clandon London bound between A247 Tythebarns Lane (Burntcommon and M25J10 (Wisley Interchange) congestion on A3 to A3100 Clay Lane Burpham
- 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

Burpham’s sewers are at capacity. Sewage would have to be pumped to Slyfield for processing, a project of enormous cost.

There is inadequate fresh water in Guildford and current supplies could not meet the needs of a development of this size.

Electricity supply is also inadequate and would require a big infrastructure development.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.
The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch.

The site was only inserted in the draft plan at a late stage just before publication of the consultation draft which is a shabby way for the Council to proceed. The site is not a sustainable site being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it. (One of the reasons for turning down the so called enabling development proposal intended to fund the rebuilding of the Howard of Effingham School was that the redevelopment of the school was not essential. As and when it became essential Government funding would become available. Accordingly enabling development was not necessary. The same principle applies here.)
The A247 running south past this site through the centre of West Clandon is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement—often at speed. It has narrow bends with poor sight lines, an infants school and a hump-backed bridge concealing the entrance road to the station for southward traffic. In addition, there are no continuous footpaths which forces pedestrians to cross and re-cross the road. Development at Garlick’s Arch will only exacerbate the problem and make the road even more congested and unsafe for pedestrians.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

The stream, which runs through the site, is identified as having a high risk of flooding by the Environment Agency. There are other sites that do not flood that can be developed and therefore this site should be removed from the Plan (Policy P4).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within it a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3).

The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

It is clear that with this site being added at the 11th hours no infrastructure planning has been undertaken. The Infrastructure Schedule makes no provision for any infrastructure improvements for this site. How will the local services such as schools and doctors cope, many of which are already at capacity? (Policy I1)

Furthermore, several electricity pylons runs through the site, which will have the potential to be a health hazard for any residents.

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a).

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.
This Plan does not address the needs of local communities or the Borough in this regard. There has again been no Section 18 consultation on this.

I OBJECT to the damage to the historic environment as a result of the scale of the proposed development (Policy D3)

I OBJECT to the local plan based on the impact it will have on the special countryside of the borough.

The proposed development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) will have a permanent impact on the character of the Ancient Woodland that surrounds the site on two sides and runs centrally through the site, which includes over 80 ancient oak trees.

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Garlick’s Arch. It is in a non-sustainable location remote from any facilities of any kind and with poor public transport links. It is unlikely jobs there will be taken by local residents and it is likely all travel to and from work will be by car adding to local congestion. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable location with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The proposed development of up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8) at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is in the scheme of industrial development relatively small. Just to the south of the site at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m. The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the location for new employment floorspace (Policy E2)

I object to this policy. It would be more sensible to confine new office and research and development floor space to the urban Guildford area. I also oppose the policy of expanding the Research Park onto Blackwell Farm. No exceptional circumstances, as defined under the NPPF, have been advanced to justify incursion into this permanent and high-quality area of Green Belt.

Proposals for new industrial, warehousing and storage (use Class B1c, B2 and B8) floorspace will be directed to the Industrial Strategic Employment Sites.

There is no need for the new employment floorspace to be located at Garlick’s Arch or Gosden Hill Farm, when near to these sites at Burnt Common there is an existing industrial development, with ample surplus land that could accommodate a further development of 7,000 sq m.

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy E6
I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place Towers), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/"Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.
2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.
3. To help private providers market local tourism. This need not involve extra spending. The Council could, for instance, help co-ordinate ready-made, local tourism packages under a distinctive brand at an all-in price. An “English town break” (including B&B accommodation, a walking tour of Guildford, a pub lunch in the Surrey Hills, a visit to Wisley Gardens and a National Trust property and a Southwest Trains travelcard for a day out in London) would be highly attractive to many European visitors who currently by-pass Guildford to go to Bath, Oxford or Cambridge instead.
4. To rule out the redevelopment of scarce rural hotel sites (e.g. Thatchers, East Horsley, earmarked for 40 new houses under Site A37 of the plan yet just a short walk from the new opera house).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area. Other university cities (e.g. Oxford) insist on higher percentages than those proposed in the plan. In my view, the Council’s timidity is a case of “regulatory capture” by Surrey University, which has failed to use its existing planning permissions (dating from 2004) to accommodate 3,000 students or to improve the efficient development of its campus (e.g. by building on its extensive and under-used surface car parks). If all students
Ire accommodated in this way, 2,000 homes would be freed up in town and there would be no need to build on the Hog’s Back.

It is not appropriate to release Green Belt land to house students who could be accommodated on the Surrey campus or other university sites. The plan should take account of the university's ability to house its own students and reduce the housing number accordingly.

Guildford borough has already a higher proportion of traveller sites than most comparable boroughs. Over-provision is inappropriate given other constraints.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

In particular a scheme is only unviable if the value of developing the land (including some allowance for development risk and a normal level of profit) falls below the sale vale of the land for alternative non-premium uses such as agriculture. The price paid for the land is not relevant. The possibility of avoiding the affordable housing obligation through use of unviability arguments only serves to inflate land values. It will become clear that developments are unviable when developers start selling land for alternative non-development uses.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

And at what point will ‘affordable homes’ be able to go onto the market at full market price?

As we have seen with council houses it is not long before the discounted property is sold at full market value with the original owner simply pocketing the profit.

Comment ID: PSLPP16/15349  Respondent: 15612481 / Gillian Culmer  Agent:
I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations were available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

The policy wording should not allow market housing. The ability to include market housing is likely to inflate land values, leading to a self-perpetuating need to include market housing. It may lead to spurious developer led proposals which will be difficult to resist.

The policy wording should define small, either in land size or number of units. I am concerned that if small is left undefined the policy could be used to justify significant developments. In the context of the plan a development of 150 homes might be argued as small. (If Wisley at 2,500 homes is a big development then 500 homes might be a medium development and 150 could be small.)

The policy wording should be restricted to adjoining sites or define the concept of being "closely related". In particular I believe adding the concept of safe and easy walking distance extends the potential radius within which sites will be argued to be “closely related” Many people would regard a mile or so as an easy walking distance. (School children are expected to walk further than that before being eligible for free school travel.)

The wording of the policy itself does not require the local connection requirement for tenants to be secured in perpetuity - only the affordability must be secured in perpetuity. (For example housing could be built for retired Cabinet Ministers under this policy so long as the first tenant was required to have a local connection.) The introduction to the policy mentions this point, but it is not part of the policy itself and may carry little weight at appeal.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.” The size and location of sites should be better defined and it should be clear market housing cannot be included.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.

I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested. Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists past through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

The policy wording says nothing about roads and traffic. The Council’s methodology for assessing traffic congestion - averaging it over periods of several hours and ignoring the effects of junctions - simply hides the problem, which will get worse as development proceeds. The schemes referred to in this policy will not solve existing congestion and the local road network has not been given sufficient consideration. Some proposed development locations would require highway schemes that are unlikely ever to happen.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT due to the congestion that development will cause to the trunk roads, A3/M25 (Policy I2)

I object to this policy as it is too vague and optimistic. Significant improvements to the road infrastructure are like to be many years away even if they ever happen. The draft plan, however, commits to building massive housing estates in the countryside before any of these road improvements are in place. This is inappropriate and will lead to massive traffic disruption during the construction phase and will add permanently to an already congested network (about 3,000 private cars from the 2,100 new homes at Wisley Airfield alone).

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

The Green Belt should be protected in perpetuity, but Policy P2 seeks to justify excessive development in supposedly protected areas. This is in breach of party manifesto commitments and contrary to previous responses to public consultation. It is disreputable to argue, as the Council does, that the Plan would involve the loss of “only” 1.6% of the borough’s Green Belt. Leaving aside the reliability of that statistic, the NPPF does not set an “acceptable” percentage. The fact remains that the plan proposes that 65% of the housing plus industrial development be built on land to be taken out of the Green Belt.

Paragraph 4.3.16 is seriously deficient in simply stating that the Council considers that exceptional circumstances exist to justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries. The exceptional circumstances are not identified. It is clear from national guidance that unmet housing need is not on its own an exceptional circumstance. Even to the extent that exceptional circumstances exist, these have to be balanced against the harm to the Green Belt in the specific sites proposed to be taken out of the Green Belt. This balancing exercise appears not to have been done.

The Countryside Study which the Council may argue fulfilled the need to demonstrate the exceptional circumstances required to justify removal of areas from the Green Belt was a simplistic tick box exercise. Within limits it may have answered certain questions about different attributes of different areas of Green Belt but it did not carry out the balancing exercise needed to determine whether specific exceptional circumstances justified removal of specific areas of land from the Green Belt. I believe that each of the identified Green Belt site proposed to be removed from the Green Belt should be carefully assessed against any exceptional circumstances in deciding whether it should be removed from the Green Belt in the final plan. This exercise should bear in mind that housing need in itself is not an exceptional circumstance and nor is the Council’s growth aspiration. An important consideration is that more housing need could be met on urban sites than is currently planned. The Plan has fallen into the developers’ hands and developers prefer building on undeveloped land rather than brown field sites.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that this untruth be corrected and the consultation period restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines.
The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

This policy is wildly disproportionate in terms of any foreseeable development need and has caused tidal waves of opposition from residents. It flies in the face of NPPF paragraph 17’s aim of “empowering local people to shape their surroundings” and other NPPF provisions.

Paragraph 4.3.17 states that “the general extent of the Green Belt has been retained.” I believe this should be deleted as an untruth.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt.
There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

There is a real danger that the loss of this Green Belt will result in urban sprawl and these neighbouring villages merging into one another. The significant development in these villages will result in the character of these villages being lost and the countryside encroached.

GBC’s Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch, so there is no evidence base to support including this site.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs. A Level 2 SFRA has therefore also been produced and will help the Council apply the exceptions test (as described in the NPPG) as necessary to development proposals in areas at risk of flooding.

The site at Garlick’s Arch (A43) is identified on the Environment Agency’s flood map as being in a flood Zone 3 from a river. This means that it has a 1 in 100 or greater chance of flooding each year, the highest risk category. Despite this flood risk, the site has been assessed as part of the Council’s SFRA as a Flood Zone 2 - having between a 1% and 0.1% annual probability of river flooding. Knowing the area well I am aware that this site often floods during the winter months and the flooding is made worse by the soil being heavy clay. Clearly the SFRA is not fit for purpose and it needs to be re-commissioned to accurately reflect the actual flooding risks of each site.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy S1
Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. The policy is likely to be used by developers to justify inappropriate developments on economic grounds. Under this policy, virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. The Green Belt is a long term Government policy enshrined in primary legislation to protect green areas in perpetuity. The Green Belt is a living example of sustainable development in practice and is one of the most important factors affecting sustainable development in the area covered by the Plan and should be acknowledged in this policy. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions. The Plan and the Council have treated the Green Belt as a developable land bank rather than as a constraint to development.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.

This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The purpose of the planning system is to contribute to the achievement of sustainable development, as stated by National Planning Policy.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the villages between Guildford and the M25, including Ripley, Send and West Clandon. The services in these villages will be unable to cope with the level of development proposed. The proposed developments do not meet the needs of the local communities.

The strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in unsustainable locations. The former two sites do not benefit from railway stations within easy walking distance and bus services across rural villages are forever reducing. Residents will have few options, but to be reliant on motor vehicles. These sites are also unsuitable due to being unable to access sustainable transport. Furthermore, there are no plans to improve the infrastructure for Garlick’s Arch in the Infrastructure Plan. Residents will be reliant on the car for transport. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

The A3, M25 and the roads through the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon already suffer from congestion. The road (A247) through West Clandon is particularly hazardous as, in a number of places, two large vehicles are unable to pass in opposite directions without mounting the pavement. Further vehicle movements will result in even more acute congestion, greater pollution and an increased risk of fatal accidents. Residents and the environment will suffer as a result.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy S2

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the Borough Wide Strategy (Policy S2)

The borough wide strategy is poorly considered. It proposes 13,860 houses being developed across the borough and does not apply any constraints to reduce the overall housing figure, which would be very reasonable and sensible. This approach differs from all the other Borough Councils in Surrey.

The housing number is based on pre-Brexit data for economic and population growth, including migration. These now need to be revised downwards, possibly quite seriously.

The housing number is based on an arbitrary Housing Market Area (HMA): the “West Surrey” tri-borough area of Guildford, Woking and Waverley. An HMA should be an area within which a majority of people live, work, shop or study. On any common sense view, “West Surrey” is much too small. Half of Guildford borough’s residents work elsewhere, and half who work here live outside the borough. A short, half-hour commute puts the borough within reach of Surbiton to the North, Haslemere to the South, Reigate to the East and Basingstoke to the West; but all lie well outside “West Surrey”. Puzzlingly, the adjacent district of Rushmoor, minutes from Guildford town centre, is outside the HMA. It is not justification to say that the tri-borough area has been used in the past, or that a similar approach is used elsewhere; unlike (say) Carlisle, Norwich or Shrewsbury, Guildford is in the London commuter belt and part of a far wider and more complex housing market.

These concerns have been raised since 2014 but the Council has failed to seek better market data. There was no public consultation on the SHMA and Councillors were not allowed to scrutinise it. The absence of a ready alternative, however, does not make “West Surrey” reliable. The area is artificial, and so therefore are the housing numbers derived from it. For instance, by juxtaposing Guilford with Woking it appears that Guildford residents are being asked to build homes on open countryside to meet its bigger, urban neighbour’s “need”. Guildford wants to build 7 sites of over 500 units, compared with only 4 across Surrey’s 10 other districts, and 26 sites over 100 units, compared with 53 across the rest of the county. This distribution is unbalanced.

The assumptions and calculations in the SHMA are widely regarded as flawed and even before Brexit, produced an inflated housing needs number. The figure of 13,860 new homes is completely unsubstantiated. It has not been scrutinized by Councillors despite repeated requests for debate. The assumptions and calculations underlying the model are hidden, protected by a claim to intellectual property by a commercial sub-contractor used in preparing the SHMA. I have serious doubts about the objectivity of the SHMA because it has been produced by consultants whose website openly proclaims their pro-development agenda leading to reasonable suspicion that the figures are inflated. Guildford’s OAN is not transparent but has been taken on trust by the authors of the plan. Given that almost every element of the plan is predicated on this OAN, the plan as a whole cannot be considered “sound”.

The status of the 13,860 figure is ambiguous. The Council has said that the housing number and the OAN are identical because the OAN is “deliverable” and is by definition objective and cannot be contradicted. The OAN is only deliverable because of the Council’s cavalier approach to the Green Belt in contravention of the NPPF, ministerial statements and local and national Conservative Party manifesto commitments. The plan also states that infrastructure or other constraints may in due course affect deliverability. It is also unlikely that the number of houses can be built at the rate proposed. In recent years, housing starts have on average been less than half the proposed rate. This is not because developers do not have the land or cannot get planning permission. Constraints in the supply chain and maintaining profit levels have been more important.

The plan cannot be considered “deliverable”. In addition, the number of homes proposed, plus existing planning permissions, plus expected “windfall” sites, exceeds the total of 13,860. So how many homes (taking account of these adjustments) do the Council want built? The plan does not say. Without this figure it is hard to see how anything else can be planned. This undermines the validity of the whole consultation. It is unreasonable to ask the public to approve a “plan” that fails to propose a target number that takes all the standard constraints and adjustments realistically into account, leaving the Council to set one without further consultation. Even if the OAN is not flawed, it is at best only a baseline figure and should not be passed off as a policy proposal.

It is unreasonable to embark on a radical transformation of the borough on the basis of an unclear housing target. Most of Guildford Borough is highly protected from development (89% Green Belt, 44% AONB and about 75% protected by SPA). Whether or not increasing the number of dwellings by up to a quarter is desirable, it would be a major and irreversible change, arguably turning a largely rural borough into a mainly urban or suburban one like Woking. The scale of the housing number increases the onus for it to be seen to be sound. A substantially lower number, on the other hand, would remove the need to build on Green Belt or open countryside, and instantly meet the single biggest public objection to the plan as a whole.

The Plan in general and this policy in particular does not address the point that Guildford exists as part of London’s commuter belt. Any increase in supply of housing in Guildford, particularly if the increase is proportionately greater than elsewhere in the commuter belt, will simply result in a shift of population into the area. It will not reduce prices or increase availability except imperceptibly. The Plan also ignores the point that many of those working in the area live elsewhere. Accordingly in considering the housing number the Plan should take into account that in this part of London’s commuter belt, demand for housing is, in practical terms, unlimited.

This policy does not take proper accounts of the constraints to development which exist, principally posed by the Green Belt and by infrastructure limitations. I believe the Council is under a duty to properly consider applying these constraints. It is clear the Council has failed to do this. This approach differs from all the other boroughs in Surrey. The Plan appears to have deliberately been manipulated towards a growth agenda without disclosing why this is being done. The housing that is needed should be concentrated on urban brown field sites and through increasing the housing density of existing built up urban areas.

The development of 13,860 homes in the Plan period with 65% in the Green Belt does not constitute sustainable development. It will have a permanently detrimental impact on the Borough in general and on West Clandon and surrounding area in particular. The developments at Garlick’s Arch and Gosden Hill Farm do not meet the needs of the local communities. The road infrastructure in and around West Clandon will be unable to cope with additional demand. The edge of urban Guildford will creep that much closer to West Clandon, thus negating the purposes of the Green Belt in the area which include safeguarding the countryside from encroachment, checking the unrestricted sprawl of large built up areas and preventing neighbouring towns merging into one another.

It is clear that the strategy adopted in the Plan is out of balance, with disproportionate development in the north east of the borough resulting from the allocation Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (Ripley/Send border) (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (Clandon) (A25) as major residential sites. The allocation of sites in the Plan will result in 36% of all new housing being located in the three Wards of Lovelace, Send and Clandon & Horsley. Whilst at present these three Wards represent only about 11% of the existing housing in the borough, they are very much rural Wards. Some 5,036 houses are being allocated between the M25 and Burpham, a distance of only about 5 miles. It will result coalescence and a merging of identities of the surrounding villages. The Plan is completely unbalanced and does not reflect the current spread of housing across the borough.
The proposed development of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25) will have a disproportionate impact on the surrounding local villages. They will have a permanently detrimental impact on each of these communities.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

1. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set.

   Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of “About Guildford” (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.
2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.
3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford’s circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt.

Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites—which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.
2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.
3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.
4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.

1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018
5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham
7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework
8. The proposal for Garlick’s Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.
9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.
10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens
11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.
12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.
14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.
15. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

I am writing to express my concerns over the proposed 2016 Draft Local Plan and the impact it will have on East and West Horsley and neighbouring villages. Whilst acknowledging that more housing does need to happen and our village should be prepared to "do its bit" I object to the scale of what is being proposed which makes it significantly disproportionate. Three grounds in particular I would like to continue to bring to your attention and specifically object to:

1 Building on Green Belt Land should only be permitted in highly exceptional circumstances.
2 The biggest two proposed developments just don't appear to have been thought through in terms of the necessary infrastructure (schools, medical facilities and parking).

3 Flooding: in recent years it is has been very evident that the drainage system cannot cope so building on land already adversely affected by flooding will only exacerbate the problem.

If you take away all the fields and trees, where will the animals live?

My schools is lovely and I have lots of friends. If you make it too big, it will be harder to know everyone and knowing everyone is what makes it friendly and why so many children are happy living in Horsley.

When I am finished in year 6, I want to go to the Howard School as my Reading Buddy Rachel went there last year. If you make lots of new people live here, they won't have room for me. This would be a shame as I don't want to go to school far away and I will miss Rachel even more.

I want to ride my bike and walk to school, but mummy won't let me as the pavements aren't big enough and the cars drive too fast. If you make lots of houses, this will get worse and there will be SO much pollution as everyone will drive and make the clouds go all black and yucky.

My brother would like to say his thoughts on an email but he is only 1 and can't speak. I can read his thoughts though and he agrees with me. He would say, "build a few houses, not too many, as we like the open space and fresh air".

Please listen to what I say.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

As a very frequent visitor to see my brother-in-law and his family who live in West Horsley, I am appalled at the proposals for future housing developments in the West and East Horsley parishes contained in the “Guildford Borough Proposed Submission Local Plan: Strategy and Sites – June 2016” (The Guildford Plan).

The proposal that you can increase the number of households by 35% is hard to comprehend particularly when there seems to have been little or no consideration in “The Guildford Plan” of the effect such a huge increase will undoubtedly have on the local infrastructure and services.

As a Surrey resident myself for over 10 years now, I understand the need for building more affordable housing in the County, but the proposals on the scale set out in the Plan are way in excess of quite frankly what is acceptable and sustainable.

In view of my observations set out above, I strongly object to the proposals set out in the “The Guildford Plan” and urge the Council to have a serious rethink about the numbers and sizes of developments proposed and come up with a much more realistic Plan in keeping with the local infrastructure, services and rural setting.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?

Objections to Guildford Borough Council Proposed Local Plan (June 2016) and to the continued inclusion in the plan of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA), now known as Three Farms Meadows (TFM) –

Allocation A35 - for the phased development of a new settlement of up to 2100 dwellings

I object to the draft Local Plan for the following key reasons:

- I object to a plan which proposes that over 70% of new housing be built within the Green Belt. There is ample brownfield land in the urban areas which needs to be regenerated, without the need to encroach on protected Green Belt land. Election manifesto promises to the electorate are being ignored.
- I object to the removal of the Former Wisley Airfield (FWA/TFM) from the Green Belt. The site serves a vital role in protecting against urban sprawl from London. Development on the site will create an urban corridor stretches from London to Guildford. Under the NPPF, no exceptional circumstances have been established to warrant removing the land from the Metropolitan Green Belt.

- I object to the housing number of 693 houses per year from the West Surrey Strategic Market Housing Assessment (SHMA) as far too high. This assessment and calculation process has been far from transparent and indeed is more than double the figure used in previous plans.

- I object to the disproportionate allocation of housing in this particular part of the borough. Indeed, over 23% of the Plan’s new housing is proposed in the immediate localities of Ockham, Ripley, Send and the Horsleys (of which 65% is allocated to FWA/TFM, an area that at present has only 0.3% of the population of GBC).

- I object to the threat the Local Plan poses to the historic rural village of Ockham and the blight on properties there. The plan calls for a village of 159 residences (with narrow lanes, no streetlights, very few pavements and many listed houses) to be subsumed into a 2,000+ dwelling development, with urban-style buildings up to five storeys high and a population density higher than most London boroughs.

- I object to the detrimental impact on transport, local roads and road safety. I specifically object to:
  1. The assertion that the development will result in a meaningful shift to cycling and walking. The development is too isolated, and even within the development itself too spread out to anticipate a reduced reliance on private cars
  2. The increased volume of car traffic. A proposed development of 2,068 homes would result in an estimated 4,000 additional cars on the roads
  3. The congestion this traffic will cause on the narrow rural roads in Ockham and the surrounding areas, exacerbated by wide vehicles including increased bus and HGV movements
  4. The danger this traffic will be to local cyclists and pedestrians, due to the absence of any cycling paths and the lack of pedestrian footpaths (and the space to provide them)
  5. The increase in the already severe congestion on the Strategic Road Network of the A3 and M25. A further planning application at RHS Wisley (with a significant increase in visitor traffic) and a proposed 600 pupil secondary school on the site would add additional congestion at the M25/A3 junction as well as local roads. No development can proceed without significant infrastructure enhancements to the A3 and M25. Partial improvement works on the A3 south of the site are not due to start until 2019 at the earliest
  6. The lack of suitable public transport. The local rail stations of Effingham and Horsley cannot cope with the proposed increase in passenger traffic and car parking is already at capacity

- I object to the fact that insufficient consideration has been given to the environmental and ecological value of the site, in relation to the Thames Basin Heaths Special Protection Area (SPA), Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and Site of Nature Conservation Interest (SNCI).

- I object to the fact that air quality concerns have not been taken seriously – air pollution in many parts of the borough, and particularly at the M25/A3 junction, is in excess of EU-permitted levels. Additional traffic will exacerbate this situation, impacting the health of all current and future residents. No account is being taken of the acid deposition on the Thames Basin Heaths SPA and the irreversible impact of the habitat degradation.

- I object to the fact that the proposed plan does not meet the needs and desires of local communities, as evidenced through the Ockham Parish Plan. The top two responses as to why local residents enjoy life in Ockham are (1) access to the countryside and clean air and (2) the peace and quiet afforded by wide open spaces. Over 90% wish to see both the historic features of the village maintained and the village’s green spaces, including the FWA/TFM, protected.

- I object to the continued inclusion of a site (the former Wisley Airfield, now known as Three Farm Meadows) - where the planning application has already been unanimously rejected by GBC’s Planning Committee.

After 14 months of consideration (and various extensions and amendments), Wisley Property Investments Ltd’s (WPIL) planning application was unanimously rejected by GBC on 8th April 2016 on the recommendation of GBC Planning Officers, who cited the same grave concerns highlighted in this letter.

Serious concerns about this site have also been raised by a broad number of authoritative sources across the UK, including Highways England, Thames Water, NATS and the Environment Agency.

I trust that these objections will be fully considered and that the Former Wisley Airfield (Three Farms Meadows), Allocation A35, is removed from the Local Plan with immediate effect.

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
We would like this email to be taken as our objection to the Final Draft Local Plan, specifically the proposed development at Garlick's Arch, the 4-way interchange for the A3 at Burnt Common and taking Send out of the green belt.

Already, simply commuting from our residence in Sendmarsh to our places of work in Guildford and Cobham respectively on a daily basis, now proves to be unnecessarily prolonged and problematic. This is due to the blatantly obvious already excessive traffic encountered on roads such as the Sendmarsh Road or the larger Portsmouth Road. This clearly indicates that the road infrastructure is oversubscribed as a result of an already overpopulated area. Simply increasing the number of existing houses with proposed developments of an extra 400 houses along with increased industrial warehousing, will be disastrous for the villages of Send and Ripley. This would bring the certainty of gridlocked roads to this area. Currently we both have to leave for work over an hour earlier than we previously did five to ten years ago due to the increased traffic volume and resulting poor traffic flow that currently exists in this area.

Guildford Borough Council are already not investing enough money into the maintenance of the roads, leaving them in a terrible state. We are very concerned that increased traffic using these roads will mean they fall even further into disrepair. The local schools and doctors surgery are already oversubscribed - what will happen when there are so many more people trying to use these services?

We are also concerned about loosing the woodland around this area, which is what attracts many people to live and pay the high housing costs including the high rate of council tax in the first instance. Simply removing these villages from the green belt is detrimental to the standard of living in this area and is clearly only being proposed in order to open the flood gates for future land development that would only offer financial benefit for non-residents and the local authority.

We feel this level of development would change the area we live in unrecognisably and therefore would not be an area we would necessarily want to live in in the future.

We should be grateful if these objections and comments would be put before Inspector on this matter.

I am writing to object to the ridiculous expansion of shopping areas in Guildford at the expense of housing. There are empty shops everywhere because people are shopping on-line and the trend can only continue. Retailers will only need a fraction of their previous shop frontage and certainly not more.

Meanwhile proposed houses are being forced out into the green belt where everyone will need a car and add to the near stationary commuting conditions. Young people like me want to live in cities. Times are changing and the Guildford plan doesn't seem to have caught up.

Policy D4: I object to the insetting of villages (meaning in fact, removal of villages from Green Belt protections) and the fact that they will suffer from higher density development and the resulting increase in traffic, increased use of infrastructure which is already under pressure. I object in particular to the insetting of West Clandon, Send and the Horsleys. This will have a detrimental impact on Green Belt openness and the views in and out of the AONB in direct contravention of Policy P1 and P2.

I object to the Settlement Boundary which has been imposed on East Clandon without any consultation. This imposition provides no protection to further development outside of the settlement boundary (Policy P2 para 4.3.25) and is deemed by me as being unnecessary in an already tightly developed ancient and rural conservation village with high archaeological merit. I demand that this proposal be removed as it will endanger the openness of the Green Belt, the views in and out of the AONB (protection of the AONB Policy P1) and the character of our village.

Policy P2 – Green Belt: I object to this significant erosion of the Green Belt with the proposals for large towns being developed on Green Belt land thereby removing the openness of the Green Belt. I note in particular the huge developments proposed for the North East quadrant of the borough which will adversely affect our amenity, but also unfairly targets our tranquil rural villages because we can provide ‘dormitory’ facilities for commuters to London. The developments directly affecting our villages are the proposals for Wisley Airfield, Gosden Hill Farm, various farms and tracts in the Horsleys and Garlicks Arch at Send.
Further, on the erosion of Green Belt and I object that Policy P2 is not met where it states that Green Belt should be protected. I object to the disproportionate use of Green Belt land for housing – some 65% of the housing proposed is on Green Belt and with little consideration being given to redevelopment of brown field sites.

I object that GBC are contravening the NPPF framework stipulation in paragraph 87 with the proposed developments at Gosden Hill Farm, Ripley, East and West Horsley and Garlicks Arch, Send. Paragraph 87 states “As with previous Green Belt policy, inappropriate development is, by definition, harmful to the Green Belt and should not be approved except in very special circumstances.” and GBC have not proven any special circumstance for developing on these Green Belt areas.

I object to building on the Green Belt because the essential characteristic of Green Belt is its openness and permanence (National Planning Policy Framework paragraph 79).

I object that housing being proposed on the Green Belt will increase traffic bringing increased danger and pollution and slower journey times on our already overcrowded village roads.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I object to Policy S1 not offering sustainable development as regards roads and rail infrastructure which currently does not cope with demand, congestion on the A3 in particular, but also other A roads in the area such as the A247, the A246 and then there is the already overcrowded and slow train system for those currently living in the borough and needing to commute to London. No pre-emptive planning has been made to alleviate these real problems which will be much exacerbated by any large increases in housing.

I specifically want you to note the winding, narrow and dangerous route via the A247 through West Clandon which then drives people to use a short-cut the even narrower rural road, the Ripley Road, through East Clandon to and from the A3. This will be much exacerbated with the large increase in housing twinned with large increase in cars and travel.

Continuing with Policy S1 (Presumption in favour of Sustainable Development) I object that this is not being met and that GBC are contravening this when it is clear that no fixed plans are available to improve the provision of shops, medical facilities, schools in our immediate area (besides roads and rail already mentioned) to service us. If the GBC were serious about improving the infrastructure and sustainability of our communities, they would have secured plans and funding to ensure these facilities are available and not just at the behest and hoped-for goodwill from the developers. Further, how will developers be held accountable to their promises to build infrastructure? Stories are legion of developers reneging on commitments as the ‘money runs out’ even though vast profits will be made from turning agricultural and Green Belt land into highly valuable housing land.

I object to Policy S2 for the proposed provision of the very high overall housing numbers of 13,800 new homes (690 new dwellings being built every year for 20 years) and I object on two grounds; these housing numbers have been imposed on the borough with no real consultation being undertaken with the residents of East Clandon and the borough as a whole. Secondly, the housing numbers are based on a high-growth economic development plan which in itself has had no consultation with us and this combined with estimated demand from London residents will turn Guildford into a dormitory town for London.

Further, I object to the fact that no real economic or housing demand factors have been provided by the borough planners to substantiate the very high housing target of 13,800 new dwellings over the next 20 years. This is in direct contravention of the NPPF’s requirement for the planning authority to provide meaningful consultation.

I note that there were over 20,000 responses objecting to the 2014 draft Plan and therefore I object that the Consultation Process has not been properly followed for this Plan which is not materially different from that plan.

I object to all other strategic sites in the Local Plan, Blackwell Farm, 3 Farms Meadows, Garlick’s Arch, West Horsley and Hog’s Back. All are out of proportion to the surrounding area and none qualify for the exceptional circumstances required to take them out of the Green Belt.

I am registering my objection to the local plan.

The reason for objecting are that the local roads, including the A3 and M25 are already too congested and the proposed development will add further to the current level of congestion and pollution. The smaller roads through West Clandon, Ripley and Send cannot cope with the increased level of traffic that such developments will bring.

I OBJECT ESPECIALLY TO 6 POLICIES: A36, A37, A38, A39, A40 & A41:

- Amount of new housing far exceeds local need.
- Housing density excessive when compared with existing development.
- Would transform the Horsleys into a sizable town, something for which no case is made.
- No local support.
- Collective impact of these 6 sites on a small part of the borough not considered. Should not be treated as isolated, separate sites.
- Total amount of new building out of scale with the planned development elsewhere the borough, especially less sensitive urban areas not protected by Green Belt.
- Sites unsustainable. Key infrastructure lacking. No adequate provision is made to increase it – e.g. poor wastewater capacity, lack of schools, absence of traffic management plan, flooding.
- No account taken of additional impact of Wisley Airfield site on Horsleys.
- Extension of settlement boundaries too permissive. Horsleys characterised by streets with development along only one side of the road. Policies allow too many adjacent green fields to be developed by squaring off boundaries and claiming they don’t contribute to Green Belt “openness”.
- Green Belt gap with neighbouring settlements hugely narrowed, especially if Wisley Airfield is built on.
- Will harm compliance with NPPF 81 – e.g. by making cycling (including Prudential cycle races) too dangerous, ruining the rural setting of Waterloo Farm campsite, destroying the ambience of Grange Park Opera’s new “Theatre in the Woods”.
- Policy A40 especially unviable because of high water table and poor drainage, leading to regular winter flooding.
- Safe access and egress at Site A40 unachievable, owing to flooding, high speed limits, poor sight lines, narrow access to existing properties, inadequate pavements for elderly and schoolchildren, increasing use by recreational cyclists etc.

I OBJECT ALSO TO POLICY A35 (WISLEY AIRFIELD):
• Should not be in the plan for all the reasons the Planning Committee rejected the identical recent proposal by Wisley Investment Properties.
• Irregularity of including this policy in the plan 24 hours before this planning application was rejected (like extending the time allowed for the developers to present their application).
• Unacceptable Conservative Party links between the developers and the Council.
• No Green Belt “exceptional circumstances” presented.
• Not a brownfield site as stated – only 15% of it.
• Proposed SCC waste site ignored.
• Loss of farming land.
• Too near RHS Wisley and Thames Basin Heath SPA.
• SANG would harm on SPA.
• Will aggravate traffic jams at A3 roundabout and M25 Junction 10.
• Unacceptable increase in air pollution.
• No existing public transport and stations miles away.
• No proper traffic data.
• Housing density far too great.
• Over 2,000 houses will swamp and destroy Ockham conservation area, with impact on listed buildings.
• Access confined to inadequate narrow lanes.
• Water table and surface water flooding not considered either for site itself or for downstream areas on River Mole.
• Major impact on neighbouring villages, especially Horsleys.
• No assessment made of collective impact on area of this and 6 Horsley sites.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT TO POLICY E8 (DISTRICT CENTRES):
• Too much scope to expand rural retail centres to justify major housing expansion across the countryside, despite lack of demand. Will spoil character of villages while harming Guildford’s role as a retail hub.
• No measures to support existing rural shops and services, e.g. through business rates.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT TO POLICY H1 (HOMES FOR ALL):
• Policy doesn’t set any constraints on building.
• Housing mix based on preBrexit growth and demographic assumptions and unreliable SHMA that wasn’t put out to formal public consultation and wasn’t scrutinised by Councillors.
• Fails to compel University of Surrey to use its thousands of planning permissions and existing space, such as car parks, for student accommodation.
• Lets University off the hook of accommodating all its students, so as to free up houses for the most needy in town.

I OBJECT TO POLICY I1 (INFRASTRUCTURE & DELIVERY)
• Infrastructure considered here as an afterthought, rather than precondition of development. Should be a key issue for the rest of the plan.
• Excessive housebuilding in countryside not supported by any funding or provision for infrastructure.
• Heavy focus on building on greenfield sites inefficient and unnecessary: cheap for developers but much more expensive for the public who have to fund the infrastructure.
• Draft CIL scale discourages use of brownfield land first.
• No plan for organic increase in existing traffic congestion, let alone once thousands of houses are built across the countryside. Local roads hardly considered. Green Belt being eroded before road widening/improvement plans certain, encouraging overdevelopment of greenfield sites.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT TO POLICY I2 (SUPPORTING DTP’S ROAD STRATEGY):
• Doesn’t allow for catastrophic increase in traffic resulting from spreading new housing estates across the borough.
• Out of sync with DTP’s strategy: houses to be built and Green Belt destroyed before plans for A3 etc implemented.
• Road plans too optimistic anyway, especially postBrexit. Probably won’t happen.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I OBJECT TO POLICY I3 (SUSTAINABLE TRANSPORT):
• Just a list of generic measures, not related to real life or the particularities of Guildford.
• Fails to treat sustainability as a constraint. Assumes excessive levels of development proposed in the plan can be supported by sustainable development.
• Unrealistic. Most people can’t or won’t walk or cycle – commuters in a hurry, the elderly, children, people who are unwell or unfit, people carrying heavy shopping or other goods. I.e. most residents!
• Town’s eye view of transport. Ignores scarcity of existing rural public transport and commercial unviability of increasing it. Ignores terrible state of Surrey’s roads, potholes, flooding etc. Ignores extra stress to be created by huge new housing estates in countryside.

I OBJECT TO POLICY I4 (GREEN & BLUE INFRASTRUCTURE):
• No teeth. Policy cancelled out by huge developments across the countryside. No mention of opportunity costs of loss of Green Belt services and amenities (e.g. farming).

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT TO POLICY P2 (GREEN BELT):
• No declaration of support for protecting the Guildford Green Belt, contrary to NPPF and government statements.
• No evaluation of value of local Green Belt as a public and private asset; it’s just treated as potential building land with a few inconvenient restrictions.
• Impact of Green Belt development on local agriculture ignored.
• Impact on rural leisure and tourism ignored.
• Impact on flood control ignored.
• Impact on carbon sink and knockon effects for air pollution and climate change ignored.
• Impact on biodiversity ignored.
• Impact on natural heritage ignored.
• Impact on water catchment ignored.
• Impact on room for public space amenities (parks, cemeteries, waste facilities etc) ignored.
• Impact on rural business (e.g. mineral mining, film making) ignored.
• Impact on natural landmarks and views ignored.
• Harm to public health and wellbeing (physical, psychological) ignored.
• Allows excessive levels of development in breach of views expressed in last consultation and Conservative Party manifesto commitments at the last local elections.
• Has allowed ruling Councillors to argue that there is an acceptable percentage of Green Belt that should be sacrificed to development, when no such rule exists in the NPPF.
• Ignores alternative approaches, such as fair burdensharing under which settlements would undertake to accommodate new development in proportion to their size.
• Disproportionate amount of development (most of it, in fact) to be in Green Belt. Too few new homes in urban areas where most people (especially the young and less privileged) want to live. This will act against much needed urban regeneration.
• “Insetting” of most villages disproportionate and unjustified in terms of their contribution under the NPPF to the purposes of the Green Belt. Based on flawed Green Belt and Countryside Study. Idea that most Guildford villages do not contribute to “openness” is subjective.
• Major settlement extensions allow indiscriminate housebuilding, as irregularly shaped villages are squared off to enclose green fields.
• Overall harm to Guildford Green Belt unjustified by any objective development need post-Brexit.
• Ignores most of NPPF 17 stipulations.

I OBJECT TO POLICY P3 (COUNTRYSIDE BEYOND THE GREEN BELT):
• Gives Ash and Tongham more protection than rest of borough, including existing Green Belt. But they don’t contribute to preventing London sprawl.
• Special treatment of ward represented by current Council Leader and his predecessor. Politically biased.
• A minor extension of Green Belt in one place does not justify its major destruction elsewhere (the inset villages).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT TO POLICY P5 (THAMES BASIN HEATH S.P.A.):
• Compensation mechanism too feeble to provide protection.
• Cynical encouragement of SANG to justify nearby development in protected areas. Does not extend protection or amount of green space, and can damage them (e.g. dog and cat attacks on wildlife).

What changes (2016)/further amendments (2017) do you suggest should be made to the document?
I OBJECT TO POLICY S1 (SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT):
• No definition given, no reference to its importance in the NPPF, no guidelines for applying it to planning.
• No statement of how economic, social and environmental impacts should be balanced.
• No mention of Green Belt, Guildford’s greatest legacy by far to Sustainable development. No commitment to protecting it.
• No reference to most of the NPPF Core Planning Principles.

I OBJECT TO POLICY S2 (BOROUGHWIDE STRATEGY):
• Numbers based on growth and demographic data now invalidated by Brexit.
• No justification given for 13,860 housing figure. Figure based on a secret formula used by consultants and never seen by anyone on the Council or by the public. Council has failed to seek its disclosure.
• 13,860 figure confuses the OAN with a housing target. No definite housing target given, leaving too much scope for the Council to make one up. I can’t understand how we’re being consulted when we don’t know how many houses the Council want to build, taking all the constraints into account.
• Figures based on a Housing Market Area that ignores 2 neighbouring districts (Rushmoor and Mole Valley) and is much too small, since most people commute or travel far outside the Area to shop or study. This distorts the figures: no reason why Guildford needs to build nearly twice as many large housing estates as the rest of Surrey put together, or half of all sites over 100 units.
• High numbers involved would transform character of the borough from mainly rural/Green Belt to urban, creating a corridor of development out of London as per Woking or Croydon.

I strongly object to the creation of new north and south bound slip roads to and from the A3 to the A247 Clandon Road and Burnt Common (Policy No: A43A) - it is already impossible to drive into Guildford on any given afternoon from 16.00hrs onwards due to "sheer weight of traffic". The A3 to and from Guildford is already hugely over-used and any further increase in traffic would cause severe safety issues.

Another very serious matter that needs to be addressed is the fact that some of the proposed new sites are on land designated in the past as land which has been used as landfill and "refuse and slag-heap" land. This information has been collected from Ordnance Survey maps from the years 1963 to 1968. Surely to excavate these sites would, without doubt, bring severe health issues.

The infrastructure is totally inadequate for all of the associated new traffic which would inevitably come from the building of hundreds of new homes and, even worse, the planned industrial premises and factories and warehousing etc. We do not want articulated lorries speeding along our country lanes.

No funding has been made available, nor has any funding been agreed by the Highways Agency for new roads and infrastructure. This fact came to light at a local plan consultation meeting at which Mr. Spooner of Guildford Borough Council was present, with a colleague, both of whom confirmed that there are, as yet, no plans in place by the Highways Agency for new roads in this area.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I strongly object to the creation of new north and south bound slip roads to and from the A3 to the A247 Clandon Road and Burnt Common (Policy No: A43A) - it is already impossible to drive into Guildford on any given afternoon from 16.00hrs onwards due to "sheer weight of traffic". The A3 to and from Guildford is already hugely over-used and any further increase in traffic would cause severe safety issues.

Another very serious matter that needs to be addressed is the fact that some of the proposed new sites are on land designated in the past as land which has been used as landfill and "refuse and slag-heaps" land. This information has been collected from Ordnance Survey maps from the years 1963 to 1968. Surely to excavate these sites would, without doubt, bring severe health issues.

The infrastructure is totally inadequate for all of the associated new traffic which would inevitably come from the building of hundreds of new homes and, even worse, the planned industrial premises and factories and warehousing etc. We do not want articulated lorries speeding along our country lanes.

No funding has been made available, nor has any funding been agreed by the Highways Agency for new roads and infrastructure. This fact came to light at a local plan consultation meeting at which Mr. Spooner of Guildford Borough Council was present, with a colleague, both of whom confirmed that there are, as yet, no plans in place by the Highways Agency for new roads in this area.

Another very serious matter that needs to be addressed is the fact that some of the proposed new sites are on land designated in the past as land which has been used as landfill and "refuse and slag-heap" land. This information has been collected from Ordnance Survey maps from the years 1963 to 1968. Surely to excavate these sites would, without doubt, bring severe health issues.

Already, with no additional building, we are constantly flooded (even in the months of June and July 2016), as the drainage in the area is inadequate.

Other services in the local area are also inadequate for the number of homes and business which are already here - e.g. drainage, gas mains, electricity and water services.

Our schools are already over-crowded.

Our doctors surgeries are at "bursting -point". It takes several days to get to see a doctor at our local surgeries.

The infrastructure is totally inadequate for all of the associated new traffic which would inevitably come from the building of hundreds of new homes and, even worse, the planned industrial premises and factories and warehousing etc. We do not want articulated lorries speeding along our country lanes.

No funding has been made available, nor has any funding been agreed by the Highways Agency for new roads and infrastructure. This fact came to light at a local plan consultation meeting at which Mr. Spooner of Guildford Borough Council was present, with a colleague, both of whom confirmed that there are, as yet, no plans in place by the Highways Agency for new roads in this area.

These proposed new local plans are on areas of designated green-belt land which holds permanent green-belt status.

I write to register my strong objections to the new local plans for Surrey.

I object to the sites in the Horsleys, Send, Clandon, Ripley and all surrounding areas.

The proposed sites are neither adequate nor viable for building in such a huge capacity.

The roads approaching the A3/M25 Junctions are already gridlocked and could therefore not possibly cope with any additional traffic, obviously.

Roads and Transport

- The rail station car park is full during the week/working hours. If the village population were to increase, how would the car park/station facilities cope with the added strain? This also applied to the traffic movements to/from Horsley station to drop off/collect travellers, commuters and school children.
- Traffic generated from the proposed new development will be significant, given most households have on average 2 cars.
- Journey times will increase significantly on local roads, with jams exiting the A3 and A24 and through the villages.
The roads are already in a terrible state in terms of potholes. Added traffic will make this far worse.
I have huge concerns for safety as I am already too afraid to walk my daughter to and from school as pavements are often too narrow to get my son’s buggy down, cars drive too fast and in the winter months it is too dark due to no street lights.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Schools

• There is a significant lack of state primary school places in the village. Living less than 2 miles from The Raleigh School, we were unsuccessful in initially securing a place for our daughter in Reception. We were allocated Clandon CoFE. One of the reasons we moved to West Horsley, was for our children to attend the local village school, so we were shocked and saddened to face the reality of educating our child in another area. The Raleigh - which serves children from West and East Horsley - has been full every year for many years. I believe it is already a large village school with over 400 students. New families moving into the area would face a worse situation that us currently. I believe it would be detrimental to the education of our children for the school to increase in size and it clearly cannot cope with any more families in the local area applying for places.

• Howard of Effingham secondary school places are already limited and other secondary schools mean much longer commutes (in terms of both time and distance) from West Horsley village. The proposed increase in housing in West Horsley (and East Horsley) simply does not address the already acute shortage of local school places for existing residents/housing.

• Glenesk and Cranmore private schools situation in East and West Horsley are also at or very near full capacity each year. There is already a high volume of traffic to and from each school twice a day on Ockham Road North and the A246 respectively, from families that live outside of the area. This traffic added to the additional traffic as a result of the new housing, would result in gridlock.

Medical facilities

• Whilst we live in West Horsley, we can’t even use the local Medical Centre and have to travel to The Villagers Medical Centre in Send. Kingston Avenue Medical Centre in East Horsley already can’t serve existing local residents such as ourselves. Only a possible extension to Kingston Avenue is mentioned, it doesn’t sound sufficient given the existing situation.

• The planned population increase for the Borough (in excess of Government ONS forecasts) will require a major extension of the Royal Surrey Hospital to cope. Again, I know the hospital is fit to burst and has had requests for additional parking and amendments to the exit/entrance to the A3 denied.

Waste Water Infrastructure
• Roads surrounding West Horsley, leading into the village centre/towards school/station etc, regularly floods (at least 3 times a year). The road to Ripley (Ripley Lane/Rose Lane) also floods on a regular basis.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

Policy P1 - Presumption in favour of Sustainable Development, Policy S2 - Borough Wide Strategy, Policies H1&H2 - Homes for all & Affordable Homes

• Policy S2 states provision will be made for 13,800 new homes over the Plan Period 2013 - 2033. The number of homes it too high and unsustainable for Guildford’s villages. The Site Allocations list totals 12, 698

• West Horsley village expansion would be unsustainable for the proposed high number of new houses - we already have very limited local services (no post office, one small shop which is rumoured to be closing, barely any nearby parking, limited bus services)
• The proposed development of 385 homes on 4 proposed sites are at much higher densities than currently exist in the village - they will be out of character with existing densities and existing mix of housing styles. They won’t fit the village.

• The homes building proposals will not be sustainable in terms of roads capacity, shops, parking, schooling, drainage, parking in East Horsley (station and shops), or public transport.

• No proof has been put forward for why so many homes need to be built in West Horsley over the first 5 years of the plan period 2018 - 2033. In fact, The West Horsley Parish Council and Surrey Community Action Housing Survey : May 2014 identified a limited need for approximately 20 affordable homes for local people who want to remain in the village (young people and elderly downsizers).

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

In reference to: Policy P2 - Green Belt and the Countryside, and Policy P1 - Surrey Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB)

• The changes are unreasonable and will change the look, feel and environment of our village forever.

The proposed plan is not in-line with continuing to “protect the Metropolitan Green Belt against inappropriate development”

• I am opposed to West Horsley village being removed from the Green Belt by insetting and expanding the 2003 Local Plan Settlement Area boundaries. No justification is given, exceptional circumstance or otherwise, for the New Green Belt boundaries that will result from the proposed insetting of the two parts of the village from the Metropolitan Green Belt.

• The Green Belt and Countryside Study is flawed

• West Horsley’s current Settlement Area boundaries (ref 2003 Local Plan) do not need extending

• West Horsley receives a significant number of recreational visitors (including cyclists, and walkers) throughout the year. This is due to the current housing density settlements, variety of historic buildings and position on the north side of the North Downs, partly in the Surrey Hills AONB. The proposed plan would negatively affect the enjoyment gained by these visitors.

• The Key Evidence document ‘Guildford Borough Economic Strategy 2013-2031 does not make any case for locating large numbers of homes in West and East Horsley or neighbouring villages. In fact, the proposed new economic development site proposals are on the opposite side of the Borough to West Horsley!

1. I OBJECT to the proposed Infrastructure Schedule (Appendix C)

The Infrastructure Schedule sets out the key infrastructure requirements on which the delivery of the plan depends. For each of the Key Allocated Sites in the borough it identifies infrastructure projects that are required, except for Garlick’s Arch (A43) which is not mentioned. It is clear that the Plan takes no account of the infrastructure required for this site and does not therefore seem to have been properly considered or constructed.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ( )

1. I OBJECT to the strategic sites proposed in the draft Plan to be built in the Green Belt.

   1. I object to the identification and allocation of sites in this plan without regard to Green Belt, infrastructure or other constraints. The plan says that “allocating these sites does not grant planning permission for development.” However, each of the sites will be removed from the Green Belt and will be available in principle for development and non-Green Belt uses. The inclusion of these sites without detailed site by site justification shows contempt for the thousands of detailed comments the Council have received about individual sites ever since the Issues and Options consultation in 2013. The plan has hardly changed since the Council received 20,000 objections to its first draft plan in 2014. The Inspector considering the plan may conclude that the consultation has not been properly conducted.

   2. The housing needs assessment is flawed in various respects and overstates housing need. In addition since it was produced, the referendum Brexit decision has almost certainly reduced future housing need and rendered the previous assessment seriously out of date. As a result any assessment of Green Belt sites which took place to consider whether “exceptional circumstances” existed to outweigh the harm to the Green Belt was based on false premises and should be reconsidered.

3. Having determined housing need the Council was entitled to consider constraints before determining the housing number. I believe that the Council was required to give proper consideration to constraints. I also believe the Council did not properly consider constraints and that their decision making process was flawed and thus subject to being set aside by the Inspector.

4. I OBJECT to the Strategic Housing Market Assessment SHMA figure of 693 houses per annum in the borough being too high (Appendix D)
   ◦ A professional review by NMSS has concluded that, even basing the calculations on a period of stronger economic and student growth, the housing need figure should be revised down to 510 homes a year and the method changed to consider student housing need separately due to the distorting effects.
   ◦ The current SHMA inflates the proposed housing figure due to
     • failure to correct for errors in the historical data for international migration flows,
     • issues with the way it considers students and affordability and
     • flaws in the method for estimating the number of homes needed to support job growth.
   ◦ It is unacceptable that demographic and economic model assumptions have been withheld and cannot be checked making the process unaccountable.

The Plan’s proposed growth is based on the SHMA report. This concludes that 693 homes a year are required by the borough, it is over double the previous figure of 322 used in previous plans. The SHMA report methodology is I believe inaccurate; it inflates the needs of the borough by distorted student numbers. However, it is based on commercially confidential modelling assumptions that cannot be checked or reviewed. There is no transparency to this evidence base and it is therefore impossible to assess its accuracy. This is not democratic and is not appropriate for consultation of the Plan.

The National Planning Policy Framework allows the overall housing target to be reduced to take account of protected wildlife areas (e.g. Thames Basin Heath SPA), landscape areas (Surrey Hills AONB), Green Belt, flood risk and significant infrastructure constraints, all of which apply to Guildford. This local plan and the SHMA number have completely ignored these factors.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Policy A25

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A25 with proposals for Gosden Hill Farm.

The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from the edge of urban Guildford. Development here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt. If this development proceeds I believe the narrow strip of Green Belt remaining between Guildford and Clandon at this point will be too narrow and will come under further pressure.
It will represent an undesirable ribbon development along the A3. It will be highly visible from the A3 when approaching Guildford and will, in conjunction with A43a at Garlick's Arch give the appearance of almost continuous development from Send through to Guildford.

The Plan does not put forward any evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt.

The development will overburden the local road network and increase congestion on the A3 and A247 through the centre of West Clandon. This is already very heavily used whilst being unsuitable for designation as an A road. In places it is too narrow for two lorries to pass causing them to mount the pavement.

Note the following accident data:

2010 –2014 from Crashmap data

- Clandon Cross Roads Area to Bulls Head - 17 incidents
- Bulls Heads Head to Bennett Way - 8 incidents
- Bennett Way to Highcotts Lane - 15 incidents
- Tithebarns Lane to Portsmouth Road Birch Close - 8 incidents

2015

- 21 Oct 2015 – A247 near Shell garage - Three vehicles collided causing delays
  Surrey Fire and Rescue deployed.

2016

- 15 April 2016 12 year old boy injured in The Street – A247 closed in both directions
- 30 6 2016 Motorcyclists with injuries airlifted to hospital  Send Marsh Road

Attempts have been made over many years to reduce traffic, traffic speeds and accident risks through West Clandon, however little has been achieved as the road cannot be widened and SCC is reluctant to impose further speed limits as congestion is already very high.

I object most strongly to the proposal for a link road to bring traffic from the Gosden Hill development to the proposed 4 way junction at Burnt Common. This has the potential to generate large volumes of traffic (including commercial vehicles) on the A247 through West Clandon - a road which is already under traffic stress (see below).

The land in Gosden Hill does exactly what the Greenbelt was designed to achieve. It provides a green buffer between the Guildford Urban Area and West Clandon, gives Burpham a defined green boundary and breathing space and it hides Guildford town from visitors until they pass the off-slip to Burpham.

No exceptional circumstances have been demonstrated for building on this site and therefore it does not comply with paragraphs 87-89 of the NPPF. It stops the sprawl of Guildford town, assists in safeguarding the countryside from encroachment and assists in urban regeneration by encouraging the recycling of derelict and other urban land. All of these are requirements of the NPPF.

The scale of Gosden Hill is out of proportion to West Clandon. It would have four times the amount of housing plus shops, offices/factories, GP surgery, schools. Development on this scale would blight a historic village with a history going back to the doomsday book and beyond.

Gosden Hill is the most obvious location for the north end of an A3 tunnel. It has rising ground and is situated just before the urban area. If it is built on, it will be very difficult to construct a tunnel.

The development will generate in the region of 6,000 vehicles which will pour on to the A3 which is stationary every day during rush hours. The linking of the A3100, B2215 and A247 would channel thousands of cars through the narrow, winding road through West Clandon, a road where large lorries mount the pavement virtually every day and through Send and Ripley which are also severely constrained.

The volume of traffic will greatly increase air pollution which is particularly critical given the proposal to build two schools.

Currently, a two way junction at the site would require vehicles wanting to go north on the A3 to go through Burpham which is grid-locked every day.

The railway station was rejected by Guildford Borough Council in 1984 because it feared Gosden Hill would become a dormitory estate for London.

The wording of the Local Plan with regard to Gosden Hill is so loose that the developer could virtually do whatever it wants.

The remaining agricultural land between Gosden Hill and West Clandon is so small that it is highly likely to be uneconomic and therefore a prime candidate for further development which would roll the Guildford Urban Area over West Clandon towards East Clandon and Wisley.

If the Strategic Sites are developed, the north of Guildford will deliver 36%, 5,036 houses towards the total of around 14,000. The infrastructures of the existing villages and the A3 will be overwhelmed by the scale of development.

A new on-slip at Burpham would only be 1.8km from the on-slip at Burnt Common which is against Highway England’s requirement of 2km.

Development of the A3 at best will not start until after 2020 and the building of a tunnel, which is only an “aspiration” in the Local Plan, is likely to be many years after. In the meantime given that developers build houses to provide cash-flow for infrastructure, Gosden Hill will have a crippling effect on villages like West Clandon and the A3.

Gosden Hill already has surface water problems. Merrow Stream crosses the site. No hydrological survey has been carried out to assess the implications. Electricity pylons run through the centre of Gosden Hill which have health and safety issues.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy A43 and A43a on Garlick’s Arch. As a member of the Woodland Trust and someone with a deep concern for the environment at a local and a global level, I object vehemently to the likely damage to Ancient Woodland.

The site cannot possibly be considered as sustainable in any real sense, being far from any infrastructure facilities and transport links. The bus service is infrequent and it is almost certain any future residents will rely almost entirely on cars for journeys. Similarly any employees at the employment areas will almost undoubtedly arrive and leave by car.

The site is susceptible to flooding and will not make a suitable site.
The Green Belt at this point serves the important function of separating West Clandon from Send. Building here will cause the two to coalesce defeating one of the objectives of the Green Belt.

I have seen no evidence that exceptional circumstances exist to justify removing this site from the Green Belt or that this important issue has been addressed. The Green Belt and Countryside study did not even consider this site.

It is understood the Council's eyes may have been turned by the possibility of receiving for free the land which might be used for new A3 slip roads in return for allowing this development, thus justifying it as some form of enabling development. However the slip road land if needed could be safeguarded in the plan and acquired by compulsory purchase when required. Lack of current funding for the slip road is not a justification for allowing the development of this site. If the slip road is genuinely needed then government funding will be available for it.

The development will cause harm to the ancient woodland on and by the site.

Taken together with the Gosden Hill site, there will be a ribbon of development along the A3 in contrast to the current “soft” edge approach to Guildford.

Garlick’s Arch has previously been protected from development as Green Belt. Under the Plan it is proposed that the site will be developed for approximately 400 homes (C3) and up to 7,000 sq m of either or a mix of light industrial (B1c), general industrial (B2) and storage and distribution (B8). There are no exceptional circumstances which allow for the removal of this land from the Green Belt (Policy P2).

The Plan states the preference is to making the best use of previously developed land. Yet at the 11th hour a perfectly acceptable brown field site at Burnt Common, capable of accommodating approximately 100 houses, was removed from the Plan and replaced with the Garlick’s Arch site. There was no proper consultation in relation to the inclusion of this site. Why was a brownfield site removed and replaced with a Greenfield site? There is no evidence that Section 18 of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004, which requires local planning authorities to produce a Statement of Community Involvement, has been complied with for this site. This only came to light for local residents following a Council meeting on 11th May 2016.

Moreover, Guildford Borough Council’s own Green Belt & Countryside Report does not address Garlick’s Arch at all, so there is no evidence base to support the inclusion of this site.

National Planning Policy promotes sustainable developments, with sustainable transport. With ever reducing bus services in the area and no train station within reasonable walking distance it is impossible for any development on this site to offer a sustainable transport solution. Development on this site is wholly inappropriate (Policy I3).

This site is bordered by Ancient Woodland and within a number of trees are protected by Tree Preservation Orders (Policy D3). The site has an abundance of wildlife, some of which are protected. It is home to many types of owls and bats, with the woods having cuckoos and woodpeckers. In addition there are regular sightings of badgers, deer and red kites. The development of the site will result in the loss of habitat. No wildlife report has been conducted on the site. (Policy I4)

I OBJECT to the inclusion of the land for new on/off ramps at Burnt Common (A43a)

The addition north facing ramps to the A3 at Burnt Common would be a disaster for local communities. There is no requirement for local traffic to access the A3 to the north, but the addition will draw in a huge amount of ‘through’ traffic.

The route from London/M25 to Woking or would now be through Burnt Common and Send. Equally traffic from the east of Guildford (Merrow etc) and the A25 will now go through West Clandon and Burnt Common. This will cause immense damage to those areas on small roads which cannot be improved.

I OBJECT to Policy D4 - Development in urban areas and inset villages

The policy should place much greater emphasis on residential development in the existing urban centres. In this way housing needs can be met without resorting to large developments in the Green Belt. There are urban areas in need of regeneration but these are ignored in favour of Green Belt development.

The policy should not be applied to the villages which should remain in the Green Belt. Unrestricted application of this policy to the villages intended to be inset will change their characters radically and for the worse. The development it encourages will increase traffic and congestion disproportionately.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to the sustainable employment policy (Policy E1)

I object to the inclusion of a strategic employment site at Gosden Hill Farm. Employment sites should be concentrated on previously developed land in more sustainable locations with good transport links where the infrastructure can support development. Warehousing, distribution and industrial premises cause considerable commercial traffic, noise, pollution and general disruption. They are not good neighbours for schools and 2000 houses. Many of the jobs will be taken by people outside the area leading to additional congestion in Burpham and on the A3.

The site is in any event subject to frequent flooding and unsuitable for development.

If developed, the new employment site at Garlick’s Arch, Send Marsh/Burnt Common (A43), would be treated as a Strategic Employment Site.

The Garlick’s Arch site which is in the Green Belt should not be developed as a Strategic Employment Site when there is a suitable alternative brownfield site very close by, which is far more sustainable.

I OBJECT to the loss of rural employment (Policy E5)

Policy E5 supports the retention and development of local services and community facilities in our inset and identified villages. Yet the development at Garlick’s Arch (A43) would result in the loss of four existing successful rural businesses, which have been in existence for over 30 years and another two businesses for over 9 years. These businesses employ dozens of people; none of them want to leave their premises. The Plan does not promote rural employment; rather it will result in the loss of existing local rural businesses.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E6 - The leisure and visitor experience.

The policy should acknowledge that whilst in some areas new and enhanced leisure facilities are valuable (for example the new Opera House at West Horsley Place), much tourism depends on the undeveloped nature of Green Belt areas surrounding Guildford. Accordingly the policy should recognize that in many rural areas new and enhanced visitor facilities may be unnecessary and counterproductive, particularly away from existing buildings and development. For example the attraction of Newlands Corner is its undeveloped nature. Significant development of visitor facilities there is likely to diminish rather than increase its attractions. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Tourism and visitors do not depend on new visitor “attractions” and could actually be damaged by them, as compellingly argued in the current debate over Newlands Corner. In this policy, the presumption in favour of development runs the risk of becoming an excuse for overdevelopment/“Disneyfication”. Heritage sites and the Green Belt are particularly vulnerable to harm.

Guildford has many “leisure and visitor attractions” already. The case for creating more is not made and no examples are given. Instead, the plan’s explicit priorities should be:

1. To protect the borough’s prime leisure and tourism asset, its countryside, from inappropriate development. This is all the more valuable because of its accessibility from London, the rest of Britain and the Continent, in that order. Rural residents are its custodians and require no Council interference. Economically, the most valuable forms of tourism, such as walking and cycling, require no new development. In the overcrowded South-East of England, lack of development is a leisure and tourism asset, not a liability.

2. To help make Guildford’s river landscape less off-putting and support town-break packages for high-value tourists. To achieve this, the policy needs to define what leverage, if any, Council planners have to influence normal tourism market mechanisms.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy E7 Guildford Town Centre

The policy “vision” describes protecting the Guildford’s unique setting and historical character and sets out some of the ways this will be done. However none of this is included in the formal Policy wording in the blue box. I suspect the Vision wording is effectively of little or any force. These principles should be included in the formal policy.

There should be a much greater focus on residential use of the town centre where many people would like to live and where the necessary amenities and infrastructure exist. The policy misses the opportunity to propose forward looking sustainable residential development plans in, for example the Walnut Tree Close area, where very significant numbers of new homes could be provided. Such town centre sites could meet much of the housing need over the plan period without harming the countryside.

There is an urgent need for a strategy to focus on brownfield redevelopment before considering development outside the existing urban area.

The policy does not address any of the major issues raised by the Council’s own Town Centre Master Plan, the Guildford Vision Group’s proposal for new river and rail crossings or plans for the redevelopment of Guildford Station, all of which are already the subject of public discussion.

The policy also fails to provide guidance on design requirements, as required by the NPPF.

The policy and surrounding text concentrates too much on shopping without regard to its nature which risks a proliferation of dull high-street chain stores. The policy should seek to enhance Guildford’s character and encourage a wider variety of small shops including locally owned businesses and shops of use to consumers. (For example there is no butcher in Guildford.)

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to Policy H1 – Homes for all. Numbers aside, all the policy in the blue box says is that the Council will encourage building over the plan period. It fails to set rules on important issues such as constraints and density, and is not specific enough to provide a practical framework for planning decisions.

The housing mix is based on out-of-date, pre-Brexit projections and on assumptions set out in a flawed SHMA that has not been scrutinised or evaluated.

I support higher density development in the urban area, without resorting to dehumanising, high-rise buildings that developers commonly claim are necessary for financial viability. Much of Guildford town could usefully be regenerated with 4-5 storey blocks with landscaping and underground parking, as often seen on the Continent and, recently, in London.

Student accommodation should provided for 100% of new students and more than 60% of existing students, which would free up ideal family accommodation in the urban area.

Please note, however, that I support policy H1 as regards travellers’ sites. This strikes me as sensible and I believe that other objectors are influenced by negative prejudices about travellers as people rather than an objective and considered response to the development and planning issues involved.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this policy on affordable homes (Policy H2) on the grounds of feasibility and that it should be more firm and explicit on unviability in paragraph 4.2.40.

It should be noted in the plan that because of Guildford's relative popularity as a place to live combined with its location close to others towns and within the London Commuter belt no amount of building will meet demand. Similarly no amount of affordable housing will ever meet demand.

In addition the definition of an ‘affordable home’ is 80% of market value. With even a 2 bedroom flat in Guildford now having a market value of +£360,000 the discounted price is still not going to be affordable to anyone on a normal income.

I OBJECT to Policy H3 – Rural Exception Homes, as this Trojan horse policy. It says that homes can be built anywhere near a settlement of any form (including agricultural land and the AONB). These homes are meant for people with a village connection, but they could be for anyone on the Guildford borough housing list. To make the housing viable, or to improve the “mix” this can include “market” housing (i.e. normal commercial development which in Guildford usually means large executive homes). This policy means building anywhere, and ignoring all historic planning restrictions.

The blue-box policy wording needs explicitly to limit rural exception to cases of demonstrable, unfilled, local need that cannot otherwise be met. It also needs to make it clear that the NPPF (especially paragraphs 87-89) fully applies, including the need to prove “exceptional circumstances.”

The wording of the policy is far too wide and drives a coach and horses though all other aspects of planning policy. As drafted the planning authority could be obliged to grant permission for inappropriate and unsuitable developments.

The wording provides no ability to balance the desirability of the development against other considerations including harm to the Green Belt or the AONB. (If the housing would meet identified need and adjoins a settlement under this policy wording permission would have to be granted even in the most sensitive AONB location, even if more suitable locations are available.) The policy should include the need for a balancing exercise including consideration whether more suitable locations exist.

I OBJECT, due to the congestion that development will cause to the local village roads and the lack of road infrastructure (Policy I1)

Our villages are already suffering from severe congestion for much of the day, for example the Newark Road & Rose Lane junction in the centre of Ripley and the A247 through West Clandon. The proposed development under the plan will cause greater congestion in and around our villages. The Plan does not provide an achievable strategy for improving capacity on these local roads.

Furthermore, many of the country lanes around the villages of Ripley, Send and Clandon are narrow and wide enough for only one vehicle at a time. In addition, the road surfaces are in a poor condition.
I OBJECT to the development proposed in the local plan, which will result in more traffic using these narrow roads and a further deterioration in the road surfaces.

Many of the affected villages, such as West Clandon, already suffer from traffic congestion. Further development around these villages will only result in more traffic and more parking problems.

With some 5,000 houses being proposed close to the village of Ripley, the roads serving the village will become even more congested.

Cycling has become an ever popular past time, particularly at weekends hundreds of cyclists pass through the villages on the way to the Surrey Hills. With no proper cycle lanes on the narrow local roads surrounding the village and with greater vehicle traffic being generated from these developments there is a real danger that there will be an increase in road accidents involving cyclists as a result of the development proposed under the local plan.

The narrow rural roads do not have proper pedestrian footpaths. The proposed significant levels of development will result in the road becoming ever more dangerous for pedestrians.

The council has a statutory obligation to protect the public and the additional traffic flows will bring added accidents, noise, pollution and injury of the public. In the case of West Clandon the Street often only has a narrow footpath on one side of the road making it very dangerous, especially when vehicles mount the pavements.

This policy as it is inappropriate and inadequate and fails to respond to the challenges raised by the proposed significant Green belt developments. The borough’s infrastructure is already heavily strained. However the plan’s determination to build large housing estates across the Guildford countryside significantly increases the need for infrastructure investment without securing the means for its provision. Placing housing in the established urban areas would reduce the need for enhanced infrastructure as would a more realistic housing number.

Adequate infrastructure provision is a pre-condition of sustainable development. But in this plan it is an afterthought buried away in Policy I1. By prioritizing greenfield over urban, brownfield regeneration, the plan creates insurmountable (and unnecessary) obstacles for itself. Common sense suggests a local plan should first assess the borough’s infrastructure capacity for sustainable development, and then tailor development accordingly. This plan, however, assumes infrastructure will follow on the heels of housebuilding as if by magic. It makes implementation critically dependent on providers outside the Council’s control and on the vagaries of CIL income. Instead of recognizing this as a key constraint, the plan is based on hope. It is also highly likely that developers faced with the imposition of large infrastructure requirements will go to court to invoke the NPPF provision that prevents authorities from imposing conditions that make a development non-viable.

Policy I1 requires the delivery of improvements to infrastructure in conjunction with development. I have grave concerns over the planning of the infrastructure requirements and that the projects identified will be implemented when required, if at all.

Despite the Garlick’s Arch site (A43) being a significant site for development, no infrastructure projects have been identified in the Infrastructure Schedule. Without improvements to the infrastructure prior to development, the existing residents’ in the locality will see their quality of life significantly deteriorate in many ways.

Many of the utilities in the Ripley and Send area are at, or very close to capacity, such as the electrical network and sewers. No plans to improve these services should mean no development of the Garlick’s Arch site.

Without proper planning and a commitment to fund new healthcare facilities, existing services such as the Villages Medical Centre, Send will have their services stretched and overwhelmed. Many of these services are already at capacity and suffering from funding cuts or freezes. Any further development without funding will place further stress upon existing health services.

Police services are seeing funding reduced. The development of the proposed 13,860 homes during the plan period will stretch the police services further and is unsustainable.

There is no provision of the increased capacity of Guildford hospital, where is this assessed and remedied?

Road infrastructure represents a major constraint that should have been applied to the housing target at a much earlier stage in the plan process and not left as an unresolved difficulty in the draft plan.

There is no certainty that either the A3 or M25 in the borough will be improved to increase capacity and reduce congestion during the Plan period. Highways England has no plans to even examine improving the A3 before 2020. I have considerable concerns that development of the large residential sites identified at Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill (A25), will take place before any improvements are made to the trunk road network. The A3 & M25 are already at capacity during peak hours and any development prior to improvement of these roads will only make the situations worse.

I OBJECT to poor air quality concerns (Policy I3)

Paragraph 4.6.27 of the Plan states that “Development must also mitigate its traffic impacts, including its environmental impacts and impacts on amenity and health.” The significant level of development being proposed, particularly in the north east of the borough will lead to considerable further congestion, despite any attempts to mitigate this through travel plans. This will be particularly acute in built up residential areas and will only lead to greater levels of air pollution, which will have a detrimental effect on local residents and their health and can result in early death.

I OBJECT to not protecting the Green Belt (Policy P2)

This policy does not sufficiently safeguard the Green Belt even though Green Belt constitutes 89% of the borough and should be the cornerstone of all local planning policy. The Green Belt is not the Council’s to give away and once it is gone it is gone forever. Sacrificing areas of the Green Belt to a developer influenced growth agenda is a betrayal of future generations and does not constitute sustainable development.

I do not see a justification for the apparently exceptional circumstances that might justify amendment of Green Belt boundaries.

I note that the Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5 states that "... the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental impact on the Green Belt." This is demonstrably untrue and I consider this to be a deliberate untruth which compromises the consultation process. I would ask that the consultation process be restarted after the correction has been given the same distribution as the original statement. (I assume the document was delivered to most houses in the Borough.) I reserve the right to argue before the inspector that the consultation process was flawed and ineffective because of this.

I object to the “insetting” of 14 villages from the Green Belt. Contrary to assertions made in the Plan process many of these villages do contribute to the openness of the Green Belt and there is no need to inset them.

I also object to the wholesale extensions to the settlement boundaries in many villages to allow for infilling and that infilling is also proposed outside the settlement boundaries of 11 further villages. Many Guildford villages are linear. It is all too easy to square off boundaries by including countryside bounded on only one or two sides by existing development, claiming it contributes nothing to the “openness” of the Green Belt, a term which neither the plan nor the NPPF defines. The NPPF’s other 4 tests of Green Belt status, including the prevention of urban sprawl, are ignored. Effectively, this policy makes all villages within the Green Belt vulnerable to large blocks of new development and seems almost calculated to secure the rejection of the plan as a whole.

To “inset” two-thirds of the borough’s rural villages on the grounds that they no longer contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt is extreme and inherently implausible, given the borough’s location on the edge of Metropolitan London. I cannot see how such extensive areas fail to contribute to the purposes of the Green Belt under the NPPF, but this could quickly be the case if the proposed “insetting” and boundary extensions go ahead.

In addition I OBJECT to the proposals to remove from the Green Belt the so called ‘strategic sites’ of Wisley Airfield (A35), Gosden Hill Farm (A25) and Garlick’s Arch (A43) and all other strategic sites. National Planning Policy requires there to be an exceptional circumstance for the Green Belt boundaries to be altered, or the development on Green Belt. There are no exceptional circumstances for these sites and villages (as mere housing need does not constitute a ‘special circumstance’) to be taken from the Green Belt. Once taken from the green belt they will be lost forever.

Rather than developing Garlick’s Arch, there is an existing brownfield site just to the south of the site at Burnt Common, with surplus land that could accommodate a further development.

I OBJECT to development in areas which are at risk of flooding (Policy P4)

National Planning Policy states that Local Plans should take account of climate change over the longer term, including factors such as flood risk. It goes on to say that new development should be planned to avoid increased vulnerability to the range of impacts arising from climate change.

The Plan states that in accordance with national planning practice guidance, the Level 1 SFRA has been used to guide development towards areas at the lowest risk of flooding and identify areas unsuitable for development. However, the document concludes that land outside of the area of flood risk is not capable of accommodating all of the borough’s identified development needs.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I OBJECT to this Policy as the development proposed will not be sustainable (Policy S1)

The NPPF states that the presumption in favour of sustainable development “should be seen as a golden thread running through both plan-making and decision-taking.” As the first policy in the Plan, Policy S1 ought to set a clear framework. Instead, no definition of “sustainable development” is given. The policy also fails to set out any principles for applying sustainable development in practice to local planning decisions, which often have serious long-term impacts.

The policy states that it aims “to secure development that secures the economic, social and environmental conditions in the area”. This fails to recognize that economic growth, social justice and environmental protection often conflict. The policy does not say how each element is to be weighted or conflicts resolved. As a practical guide to the planning decision to be taken in the Plan period it is seriously deficient. It seems to be that virtually any development will qualify as “sustainable”, in breach of the NPPF’s most important guideline.

Policy S1 is also seriously deficient in making no mention of the Green Belt. Policy S1 should include a commitment to protect the Green Belt from inappropriate development and to uphold Green Belt boundaries and protections. This would set at least one clear boundary to planning decisions.

The commitment to approve planning applications “wherever possible” and “without delay” reveals the pro-development bias of the plan. Countervailing references to sustainability are so vague that the NPPF presumption in favour of sustainable development becomes a presumption in favour of any development at all.
This policy also ignores, as if they are inconvenient constraints, most of the 12 Core Planning Principles set out in NPPF paragraph 17.

The development of 13,860 homes during the Plan period is not sustainable. It will have a permanently detrimental impact existing local communities by over-development, particularly for the area around my village of East Clandon.

I specifically do not accept that the strategic sites of Wisley Airfield (A35), Garlick’s Arch (A43) and Gosden Hill Farm (A25) are in any way sustainable. Wisley will just lead to a large increase in traffic on the A3, and the first two sites do not have railway stations. Greater consideration should be given to increasing the density of development in urban areas, such as Guildford, where more practical sustainable transport options can be provided.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I wish to register my strong objection to the draft local plan and in particular its approach to the concept of sustainable development. In my opinion the plan's definition of what is sustainable is miles away from any reasonable interpretation of the term.

Attached is a more detailed response.

I have no doubt that you will have received many similar ones, written with encouragement of protest groups. Given the huge size of the document, the complexities involved, and how busy people's lives are these days, that is hardly surprising. But I would urge you strongly not to try to dismiss my, or anyone else's, response on those grounds. I have taken a great deal of time to read through the suggested submissions in detail, have many numerous changes to them to reflect my particular concerns and have removed sections that I do not agree with.

Please note, for example, that contrary to other objectors, I support policy H1 as regards travellers' sites. The proposal strikes me as sensible and I believe that other objectors are influenced by negative prejudices about travellers as people rather than a properly considered response to the development and planning issues that are involved.

I would urge you to bear this explanation in mind when dealing with my remaining objections.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 1: The evidence base and submission documents
I do not agree that the evidence used for the Proposed Submission Local Plan Strategy and Sites is adequate, up-to-date and relevant.

The fundamental driving forces for much of the development proposed in the Plan (particularly that on Green Belt land) are based on:

1. An excessive ambition to expand the local economy which is neither warranted nor wanted by the local population. Guildford is already one of the highest ‘value creation’ areas in the country and has one of the lowest unemployment rates. There is no evidence that massive and accelerated expansion is required.

1. SHMA figures which are neither transparent nor justifiable, especially in view of previous figures set. Independent assessments of the SHMA (eg from Guildford Residents’ Association and David Reeve) show it is set far too high and so cannot be said to be adequate, up to date or relevant.

In addition the recent vote to leave the EU and the impact this will have on the economy and migration have not been taken into account.

The Plan should be re-assessed and the methodology for arriving at housing need figures should be fully transparent.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 2: Legal compliance

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be legally compliant because it mainly ignores the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan it is claimed to be based on.

That consultation process was absolutely clear by some +20,000 responses that that Plan was flawed and no development should be carried out on Green Belt land.

Instead this 2016 draft Plan actually increases the number of dwellings being built on the Green Belt, in direct contradiction to the consultation process, yet is stated to be a Regulation 19 proposal.

As a result I do not see how the 2016 draft Plan can be Legally Compliant.

The 2016 draft Plan should be re-assessed and should take into account the views of the majority of responses from the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan.

Document: Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites 2016 / Question 3: Soundness

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole to be sound, because, but not limited to, the following reasons:

1. “Only sites that propose sustainable solutions have been included in the Plan and the Plan rejects any schemes that would have a detrimental effect on the green belt.” Summer 2016 edition of "About Guildford" (published by the Council) on page 5. This is demonstrably untrue and appears designed to bias the consultation process.

2. The housing OAN figure has been calculated by a process which is not transparent. It has not been properly examined by Councillors before being adopted.

3. The OAN has been adopted as the housing number without the application of any constraints to take account of Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt, AONB and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.

4. The draft Plan does not accord with the NPPF policies on protecting the Green Belt. Exceptional circumstances need to be shown to justify removing areas from the Green Belt and this has not been done. The housing need number is not justification in itself according to published ministerial statements Having properly calculated an OAN, constraints should be applied to it to reflect the Green Belt, AONB and infrastructure. Each proposed Green Belt site then needs to be justified on its own merits. The benefits of the proposed development need to be identified together with the harm to the Green Belt. Only if there are exceptional circumstances and following a proper balancing exercise demonstrating that these exceptional circumstances outweigh the harm to the Green Belt can the proposal proceed. The draft Plan does not demonstrate that this has been done. The housing number has been used as a blanket justification for all Green Belt sites-which amount to 65% of the proposed housing number.

1. Whatever the justification for the assumptions made in calculating the OAN, those assumptions are now almost certainly incorrect following the referendum.

2. The housing number is at least twice the achieved rate of building in the Borough over the last few years. There is no evidence in the Plan to show that this rate is achievable and sustainable.

3. Much of the infrastructure required to support the level of development proposed is outside the Council’s control. The Infrastructure Plan is long on possibilities and aspirations and very short on commitments. The infrastructure requirements placed on developers are supposed to be in place before development commences. This is utterly unrealistic and indicates a lack of knowledge of developer’s business models which depend on positive cash flow. It seems very clear that at best, infrastructure provision will seriously lag development and leave higher levels of congestion than now. This will reduce the quality of life for residents through congestion and disruption.

4. The 40-45% requirement for affordable homes together with infrastructure such as railway stations, park and ride facilities, schools and roads is highly likely to be challenged on a site by site basis by developers using the NPPF provision that Councils cannot impose conditions which make development non-viable.
1. GBC has not included details of its Town Centre Master Plan and urban development proposals in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
2. GBC has failed to provide an Infrastructure Report in time for and as a part of the Guildford Local Plan consultation
3. GBC has proposed an OAN of 693 houses per annum in the GL Hearn West Surrey Strategic Housing Market Assessment (SHMA) which many, including independent assessors, consider unsound
4. Highways England will not start to consider what it intends to do as regards the A3 in the vicinity of Guildford until 2018
5. Network Rail have not made available for the public consultation any plans for a new railway station at Merrow with an adjacent Park & Ride for 1,000 cars
6. The GBC proposals for Gosden Hill Farm do not appear to be in coordination with the Neighbourhood Plan for Burpham
7. The draft Local Plan will cause further linear development along the A3 between Burpham and West Clandon PC and encroachment onto open Green Belt countryside in clear conflict with the National Planning Policy Framework
8. The proposal for Garlick's Arch was added to the draft Local Plan without any prior consultation under Regulation 18.
9. The Land Availability Assessment (LAA) indicates a range of planning difficulties for Gosden Hill Farm and Burpham which have to be met by the developer involved. These include Electricity Grid supply problems and foul sewage and surface water issues that suggest the development proposed cannot easily be implemented both technically and financially.
10. No adequate explanation is given as to how the aspirational proposal for a tunnel will be used to overcome traffic issues relating to the quality of life and amenity of Burpham, West Clandon, Send and Ripley citizens
11. In common with many others I do not believe the housing figure has been properly calculated and I believe it overstates housing need. The Council has prevented councilors or others from properly considering the SHMA by refusing to make public the basis on which it was drawn up.
12. The housing figure, when properly recalculated, should be subject to constraints to reflect Guildford's circumstances, including in particular the Green Belt and road infrastructure. National policy permits such constraints to be applied and it is inappropriate not to consider the need to do this.
13. Even once a housing number has been calculated it cannot be used to justify taking land out of the Green Belt on a wholesale basis.
14. Cast iron commitment should be included in the plan that development can only commence when required infrastructure improvements have been secured.
15. The status of the text which accompanies each policy box is not clear. If the accompanying text does not have the force of policy a number of the policies (i.e. the text in blue) are so vague and general that they commit the Council to very little.

The draft Plan should be re-assessed with housing on brownfield sites made a priority over commercial development and Greenfield sites and each of the above points addressed.

Do you consider this section of the document; complies with the Duty to Cooperate? ( ), is Sound? ( ), is Legally Compliant? ( )

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()
I do not consider the Proposed Submission Local Plan: strategy and sites as a whole has complied with the Duty to cooperate.

This 2016 draft of the Local Plan clearly demonstrates Guildford Borough Council’s refusal to co-operate with the wishes and requirements of the vast majority of the residents in its Borough.

The Council has failed to co-operate with the results of the consultation process for the 2014 draft Plan which was meant to inform and guide this 2016 draft Plan.

Despite campaigning on a clear statement ‘Conservatives Say Green Belt To Stay’, the ruling party on GBC is now intent on pushing through a Plan which will devastate Green Belt land and extend the Guildford Urban Area to further merge into surrounding rural villages.

This is not cooperation by any definition.

In addition the Council has failed to cooperate in providing any transparency to the housing need figures commissioned by the Council from GL Hearn.

The 2016 draft Local Plan should be reassessed with a reviewed and transparent SHMA and revised to reflect the views of the residents of the Borough, who pay for Guildford Borough Council to act in their interests, and not those of developers and central government.

Objection to Blackwell Farm Development/Normandy

The impact on Wanborough from such a large numbers of houses, commercial, retail and community uses such as schools etc. is cause for concern as to how the surrounding area will cope. The current infrastructure around Wanborough is creaking and this would introduce a high level of new traffic into probably the most congested part of the county. The current drawings do not give details of any major transport improvements but it is identified within the local plan that this will be an issue. It would be reassuring to have some clear plan as to what this might look like but at this stage it is no more than speculation.

The requirement for this amount of homes is based on the SHMA which assess the housing need going forwards and these figures are disputed, however if we assume that the numbers are correct the plan to provide such large numbers of homes in one place will put a heavy burden on a small area, though the two sites are not directly connected the large housing increase suggested for Normandy village would presumably see a very marked increase in traffic traveling through Wanborough to get to the main trunk routes of the A31 and A3. Development within villages in the Green Belt is supposed to be limited to small scale infilling, which Normandy is definitely not.

In the local plan there are some clear statements as to the type and mix of houses to be provided, on any development of 5 or more homes, or sites of 0.17 ha regardless of number of homes, 40% of all homes on the sites must be affordable homes and developers will be expected to provide land for affordable homes at nil value.

It is stated that permission will not be granted for developments that would result in net loss of any affordable homes that were secured by planning obligation or condition. This provision is based on the fact that it has been assessed that 50% of all households over the plan period will not be able to buy or rent homes without assistance.

Developers will be required to meet the costs of affordable housing and are expected to take this into account when agreeing the price paid for the site. This will mean that the 60% of houses built for Market Homes will need to cover this cost making them ever more expensive and out of reach of many local people.

Blackwell Farm Type and Mix

No indication is given for the what will actually be built, however the council has given an assessment of the demographic between affordable and market homes which fall into two categories:-

Affordable homes - there is a need for 40% one bed, 30% two bed, 25% three bed and 5% 4 bed. This would lead you to believe that the affordable need is not in family homes with 70% of the housing being one and two bed.

Market Homes - there is a need for 10% one bed, 30% two bed, 40% three bed and 20% four bed. This would lead you to believe that there is greater need for family homes with 60% of the housing being three and four bed

Blackwell Farm - mixed used development 1800 homes (Based on the split above)

Affordable 720 – 288 one bed, 216 two bed, 180 three bed, 36 four bed.

Market Homes 1080 – 108 one bed, 324 two bed, 432 three bed, 216 four bed

Total 1800 – 396 one bed, 540 two bed, 612 three bed, 252 four bed

The very high levels of one and two bed within the affordable sector could be due to the projected high levels of student accommodation that will be needed if the university continues to grow, Surrey University should be responsible for housing any increase in student numbers on its own campus. It should not be taking away lower cost accommodation stock from local people.
The increase in housing at both the ends of the parish boundary will have an effect on the people living within Wanborough. How detrimental this will actually be depends on how well thought out the infrastructure plan is, GBC/SCC/Highways record in this area over the last few years has been poor.

I would like to object to the proposed local plans and do not agree with the scale at which Guildford Borough Council is planning to build.

I was born and raised in West Horsley, and attended The Raleigh and Howard of Effingham schools. My greatest joy is seeing how the villages and local area have continued to thrive while still maintaining their natural beauty, green space and historical integrity.

Having said this, the Horsleys are at capacity with regards to certain facilities and have been for a number of years. Namely, the train station carpark, doctors surgery, parking at local shops and schools. The proposed plans to increase the housing in this area are ludicrous if there is inadequate infrastructure to support this growth. The only primary school in the village will not be able to cope with the proposed 150 additional children as it is already at capacity. The proposals do not suggest how this will be dealt with.

Finally, I would like to highlight that some parts of the villages are already in disrepair as a result of current usage (roads, pavements, drains) and I do not see how these will be improved with the addition of hundreds more houses in the immediate area. This must be recognised and addressed. There is frequent flooding on the roads from blocked drains and the roads are very dangerous at certain points due to being narrow and without road markings.

In conclusion, I understand the need for future development and forward planning for the area but the proposed plans are too wide-ranging, too large and do not adequately take into account how existing infrastructure will cope. I wholeheartedly believe the proposed plans will have a detrimental impact on what I consider to be two of the most beautiful and historically important villages the country.

Answer (if comment is on questions 1-7 of the questionnaire): ()

I write to OBJECT to the above proposal.

The need for a school

I cannot find any exceptional evidence to prove the need for a secondary school.

Even if Normandy was extended by 175%, the number of pupils at such a school who actually come from Normandy would be around 12% - and that is on the assumption that new housing is taken up by families with school children (and not the older, retired ABC1s and downsizers who typify this area). This means a massive 88% / 1320 pupils would have to commute in from other areas not less than 2.8 miles away to over 6 miles away. It is my opinion that a school should be located closest to wherever the majority of its pupils live. This is also reflected in the usual admissions criteria, where pupils are admitted on an “as the crow flies” shortest distance to their homes. Wherever possible the school commute should be in safe walking or cycling distance for the majority of pupils.

I have carefully reviewed all the surrounding schools in the areas of Guildford, Ash, Tongham and Blackwell Farm – their intake, capacity to extend and most importantly, the distances of each “as the crow flies” the shortest distance to pupils’ homes being the key admissions criteria, vs. the site at Normandy. For test purposes I took at central postcode on Glaziers Lane and Central / High street postcode in the areas reviewed.

Key findings include:

1. Families already have a choice of 2 to 4 or more schools in each of the areas, where at least 2 secondary schools are within 1.5 miles of the central postcode of each area. By comparison the distance to the site at Normandy is 2.8 miles or more.
2. almost 85% of existing surrounding schools within each area are undersubscribed; one is only at 43% capacity and has 511 spaces. As such the opening of a school at Normandy would be detrimental to the intake and sustainability of these schools and in turn, itself.
3. 45% of all schools are already extending or have the capacity to extend further. As birthrates in the area continue to fall, and home schooling continues to rise, it would be foolish to build another school until there is an actual proven need. It would be a better use of money and ultimately to the respective communities to proceed with caution and extend the existing schools, should the requirement present itself.
4. Almost 18% of schools reviewed are new and will provide 1320 additional spaces by 2018.

The impact of a school

A secondary school in Normandy would be detrimental to the sustainability of existing schools as the majority are undersubscribed.

A secondary school at site A46 can only be accessed by road or train. There are no safe cycle or walking routes due to the speed and narrowness of the highways, many have no pavements either given the rural location.

Where will the bulk of pupils come from?

Tongham, 4.4 miles away from site A46. There is no train station. Pupils will have to be driven via the severely gridlocked A31 Hogs Back Blackwell Farm 4.7 miles away from site A46 - there is no train station. Pupils will have to be driven via the gridlocked A31 Hogs Back.

Guildford – pupils can get the train if they live in the town centre but if they are North Guildford they will need to be driven via the heavily congested A323 Guildford Road or dropped into Guildford town centre, which would exacerbate the already severe congestion at Guildford station gyratory. (N.B your proposal to increase train services on the Guildford to Aldershot line will also further impede the flow of traffic on the A323, since a cause of the long queues is the level crossing at Ash). Driving to and from Guildford town centre on a school run would not become costly and unsustainable for many – a round trip journey from Guildford to Normandy and back takes around 1.5 hours or more at peak time via the Hogs Back.

Ash – 2.8 miles away from site A46 – pupils can get the train if they are in walking distance however it is likely many would be driven further exacerbating traffic issues on the A323 Guildford Road which was identified in OGSTAR (Options Growth Scenarios Transport Assessment Report) study as being at full capacity already, without the addition of a couple of thousand more cars at peak time.

The existing highways infrastructure

Site A46 is surrounded on each side by -
Glaziers Lane; a mile long D60 unclassified country road which is a corridor (no roads off it) with few pavements and low intermittent street lighting (as it is a rural area). Westwood Lane; a C16 country road with a small angled railway bridge and blind spot which reduces traffic to single file. There are few pavements and little or no street lighting too. These roads see many accidents with vehicles leaving the road in many cases. Increasing the traffic on these will result in many more accidents and fatalities.
